NEGROES TAKEN FROM JAIL AND ARE LYNCHED

Three prominent residents of Wetumpka, whose names have not been divulged by the authorities, are under arrest at Wetumpka in connection with the lynching there of the two alleged Stilwell murderers, Will and Ed Smith, about 4 o'clock Monday morning. Members of several local companies of militia are scouring the woods in that vicinity for clews to the identity of the other members of the mob. More arrests are expected to follow.

The bodies of the two negroes were found lying on the Mortor Road near the Louisville and Nashville Railroad tracks about a mile from Elmore Station this morning by the militia searching for traces of the mob. The negroes had been both hanged and shot.

From the condition of their bodies they had not been tortured in any way; the members of the mob, grimly determined as to their course of action, had done their self-appointed work as quickly as possible and had then quietly dispersed. It is not known whether or not the negroes confessed to the murder of the planter Stilwell, last Wednesday night, before being put to death.

Great excitement prevails at Wetumpka, a hunded different rumors concerning the lynching being circulated, none of which can be verified.

According to Judge of Probate Marks Still, about twenty-five masked whith men entered the jail about 1 o'clock this morning seized the sheriff, bound and gagged him, after decoying the one deputy from the building.

Securing the keys to the cells from the Sheriff's pocket, they opened the door to the cell in which were confined the two Smith negroes, called to the negroes to come out, and then led them away.

After vainly struggling for more than an hour, the Sheriff succeeded in removing the gag from his mouth, called to the wife of the deputy, who released him.

He immdiately got in communication with Governor O'Neal with the result that several companies of militia, headed by Adjutant General Joseph B. Scully, left here in automobiles for Wetumpka shortly before 3 o'clock.

An alarm was raised by the Sheriff and a number of persons were sworn in as deputies. The woods and fields in the vicinity of Wetumpka were scoured but no trace of either the mob or their victims were found shortly before 7 o'clock when members of the militia companies came upon the bodies of the negroes lying on the side of the Mortor Road. Life had been extinct for several hours.

Although every door in the jail was left unlocked by the mob after securing their quarry, none of the other prisoners confined in the jail attempted to escape. The three remaining negro suspects in the Stilwell killing were unharmed; all evidence in the case pointing to the Smith negroes as the ones guilty.

The murder of R. A. Stilwell for which the two negroes went to their death early today, occurred on his farm near Elmore Station late Wednesday night. He was shot through the head with a shot-gun while guarding his home from potato thieves.

TRIUMPHAL "ARCH OF THE SETTING SUN" PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION

Copyright, 1914, by Panama Pacific International Exposition Company.

Triumphal Arch of the Setting Sun, 160 feet high, at the western entrance to the Court of the Universe, the largest of the courts of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco. This colossal arch reveals the magnitude of the vast exposition. Crowning the arch is a magnificent group of sculpture, "The Nations of the West." In the center of the group is a great prairie schooner, drawn by oxen, bearing "The Mother of Tomorrow" and two lads, "The Hopes of the Future." A figure of "Enterprise" surmounts the wagon top. By the sides are figures representing the American Indian, the plainsman, the Mexican and the Alaskan. The sculptors were A. Stirling Calder, Frederick G. R. Roth and Leo Lentelli. The exposition opens February 20, 1915.

MOUNTAIN CREEK

We notice that several citizens of Clanton are very much wrought up over the action taken by Mr. Feagin, in the matter of appointing a principal for the Chilton County High School. It seems that several thought that Mr. Pickens should have that position, on account of his untiring efforts in making it possible that Chilton county should have a high school. Really, it does seem hard for him to lose out, after having worked so faithful for the job, or rather the school, I suppose I should say.

Though I suppose he can console himself, if he will let his mind revert to Cristopher Columbus. Columbus was forced to die in chains after having accomplished the deed of discovering this grand country, the land of the free, and the home of the brave. Instead of Mr. Pickens' case being similar to that of Columbus, it might possibly resemble the case spoken of in the thirteenth chapter of First Kings. In reading this particular chapter of the sacred text, we learn that once upon a time the Lord sent a man out of Judah, and this man was told to go to Bethel, he was also requested not to eat or drink, while on this mission. But alas, alas, a false prophet induced him to dine. This man was torn to pieces by a lion on his return and he never reached the place from whence he came. So it may be possible that Mr. Pickens' labor was against the wishes of the most of Chilton county's people.

In keeping with Democratic prosperity, the L. & N. has cut off four passenger trains on the Birmingham and Montgomery division.

We notice that the Governor of Texas has made an open confession. We are told that "An honest confession is good for the soul." Chas. Cooper.

The only difference between the Republicans and Democrats knowing that Woodrow Wilson's administration would be a failure, is that the Republicans knew it would be a failure, and the Democrats know that it is a failure. Little Viewer.

DEMOCRATIC TARIFF AND HARD TIMES

Wasington, January 4.—A resolution asserting that the Democratic tariff law "has brought hard times throughout the country and caused an industral depression such as has not existed since the free trade days of President Cleveland," and directing the Ways and Means Committee to report out a bill for a tariff board, today was introduced in the House by Minority Leader Mann.

The resolution recites that a revison of the tariff will follow the next national election, and that a tariff board is necessary to furnish scientific information, that a law may be written for the protection of American industries.

FRANK GETS NEW CHANCE FOR HIS LIFE

Condemned Man's Plea Is Granted by Highest Court. New Trial

Fate has again intervened in the case of Leo M. Frank..

In the very shadow of the gallows, sentenced to die on Jan. 22, another chance for life came to him this week. The action of Associate Justice Lamar of the United States Supreme Court in allowing the appeal of Frank from the decision of the Georgia Federal Court, means that a stay of execution is granted. Frank cannot be hanged until the high court passes upon the constitutional questions raised in the case, and he may get a new trial.

The celebrated case of the young factory superintendent convicted of the murder of a 14-year-old Atlanta girl now comes before the Supreme Court, a goal for which attorneys for Frank had been fighting for weeks and which was once previously denied them although on another phase of the proceeding. The other time the case was put before the highest court it was on a motion to set aside the verdict of the Georgia Supreme Court. That motion was denied on the ground that no federal question was involved. Now Frank has been allowed an appeal from the decision of the Georgia Federal Court, which refused to grant him a writ of habeas corpus.

Frank's petition for the writ alleged that on his trial for the murder of Mary Phagan public feeling against him was so great that the presiding judge advised his counsel not to have him present in the courtroom when the verdict was returned, and that his absence under such circumstances deprived him of a hearing to which he was entitled under the Constitution.

Mr. J. F. Goodgame Died Monday A. M.

Mr. Goodgame was a man of rather advanced age, and had spent the main portion of his lite as a citizen of Clanton and Chilton county.

His widow, and a number of sons and daughters, most of whom are married, are left to survive him.

UNION SPRINGS

The new year started off here with a good singing Sunday afternoon with a large attendance. Leading was chiefly by Messrs. Hodgens and Armstrong. Also the Sunday school entered the new year with life and vigor.

Mr. Jno. W. Mahan and wife of Birmingham came down last week to visit the family of Mr. W. H. Mahan, and remained until Sunday afternoon.

The new school building is going up nicely.

R. B. Davenport of Louisiana is visiting his sister here.

The singing society will meet on the first and third Sunday afternoons in each month. Its work is devoted largely to the songs of the church—the songs of Watts, Wesley and others, set to music by White, Walker, King and others. Some of those great masters, Chapin, Handell and others seem to have never been equalled, hence their works are well worth preserving.

Mrs. J. D. Atchison left Saturday for Birmingham where her husband has a position.

Gov. Colquit did not mince matters much in his article. If the people just had thought in time prosperity might now have been prevailing over the country but they seemed to forget that they were doing well and now they must suffer the results. Why will the South vote for low tariff, when she prospers under protection and mourns under free trade? We will learn some time. Citizen.

THE UNION-BANNER.

At the Farmers Union meeting at Thorsby on last Tuesday and Wednesday everybody appeared to be working to learn how to best adjust their farming so as to meet existing conditions as best they could. All seemed to realize that there would not be any material profit in growing a full cotton crop at the present ruinous prices. Profs. Burleson, Hines, and Negley of Auburn, and Mr. J. T. Watt of the National Department of Agriculture, were there, each giving valuable information and such advice as experience has shown to be safe.

All agreed that it would be necessary to diversify our crops more than in the past and that it will pay to grow more and better live stock to consume many of our crops at a profit.

It has been shown beyond a doubt that cattle growing can be made very profitable in any part of the South when we get rid of the cattle tick, and it is to be hoped that the farmers in this county will see to it that no cattle ticks are allowed to exist here.

In recent elections Marengo, Hale and Perry counties voted almost solid for tick eradication; in Hale county only 16 votes were cast against the work.

When we realize that without the tick our cattle will give us one fourth more milk with the same feed then we will rise up and demand that the cattle tick must go.

Prof. Watt stated "that cattle and ticks positively could not thrive in the same pasture."

QUICK ACTION NEEDED

When an official of the Department of Agriculture says this country faces the possibility of beefstake at 50 cents a pound and shoes $10 a pair, he is not dealing in fiction. Unpleasant as the fact may be, it is not at all unlikely, and the part of wisdom is to apply a remedy before the possibility becomes a fact.

This newspaper has published much on the question, showing a steady decline in number and increase in price of cattle. It has also repeatedly pointed out the futility of hoping for relief from Argentina and other countries popularly supposed to be over run with cattle. It is time the situation was grasped.

A wider attention to pigs and poultry is the quickest way to add to the supply of meat. It is to be noted also that the most prosperous state of the West are those that have the most hogs and poultry.

Cattle, however, must be the mainstay. Leather, as well as meat, is an absolute necessity. Experience, time and money are necessary to produce cattle. The South seems to offer the most attractive home for them, and yet this is the section where cattle breeding has been the most neglected. If the low price of cotton turns farmers to diversified farming, it will be anything but an unmixed evil.

Diversified farming, to be a success, means marketing the crops through animal products. Perhaps, if the bankers dealing with the southern farmers should adopt the same means employed by those of the Northwest, much good might come. These men awoke to the danger of all-wheat production, and began a systematic campaign for better farming.

In every way possible they taught the farmers that credit was a question of fertility and not acre, and that fertility could be maintained only through diversified crops and animals. They gave preference to the would be borrower who kept livestock. They imported blooded stock for breeding purposes, and sold the animals to the farmers at cost, and advanced the money necessary to stock the farms. Their members even went out through their districts addressing farmers' meeting on the subject.

The result is seen in the growth of corn in states where it was thought it could not grow, and farms covered with livestock. That section would now ask for no Government loan if wheat sold below cost of production.—Wall Street Journal.

County High School Opening

The opening of the Chilton County High School, an occasion which has been long looked for and viewed with much interest, was brought to a reality on last Monday morning. An enthusiastic welcome was extended the new Principal, Prof. C. C. Slaton, and his faculty.

The number of students which was enrolled the first day is surely sufficient to dispell all doubt from the mind of anyone who might have feared that the institution was not going to receive a universal and substantial support from the county. The remotest parts of Chilton are already represented in the number enrolled, and there are yet more coming. The Principal is much pleased with the student body. They show evidence of being enthusiastic in their work, and the spirit of education is rife among them. What might be called the charter members of the student bod , is composed of 95 of the best boys and girls that could possibly be selected from Chilton county's splendid school population; the personnel of the whole number is superb.

The finishing touches are being applied to the handsome new school building prior to its acceptance by the State Board. The formal opening of the school, and the actual work of the term will begin as soon as the building is accepted by the commission, and the keys turned over to the Principal.

Taking into consideration all the evidences that have presented themselves so far, it may be safely predicted that in the very near future lies a glowing success for this crowning jewel of Chilton County's Educational system.

The Health of The School Child.

The truth of the old adage "that a perfectly sound body is of prime importance in the development and preservation of a sound mind," is now universally accepted. Health is our greatest individual and community asset. This priceless boon of old age must be obtained in youth.

It might be said that eternal vigilence is the price of health with just as much reason as to say that "Eternal vigilence is the price of liberty."

Freedom from disease is just as much to be deserved as freedom from the yoke of the oppressor.

If health is "The pearl of greatest price," and if health is, as science now claims, "A purchasable commodity," then our duty to ourselves and those dependent upon us becomes very clear. Let us make any sacrifice to get this health for ourselves and our children.

The best system yet devised to secure this individual and community health is "medical inspection." This is the kind of health insurance. The cost is very little and the good cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

Dr. F. B. Dressler of George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn., writing in Current Educational Topics published by United States Bureau of Education says, "The term 'medical inspection' is an unfortunate one for designating what should be the chief work of the health officer for schools. School children would need little medicine and less medical advice if we had more sanitarians and doctors of public health to teach them and their parents how to be clean and how to care for their health in every way.

Our system of paying doctors to do something for us when we get sick ought to be largely discarded for the Chinese system of paying them to keep us from getting sick.

The most significant, ultimate good of medical inspection, I believe, will arise from the increased knowledge of the people as a whole concerning the personal care of health. Great numbers of our people are yet in gross ignorance and superstition concerning matters of health and disease.

Death notices are printed in the newspapers of all parts of the country, reading much as follows: "Whereas it has pleased an all-wise and divine providence to take from our midst a youth of great promise," etc. By reading a little further you will see that divine Providence was a case of typhoid fever or some other preventable disease induced by filth and carelessness. Such notices are not only criminally false, they are ungodly, impious, and wicked. The notice should state that by reason of carelessness, ignorance, and filth a promising young life has been sacrificed, to the great displeasure of an all-wise Deity."

Dr. Dresslar has certainly expressed a great truth here.

We are living in an age in which nothing is taken for granted. Wherever an effect is observed a course is demanded. Where disease and suffering abound they are no longer accepted uncomplainingly as the chastisement of an offended deity, but modern science bends its energies to finding out where in the individual or community has disobeyed the laws of sanitation and hygiene and having found out, (as they always can) simply remove the cause and the disease stops for the same reason that a fire cannot burn without fuel.

The school and the home must work together in removing physical handicaps, and giving our children a better chance in life than we have enjoyed.

The Virginia Journal of Education, commenting upon some startling facts brought out by medical examination of the school children of two of the most progressive counties in the state says: "The Journal is no extremist, but it believes that the time has come when medical inspections of all schools should be made compulsory in Virginia. The necessity for it has become too apparent for delay. The stage of argument has passed. Our people should be forced to meet a condition which menaces every home in the state and which daily threatens the breath and lives of tens of thousands of our future citizens."

After giving in detail the results of the examinations in the two counties the Journal goes on to say, "Here are facts which should arrest the public conscience of the state and shock it into immediate action. Here, in two of the healthiest counties of Piedmont Virginia, is found a condition of incredible menace and danger, and one which doubtless exists throughout the whole state of Virginia today.

Immediate concerted and effective action is a public necessity. No cry of poverty, no plea of the demagogue or politician, and no wail of the miser should in any way delay remedial efforts. The crisis is upon us and as sane, civilized people we are forced to meet it." This is the attitude taken by our sister state of Virginia. Shall we of Alabama and Chilton county lag behind other states in this vitally important matter? Do we love our children less than the Virginians? Are we patriotic enough to want those (our children) who come after us to be heathier better citizens than we, or will they say of us, "Our parents did not give us a fair chance in life."

The time has come when we must speak and act, and as the watchman of old on the wall of Jerusalem, if we give not the warning their blood will be upon us.

More next week.

Daily Thought.

No man can be brave who considers pain to be the greatest evil of life; nor temperate who considers pleasure to be the highest good.—Cicero.

War Predicted in Detail Three Centuries Ago.

In a publication called "Omens of the Great War" the following remarkable allegory, written by Brother Johannes, three hundred years ago, appears. In deciphering the allegory, it must be remembered that

France is represented by a Cock;
England by a Leopard;
Russia by a White Eagle;
Germany by a Black Eagle; and
Austria by the "other Eagle,"

while the Lamb stands for justice, mercy and truth.

"Towards the year 2000 the Antichrist will manifest himself. His army will surpass in numbers all that can be imagineb.

"There will be Christmas among the legions, and there will be Mohometans and savage soldiers among the defenders of the Lamb.

"For the first time the Lamb will be all red. There will not be a single spot in the Christian world that will not be red, and red will be the Heavens the Earth, the Waters, and even the Air, for blood will flow in the domains of the four elements at once.

THE UNION-BANNER.

At the Farmers Union meeting at Thorsby on last Tuesday and Wednesday everybody appeared to be working to learn how to best adjust their farming so as to meet existing conditions as best they could. All seemed to realize that there would not be any material profit in growing a full cotton crop at the present ruinous prices. Profs. Burleson, Hines, and Negley of Auburn, and Mr. J. T. Watt of the National Department of Agriculture, were there, each giving valuable information and such advice as experience has shown to be safe.

All agreed that it would be necessary to diversify our crops more than in the past and that it will pay to grow more and better live stock to consume many of our crops at a profit.

It has been shown beyond a doubt that cattle growing can be made very profitable in any part of the South when we get rid of the cattle tick, and it is to be hoped that the farmers in this county will see to it that no cattle ticks are allowed to exist here.

In recent elections Marengo, Hale and Perry counties voted almost solid for tick eradication; in Hale county only 16 votes were cast against the work.

When we realize that without the tick our cattle will give us one fourth more milk with the same feed then we will rise up and demand that the cattle tick must go.

Prof. Watt stated "that cattle and ticks positively could not thrive in the same pasture."

QUICK ACTION NEEDED

When an official of the Department of Agriculture says this country faces the possibility of beefstake at 50 cents a pound and shoes $10 a pair, he is not dealing in fiction. Unpleasant as the fact may be, it is not at all unlikely, and the part of wisdom is to apply a remedy before the possibility becomes a fact.

This newspaper has published much on the question, showing a steady decline in number and increase in price of cattle. It has also repeatedly pointed out the futility of hoping for relief from Argentina and other countries popularly supposed to be over run with cattle. It is time the situation was grasped.

A wider attention to pigs and poultry is the quickest way to add to the supply of meat. It is to be noted also that the most prosperous state of the West are those that have the most hogs and poultry.

Cattle, however, must be the mainstay. Leather, as well as meat, is an absolute necessity. Experience, time and money are necessary to produce cattle. The South seems to offer the most attractive home for them, and yet this is the section where cattle breeding has been the most neglected. If the low price of cotton turns farmers to diversified farming, it will be anything but an unmixed evil.

Diversified farming, to be a success, means marketing the crops through animal products. Perhaps, if the bankers dealing with the southern farmers should adopt the same means employed by those of the Northwest, much good might come. These men awoke to the danger of all-wheat production, and began a systematic campaign for better farming.

In every way possible they taught the farmers that credit was a question of fertility and not acre, and that fertility could be maintained only through diversified crops and animals. They gave preference to the would be borrower who kept livestock. They imported blooded stock for breeding purposes, and sold the animals to the farmers at cost, and advanced the money necessary to stock the farms. Their members even went out through their districts addressing farmers' meeting on the subject.

The result is seen in the growth of corn in states where it was thought it could not grow, and farms covered with livestock. That section would now ask for no Government loan if wheat sold below cost of production.—Wall Street Journal.

County High School Opening

The opening of the Chilton County High School, an occasion which has been long looked for and viewed with much interest, was brought to a reality on last Monday morning. An enthusiastic welcome was extended the new Principal, Prof. C. C. Slaton, and his faculty.

The number of students which was enrolled the first day is surely sufficient to dispell all doubt from the mind of anyone who might have feared that the institution was not going to receive a universal and substantial support from the county. The remotest parts of Chilton are already represented in the number enrolled, and there are yet more coming. The Principal is much pleased with the student body. They show evidence of being enthusiastic in their work, and the spirit of education is rife among them. What might be called the charter members of the student bod , is composed of 95 of the best boys and girls that could possibly be selected from Chilton county's splendid school population; the personnel of the whole number is superb.

The finishing touches are being applied to the handsome new school building prior to its acceptance by the State Board. The formal opening of the school, and the actual work of the term will begin as soon as the building is accepted by the commission, and the keys turned over to the Principal.

Taking into consideration all the evidences that have presented themselves so far, it may be safely predicted that in the very near future lies a glowing success for this crowning jewel of Chilton County's Educational system.

The Health of The School Child.

The truth of the old adage "that a perfectly sound body is of prime importance in the development and preservation of a sound mind," is now universally accepted. Health is our greatest individual and community asset. This priceless boon of old age must be obtained in youth.

It might be said that eternal vigilence is the price of health with just as much reason as to say that "Eternal vigilence is the price of liberty."

Freedom from disease is just as much to be deserved as freedom from the yoke of the oppressor.

If health is "The pearl of greatest price," and if health is, as science now claims, "A purchasable commodity," then our duty to ourselves and those dependent upon us becomes very clear. Let us make any sacrifice to get this health for ourselves and our children.

The best system yet devised to secure this individual and community health is "medical inspection." This is the kind of health insurance. The cost is very little and the good cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

Dr. F. B. Dressler of George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn., writing in Current Educational Topics published by United States Bureau of Education says, "The term 'medical inspection' is an unfortunate one for designating what should be the chief work of the health officer for schools. School children would need little medicine and less medical advice if we had more sanitarians and doctors of public health to teach them and their parents how to be clean and how to care for their health in every way.

Our system of paying doctors to do something for us when we get sick ought to be largely discarded for the Chinese system of paying them to keep us from getting sick.

The most significant, ultimate good of medical inspection, I believe, will arise from the increased knowledge of the people as a whole concerning the personal care of health. Great numbers of our people are yet in gross ignorance and superstition concerning matters of health and disease.

Death notices are printed in the newspapers of all parts of the country, reading much as follows: "Whereas it has pleased an all-wise and divine providence to take from our midst a youth of great promise," etc. By reading a little further you will see that divine Providence was a case of typhoid fever or some other preventable disease induced by filth and carelessness. Such notices are not only criminally false, they are ungodly, impious, and wicked. The notice should state that by reason of carelessness, ignorance, and filth a promising young life has been sacrificed, to the great displeasure of an all-wise Deity."

Dr. Dresslar has certainly expressed a great truth here.

We are living in an age in which nothing is taken for granted. Wherever an effect is observed a course is demanded. Where disease and suffering abound they are no longer accepted uncomplainingly as the chastisement of an offended deity, but modern science bends its energies to finding out where in the individual or community has disobeyed the laws of sanitation and hygiene and having found out, (as they always can) simply remove the cause and the disease stops for the same reason that a fire cannot burn without fuel.

The school and the home must work together in removing physical handicaps, and giving our children a better chance in life than we have enjoyed.

The Virginia Journal of Education, commenting upon some startling facts brought out by medical examination of the school children of two of the most progressive counties in the state says: "The Journal is no extremist, but it believes that the time has come when medical inspections of all schools should be made compulsory in Virginia. The necessity for it has become too apparent for delay. The stage of argument has passed. Our people should be forced to meet a condition which menaces every home in the state and which daily threatens the breath and lives of tens of thousands of our future citizens."

After giving in detail the results of the examinations in the two counties the Journal goes on to say, "Here are facts which should arrest the public conscience of the state and shock it into immediate action. Here, in two of the healthiest counties of Piedmont Virginia, is found a condition of incredible menace and danger, and one which doubtless exists throughout the whole state of Virginia today.

Immediate concerted and effective action is a public necessity. No cry of poverty, no plea of the demagogue or politician, and no wail of the miser should in any way delay remedial efforts. The crisis is upon us and as sane, civilized people we are forced to meet it." This is the attitude taken by our sister state of Virginia. Shall we of Alabama and Chilton county lag behind other states in this vitally important matter? Do we love our children less than the Virginians? Are we patriotic enough to want those (our children) who come after us to be heathier better citizens than we, or will they say of us, "Our parents did not give us a fair chance in life."

The time has come when we must speak and act, and as the watchman of old on the wall of Jerusalem, if we give not the warning their blood will be upon us.

More next week.

Daily Thought.

War Predicted in Detail Three Centuries Ago.

In a publication called "Omens of the Great War" the following remarkable allegory, written by Brother Johannes, three hundred years ago, appears. In deciphering the allegory, it must be remembered that

France is represented by a Cock;
England by a Leopard;
Russia by a White Eagle;
Germany by a Black Eagle; and
Austria by the "other Eagle,"

while the Lamb stands for justice, mercy and truth.

"Towards the year 2000 the Antichrist will manifest himself. His army will surpass in numbers all that can be imagineb.

"There will be Christmas among the legions, and there will be Mohometans and savage soldiers among the defenders of the Lamb.

"For the first time the Lamb will be all red. There will not be a single spot in the Christian world that will not be red, and red will be the Heavens the Earth, the Waters, and even the Air, for blood will flow in the domains of the four elements at once.

"The Black Eagle will throw himself on the Cock, who will many feathers, but will strike back, heroically with his spurs. He soon would be crshed were it not for the help of the Leopard and his claws.

"The Black Eagle will come from the country of Luther, will surprise the Cock from another side, and will invade the country of the Cock up to the middle of it.

"The White Eagle, coming from the North, will surprise the Black Eagle and the 'other eagle' and will invade the country of the Antichrist from one end to another.

"The Blace Eagle will see himself forced to liberate the Cock in order to fight the White Eagle, into the country of the Antichrist to help the White Eagle.

"The battles fought up to then will be as nothing compared to those which will take place in the country of Luther for the seven Angels will together pour in the fire of their censers on the impious Earth, which signifies that the Lamb will order the exterminatioh of the race of Antichrist.

When the Beast sees that he is lost he will become furious, and for many months the beak of the White Eagle, the claws of the Leopard, and the spurs of the Cock will furiously strike at him.

"They will cross rivers over the bodies of the clain, and these, in places, will change the course of the waters. They will bury only the men of noble families, the leading commandants, and the princes, because to the carnage made by the armies will be joined the wholesale death of those who will die from hunger or the pest.

"The Antichrist will ask many times for peace but the seven Angels who walk in front of the three Anfmals defending the Lamb have declared that victory will only be granted on the condition that the Antichrist be crushed like straw on the barn floor.

"The executors of the justice of the Lamb cannot stop fighting as long as the Antichrist possesses soldiers to fight against them.

"That much makes the decrees of the Bamb so implacable is that the Antichrist has pretended to be a follower of Christ and to act in His Name and if he does not perish the fruit of the Redeemer would be lost, and the doors of Hades would prevail against the Saviour.

The fight which will take place where the Anti-christ forges his arms will not be in any way a human fight.

(This may have refference to Essen, where the Krupp works are, and many authorities believe that the decisive battle may take place in Westphalia.)

"The three Animals defending the Lamb will exterminate the last army of the Antichrist, but they will be forced to erect on the battlefield a pyre as large as a city, for the bodies of the dead will change the aspect of the countryside, as there will be mounds of the slain.

"The Antichrist will lose his crown and will die in solitude and madness. His empire will be divided into twenty states, but none of them will any longer possess fortresses, armies or vessels.

(Curiously enough, this number coincide with the number of German states.)

"The White Eagle, by the order of St. Michael, will drive the Crescent from Europe and will install himself at Constantinople. Then will begin an era of peace and prosperity of the earth and there will be no more wars, each nation being governed according to its desires and living according to the rules of justice.

Best Way to Keep Apples.

The best vessels in which to keep apples are crates or baskets that permit ventilation, and also permit handling the fruit to prevent bruising. When it commences to reach its full stage of ripening it is well to sort it occasionally, and remove and use any that are commencing to decay, or that are becoming soft or overripe. Firm specimens can be wrapped in pieces of ordinary newspaper and put in ventilated crates, baskets or barrels in a cool place, and there kept for a longer time than when not so wrapped.

CORN CLUB PRIZES OFFERED FOR 1915

Scholarships And Cash Given By H. G. Hastings In Alabama And Other States.

Atlanta, Ga.—(Special.)—Corn Club prizes for Southern boys in Alabama and nine other corn growing states of this section have been renewed for 1915 by H. G. Hastings, general chairman of the Georgia Corn Show Committee and chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

The prizes amount in all to $1,200, in cash and scholarships, and will be awarded under the direction of the government corn club agents in each state.

In Alabama Mr. Hastings has offered $100 and arrangements have already been made to award it in scholarship form.

In Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, North Carolina and South Carolina, Mr. Hastings offers $100 in each state, to be awarded either in cash or scholarships, according to local arrangement. In Georgia, his home state, he offers a $250 scholarship in the State College of Agriculture and two additional cash prizes of $30 and $20, respectively.

The great educational value and constructive force of the corn club contests, in addition to the marvels they are accomplishing in increased corn productions, are emphasized in an interview given out by Mr. Hastings in connection with his announcement of prizes. Mr. Hastings said:

"The interest now being taken in corn production, by the federal government, by state officials, by leading organizations and individuals, is, in my opinion, the greatest constructive force now operative in agricultural affairs in America. For too long the tendency of education in the rural schools was to draw boys away from the farm, but the corn clubs are now combining with true agricultural education to influence the boys to form new ideas and new ideals of farm life. The corn club work is growing in value and importance with each successive year."

TEACHERS SELECTED FOR CO. HIGH SCHOOL

The teachers who have been submitted to the state school board for confirmation for positions in the Chilton County High School are as follows:

Howard L. Foshee
Miss Corita Wilson.
Miss Evelyn Waller.
Miss Emmette Matthews.
Miss Mary Alice Brown.

The Principal states that the course of study in the school is to consist of a very complete and systematic treatment of such subjects as Language, Mathematics, Science, Manual Training, Music, Home Economics, and Athletics.

Such a broad course of study in the hands of the able corps of teachers that have been selected will give the school now, though it be in its infancy, a prestige scarcely excelled by any institution of like character in the state.

Peculiar Harvest Festival.

At the end of the harvest season in Malabar there takes place the dance of the drummers, a popular function, in which the principal character is a weird figure supposed to represent the sacred cow of the gods, Kamachenu. A small boy carries this about while the other performers, decked out in primitive fashion with painted bodices and hideous masks, go through a weird dance, accompanied by much drum-beating and singing.

Personal Ambition.

Personal ambition is a quite honorable motive. The desire for approval and praise is something which nobody should despise. But a man should not stake everything upon those; otherwise, when his works fail to obtain recognition he is disappointed. He should have in himself as his primary motive something which makes him independent of those things, something which prevents him from doing all those little things which impede public work, and make it difficult for men to work with others.—Sir Edward Grey.

The "G" in "Gnat."

"Spelling's a queer thing," said one boy. "What do they want with a 'g' in 'gnat?" "It belongs there," replied the other. "It's what you say when one stings you. The only mistake is not putting an exclamation point after it."

THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPNSITION

The Panama - Pacific exposition at San Francisco will be opened in February next, and will continue till the end of the year. Despite the war most of the European nations will be represented and some of them by exceptionally large and attractive exhibits; and South American countries, notably Argentina Brazil and Chile, are installing displays that will cause the world to marvel.

Of course the Uuited States government has taken an especial interest in the exhibits from the Smithsonian institution will be of rare educafional value. Nearly every state in the union will have a building on the exposition grounds and the resources of various sections of the country will be exhibited in a great variety.

Only three states have failed to make the necessary appropriation for representation at the exposition, and Alabama is one of them. The other two are Rhode Island and New Mexico. The absenee of Rhode Island is not especially remarked, neither will the absence of New Mexico cause much comment. But Alabama, which has been advised in recent years as a state whose resources are uncommonly varied and rich, not to have a building at San Francisco would certainly be unfavorably commented on.

When the legislature now about to expire was in session the exposition project was not far enough advanced to be seriously considered, but it will be time perhaps for Alabama to erect an adequate build.ng if the new legislature makes an appropriation early in January. As the Age-Herald pointed out a few days ago retrenchment will be in order, but it will be false economy to let the exposition matter go by default. Alabama should have a building at the exposition and it should be a handsome one. The state archivist should be called upon to make an historical exhibit and the agricultural department should make a full exhibit of farm products. The large corporations could be counted upon to send specimens of mines and mills to San Francisco for display in an Alabama building. It is hoped this question will receive prompt attention when the legislature meets.—Age-Herald.

The visiting lady had kept her hostess at the open door fully half an hour saying good-by. Finally an irate masculine voice indoors called out: "Say, Maria, if you're going out, go; if you're staying, stay; but for heaven's sake don't ooze out."—Harper's Magazine.

Pastures

Prof. Dan T. Gray, says in Farmers' Bulletin 4 1, that "Until the farmer sees his way clear to make a permanent pasture or has one already made, he should keep out of the livestock business. It is, in fact, almost impossible to realize a profit upon any kind of stock without good pastures. Therefore, the first thing to be done when one contemplates engaging in stock raising is to estalish a pasture."

Many people contend that we cannot h ve good pastures here in this part of the South, but Prof. Dan T. Gray, who has made a special study of live stock, pastures and feeds in Alabama says: "The South, which is the very section where they can be made easily, is sadly deficient in pastures. But the southern farmer, if he will devote some time and effort to the subject, can have as good a pasture as was ever seen in Kentucky or Missouri, and have that pasture available for grazing more months in the year than is possible in those states. For a permanent pasture there is no combination, either in the North or in the South, that will equal Bermuda grass and Bur clover."

Now is a good time to clean up, plow, harrow, and get ready to put out Bermuda grass roots in your pasture as soon as spring opens. By having this work done before the rush of spring plowing begins makes it much easier to get your permant pasture started right. Be sure and leave the ground smooth so it can be gone over with a mower during the summer to keep down weeds, briers and other non pasture plants. In August sow from 20 to 40 pounds of Alabama grown Bur clover seed per acre on top of the ground then broad cast any manure you have over the land and nature will do the rest.

Remember that good preparation and fertilizing pays as well for pastures as for any other crop.

GLORIES OF PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION REVEALED BY COMPLETED EXHIBIT PALACE.

President Wilson to Attend on Battleship Oregon—Marvelous Exhibits From All Parts of the Earth Assembled by Forty-two Countries for the Hugest Conclave of Nations in History—Many Strange Displays Will Be Shown, Among Them Edison's Great "Telescribe"—Exhibits Increase Since War

The Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco, America's stupendous celebration of the completion of the Panama canal, was 95 per cent completed several months before its formal opening on February 20, 1915. A glance at the work that had been accomplished gave evidence that the world was assured an exposition unrivaled in its splendor, interest and comprehensiveness.

President Wilson.

Despite the tremendous conflict in which Europe is involved, none of the European countries which had accepted the invitation to take official part in the exposition withdrew its participation. France, involved in the great struggle, reaffirmed its decision, and a stately French pavilion, a duplicate of the Palace of the Legion of Honor at Paris, will recall the heroic deeds of many gallant French soldiers who have won the Order of the Legion of Honor in the present conflict.

The exposition will be the scene of a great naval pageant, which will pass through the Panama canal to the Golden Gate. On March 24 President Wilson, on the historic battleship Oregon, will reach the Golden Gate as Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy, having led the fleet of battleships of all nations which passed through the Panama canal in the ceremonies attendant on the official opening of the canal. Mr. Wilson and his party will be the guests of the exposition until March 28. Despite the war in Europe, practically all of the nations will send one or more of their battleships to attend this occasion and attest their friendly feeling for the United States.

The proud pavilions of the foreign nations, each in characteristic architecture of the country it represents, lend a surpassing novelty and interest to this largest of world's expositions. Portugal, Italy, Spain, the Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Greece, Switzerland, Turkey, Persia, are represented nationally. German and British interests are also represented. From Italy came a number of almost priceless art exhibits, including many from the universal art exhibition at Genoa. Exhibits from the Ghent international exposition and from the exposition at Malmo, Sweden, as well as huge consignments from other regions, early reached San Francisco. No more wonderful tribute could have been accorded to the United States than that which the European countries gave in a period of tremendous stress.

Many strange and wonderful exhibits will be shown, among them Thomas A. Edison's wonderful "Telescribe," which is a telephone with a dictaphone attachment that records the telephone conversations on a dictaphone cylinder. This will prevent people from cutting in on the line and also makes a record of every telephone message.

Apart from the European participation, the exposition will be notable for its displays from other parts of the world. In its American participation, in the extent and quality of its exhibits, in the great number of wonderful amusement features and attractions of many kinds, the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is unprecedented. Its presentation of works of art, including sculptures and paintings, will be unexcelled. In its industrial exhibits there are presented more than eighty thousand individual exhibits and collections of exhibits, portraying the results of the world's best efforts of recent years.

Those who have read of the exposition abroad and then visited it in its preliminary stages, pronounced that their every expectation was far surpassed. Imagine, for the purposes of illustration, the interest, action and novelty of ten great circuses like Barnum and Bailey's in a single "greatest show on earth" and presented at ten times the cost of a single production and you will gain an idea of the magnitude of a single section of the exposition, the wonderful midway, or "Zone." A total of more than eleven million dollars is expended in this section.

The nations are not attempting to show everything they produce, but will exhibit those products in which they excel. In the Danish display will be shown exquisite products of the Royal Danish Porcelain factories at Copenhagen. Japan, in her lavish displays, will exhibit priceless works of art loaned under direction of the imperial household. Rare silks and tapestries, wonderful paintings of the old masters hitherto never exhibited in the original, will be shown from Italy. From China there early reached San Francisco selections of priceless exhibits collected by the governors of the Chinese provinces; silks, satins, carvings, inlay work and precious metals, exhibits of transportation methods employed in the old China and more modern methods employed in the awakening re- public will be portrayed. The Argentine, Australia, Canada, New Zealand, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Cochin and Indo-China, will show their resources on a vast scale.

The photographs on this page give an idea of some of the most recent wonders of the exposition.

HANDSOME SIXTY-PAGE BOOK ON THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION SENT FREE OF CHARGE TO ANY ADDRESS.

Those who are interested in this great exposition may obtain free of charge a handsomely illustrated book of sixty pages, reproducing the exhibit palaces in their natural colors and giving essential data about the exposition, San Francisco, California and the Panama canal. COUNTY HEALTH COMMITTEE MEET

A meeting of the Chilton County Health Committee was held Saturda , Jan. 9th, in the office of Prof. W. T. Bean, County Superintendent of Education.

Those present were W. H. Conway of Jemison, Chairman; W. T. Bean, Clanton; Miss Mary Carr Gibson, Verbena, and Mrs. C. R. Marshall, County Nurse. Dr. V. J. Gragg, the Secretary-Treasurer, was not present, having been called to Maplesville on professional business. Dr. C. N. Parnell of Maplesville also found it impossible to be present.

The Treasurer's report showed the Nurse's salary of $80 per month paid in full to date, horse and buggy (which belongs to the Health Committee) paid for and all other expenses including horse feed, printing, postage, railroad fare, etc. paid.

The $500 appropriated by the Board of County Commissioners and the $500 by the County Board of Education have been paid and enough of the remaining $500 that was to have been secured by public subscription, (and would have been if the panic had not impracticable) has been or will be collected to end the year March 23rd with all debts paid.

Mrs. Marshall's report was read and approved. It showed 14 chapters of the Chilton County Improvement Association organized among the ladies of as many communities for the betterment of local conditions, and by their co-operative effort to improve county conditions.

She has given more than 100 lectures on personal and community health and sanitation, examined about 1200 school children and made several hundred nursing visits.

She has also done much very effective work under the direction of Dr. V. J. Gragg, County Health Officer, in the suppression and control of epidemics of typhoid fever, scarlet fever, and other contagious diseases. Her work as Assistant County Superintendent of Education has also been of great value.

We regret exceedingly to be obliged to accept the resignation of Mrs. Marshall, who came to us as Miss Helen G. Harlan in March of last year. She, with her husband, Mr. C. R. Marshall, will settle on a farm near Thorsby upon the completion of her work in March.

It was the unanimous opinion of the committee in charge of the work that it ought to be continued in the county, and a committee was appointed to confer with the Red Cross Town and Nursing Service in regard to securing a nurse for next year. An attempt will be made to secure a Southern woman, an Alabamian, if one with the proper qualifications is available.

Mrs. Marshall was directed to prepare a general statistical report of her work giving in detail all that has been done including percentages of school children who have the following defects: adenoids, enlarged tonsils, bad eyes, defective hearing, hookworm, malnutrition, etc.

This report which will include as far as is ascertainable the number of children who have had defects removed, will be gotten in shape for publication in the near future.

The Committee adjourned to meet again in the same place February 13th, 1915.

Tax Payer on Proposed Legislation

Expresses His Views on Some Democratic Capers.

Editor Union-Banner:—I see in the Clanton Press a number of bills to be presented to the Legislature, relating to the abolition of the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, and a certain part of the Probate Court. I suppose that if the Democrats in Chilton County had elected their ticket in the November election, we would not have heard any such stuff as this which is now being proposed. What do you think of this; if they can't elect their men, they go to a set of men who do not live in the county, and who do not care one flip of the finger for the interest of the county, and have a law passed to take the ballot out of the hands of the people; have the Governor appoint such men as a few rotten politicians may select, (which will be Democrats of course)? Well I think this is one of the worst insults ever offered any set of voters and taxpayers.

I have not found any man of any party who indorses such a move. It matters not which party be in the majority, I say let that party rule the affairs of the county.

If the Democrats had elected their ticket, we would have offered no such stuff as they have instituted; then talk about who is rotten in politics. What can be rottener than this thing the sneaking Democrats are trying to pull over the people of this county? I for one, think it is about time to call a halt.

Dubberly, La., Jan. 6, 1915

Editor Union-Banner: — Give me space in your paper for a few words to my old friends in Chilton county. Louisiana is suffering very badly in the present crisis. I have all my cotton and cotton seed on hand yet. Cotton is selling at 7 cents and seed 18 dollars per ton. If the people ever get over Woodrow Wilson's administration they will never look like nothing any more. I am sorry for the people that approved of Wilson, but hope that all in favor of him will get a full bait of Democratic wants and low tariff prices for cotton. Some say he don't have anything to do with the prices of cotton. I think not, only a 6 1-2 set price for England. His influence sent the war forces to Mexico, and if Woodrow was in favor of 12 cents cotton he could get it just as easy as he got the war forces off to Mexico, and make those Mexicans madder and then leave them to massacre his own nation and people that had been his best friends in the past; sav boys we have only one chance as I see, and that is while Woodrow and his band stays in office we will simply have to plant peas, peanuts, potatoes, corn and oats, and something like this to eat. I have one hundred acres in fall oats now, sown in September and they are now ready for all my horses, cows and hogs. I am getting more milk now than at any time of the year. I have all of my land broke and am ready for another crop. I finished on January 1st 120 acres of ground which I will plant in corn, peas, peanuts and other feed stuff.

I don't owe a dollar, made six bales of cotton, and sold 350 bushels of seed oats to my neighbors is how I am out of debt, and sell some meat when I can get the money for it.

I bought a $1600.00 farm two months ago and paid cash for it out of what I have made farming in Louisiana in the past five years. How is this for a Coosa county born?

Remember that your poll tax should be paid before the first of February.

There is a blind representative in the legislature of Alabama —S. S. Laverty of Talladega. C. W. Brown, representative of Jackson county, is deaf.

The nineteenth annual meeting of the Alabama Live Stock Association will be held at Selma, on January 26th and 27th, 1915. We will publish a complete program of the meeting next week.

Kindly looks now as if the "wet" members of the legislature are going to have to sit by and look on while their "dry" brothers perform the prohi stunt. We hope they may enjoy it.

Plans are already laid for a fight before the Legislature for the adoption of a woman suffrage bill. It strikes us that it might be a pretty fair companion for the prohibition bill which is almost sure to be adopted.

In the organization of the Legislature Tuesday, the prohibition forces won out in both houses. Bulger was elected President of the Senate, and Carmichael was elected speaker of the House. Little trouble is at present apprehended for the prohibition leaders in launching and carrying through their statewide dry platform.

But of all the bills that are to be brought up in the next aesembly of Alabama's law makers, those designed for the abolition of certain courts and offices in Chilton County are probably the most striking. They bear the brand and ear-mark of the long ago fixed and set policy of the Democratic party to either rule or ruin—and the ultimate result is always the same, for if they cant rule they are always seeking to ruin; and if they do rule they are certain to ruin. That's our experience; what about you?

You will probably want to vote on some measure during next year. So you should not overlook paying your poll tax. It must be paid before Feb. 1st.

DEMOCRATIC AMBITION AND GREED FOR OFFICE

Some Democrats are ambitious pieces of humanity, caring little how or in what manner he reaches his goal, or whom he has to over ride in doing so. If the people by popular vote, fail to endorse him or his platform, his very next step is to begin to look for some loop hole from which he may hurl abomination at the men who overthrew his hopes at the polls, and secure some method of forcing himself upon the government, whether or not. The Democrats in all campaigns, frequently cry out that the Republicans and Progressives are just a lot of office seekers, caring nothing for the interests of the masses. Now, gentle reader, look at the performance of some Democrats lately, since they did not get the "office" by popular election. Look at the bills which they are going to carry before the legislators at Montgomery. Are they doing these things for the interests of the people with that same spirit under which they claimed to have labored in the campaign before election? If they are, why in the name of peace and righteousness didn't they remain contented with the voice of the voters as expressed at the polls in November, by that splendid convincive majority of half a thousand good determined well balanced votes?

Listen, here is the reason: It has been paid many a time before, that they are just looking for jobs, and now the complete proof and evidence of the truth of that assertion is at hand. If they were laboring to please the people, you know they would abide by the voice of the majority. But they have turned away from that, and are doing nothing in the world but following the jack-o-the-lantern of their chronic greed for OFFICE at whatever it may cost the rights and privileges of the common people.

We are glad to have the items of news that are being sent in from the various communities of the county for publication. We would like equally as well to have as many more correspondents send us news of the rural communities each week. But we would be glad all who write would be careful as to one thing—that is WRITE THE NEWS, and notan essay on some abstract subject about which no one is interested but the writer. We shall use our judgment in handling such communications; and shall not obligate ourselves to publish anything that is not at least of community interest, and in some cases the subject must be of county interest before it would merit publication. Please be careful about these things. We do not want you to take an hour to write us an article, and find that it is not worth publication. That would be extremely disappointing to you, as well as to us. Write us the news of your community.

Cotton Report of Chilton County

There were 21720 bales of cotton ginned in Chilton county from the crop of 1914, prior to Jan. 1, 1915, as compared with 16,140 bales ginned prior to the same date in the year 1914.

SUBSOILING LAND WITH DYNAMITE

Letter from Mr. Moran in Regard to the Effect Produced.

Thorsby, Ala., Dec. 19, 1914
DuPont Powder Co..
Wilmington, Del.

Dear Sirs:—I trust you will not think me ungrateful for donation of explosives for subsoiling. The fact is that the nature of my work has been changed from a general study of social and economic conditions to a specific study of social conditions in the rural districts of the south. Hence have not had time to see party on whose land experiment was performed until very recently. The following are the exact facts in the case: Subsoiling was done on hillside from which practically all the sandy soil bearing humus had been washed into the adjoining bottom land.

There are about three acres in this adjoining bottom land which has been producing about 100 bushels of corn per acre for the past four years.

The hillside land (see accompanying plat) was in corn in 1911 and yielded only 18 bushels per acre. In 1912 and 1913, it was in oats and yielded about 15 bushels per acre. Plenty of fertilizer was used at each planting.

The low land adjoining the hillside land (red area east) produced in these years 80 bushels per acre (same fertilizer). The whole plat east of ditch was ploughed (broken) exactly same way and on two successive days. The whole plat was on May 11, 1914, planted in corn, fertilized and cultivated in exactly same manner. Acre not subsoiled yielded 20 bushels per acre. Subsoiled acre yielded 35 bushels as per other years. Increase in yield by subsoiling, 15 bushels per acre. Corn $1.00 per bushel. Owner noted very great difference in breaking.

Great increase in amount of forage (stalks, blades, etc.) on account of subsoiling as compared with unsubsoiled acre. After crop was "laid by," weeds and grass (humus) grew to a height of 18 inches while practically none grew on unsubsoiled acre.

Methods of digging post holes, subsoiling for tree planting and clearing land of stumps were also satisfactorily demonstrated.

The owner is going to try further experiments next year. Is more than pleased at results obtained and has many farmers examine his place.

I shall be pleased to furnish any further information, or you may write Mr. B. T. Franklin, Thorsby, Ala., on whose land the work was done.

Yours very truly,
J. STERLING MORAN,

We call attention to the following letter received from Mr. G. A. Harnady at the Soldiers Home, by the editor of the Union-Banner:

Dear Sir:

On next Tuesday, the 19th, Camp 1711 U. C. V., at the Soldiers Home will commemorate the birthday of General Robert E. Lee. Hon. J. O. Middleton of Clanton will deliver the address. Please make note of it in your paper and urge the folks to be with us.

Yours truly,

Everyone who possibly can should attend the celebration of Gen. Lee's Birthday as mentioned in Mr. Hornady's letter. The occasion is certainly a fit one for commanding our attention. The program of exercises will be well arranged, and highly interesting.

SOME NEWS ITEMS OF MOUNTAIN CREEK

And Some Opinions of Mr. Charles Cooper.

Rev. Prince preached at the Soldiers Home Sunday afternoon. He took for his text "Oh, Isreal, Happy Art Thou." He made quite an interesting talk, and made a beautiful mental picture of Abraham's faith, in offering his only son as a sacrifice. Mr. Prince announced that he would be at Verbena for another year. During his labors here, he seems to have won the love and admiration of a lot of people who are not members of the Methodist church.

Mr. Otis Baxley of Birmingham came down Friday evening, and returned Sunday evening. His mission here was to visit his relatives and a "friend."

Thomas J. McDonald has returned to College, after spending the Christmas holidays here.

Mr. J. D. Sims had a stroke of paralysis about a week ago. He seems to be improving, and it is hoped by his many friends that he will soon be up again.

A few years ago the legislature of the state of Alabama passed a law to the effect that each county in the state should receive an appropriation of one thousand dollars each year, said money to be used in the matter of building and repairing rural schoolhouses. If a county did not use the entire thousand dollars during the year, the unused balance was to be carried over to the next year. The county would be entitled to use the unused balance of the former year in addition to the annual appropriation of one thousand dollars, and so on. In fact each year one thousand dollars is placed to the credit of each county in the state, regardless as to whether any is used or not. This money comes from the sale of fertilizer tags, and everyone who uses fertilizer helps to pay the bill.

In making this law they also provided a penalty for anyone who should misuse any of the funds thus obtained. For example, if a district trustee should use any of this money for his personal use he would be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction he would be liable to a fine of not less than two hundred dollars, nor more than one thousand dollars, and would also be liable to a jail or hard labor sentence in addition to the above. No district can receive more than two hundred dollars of this money in one year; so the restriction thrown around it is absolutely safe. The writer thinks that the legislature acted wise in throwing those restrictions around the peoples money.

As previously stated, this money is derived from the sale of fertilizer tags, and our farmers pay the bill, and of course if one of our farmer trustees should misuse any of this money, he should by all means be convicted for being guilty of such a henious crime.

We have been informed that our county has something like four thousand dollars of this school aid money to her credit. But, alas, credit seems to be all there is to it. A few weeks ago our school district made application for two hundred dollars of this money. The application was approved, and we received the warrant for the amount, but when the bank returned the warrant to the state treasury, it came back with the statement that there were no funds, so our district is simply up against it for the present.

Above I have related the restrictions thrown around the money after it had come into the trustees hands, but I have not mentioned any restrictions thrown around it while it was in the state treasury. It looks to me as though the legislature forgot a very important thing when they overlooked the fact that this money should be protected while in the state treasury. As above stated our county is due something like four thousand dollars and we cannot get one cent. Someone has no doubt spent this money for some other purpose other than that for which it was collected. It has often times been said that it was a very poor rule that would not work both ways.

It looks to me that we are now up against one of those rules that will not work both ways, as stated above, if a district trustee should spend any of this money for any other purpose than that for which it was intended, he will just simply go right straight to "Jack's house." But on the other hand it seems that that bunch at the state capitol can spend it any old way they choose, that is they do spend it for something other than that for which it was intended.

How long will the people of the State of Alabama be led around in darkness, and let a certain class of people pull the wool over their eyes? This same bunch will tell you that if you vote the Progressive ticket that you will be voting the black ticket, but to me, it seems that when they vote the Democratic ticket, that they are voting to keep themselves in the blackest of darkness. Surely the people of this state will soon wake up, and will elect people who will give them a square deal.

It might be well for some of our people to mention this incident to some of their Democrat friends, as it might in a measure aid them in the matter of making their selection for future officers; and it might also put them wise to other things which are being done against the farmers and other laboring people.

With best wishes, I am,
Yours very truly,
CHAS. COOPER.

KICKER-SHAW WEDDING IN BIRMINGHAM

On Saturday night, January 2, an interesting wedding took place in Birmingham, in which two young people of Chilton county were the contracting parties.

The groom was Mr. C. N. Kicker, formerly of this county, and who has numbers of friends and relatives here; while the young lady who is his bride, was Miss Esther Shaw, a popular girl of Jemison, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shaw.

Their many friends here and at Jemison, will no doubt hear of their marriage with much interest; we extend to them best wishes.

Pardon Granted J. W. Lawley

Through the efforts of Judge L. H. Reynolds with the Governor of Alabama, a pardon was on last Monday granted to J. W. Lawley who for the past four years has been in the penitentiary, under sentence for perjury in the Jim Maddox case. Several efforts had been made before for the pardon of the man, but they all proved futile, till this one, which succeeded. Mr. Lawley has returned to his wife and family near Clanton, to enjoy their associations again, and care and provide for them.

W. A. Huckabee Won Corn Prize

Mr. W. A. Huckabee last year raised 71 bushels of corn on one acre of land at the county farm, which entitled him to first prize at the county fair. This was the largest yield in the county, outside the production of some of the corn club boys. Mr. Huckabee used 750 pounds of Chilton Warehouse and Manufacturing Company's fertilizer; and the total cost of producing the corn was $19.50.

MAPLESVILLE NEWS

Everything is moving along nicely in our town. People are still fulfilling the scriptures, since some are still getting married.

Last Sunday Mr. W. W. Teel of Maplesville and Miss Cora Lumley of Summerfield, Alabama were happily married. Miss Lumley is an accomplished young lady with many admirable traits of character. Mr. Teel is quite a good citizen; he holds a good lucrative position with the Twin Tree Lumber Company. Their many friends wish them all the happiness allotted to married life.

Mr. Charlie Thomas of Jemison was in Maplesville Monday.

There was an interesting meeting of the Teachers' Reading Circle held here last Saturday under the leadership of Prof. J. J. Hicks. Various topics were discussed at this meeting and all the teachers seemed to take optismistic views of future school work. In fact all report fair averages of attendance and speak highly of their respective communities and of the co-operation given them by their patrons.

The next meeting of the Teachers' Reading Circle will convene here on the second Saturday in Februrary. The program will be announced later.

Prof. J. J. Hicks, principal of the Shoults School near Lawley but in Chilton county, says despite the financial depression the School Improvement Association of his community has expended more than $75 on building grounds etc. this school year. They have the motto, "Keep on Keep on" and are living up to it.

District twenty-two has one of the best two room school buildings in the county and the people of that section deserve much credit for their faithful labors.

It is Just Natural To Admire Babies

Our altrustic nature impels love for the cooing infant. And at the same time the subject of motherhood is ever before us. To know what to do that will add to the physical comfort of expectant motherhood is a subject that has interested most women of all times. One of the real helpful things is an external abdominal application sold in most drug stores under the name of "Mother's Friend." We have known so many grandmothers, who in their younger days relied upon this remedy, and who recommend it to their own daughters that it certainly must be what its name indicates. They have used it for its direct influence upon the muscles, cords, ligaments and tendons as it aims to afford relief from the strain and pain so often unnecessarily severe during the period of expectancy.

Every woman should mention "Mother's Friend" when the stork is the subject of conversation. An interesting little book is mailed free upon application to Bradfield Regulator Co., 405 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It refers to many things that women like to read about.

Get or recommend a bottle of "Mother's Friend" to-day and write for the book.

Purifies Blood With Telling Effect

Gives Conscious Evidence of Its Direct Action.

S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, almost talks as it sweeps its way through the circulation. Its action is so direct that very often in some forms of skin affliction the appearance of the eruptions changes over night, the itch and redness are gone and recovery begins immediately.

As a matter of fact, there is one ingredient in S. S. S. which serves the active purpose of stimulating each cellular part of the body to the healthy and judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. That is why it regenerates the blood supply; why it has such a tremendous influence in overcoming eczema, rash, pimples, and all skin afflictions.

And in regenerating the tissues S. S. S. has a rapid and positive antidotal effect upon all those irritating influences that cause rheumatism, sore throat, weak eyes, loss of weight, thin, pale cheeks, and that weariness of muscle and nerve that is generally experienced as spring fever. Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store, and in a few days you will not only feel bright and energetic, but you will be the picture of new life. S. S. S. is prepared only in the laboratory of The Swift Specific Co., 534 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., who maintain a very efficient Medical Department, where all who have any blood disorder of a stubborn nature may write freely for advice and a special book of instruction. S. S. S. is sold everywhere by drug stores, department and general stores, but beware of all substitutes. Do not accept them.

Oil Treatment for Stomach Troubles

A simple prescription made up of a combination of pure vegetable oils is producing wonderful results for sufferers from stomach, liver and intestinal troubles. The remedy, which is said to have originated in France, where it has been used for years by the peasantry, was introduced into this country by George H. Mayr, a leading Chicago druggist, who cured himself of severe stomach, liver and intestinal troubles by its use. Those who have used it say the first dose is sufficient to convince any one of its remarkable merit, and that within twenty-four hours the sufferer feels like a new person. This medicine, which has become known as Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, is sold by leading druggists everywhere with the positive understanding that your money will be refunded without question or quibble if ONE bottle fails to give you absolute satisfaction.

HALF YOUR LIVING FROM YOUR GARDEN

Big Saving to Farmer and City Man is Possible Through Home-Grown Vegetables

Atlanta, Ga.—(Special.)—The farmer who makes and keeps going this year a real home garden, will save fully one-half the money he has been in the habit of paying the supply merchant for his food supplies. The man with a back yard city lot, turned into a garden, can save on his living expenses in the same proportion.

The man in the city has been hit by the war just as hard as the man in the country, and here in Atlanta the Agricultural Committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, of which H. G. Hastings is chairman, is actively encouraging the back yard city garden as one of the most effective steps in solving the problem of living. One Atlantan made $150 worth of vegetables last year on less than one-sixteenth of an acre. Others have been encouraged to try it, and this spring will see Atlanta full of home gardens.

"The farmers of the South, in my opinion," Mr. Hastings said, "have well learned the lesson of the cotton crisis, and I believe they are going to keep it learned. They realize now as never before that they must make cotton their servant instead of their master, and making food crops is the only way to do it.

"The first big step toward the solution of this problem is the home garden—an all-the-year-round garden—one that is kept busy growing food for the table every month in the year. A garden like this means a saving of half the living expense of any family; it is worth more as a money saver than any five acres of cotton ever grown.

"City families pay fancy prices for vegetables and other food products which the farmer can have on his table without the expenditure of a dollar, and this would mean to the farmers of the South an aggregate saving of millions of dollars they are now paying out annually for food supplies, that might be turned into bank accounts."

Kind and Generous.

"Are you kind and generous toward your neighbors?' asked the uplifter. "I should say I am," replied Mr. Crosslots. "I let 'em listen to my phonograph every evening and never charge 'em a cent."

Personal Ambition.

Personal ambition is a quite honorable motive. The desire for approval and praise is something which nobody should despise. But a man should not stake everything upon those; otherwise, when his works fail to obtain recognition he is disappointed. He should have in himself as his primary motive something which makes him independent of those things, something which prevents him from doing all those little things which impede public work, and make it difficult for men to work with others.—Sir Edward Grey.

Peculiar Harvest Festival.

At the end of the harvest season in Malabar there takes place the dance of the drummers, a popular function, in which the principal character is a weird figure supposed to represent the sacred cow of the gods, Kamachenu. A small boy carries this about while the other performers, decked out in primitive fashion with painted bodices and hideous masks, go through a weird dance, accompanied by much drum-beating and singing.

Keeping It Up.

Shortly after the death of one of England's great poets one of his devoted admirers visited the little village where the poet had lived and died. The stranger entered into conversation with an old man, a native of the village, remarking sadly on the death of the poet. "Aye, aye," answered the old man encouragingly; "still I mak' no doobt but the wife'll carry the business on."

Best Way to Keep Apples.

The best vessels in which to keep apples are crates or baskets that permit ventilation, and also permit handling the fruit to prevent bruising When it commences to reach its full stage of ripening it is well to sort it occasionally, and remove and use any that are commencing to decay, or that are becoming soft or overripe. Firm specimens can be wrapped in pieces of ordinary newspaper and put in ventilated crates, baskets or barrels in a cool place, and there kept for a longer time than when not so wrapped.

In Memory

On the third day of January the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gray and took away their darling baby, Annie Elma. She had been sick five weeks, and all that parents and kind friends and physicians could do for her could not save her. She was two months and eighteen days old and a sweet precious darling. She was laid to rest at Liberty Hill cemetery, Bro. Kelly conducted the funeral services and made an excellent talk and give them the hope that they would meet their precious darling beyond this vale of tears. We know nothing we can say or do will not ease your aching hearts or fill the vacant place in that home. We can only ask God's richest blessings to rest upon you and help you to hold out faithful unto the end, and then you will know why it was that God said come home sweet darling, you have suffered enough.

O, that you could only see her as she is praising God and her sweet smiles, for Jesus has said such is the kingdom of heaven; we dont think that you could want her to come back in this world for God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes, and there shall be no more death nor sorrow, crying; nor shall there be any more pain. O, what a blessed thought she is enjoying in the kingdom of God, where there is joy, peace, love and happiness. She cannot come back to you but you can go to her. She is waiting just beyond the river for mother and father. May God help you to bear your trouble and prepare you to meet her in heaven.

Half Your Living Without Money Cost

A right or wrong start in 1915 will make or break most farmers in the Cotton States. We are all facing a crisis on cotton. Cotton credit is upset. The supply merchant cannot advance supplies on 1915 cotton. You must do your best to produce on your own acres the food and grain supplies that have made up most of your store debt in the past.

A good piece of garden ground, rightly planted, rightly tended and kept planted the year round, can be made to pay half your living. It will save you more money than you made on the best five acres of cotton you ever grew! But it must be a real garden, and not the mere one-planting patch in the spring and fall.

Hastings' 1915 Seed Book tells all about the right kind of a money-saving garden and the vegetables to put in it. It tells about the field crops as well and shows you the clear road to real farm prosperity, comfort and independence. IT'S FREE. Send for it today to H. G. HASTINGS & CO., Atlanta, Ga.—Advt.

Half Your Living Without Money Cost

A right or wrong start in 1915 will make or break most farmers in the Cotton States. We are all facing a crisis on cotton. Cotton credit is upset. The supply merchant cannot advance supplies on 1915 cotton. You must do your best to produce on your own acres the food and grain supplies that have made up most of your store debt in the past.

A good piece of garden ground, rightly planted, rightly tended and kept planted the year round, can be made to pay half your living. It will save you more money than you made on the best five acres of cotton you ever grew! But it must be a real garden, and not the mere one-planting patch in the spring and fall.

Hastings' 1915 Seed Book tells all about the right kind of a money-saving garden and the vegetables to put in it. It tells about the field crops as well and shows you the clear road to real farm prosperity, comfort and independence. IT'S FREE. Send for it today to H. G. HASTINGS & CO., Atlanta, Ga.—Advt.

Resolutions by Clanton W.O.W.

Whereas, the great and supreme ruler of the universe has in His infinite wisdom removed from us, one of our worthy and esteemed fellow sovereigns, Mr. M. C. Jones, and whereas the long and intimate relations held with him, in this camp, makes it eminently befitting that we record our appreciation; therefore,

Be it resolved, that the wisdom and ability which he has exercised in the aid of our organization by service and contributions will be held in grateful remembrance.

Be it resolved, that the removal of such a life from among our midst leaves a vacancy and a shadow that will be deeply realized by all the members and friends of this camp, and will prove a serious loss to the community and public.

Be it resolved, that with deep sympathy with the bereaved relatives of the deceased, we express our hope that even so great a loss to us all may be overruled for good by Him who doeth all things well.

Be it resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this camp, a copy printed in each of the county papers, and a copy forwarded to the bereaved family.

DEAR OLD FARMER:

Lift up your heads and move on. Your work is the greatest work known to the world. In the early morning of time when God made Adam and Eve, he gave them lite and put them out in the garden, and Cain and Abel were soon found in the fields at work. So you see farming was the first and best occupation known to the human family. It is the oldest occupation in the morning of time. We had no furnances, no factories, no ships, no railroads, no shops, no lawyers and no doctors. Now all those occupations look to you for help, and hundreds of others not mentioned. If you fail, they fail. You are the backbone of the world. Go to the farm to find fat pigs, fat horses, and fat cattle. Go to the farm to find the best chickens; go to the farm to find a large family of children.

TO THE BOYS:

Who want a stout healthy wife, go to the farm and get you a girl that can run across a ten acre field and take a yearling by the tail and pull him out of a ditch, and start back home and jump a ten rail fence, and pick up a pumpkin as big as a fifty pound lard can and go home with it on her head. Then sit down to the piano and attract the angels, and kneel down at church when called upon to pray. She could not do much of this with a meal sack skirt on.

Now a few words to the young men: Get you a small farm, some stock and a good wife and go to work. Be faithful, work on hope and in less time than two years you will be able to exclaim like one of old: Corn in the big crib, money in the pocket, baby in the cradle, and a pretty wife to rock it.

LEE'S BIRTHDAY EXERCISES AT HIGH SCHOOL

A very fitting and impressive program was rendered at the Chilton County High School Tuesday morning, in commemoration of the birthday of Gen. Robt. E. Lee.

The participating audience, composed of the faculty and students of the school and a number of visiting citizens were greatly appreciative of the gravity of the things which were said and done on this worthy and memorable occasion.

Following is the program as it was rendered, following prayer and invocation by Rev. I. W. Chalker, and welcome to visitors by Prof. Slaton:

1. Song, "Dixie," by the students.
2. Papers on the life of Gen. Lee by Misses Mary Morrow, Lula Mae Slaton, Sallie Popwell and Manilla Littlejohn.
3. Reading of Lee's Farewell address to his soldiers, by Oliver Mullins.
4. "The Sword of Lee," by Omar Reynolds.
5. Song, "Old Oaken Bucket," by students.
6. Address on the Life and Character of Gen. Lee, delivered by Senator Thos. A. Curry.
7. Song by Misses Roberta Curry, Sallie Driver and Lizzie Culpepper.
8. Talk by Prof. Slaton, Principal of the High School.
9. Talk by Rev. I. W. Chalker.
10. Song, "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," by the students.
11. Dismissed with prayer by Rev. Chalker.

The manner in which the remarkable force and virtues of the character of Gen. Lee were impressed on the students by these speeches and exercises was very uplifting and inspiring. Senator Curry impressed his hearers most forcibly with that quality of Gen. Lee's which shone so transcendently in his high regard for the duties of life.

Prof. Slaton paid a beautitul tribute to the flag of our country, and the cause of righteous duty and citizenship.

Rev. Chalker pleased the audience greatly with his few remarks of admonition to the young and growing pupils of the school.

The songs and readings that were rendered by the boys and girls were indicative of a high running interest in their work, and their earnest efforts to meet with the highest hopes of their teachers.

Concord School.

Concord Public School is progressing nicely under Prof. F. B. Williams.

A number of patrons and friends visited the school Friday afternoon, and were entertained by the literary society.

The debate was on the subject: "Resolved that the influence of women for good is greater than that of men." After a splendid discussion by the students the judges decided in favor of the affirmative.

An interesting feature was the reading of the first number of the school paper, "The Concord News." It involves a work very interesting and creditable to the students. The staff of the paper is as follows: Miss Lenny Killingsworth, Editor; Orion West, Secretary; Miss Carrie Randall, Treasurer; Miss Doverta Killingsworth, reporter.

The recitations, and memory gems by the lower grades were remarkably interesting.

Many remained or returned to the spelling bee that night. It was revealed that spelling is not neglected at Concord School.

Another such treat is promised us on the afternoon of Friday the 29th. Let's fill the house to overflow and give the school the encouragement it needs.

SUPPORT THE CHILTON COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

However much some parties or individuals were pleased or displeased with the actions of the authorities in the county high school matter, it certainly behooves us everyone as citizens, enrolled under the banner of educational welfare and betterment of Chilton county, to roll up our sleeves, put our shoulders to the wheel, and pull for the success of the Chilton County High School.

If anyone be so disposed as not to be willing to work for the institution, he or she should certainly not stand in the way and hinder someone else from doing something.

Why do we say these things?

There are numbers of reasons. First and foremost among them is this one:

The school, properly managed and supported, is the greatest opportunity the boys and girls of this county have ever had or ever will have for obtaining a high school education and preparation for life's work. No plan of modern education is known to surpass this system in usefulness and adiptibility to the current needs.

And he who will crouch around the corner and juggle with underhand schemes to minimize the usefulness of the institution in any or all of its applications, tending to the destruction of the invaluable educational opportunity it holds out to our future men and women, is nothing more than a counterfeit upon educational citizenship, and not worthy to be heard upon any subject whatsoever.

Our second reason for saying that all citizens should support the High School is this:

The reputation of the teachers in the school for good work, is in a large measure, dependent upon the proper support by patrons of the school. Therefore, we as citizens, caring that our attention to matters so vitally concerning the interest of those who are to come after us should manifest itself as being thoughtful and sincere, cannot afford to conduct ourselves in such a way as to bring reproach upon the merit and ability of those teachers, whom we have every reason to believe thoroughly competent to turn out success from the institution, if those on the outside will do their part.

The teachers want to work for the school and the pupils who attend there. They are not holding the jobs for the sake of political or religious principles, but because they are interested in the perpetuation of education and learning, out of which grows all the adjuncts of our modern and improved citizenship.

They will be unable to do this if they do not get the co-operation of our citizens.

It seems that it would be far better for a few to make a little concession, and thereby save the reputation of our teachers for worth and merit, and gain for the boys and girls the inestimable value of a good County High School, than to continue stubborn and unruly to the disgust and humiliation of the teaching force, and the destruction of such a splendid hope for the best educational medium we have ever had.

MOUNTAIN CREEK

Its rumored that the Flaketown Graphite Company will soon resume operation.

Clarence Cooper is now confined to his bed, as a result of train riding Sunday afternoon. He received quite an ugly wond on his left leg just above the knee. Dr. Strock had to take about eleven stitches to get it back together the train was running at quite a high speed when he jumped off, consequently it threw him to the ground.

Judge Sims is still confined to his bed. We hope that he is improving.

Marbury Lodge No. 534 A. F. & A. M. will hold a special communitcation on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock January the 30th, for the purpose of doing work in the M. M. degree. There will also be a practice meeting next Saturday afternoon the 23rd inst. Visiting brethern will receive a happy welcome.

We hear quite a lot of talk about that certain bill, which will be introduced to the legisiature, and if passed will abolish the court of county commissioners. Is it possible that we have some some people in Chilton County who are as void of manly principles as a snake is of hips. Surely it seems so. But however we are not inclined to lay this unprinciple act to the Democrat party as a whole, because we have always thought that the democrats conducted their business on a higher plane than that. I imagine that if Mr. Wilson read those bills, that he would grin equal to a mule's dady eating briers. Some democrats have already told the writer that they were actually asamed of it.

But it seems that some people are H—l bent on becoming the public servants of the people of Chilton County. When more than five hundred majority say that they do not choose their methods of runing affars, it surely looks like that ought to convince any reasonable thinking man, that his services were not desired.

How would those promoters liked it, had the authorities at Washington passed a law to the effect that Mr. Taft would have a right to appoint a borard of revenue to look after the affairs of our state. There would have been just as much justice in the Washington bunch passing a law for Mr. Taft to appoint a bunch of republicans to run the business in Montgomery, as there will be in the legislature of Alabama appointing democrats to run the affairs of Chilton County. We feel sure that the legislature will pass this or rather these bills over to the waste bas ket, the place they justly belong.

It is not my desire to become personal in this matter, but however it is a reflection upon our sacred constitution of seventeen hundred and seventy-six.—Of the people, for the people and by the people.

Trust those bills will safely land in the waste basket, and that the promoters of same, will ask God to forgive them, for being guilty of such outrageous thoughts and actions,

Very truly

Chas. Cooper.

The pastor and members of the Clanton Baptist church invite you to come to their church every Sunday, and participate with them in the worship of the Lord.

Owing to the fact that Rev. W. B. Crumpton was here last Sunday, Rev. Fancher gave his pulpit to him for presentation of his state work. Rev. Fancher will preach his "Grasshopper Christian" sermon on next Sunday at eleven o'clock. This is a part of the series of sermons on "why people fail to attend church."

DEATH OF AN OLD CHILTON CITIZEN

We regret to learn of the death of Mr. Samuel Pate, Sr., an old and worthy citizen of Chilton County, living near Collins Chapel at the time of his expiration.

The deceased was 73 years of age, and was the father of four sons and th ree daughters who survive him, all having reached the stage of man and womanhood.

Mr. Pate had been in ill health for some years, owing to his advanced age; which accounts for the fact that his death did not come as a surprise to his friends and relatives.

Funeral services were held Sunday at Collins Chapel, conducted by Rev. W. P. Lowery.

Maplesville News

The Southern and M. & O. Railroads still intersect at this place as of yore.

Rev. H. C. Treadgill, a prominent minister of Eufaula, Ala., preached an interesting sermon at the Methodist church here.

Miss Pearl Lumley, an attractive young lady, has returned to her home at Summerfield, after a visit to Mrs W. W. Teal.

The remains of Mrs. M. A. Jones, who died in Selma last Thursday, were brought here and interred last Friday.

Messrs. Bert Coleman, G. W. Fox, Tom Perry, W. I. Huff, T. D. Potts, J. E. Bearden, H. C. Bearden, Wm. Walker, B. O. Glover, Less Broadhead, G. A. Coleman, W. E. Smitherman, Clyde Culver, L. L Seals, Clem Harris, Tom Lockhart, Dr. W. E. Kay, Revs. J. D Hartzug and R. R. Brasher went over to Montgomery to attend the inauguration of Gov. Henderson.

In spite of the hard times the sound of the hammer and the buzz of the saw are familiar to our citizens.

THE PENDULUM

Happily for the constructive business interests of the country the era of destructive agitation is at an end.

For twenty years the people have been regaled with the misdoing, real and imaginary, of "big business".

Agitation, like a surgical operation, is frequently most painful. Through agitation the people are often misinformed, then correctly informed—made to think—and a correct understanding of conditions arrived at.

In the meantime much harm results, to both the people and business interests. In the end much good results. The pendulum stops its wild gyrations and strikes its steady swing.

The L. & N. submits that wrong has no doubt existed on both sides. The people and public service institutions had a misunderstanding. They went to work to talk it over, and having talked it over came to an agreement, beneficial alike to the people and the public service institutions.

Now, men of brains and financial resources, identified with all kinds of business enterprises, have joined in their efforts to promote general success throughout the country.

The L. & N. will pursue its policy of development and construction. It will work with the people in all matters beneficial to the territory traversed by the L. & N.

Through its consumption of large quantities of steel and iron, the L. & N. is a good customer of the steel and iron industry, which supplies employment to thousands of people.

Through it consumption of large quantities of coal, the L. & N. is a good customer of the coal operators, who supply employment to thousands of people.

Through its construction of more mileage and more passenger and freight cars, the L. & N. is a good customer of the lumber industry, which supplies employment to thousands of people.

Through its purchase of powerful locomotives the L. & N. is a good customer of machinists who supply employment to thousands of skilled mechanics.

Through its manufacture and sale of thousands of miles of passenger and freight transportation, the L. & N. affords employment to large numbers of railway operatives.

Through the necessity for correctly computing the initiating and results of this sale of transportation, the L. & N. supplies employment to a large number of clerical employes, telegraph operators, etc.

Through its broad policy of developing the rich natural resources of the territory the L. & N. affords employment to expert mining engineers and horticulturists, who co-operate with the people for better results in mining, stockraising and agriculture.

The people have come to realize the real constructive significance of the continuous and successful operation of the L. & N. Consequently the pendulum of public opinion has assumed its natural swing. The L. & N. will endeavor to at all times promote success in the interest of the general public good.

Helping Kidneys By Clearing Blood

A Function Greatly Assisted By a Well-Known Remedy.

Most readers will be interested to more clearly understand why analysis of urine is so important. In the use of S. S. S. to purify the blood, its action is a stimulant to the myriad of fine blood vessels that make up the constructive tissues of the kidneys. All the blood from all over the body must pass through the kidneys. They act as testers and assayers. And according to what they allow to pass out in the urine, both as to quantity and materials, the health of the kidneys and the quality of the blood is determined. The catalytic energy forced by S. S. S. is shown in the urine. It is also demonstrated in the skin. And as the blood continues to sweep through the kidneys the dominating nature of S. S. S., acting as it does through all the avenues of elimination, shows a marked decrease of disease manifestations as demonstrated by urine analysis. This assistance is a great relief to the kidneys. The body wastes are more evenly distributed to the emunctories; their elimination is stimulated by the tonic action afforded the liver, lungs, skin and kidneys. Thus, in cases of rheumatism, cystitis, chronic sore throat, huskiness of voice, bronchitis, asthma and the myriad of other reflex indications of weak kidney action, first purify your blood with S. S. S., so it will enable the tissues to rebuild the cellular strength and regain the normal health.

S. S. S. is prepared by The Swift Specific Co., 527 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and if you have any deep-seated or obstinate blood trouble, write to their Medical Dept. for free advice.

WHAT THE EXTENSION SERVICE IS

By J. F. Duggar, Director of Alabama Experiment Station and Extension Service.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Extension work is, in brief, the giving of information on practical subjects to farmers and their families in the counties in which they live. The word service is sometimes used to indicate that the college and experiment station men are attempting to serve the entire public while doing extension work.

For a number of years the Alabama Polytechnic Institute has done a certain amount of extension work through correspondence, farmers' institutes, etc.

As recently organized under the provisions of the Smith-Lever Act recently passed by Congress, the Extension Service in Alabama includes all the demonstration agents, as well as a part of the time of some of the specialists of the College and Experiment Station.

Among the activities of the Extension Service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute are these: Farm demonstration work; boys' corn and pig clubs; girls' canning clubs; women agents in a number of counties; extension work with hog cholera and dairying; giving assistance in organizing farmers into clubs for more advantageous marketing of their products; rendering assistance and advice by publications and correspondence relative to diversification of crops, better farming, livestock, horticulture, insects and diseases of plants and animals.

It is hoped that the Legislature will soon make it possible for these and other lines of extension work to be conducted in every county in the State. This will be done if the present Legislature makes the necessary appropriation to secure for Alabama the annual increase in funds that Congress has agreed in the Smith-Lever Act to make to every State that contributes to extension work as much money as the annual increase offered by Congress in that Act.

VEGETABLES FOR PLANTING DURING FEBRUARY

By Earnest Walker, Horticulturist Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Home gardens for the farmer are an absolute necessity, and farmers should begin now to establish the garden. The following plants should be gotten in now. If not already in, an asparagus bed should be planted. Now is the time to plant cabbage, carrots, kohl-rabi, mustard, onion sets, peas and spinach. We may have a little cold weather that will injure some of these, but it is far better to take the risk and have them started.

Parsley, onion sets and lettuce should be sown in the hot bed for transplanting into the garden. About February 1st, egg plants, peppers and tomatoes should be sown in the hot-bed to be transplanted in the garden after danger of frost is over. About February 15th in this section of the state, earlier in South Alabama and later in North Alabama, lettuce, onion seeds, radishes and beets should be planted in the open, as they will then stand any cold that is likely to come.

CONTROL OF HOG CHOLERA

By C. A. Cary, Dean Veterinary College, Auburn, Ala.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Avoid all the means of transmission. of transmission.

When cholera once gets into a herd and a farm becomes infected, keep the hogs away from horse or cow barns or sheds. Keep them in lots, pastures or fields by themselves and drain all mud holes or wallows. See that hogs get an abundance of pure water in clean troughs. Clean feed troughs once every day and do not permit feed to remain in them to sour and decompose. Feed only fresh, pure feed, and if possible cook it just prior to feeding it. Cholera infected hogs are usually over-fed. Avoid over-feeding.

A highland pasture containing some shade is a good place for them. If weather is warm no other protection is required. If cold and rainy, small houses or shed shelters should protect them. Never permit hogs to sleep in dusty places, old decomposing litter, straw, hay or manure. Feed and nurse cholera hogs as a typhoid human should be. Give fresh anti-hog cholera serum in large doses to all sick hogs. To the hogs that are exposed and apparently well give large doses of fresh serum and small doses of fresh hog cholera virus.

Supply a mixture of pulverized char coal 16 lbs., hardwood ashes 16 lbs., common salt 8 lbs., sulphur 4 lbs., pulverized sulphate of iron 2 lbs., and air slaked lime 8 lbs.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to Drs. Gragg, Marcus and Wood for their care of our baby during its recent severe sickness with pneumonia; also the kind neighbors who rendered us all assistance possible. We thank God for preserving the life of our little one.

"Clean Up the Bowels and Keep Them Clean"

There are many remedies to be had for constipation, but the difficulty is to procure one that acts without violence. A remedy that does not perform by force what should be accomplished by persuasion is Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets. After using them, Mr. N. A. Waddell, 315 Washington St., Waco, Tex., says:

"Almost all my life I have been troubled with constipation, and have tried many remedies, all of which seemed to cause pain without giving much relief. I finally tried Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets and found them excellent. Their action is pleasant and mild, and their chocolate taste makes them easy to take. I am more than glad to recommend them."

"Clean up the bowels and keep them clean," is the advice of all physicians, because they realize the danger resulting from habitual constipation. Do not delay too long, but begin proper curative measures.

Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets are a new remedy for this old complaint, and a great improvement over the cathartics you have been using in the past. They taste like candy and work like a charm. A trial will convince you.

Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets are sold by all druggists, at 25 cents a box containing 25 doses. If not found satisfactory after trial, return the box to your druggist and he will return your money. 12

HUGH BROWN ACCIDENTALLY SHOT LAST WEEK

Young Man Met Dangerous Accident While Out Hunting.

Mr. Hugh Brown, residing 7 miles from Mountain Creek accidentally shot himself while out hunting last Thursday, inflicting a dangerous wound in the leg.

Dr. J. W. Maddox was called, and upon arriving at the home of the young man, found him in a dangerous condition; investigation of the injury proved that amputation was neceasary to the preservation of life. He was accordingly treated, and the dangerous bleeding soon stopped. He is now on a fair way to recovery.

DRY VALLEY ITEMS

The health of our community is exceediegly good at present.

The outlook for a good oat crop and less cotton in Dry Valley is good.

On account of bad weather, our Sunday school and prayer meeting have been small, but we are thankful for a faithful few.

School interest is growing better. Prof. F. B. Williams is our teacher again this winter. He says it makes his heart go "pitty pat," (it gives him so much pleasure) for his patrons to visit his school. The following patrons report a good time at the school house Friday p.m., a week ago: Mrs. Vernon, Mrs. Early Bradford, Mrs. Ida Mills, Mrs. John Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. West, Uncle Ben Randall, and Grandma Seale; and I heard they were all going back next Friday.

Our new preacher's name is Bro. Cantrell. He preaches for us every 1st Sunday; we all like him fine. Last first Sunday he preached a very forcible sermon on the "Divinity of Christ."

Prof. Spearman, teacher of Enon High School, and Prof. John Anderson, teacher of Union Point School, both Shelby county teachers came with their pupils and spent a day with our teacher and pupils at our school. We all were glad to have them with us.

There may be a panic on, but Dry Valley folks are still making fire in stove three times a day.

L.-F.-M.-A.

[Note—From reading the communication last week, and this one, from Concord school, it must be said to the credit of the patrons of Prof. William's school, that they are surely giving him very valuable support. They are doing a splendid duty when they turn out to visit the school on these special occasions.—Editor.]

CHILTON COUNTY CITIZEN WHO MOVED TO FLORIDA

Writes Interesting Letter to His Old Friends Here.

Lakeland, Fla., Jan. 23, 1915.

Editor Union-Banner:—When I left Alabama I promised my Chilton county friends to write them something about Florida, and as I find it impossible to write all personally, trust you will give us space in your paper, and hope all will accept this as a personal letter.

As you all know, I have not been here long enough to learn very much about the country, but will give a few brief sketches, promising to write more later.

This city of Lakeland is a thriving town of over seven thousand inhabitants, and to give you some idea of how it is growing will give you its history for the past five years. In 1900 its population was 1200; in 1910, 3719; and at present over 7000. So you see it is one of the most thriving cities of Florida, with every modern convenience and up-to-date in every particular. The largest railroad center in South Florida, and second to none in the State, as a railroad terminal. We have 24 passenger trains daily the year round; have modern electric light and water plants, owned by the city, and during the last three years the city has spent $230,000 for improvements. That is some figures for a town of this size, isn't it?

Lakeland, as well as the surrounding tows of Florida is famous for its strawberries, oranges, grape, fruit, lemons, gieravers, comequate, bananas, tomatoes, melons, okra, beans, cabbage; in fact all vegetables do well here.

Lakeland is famous for its health conditions, which are not excelled by any city or town in the State or its surrounding vicinity. High altitude has a great deal to do with health conditions. The themometer usually stands from seventy to ninety in summer and rarely below forty in winter We have green gardens the year round. I am at this writing in my shirt sleeves with all the windows up and as I look out across town I can see the green lawns decked with beautiful flowers in full bloom.

There are nine beautiful sand beach lakes in and near Lakeland, with fine fishing in them all, and last but not least is the educational advantages of Florida which are surpassed by no state in the union. Our little girl is in school with over three hundred pupils; three hundred more on the other side of town. The schools are free; no need for any boy or girl to grow up in Florida without an education.

There are 17 churches in Lakeland and as a rule the people are nice clever social people, but oh they so much need more of the Christ-like spirit.

We have found a lot of friends down here that we have learned to love only as friends can love, and if I ever leave Florida these people will always have a warm corner in our hearts.

The principal industries of Florida are trucking, citrus, fruit, cattle raising, poultry raising, dairying, saw milling and phosphate mining.

No for the other side. The land is level sandy land that produces bumper crops of salamanders and gophers, and sand spurs. As for the fleas and mosquitoes, I have not seen any so far; don't know what I may run across in future.

Butter is selling at 40 cents per pound, eggs 35 cents per dozen, other groceries are about like they are in Alabama. But dry goods are some cheaper.

But boys don't decide there is no panic on down here for its here, and it covers the earth like the waters cover the deep. We can only live in hope that the tide will change by and by.

You Chilton boys and girls too, drop us a little news some times; you know it makes one feel better to know they are remembered some times.

I will close by thanking the editor and wishing one and all good luck and a prosperous and happy new year.

M. L. Henley.

TEMPLE CHURCH

The service at the Tabernacle Sunday was very good. Rev. L. P. Adams preached a most interesting sermon.

The Sunday school at this place is progressing nicely under the management of J. M. Johnson as Supt. The number enrolled is 114, average attendance 85.

Everybody is getting along nicely in spite of hard times; planting lots of oats and wheat, and planning for a large crop of corn and peanuts.

A Member.

FOUR GRADUATES FROM COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

One Young Lady and 3 Young Men Will Get Diplomas.

If all those who have entered in the senior class of the Chilton County High School pursue their work through the remainder of the year, there will be four graduates to receive diplomas at the end of the term in May.

They are by name as follows: Miss Jimmie Morrow, Willie Edwards, Walter Martin, and Dorcas Maddox.

The members of the class are all diligent and splendid students and it speaks well for the school to turn out from its first term such a class of graduates.

UNION SPRINGS

Rev. Champion filled his regular appointment here Sunday, basing his remarks on "Gideon and his Band." The church of today is typified by Gideon's band, in obedience, heroism. zeal and numbers. That band, though few, performed an unparallelled work, and will be manifested more and more.

Mr. Frost and family of Mars Hill have moved into this community.

Prof. Mullins was in the Sunday school again Sunday.

Farm work is very backward here; some are putting out cabbage plants.

Rev. Waldrup has lately been to Selma for medical treatment. Since he returned, Dr. Pickering of Randolph has been treating per instructions of the Selma physicians; he is now reported better.

Our people are in a watchful waiting attitude, hoping to see a rift in the clouds, bringing some relief for this stringent financial crisis.

Well, well. One of the great Chicago doctors has discovered that love is a disease; yet no one, male or female, seems to be afraid that it will be fatal in their own cases.

The Sunday school lessons of the present will doubtless have new interest as they deal with that down-trodden people, the Jews. Prophetic students have pointed out last year as Israel's last oppression by the Gentiles. So in September Russia gave the Jews religious freedom, liberty and privileges as citizens; Germany followed. Great Britain also honored them. Later in this country the Jews were demanding, with other Jews, recognition in the peace negotiations at the close of the war in the East. Legally the Jew is now accorded the same liberties as other people.

The Clanton Press is in favor of the people cutting out the mail order houses, and trading at home. Doubtless, the Press is sincere, but it had just as well be pitching straws against a cyclone.

Are all those proposed bills from Chilton to be presented to the Legislature, Democratic measures? They don't seem to have the ring of Democracy.

LOST—Strayed or stolen from my home near Collins Chapel, a white and black spotted hound dog; medium size, and barks very fine. A reward will be paid for information regarding him. Address Julius Smith, Clanton, Ala., Route 4.

JIM CRAWFORD IS SHOT ACCIDENTALLY BY DEPUTY

As he Makes Desperate Effort to Evade Arrest.

A few weeks ago the authorities of the law in Clanton received a telegram from the Chief of Police at Crawford, Ga., warranting the arrest of a white man, named Jim Crawford, who was wanted in that town for some depredation which he had committed, and escaped from the law.

On Saturday last the man, Jim Crawford was located at the home of a Mrs. Anderson, who lives about five miles west of Clanton, and Sheriff Harris despatched Deputies Gillespie and Grant to arrest him, and bring him to jail.

Upon reaching the home of Mrs. Anderson, Grant went to the front door, and Gillespie to the back, and from these positions began to close in on the two escapes from the house.

Crawford saw Grant at the front door with his pistol, whereupon he straightway made a desperate leap for the back door, and unsuspectingly encountered Gillespie. But in his determined effort to get away, he made a terriffic pass at the door, and as he went out, he was caught by the deputy, who seized to his coat, and held on to him for about ten or fifteen feet. Finally Crawford released the hold which Gillespie had on his coat, and continued to run, the deputy in close pursuit; when they had run about twenty steps, both fell to the ground, at which interval the pistol of Gillispie was accidentally discharged, taking effect in Crawford's right leg, just above the knee, breaking the bone. After realizing that further efforts were useless, the culprit surrendered to the two deputies, Grant having by this time come around the house to the aid of Gillespie in effecting the capture.

Sheriff Harris and Dr. Gragg were immediately summoned, and soon arrived at the scene of the accident and arrest. The man's wound was dressed, and he was brought to Clanton and placed in jail.

A message was dispatched by wire to the Georgia authorities, by the Sheriff, stating that Crawford was in jail, and return instructions were received, asking that he be held till an officer could reach Clanton from Georgia, to receive the prisoner into custody, and return him to answer for his former offense in that state.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

The Pastor and members of the Clanton Baptist Church extend to the public, a cordial invitation to come and worship with them in their services every Sunday morning at eleven o'clock, and every Sunday night at seven-thirty.

Next Sunday Rev. Fancher's continuation of the series of of sermons on the decrease in church attendance will be a text entitled, "When a man turns a deaf ear to God."

A summary report of the year which Rev. Fancher has been serving the church will be rendered on next Sunday.

Sunday school every Sunday at ten o'clock. Come and help in the work.

We do not dare brag on the few pretty days we have had this week; if we did the weather man might change his mind suddenly, just as we had begun to thank him for being nice to us.

Next Monday is the last day on which you will be able to pay your poll tax for this year. If you have not already done so, you had better get busy. You are sure to want to vote on something or other this year. It may not be any more than a stock law election; but you want your ballot.

Some seem to think our new deputy Sheriff has made a startling record; he was sworn in to duty on Monday, and on the following Saturday he shot a man. But that is not as well as one deputy in the state. He was sworn in at one o'clock on the same Monday, and he killed him a man before night. And the killing was not accidental, either, as was the shooting of Jim Crawford by Deputy Gillespie.

The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago has the largest enrollment of students this winter in its history.

600 are in residence, over 300 are in the evening classes, and 2,000 in the correspondence department.

Awaiting a new administration building, for which they are now seeking funds, seven dwelling houses in the neighborhood have been rented in whole or in part to accommodate the students and care for the necessities of the work.

It makes some of our local political opponents snarl at us and fume in a vigorous fashion when they hear us give it as our opinion that all this hard times and business depression is not caused by the war. We would like to see these good Democrats gulp down Tom Watson's explanation of the matter from his Democratic view of the situation. He starts out by saying that this business depression and financial crisis which afflicts the people is the result of evil laws.

Regarding the workings of some of Woodrow Wilson's laws, Tom Watson in his Jeffersonian, has the following to say:

"As a producer of revenue, Wilson's laws have been such a failure that new taxes were laid on the people when they ought to have been laid on the net incomes of the millionaires.

"As a producer of less costly living, the Wilson laws have been such failures that a greater number of Americans are in want than ever before."

The above arraignment of Wilson's laws is nothing more than just a repetition of the writing on the wall that was revealed by the downfall of free trade under Cleveland, and pointed out to the people of America by the protectionists when Wilson was declared elected.

Every country citizen should take precaution against the move that is being made by the postoffice department to have rural mail delivery routes discontinued if they do not measure up to a required standard in the amount of mail handled. The way to do this is to take advantage of the service offered by the route, and have some paper or periodical come to your box regularly. For the expenditure of a very small amount a man can have a number of papers come to his address every week; and by so doing, he serves a two-fold purpose—that of helping to maintain his mail route, and giving his family the great advantage of plenty of reading matter of various kinds.

Mose Killgore, of Chilton County, came to town yesterday with an armful of endorsements for position of Warden at Speigner's. He was campaign manager for Governor Henderson in Chilton County.

"You can say" said he, "that so far as the local optionists of Chilton County are concerned we are not afraid that they won't stand hitched if the prohibition measures are submitted. You can say that we are not afraid local optionists in our county will be bought. We are not as uneasy about our crowd as the Speaker and the Superintendent seem to be about theirs"

Chilton citizens who are familiar with conditions of the last primary, and with the parties concerned in the above clipping do not need an explanation as to the import of the incident related therein.

A closer co-operation between business men and farmers is one of the purposes of the great Crop Diversification Campaign in Alabama that starts on February 3rd. It is realized that many of the farmers are anxious to break away from the one-crop system of farming and to diversify their crops and have more live stock and poultry, but many of them need the help of merchants and bankers in doing this. They also need better and more reliable markets and more direct marketing facilities. The plan is, to have the business men join in helping the farmers to diversify this year and to get good markets for all they produce.

In every county visited the business men of the towns will go out with the campaign men to the country meetings. The plan is, to establish a working organization in every county, to assist the farmers in diversifying and in selling their produce and live stock. In short, this campaign is as much for the business men as the farmers. It means, building up Alabama on the solid basis of diversifyed farming and live stock raising, without which there can be no permanent agriculture.

MOUNTAIN CREEK

In continuation of my article, of last week relative to "that certain bill that will be introduced to the legislature" and if passed will abolish our commissioners court, beg to advise that the writer has been informed of some of the reasons why some democrats wish that such a bill could be passed, that is, they have told the writer some reasons why that they were in such a frame of mind. But however, the writer looks at the situation from an entirely different view point.

Those democrats who favor the passage of this bill in question, state that they are very much interested in the progress and prosperity of our county. How they could be interested in the prosperity of the county, and at the same time be advocating such outrageous things as are contained in this 'bill," is far beyond the comprehension of the writer. Is it possible that anyone can have the interest of a people at heart, and then endevor to deprive them of their privilige at the polls? If this be true, we must confess, that we do not understand all we know about a thing. The following is the reason rendered by an advocate of this bill in question:

It is stated that we need intelligent men to look after the welfare of our county, and that the only feasible way to secure men of this kind, is to let the Governor appoint them, and further states that it is absolutely impossible to obtain them otherwise.

The writer agrees with the first clause of the above paragraph: yes we need men of intelligence to pilot the affairs of the county, but nevertheless, we are contented to let the people select them, and we feel inclined to prefer the selection of our officers by the people, instead of leaving it to the sole selection of them by the governor or any-other one person.

It is further stated that "just" a farmer is not capable of filling an office, and that we need men of practical business experience. Of course the governor will appoint the business kind.

To me, it seems that we have had quite a lot of the business kind recently, and we have had them to our sorrow.

From the reading of the "certain bill" it seems that the promoters of same wish to endow this board of revenue with power to issue bonds, warrants, or let them use the county funds a most any old way that they may choose.

It has been a conceeded fact for a number of years, that the majority of the people of Chilton County do not approve of bond issuing or otherwise going into debt.

I have been asking myself, the question, why is it that the democrats are so bent on issuing bonds? It has always been against good business policies, to go in debt for something that you really don't need.

Is it possible that there is a graft associated with this bonding business? Surely that could not be true.

For a number of years the affairs of Chilton County glided serenely down the stream of time and it come look the world square in the the face, and say "I owe no man." These were the results of having men in office who were not so smart, as the democrats prefer to term it.

But a few years ago, by some unnatural cause, a few officers were elected who have proven to be like the man's puppy—Just a little two smart, little to smart from our view point of the situation.

Very truly,
Chas. Cooper.

Is Your Mail Route in Danger of Being Discontinued? If so, Why?

The above is a question many times more worthy of the consideration and investigation of the the rural citizen than many have probably attributed.

And that investigation or consideration is not something far away and abstract to the farmer and other country citizen, if he only knew it.

The very question itself, together with the investigation and solution will not take him further from home in most cases than his front gate, and in no case further than his mail box.

Here's the real question: Are the patrons of your R. F. D. Route giving same sufficient patronage to warrant the government in continuing to pay the carrier for his services? For the answer you might consult the carrier himself, or your postmaster; they probably have statistics bearing on the direct question.

But a better plan is this: Let each patron of a rural mail route first be sure he is giving the route a full measure of individual service; give your carrier something to do for you every day; he does not mind it. That is what he comes to your home for, and his job and your mail delivery service are dependent on how much you let him do for you.

The rural mail delivery service is educational. It is not a money-making scheme, but fostered by Uncle Sam for the education and enlightenment of the country districts.

Your carrier should never pass your gate without leaving some newspaper, book or periodical of value to the home life of your family.

If this were true, besides the great service the community would be deriving, the danger of having the route discontinued would be entirely eliminated.

So you see that the saving of the rural mail route, with its myriads of supplementary advantages to home and community life, is directly in the hands of the individual patron.

If you want the carrier to continue to serve you, give him something to do; otherwise he will be discontinued.

The R. F. D. News of Washington, D. C., has the followiug to say on the subject of discontinuing mail routes:

"The Postoffice Department is making a very careful investigation with the view of ascertaining just what routes will justify continuauce, and what routes will probably be abandoned.

"Inspectors recent reports indicate that quite a number of routes are not carrying enough mail to justify the expense of a carrier, and the policy of the Postoffice Department is to discontinue such routes that do not handle a sufficient volume of mail to indicate the inteaest of the people living along them.

"The loss of a rural route to a commvnity is a distinct step backward.

"It is simply the severance of one more link with the outside world; with all that mrans of influences for development, for education, and for recreation.

"For the carrier, it means of course the outright loss of his job.

"But for the community it means acknowledging tacitly to adjoining communities, that it does not properly appreciate the facilities for advancement comprised in a rural route.

"That is a confession no community is willing to make, for its own sake or that of its neighbors.

"The carrier, of course, can do much to stimulate interest in the service, and in many cases the efforts of these faithful men have been the means of saving routes threatened with extinction.

"But the carrier cannot do it all. The matter is one of cooperation, in which the patron must work with him, must get busy with his sluggard neighbor as to tho advantages of the route, as to the disadvantages of being placarded as indifferent to the serving of mail at daily intervals with the outside world.

"The danger is a real one. It must be met quickly. The department is reported to be instituting a rigid investigation of rontes, and there is danger that there may ensue a weeding-out process."

ANNUAL REPORT OF MRS. MARSHALL, CO. NURSE

Resume of Investigations Made Regarding Health Conditions Among School Children.

At the annual meeting of the Chilton County Health Committee held in Clanton, Jan. 9th, it was decided to publish the following report of work done by the County Nurse from April 1, 1914, to Jan. 1, 1915, for the purpose of giving to the general public an idea of conditions existing in the public schools of our county.

During that time I have examined 1250 school children who show the following percentages of defects:

Defective vision 14.3 per cent.
Conjunctivitis 25.1 per cent.
Defective hearing 3.6 per cent.
Adenoids 29.4 per cent.
Enlarged tonsils 28.3 per cent.
Malnutrition 26.7 per cent.
Hookworm 33.3 per cent.
Pupils showing no defects 24.8 per cent.
Pupils showing one defect 21.2 per cent.
Pupils showing two defects 28.7 per cent.
Pupils showing three defects 16.6 per cent.
Pupils showing four defects 5.8 per cent.
Pupils showing five defects 1.1 per cent.

No accurate record of defective teeth has been kept, although the attention of the children has always been drawn to this condition. At least 50 per cent of the children are in need of dental attention and this would greatly reduce the above percentage of children showing no defects. The above figures are all very conservative owing to the fact that a nurse does not diagnose so closely as a physician.

There is no method of determining the exact number of children who have been placed under the care of a physician or specialist, following my advice to the parents, but judging from the reports of doctors and parents, at least five per cent of the children examined have taken treatment. We can only urge that a large number of the parents awake to their responsibility in this vital matter, as the above named disorders when corrected in childhood, will save years of suffering in the future.

In addition to the school work, I have made 183 visits to patients, 190 visits to parents in the interest of school children; have given 96 lectures on hygiene, and organized 14 active Improvement Associations.

In this connection I would like once more to urge each community, especially the small towns, to commence work at once for the prevention of a typhoid fever outbreak next summer. Now is the time to build sanitary closets to prevent soil pollution, to have the wells walled up in a way that surface water cannot enter, and to screen the doors and windows of our homes.

Helen H. Marshall, County Nurse.

Deputy Sheriff Curry, from Douglas, Ga., came to Clanton Tuesday night and arrested a Mr. Shirely, who has been under bond for assault committed in that city. Mr. Shirely has been tried for the offense, and placed under bond for appeal; the rearrest was occasioned by his bondsmen giving him up to the authorities.

NEWS OF THORSBY

Thorsby Institute Defeats Wetumpka. Thorsby Institute Adds to Faculty.

The Basket Ball Team of the Fifth District Agricultural School located at Wetumpka suffered their first defat of the season at the hands of the Thorsby Institute team at Thorsby on Friday, Jan. 22nd. At the end of the first half the score stood 4 to 0 in favor of Thorsby, but the Wetumpka team rallied during the second half, and the final score was Thorsby 10, Wetumpka 9.

Because of the increase in enrollment since the Christmas vacation, and to provide for some special review classes for those who are to take the teacher's examination, the trustees of Thorsby Institute made arrangements for the services of an additional teacher for the balance of this year.

Miss Lydia Colby, the new teacher, is a graduate of the Illinois State Normal School at Normal, Ill., and was for several years an instructor in the State Normal School at DeKalb, Ill. She comes to Thorsby with very high recommendations, both as a teacher and as a woman of strong Christian character, and her coming will be a valuable addition to the already strong faculty of the school.

The Second Semester opens Monday, Feb. 1. Any teacher wishing to take up review work after their schools close this spring are invited to correspond with Principal S H. Herbert, Thorsby, Ala.

Miss Roberts, of Washington, D. C., Supervisor of the Red Cross Town and County Nursing Services, was in Thorsby recently. She spoke briefly of her work before Dr. Jenkins began his lecture Thursday night and addressed the young women of Thorsby Institute on "Nursing as a Life Work," Friday afternoon.

Prof. J. M. Crowell, of the 5th District Agriculture School at Wetumpka, accompanied the Basket Ball Team from his school on their recent trip to Thorsby, and addressed the young men of the Institute last Friday afternoon.

The Helen Keller Literary Society had an interesting meeting last Friday night. The Society was completely reorganized and the following officers elected for the balance of this school year: President, D. L. McKay; Vice President, H. L. Maddox; Secretary, Pearl Bryan; Treasurer, Edgar Williamson; Custodian, Oscar Swanland. The Society voted to join the High School Debating League of Alabama, which is now being organized. Membership in this League is limited to the fully accredited High Schools of the State.

On Monday the Stars elected Einar Anderson as Captain for the Second Semester, and the Crescents elected H. L. Maddox as their Captain.

The lecture on "Some Unsolved Mysteries of America," given by Rev. Frank E. Jenkins, D. D., of Piedmont College, last Thursday night at Thorsby Institute was very much enjoyed by all who were fortunate enough to be present. The glimpse into civilization long since vanished from this continent made one realize that other ages besides our own have been able to do wonderful things. Music for the evening was furnished by the Institute Quartettes.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Basket Ball Games at Thorsby on Wednesday Afternoon.

The Basket Ball Team of the Chilton County High School went to Thorsby on Wednesday to play the team of the Baptist High School.

Two games were played, the first resulting in a score of 28 to 2 in favor of the Baptist High School; the second was a score of 11 to 8 in favor of the same team.

The rather poor success of the County High School boys in these games is accounted for by the fact that their team has been organized only a few days, and thie is the first game they have ever engagad in, other than a little practice at school.

DESTROYING WEEVILS IN CORN

By W. E. Hinds, Entomoligist Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

There are several kinds of insects that injure stored corn. All of these start their work in the field as the corn matures and continue to work in the cribs to which practically all of them are carried by the present practice of storing corn with the husk on.

When present in abundance these insects may cause a loss of half or two-thirds of the feeding value of the corn. No farmer can afford to lose 50 to 75 cents per bushel on his corn when he can easily prevent it at a cost of not more than 1 cent per bushel.

The best treatment is to fumigate in the crib with carbon disulphid (commonly known as "high life.") This can be poured directly on the corn without injuring it for feed or for seed. Even in tight rooms at least 10 lbs. should be used per 1,000 cu. ft., and in ordinary cribs from 20 to 25 lbs. will be needed for the same space. Use it on warm days only and do not allow fire near until the odor has disappeared. Get Alabama Experiment Station Bulletin No. 176 for full details.

PREVENTION OF SMUT IN OATS

By H. B. Tisdale, Assistant in Agriculture Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

The following method is the simplest one for preventing smut in oats. Pour the grain on a clean floor or canvas and sprinkle with a solution of formaldehyde at the rate of one ounce of a 40 per cent. solution to three gallons of water. Stir the grain and sprinkle until it is wet throughout. Then cover it well with clean sacks or canvas, and leave it for three to ten hours; after which the grain should be dried as quickly as possible.

Do not let the treated grain come in contact with material that might contain smut spores. The floor and the sacks should be treated with a stronger solution, about one ounce to one gallon of water.

Most druggists sell formaldehyde in solution of about 40 per cent strength (often called formalin) at 45 cents to one dollar per pound.

TO THE MEMORY OF MRS. EMMA DOWNING

The good lady, whose life is the subject of this little sketch, was called from this world on the 14th of January, 1915. In her demise those who lived within the love of her heavenly spirit, realize the loss of one of the best and most Godly characters. She leaves a host of friends, besides four children to mourn for. The remains were laid to rest in the Mountain Springs cemetary, funeral services were conducted by Rev. F. A. Ellison.

Mothers Tell of Mother's Friend

Experience is or should be our best teacher. Women who have obeyed the highest and noblest of all sacrifices, the struggle for the life of others, should have a better idea of helpful influence than those who theorize from observation.

At any rate when a prospective grandmother urges her daughter to do as she did—to use "Mother's Friend," there is reason to believe it the right advice.

"Mother's Friend" is an external application for expectant mothers. Its purpose is to furnish pliancy to the muscles, to take away the strain on the cords and ligaments, to relieve the tension of nerves and tendons so apt to provoke or aggravate nausea, morning sickness, twitchings of the limbs and so on.

Although, in the nature of things, a woman would use "Mother's Friend" but but rarely, yet so effective has it been found that this splendid remedy is on sale in most drug stores throughout the United States. It has been prepared by Bradfield Regulator Co., 406 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and advertised by us for over forty years. This is a fine record for such a special remedy and the grateful letters received to-day are just as appreciative as were those of years ago notwithstanding that methods are supposed to have greatly advanced. Ask at the drug store for a bottle of "Mother's Friend." It is worth while.

JOHN W. THOMAS DEAD

On January the 16th, after a few days illness, Mr. John W. Thomas passed away. He had resided for more than forty years in the Pleasant Grove neighborhood, a few miles south west of Jemison; there surrounded by friends and relatives he breathed his last, and was laid to rest in the Pleasant Grove cemetery. Rev Honeycutt conducted the funeral srvices in the presence of a large assembly. The minister paid a nice tribute to his memory. His life was quiet, peaceful and upright. He was baptized in 1886, by Rev. A. E. Burns.

But death mars our plans and blasts our hopes. Still we can look through the dark pall and read through the silver lining the joyous truth that by and by there will be no more death; that jubilant note is now ringing through the earth, and people joy over its approaching fullfillment.

The poet speaks of our bodies rotting in some lonesome place, forgotten by the living; but the rosy dawn of day, the bright day, draws nearer, and the dead will come back. Weep not, they are sleeping, resting; they will awake on the glad tomorrow. Earth's dark night is passing. "The morning cometh." For those who sleep, and those who weep, above the portals narrow, the mansions rise beyon the skies—We are going home tomorrow.

A PLAN FOR ORGANIZING A COMMUNITY FOR CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING

By J. F. Duggar, Director Alabama Experiment Station and Extension Service.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

The best plan for marketing farm products grown as substitutes for cotton is by the formation of marketing clubs at the shipping points. The following first steps are suggested:

(1) Let any three interested persons post notices calling a meeting of all interested in the formation of a marketing club or other organization for neighborhood improvement, naming a definite place and hour for the meeting.

(2) Appoint or elect temporary committees (to report at the next meeting) on (1) organization; (2) crops, livestock or other products that the community should offer for sale; (3) market demands, probable prices, and freight rates on a few of the principal products; (4) co-operation with other local organizations; and (5) social and general welfare of the community.

After organization the main objects to be attained should be:

(1) Deciding on a standard variety or type of any product to be grown, if practicable, by all members.

(2) Such programs as will impress every member with the profit in offering for market only products of high quality, uniformity, and put up in the form desired by the market.

(3) The selection of a salesman authorized to sell all such produce as may be agreed on, and at an agreed commission.

(4) Deciding whether the organization shall incur the expense of incorporating.

(5) Arranging in advance for the equipment needed to put the produce in marketable shape—for example, threshing machines, combined corn huskers and shellers, fanning machines for recleaning grains, hay presses, sacks of uniform capacity, crates, etc.

Where individuals will not invest in these machines their purchase in partnership by several neighbors or by a stock company should be considered.

A suggestive form of constitution for a union of all neighborhood organizations may be had free by addressing Extension Service, Auburn, Ala. Parts of the same constitution may be used by the marketing club.

Rheumatic Throat Is Common Trouble

Should Be Treated in Blood To Prevent Recurrence.

There are successful gargles that stop soreness in the throat, but to prevent their incessant return, the blood must be put in order. The best remedy is S. S. S., as it influences all the functions of the body to neutralize the irritants or waste products and to stimulate their excretion through the proper channels.

Rheumatic sore throat is a dangerous indication, as it means that the blood is loaded with more uric acid than the kidneys can excrete, and may thus lead to serious general disturbance.

The action of S. S. S. stimulates cellular activity. It prevents the accumulation of irritants in local spots. It enables the arteries to supply quickly the new red blood to replace worn-out tissue.

For this reason uric acid that finds the throat an easy prey to its breaking-down influence, is scattered and eliminated. In other words, S. S. S. prevents chronic conditions by enabling all the mucous linings of the body to secrete healthy mucus. Its influence is shown in a marked improvement of the bronchial tubes, whereby the huskiness of voice with thick, grayish expectorations is overcome. S. S. S., well diluted with water, means a blood bath, since it is welcome to any stomach and at once gets into the blood.

S. S. S. is free of all minerals and contains ingredients wonderfully conducive to well-balanced health.

You can get it at any drug store, but do not accept anything else. There is danger in substitutes. S. S. S. is prepared only by The Swift Specific Co., 528 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Our Medical Dept. will give you free instruction by mail on any subject of blood disorders. Write today.

FROM BEAT 12.

Editor Union-Banner:—Will you allow me space in your valuable paper to say a few words in regard to the stock law election that is to be held in this Beat—or the partial stock law, as that is what it really is.

The people who got up this election have been denying it. They had it published in the Clanton Press, and as ther are not many of those papers that come to this Beat, there are not many people who know about it. Those who want the partial stock law are keeping it a secret, it seems.

I want to say to the voters of this Beat, that they had better be ready. Be sure to pay your poll tax, as next Saturday, the 30th of this month, is the last day upon which same can be paid.

I have always heard it said that one should think twice before he speaks; but I wish to say to you, Mr. Voter, that you had better think three times before you vote for partial stock law.

It looks to me like a few people in this Beat are trying to keep the election a secret, but Mr. Editor, if you will publish this letter, I think it will be known all right, as The Union-Banner goes all over the Beat.

The election is to be held on the 15th of February; so be ready boys and let's do our duty.

Yours truly,
JUST A VOTER.

CONSUMPTION TAKES 350 PEOPLE DAILY

Over 350 people succumb to consumption every day in the United States.

Science proves that the germs only thrive when the system is weakened from colds or sickness, overwork, confining duties or when general weakness exists.

The best physicians point out that during changing seasons the blood should be made rich and pure and active by taking Scott's Emulsion after meals. The cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion warms the body by enriching the blood; it peculiarly strengthens the lungs and throat, while it upbuilds the resistive forces of the body to avoid colds and prevent consumption.

If you work indoors, tire easily, feel languid or nervous, Scott's Emulsion is the most strengthening food-medicine known. It is totally free from alcohol or any stupefying drug. Avoid substitutes.

Finds Cure for Epilepsy After Years of Suffering

"My daughter was afflicted with epileptic fits for three years, the attacks coming every few weeks. We employed several doctors but they did her no good. About a year ago we heard of Dr. Miles' Nervine, and it certainly has proved a blessing to our little girl. She is now apparently cured and is enjoying the best of health. It is over a year since she has had a fit. We cannot speak too highly of Dr. Miles' Nervine."

Tri-Weekly Constitution

Its Campaign for Diversified Farming and its Special 1915 Offer for Rural Household Largest Circulated Tri Weekly in the World.

Diversified farming is now the universal topic in agricultural communities of the south. The Atlanta Constitution has been a pioneer in this movement for the past quarter of a century and it is now leading in the movement which promises so much for the south in 1915.

The Tri-Weekly Constitution, with circulation exceeding 118,000—all subscriptions cash paid in advance—announces a series of articles explaining in detail every step in the growing and marketing of the numerous varieties of foodstuffs which the southern farmers are urged to raise this year. These articles are written by Professor R. J. DeLoach, an expert of national reputation, he being the director of the government experiment station in Georgia. Expert advice on this subject from authorities the country over will be given through the columns of The Tri-Weekly Constitution. This is a feature of estimable value to every farmer.

The Tri-Weekly Constitution is issued three times a week—Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. It has become known as the "Farmer's Daily." It carries the Associated Press service, with detailed cablegrams giving every movement of the world's great war, the latest market reports up to the minute of going to press, and it presents a brilliant array of special fiction features and special departments of particular interest to the farmer, covering every feature of farming life. Its poultry department, its department for the women and children, its agricultural department and its other special features alone give The Tri-Weekly Constitution special appeal to every southern fireside.

The cost of The Tri-Weekly Constitution is but $1.00 per year, with a premium thrown in free of charge. During the month of January a special trial subscription is offered, The Tri-Weekly Constitution being sent to any address from the date of receipt of order to May 1, 1915, at a cost of only 25 cents. Remittances should be made direct to The Tri-Weekly Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

DISASTROUS FIRE HERE ON LAST SATURDAY MORNING

Both of Clanton's Hotels Gutted by Hungry Flames.

On last Saturday morning at three o'clock fire was discovered in the Palmer Hotel, and within a few minutes the Davis Hotel, which was located only a few yards to the west of the Palmer House, was also ablaze, having caught from the sparks; and in the rear of the Hotel was the old episcopal church which was also soon a mass of flames. Within three hours the three buildings mentioned were consumed. The alarm caused a rush of men, women and children to the scene, and heroic efforts were made to save some of the adjoining buildings and furniture, which resulted only in the saving of a small percentage of the contents of the burning buildings. The total loss is about twenty thousand dollars. The property was owned by Mr Willie Wilson, and was partially covered by insurance. The occupants of the hotels were aroused by fire alarm whistles, and rescued by volunteer fire fighters, and then lodged in private residences in the neighborhood of the burning buildings. This is the third disastrous fire which has occurred in this city within sixty days, and the destruction caused by the flames will only tend to stimulate the city authorities to work with renewed energy, and to keep on drilling for water with which they can more successfully battle with fires.

SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION AT COLLINS CHAPEL FOR

Farmers, Boys, Girls, and Women—Home and Farm Subjects.

On the 26th and 27th of February, there will be held at Collins Chapel a school of instruction for the benefit of the farmers, boys, and girls, and women of the community. But the scope of the meeting can and should easily be made much wider than the individual community where it is to be held. The instruction which will be given out by the specialists on agriculture at this school will be of immense value to those who are fortunate enough to hear it.

The program is wide and varied, and will embrace lectures and practical demonstrations on the following subjects:

For Men and Boys—Commercial Fertilizers, Rotation of Crops, Pastures, Clovers, Hog raising, Hog cholera, Cattle tick, Milk Cow, Horses and Mules, Boll Weevil, Spraying fruits and vegetables, Farm Machinery.

For Women and Girls—Kitchen equipment, Waterworks and Lights for the country home, Bread making, Cooking Meats, Soups, Foods for the human body, Cooking vegetables, Home canning, Home sanitation, Poultry raising, Home Gardening, Washing and ironing.

With discussions and demonstrations by men and women who know what they are doing, on the above list of so important subjects, it is easily seen by anyone that the importance of hearing the lectures, and seeing the demonstrations that will be given is not to be estimated in mere words. The farmer cannot well afford to miss this event.

Begin to get ready now to attend. More will be published in the papers from now till the time comes.

REPUBLICANS TOGETHER AGAINST FREE TRADE

To Overthrow the Underwood Law and Enact a Protective Tariff.

A few troublesome questions like prohibition and woman suffrage are serving to deter some of the active spirits in both parties for the time being, but it is assumed that they will soon be disposed of and that the Republicans will shortly get together on the one question about which few of them are now inclined to dispute—the overthrow of the Underwood Tariff law and the enactment of a Protective Tariff measure that will meet the problem of unemployment and aid in a return of prosperous business conditions.

The one big issue upon which most of the Republicans agree is the Tariff. It suits the "old guard" and is entirely satisfactory as an issue, to what is left of the Progressives. The fact that Progressives like Murdock, of Kansas, and Kelly, of Pennsylvania, who voted for the Underwood Tariff bill, were defeated, has had its effect in sobering those independent Republicans who are inclined to fall in with the notion that low Tariffs were desired by the people. The Republican House leader, Mr. Mann of Illinois, has already opened the campaign for a Tariff board, on the lines of the Taft board which the Democrats refused to continue. Several members have also introduced bills to repeal the Underwood Tariff law. They are preparing for the popular wave which they expect will sweep the country and restore a Republican Protection law in 1916. As to these bills, however, and with respect to other measures introduced with a view to the amendment of the war tax act. Mr. Underwood, sponsor for the bills, has become a veritable standpatter. He is against amendments in any form and there will probably be none while he heads the Ways and Means Committee. It appears to the gentleman from Alabama that if Congress ever gets a whack at either of these two bills there will be such an avalanche of knocks and blows as to make the legislative life of either of them not worth the living.—American Economist.

SUFFRAGE IN TENNESSEE

The Tennessee Legislature took definite steps toward equal suffrage Friday when the House of Representatives adopted a resolution providing for an amendment to the State Constitution giving votes to women. The resolution passed the Senate Thursday by a vote of 26 to 3. The vote in the house today was Ayes, 70; noes, 14. The resolution must be adopted by the next Legislature and then carry in an election before it becomes operative.

Local members of the equal suffrage league are jubilant over the action.

It is about agreed that the state highway from Montgomery will run by Wetumpka, Spee, Rockford, Hanover, Sylacauga and Talladegr.

We do not for one minute believe that this country is wholly unaffected by the war in Europe. But we do believe that the policy of free trade and other Democratic measures has weakened our capability of withstanding whatever effects the war may have tended to produce in America. And when the war is over, and the real business opportunity of the United States does come, then, more than ever, are we going to need a protective government policy.

Diversification of crops, more live stock poultry, the prevention of hog cholery, the eradication of the cattle-tick, better markets and cooperative marketing plans—these are the objects of the great Crop Diversification Campaign throughout Alabama that starts February 3rd. From 25 to 40 mestings will be held on farms, at schools and in the towns of the counties visited. In the campaign crews will be some of the leading farmes in this country—men who have made a success with diversification, live stock raising and marketing their farm products. All the work will be done on a practical basis. Men and women, boys and girls are urged to be at the meetings.

Many of the leading farmers and business men of the State believe that this campaign will be of greater benefit to the whole people than any other movement ever started in the State. "ALABAMA MUST FEED HERSELF" is the slogan of the work, and if the people of Alabama raise enough farm products in 1915 to feed themselves they will save a good many millions of dollars that otherwise would go into the Central West for foods and feed stuffs.

SHALL OUR PEOPLE HAVE NO VOICE?

Because the sentiment of the majority of the people of Chilton county, as expressed in the last election, dealt such a crushing blow to the Democratic party locally, and a few of the vainglorious potentates of the organization, they are now making attempts to browbeat the rights of the ballot for popular and unhampered expression at the polls, by the putting through of certain bills in the Legislature of Alabama.

In their patriotic determination and desire to serve the people of their county in an official capacity, they are making desperate efforts to get the State authorities to give them some officies, which the very voice of the people on the 3rd of last November said they wanted other parties and individuals to have; and that by the majority of 500 votes.

The bills they are putting before the Legislature are of different kinds, and provide in all for the following regulations in regard to county officials: The abolition of the Court of County Commissioners, and the APPOINTMENT (by the Governor) of a Board of Revenue to supersede them; to give to said Board of Revenue the reins of the financial end of the county's affairs, and the right to issue bonds on the county whenever they see fit so to do; the abolition of the office of County Treasurer; the abolition of the County Court as same now exists, and substitute a county court of criminal jurisdiction, and to provide for the APPOINTMENT of the officers thereof.

The first question in enacting the above legislature should be, whether or not the people of the county want it done. What do you suppose would be the answer to such a question?

We wonder if the people of Chilton County want the men who are to be at the head of their affairs appointed by the Governor, or any other person, as for that matter?

We wonder if they prefer the fiances of the county to be in the hands of a few appointees, who have specific power, granted them by the laws of the state, to issue bonds on Chilton County in such sums as they may desire, and for such purposes as they may desire?

We wonder if the people are in favor of the creation of a court of criminal jurisdiction in the county, which will mean the division of the County Court, the creation of new officers, and the piling up of new expenses for saleries, etc., and the appointment of these officers placed in the hands of the Governor?

Are you in favor of the right of electing the officers of Chilton County by ballot being taken away, and have those who are to fill the official seats of the county appointed by someone who does not know our needs, and the qualifications of the men from whom he will have to select appointees? Whether you are a Democrat, Republician, Bull-Moose, or what not, you certainly cannot be in favor of doing some of the things that are now before the legislature for enactment. The way some men in this county are trying to pull some measures over the people, without the sanction of those who are to be concerned by such government, is nothing less than an insult to the good judgement of our citizens. The proper thing to be done is for all men who believe in giving the people themselves, the right to elect their own officers, and thereby rule themselves, to openly place their disapproval on these measures that are up for consideration in the Legislature, and make honest, manly efforts to defeat them. If you want to hold the inalienable right of your ballot in elections and government, you will not hesitate to do so; if you want to barter your birthright for a mess of pottage, you will be content to let those restless few polticians continue their course unmolested.

It is time the people were answering these questions, and making them known to the Legislature. The bills will come up for passage right away, and if we expect to save our right to the ballot, we must ACT NOW.

What fine thoughts we gather from last Sunday's lesson—of the parental interest in the child Samson; how much parents could learn today from that sacred story to secure divine guidance in dealing with the child; also of the Rechabites—how they revered their ancestors. If parents manifested more interest at home their children would show more respect to their ancestry, but parents say, "Oh I just can't get my children to do thus." Ah, lack of interest at home is thus showing its bitter fruit. So the child grows up without regard for the business methods, education, religion, agriculture, or even the sacred music looks of its ancestors. Ah, how far astray.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SPRAYING

Lime and Sulphur Spray.

By Ernest Walker, Horticulturist Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

The materials for a barrel of concentrated lime and sulphur solution cost about $3.00. The commercial lime and sulphur is sold at $9.00 to $10.00 a barrel. For 50 gallons, the following materials are required.

Flowers of sulphur (or finely ground), 110 lbs.; quick lime (best grade), 55 lbs.; sift the sulphur, add to slaking lime; then add water to make 50 gallons. Boil vigorously and stir for 45 minutes—allow to settle. The clear deep amber colored liquid is then drawn off, and barreled for use as needed. A Baume hydrometer (costing $1.00) is needed to test strength of the solution. The completed L. & S. should test 30 degrees Baume.

For winter, use (on dormant trees) stock solution above at the rate of one gallon to ten gallons of water. Destroys San Jose scale, green aphis eggs, and fungus spores.

For summer spraying of apple orchards, use at rate of 1 to 28. For peaches and other tender plants it is best to use the weaker spray known as "Self boiled lime and sulphur." Lead arsenate may be added to the diluted solution. The ordinary proportion is one lb. dry to 50 gallons. Work the lead arsenate first into a thin paste with water. Lime-Sulphur is both a fungicide and contact insecticide; adding the lead arsenate makes it also a food poison for chewing insects. Consult bulletins of the Experiment Station, Auburn, Ala.

MARKETING OF FARM PRODUCTS

By J. F. Duggar, Director of Alabama Experiment Station and Extension Service.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

The presence of the cotton boll weevil, the present surplus and low price of cotton, and the increase in the demand for foodstuffs, now make it advisable for Alabama farmers to produce and sell other products in addition to cotton.

Diversified products are more difficult to sell than cotton has been. These difficulties can be partly overcome by farmers offering staple farm crops, such as corn, oats, cowpeas, hay, etc., in carload lots. It is easier to sell at good prices a carload of produce than a smaller amount. This is partly because freight rates on carloads are so much lower, thus permitting the car to be shipped to any one of a number of distant markets. In order to ship in car lots it is advisable for farmers at each shipping point to form local marketing clubs for the purpose of pooling their products for shipment and sale.

Farmers who thus desire to ship and sell in co-operation elect one of their number or some local business man to sell the produce offered by all the members of the club, paying him a small commission. This elected salesman should also inspect all produce as loaded and should ship only one kind and grade of produce in any one car.

By so combining and co-operating farmers make sure of getting a market, save freight, receive a better price than if each sold his own produce, and avoid the trouble, time and expense of each man's making his own sales.

It pays for each carload to be uniform in grade and even in variety. By forming marketing clubs early in the year all the members may decide to work for uniformity and higher prices by planting the same variety of corn, cowpeas, sweet potatoes, or other crop.

SPRAYING FRUIT TREES TO KILL SAN JOSE SCALE

By W. E. Hinds, Entomologist Alabama Experiment Station, Auburn, Ala.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Our most deadly fruit tree enemy is the San Jose scale. The full-grown scale is only about one twenty-fifth inch in diameter, so it is usually overlooked even when abundant. It may kill trees in three years or less.

The best known treatment is to spray during January or February, while the trees are dormant, using what is known as lime-sulphur wash. This material may be purchased in concentrated form of reliable insecticide manufacturers or dealers and needs only to be diluted at the rate of 1 gallon in about 8 gallons of water to make the winter spray. The wash may also be made at home at somewhat lower cost by boiling together for an hour about 15 to 18 lbs. of rock lime and 15 lbs. of sulphur flour or flowers, then diluting this mixture to make 50 gallons of spray.

The good effects of this spraying are so marked that all fruit trees should be treated even if the scale is not present. It improves the health of the trees, controls several other insects than scale and some fungous troubles as well. For further details get Alabama Experiment Station Bulletin No. 144.

Most Skin Trouble Readily Overcome

The Active Principle of a Famous Remedy Works Wonders.

Many people have marveled the way S. S. S. overcomes skin troubles. The explanation is the fact that S. S. S. works in the blood and the blood is really a most intricate and extraordinary mass of arteries and veins.

When you come to realize that the skin and the flesh beneath are composed of a network of tiny blood vessels you solve the mystery.

There are wonderful medicinal properties in S. S. S. that follow the course of the blood streams just as naturally as the most nourishing food elements.

It is really a remarkable remedy. It contains one ingredient, the active purpose of which is to stimulate the tissues to the healthy selection of its own essential nutriment. And the medicinal elements of this matchless blood purifier are just as essential to well-balanced health as the nutritious elements of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food.

Not one drop of minerals or drugs is used in its preparation. Ask for S. S. S. and just insist upon having it. And if you desire skillful advice and counsel upon any matter concerning the blood and skin, write to the Medical Department, The Swift Specific Co., 529 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Do not allow some zealous clerk's eloquence over something "just as good" as S. S. S. to fool you with the same old mineral drugs. Beware of all substitutes. Insist upon S. S. S.

HAS NOT GRIT ENOUGH

Editor Union-Banner:—I want to say a few words in regard to a letter I received Jan. 25, that was mailed at Coopers Jan. 24. I want to tell the one that wrote it if he has any gentleman about him he will meet me face to face and tell me what he said in his letter, and not be writing letters to me and not signing a name to them at all. It surprised me, I didn't think there was any such fellow that knew me, so if you want me to know anything else, please call and see me or write me and sign your name. If you havent got enough probably you will come or send a hand. I will close, so if you desire to answer please sign a name to your letter.

Half Your Living Without Money Cost

A right or wrong start in 1915 will make or break most farmers in the Cotton States. We are all facing a crisis on cotton. Cotton credit is upset. The supply merchant cannot advance supplies on 1915 cotton. You must do your best to produce on your own acres the food and grain supplies that have made up most of your store debt in the past.

A good piece of garden ground, rightly planted, rightly tended and kept planted the year round, can be made to pay half your living. It will save you more money than you made on the best five acres of cotton you ever grew! But it must be a real garden, and not the mere one-planting patch in the spring and fall.

Hastings' 1915 Seed Book tells all about the right kind of a money-saving garden and the vegetables to put in it. It tells about the field crops as well and shows you the clear road to real farm prosperity, comfort and independence. IT'S FREE. Send for it today to H. G. HASTINGS & CO., Atlanta, Ga.—Advt.

If the eventful year of 1914 served no other purpose, it demonstrated a fact of which the L. & N. has frequently written and spoken.

That fact was, our interests are identical; that the L. & N. is interested in, and wants to co-operate for, your success. Unless you are successful the L. & N. cannot be successful.

A general depression followed the declaration of war in Europe. Your interests suffered, and immediately the interests of the L. & N. suffered.

Let us now look forward to what 1915 offers and has in store for us. We ask that you consider what place the L. & N. has in your transactions, while the L. & N. is considering how it can best promote your interests.

The L. & N. as a public utility institution, wants to promote your success during the year 1915, and through all succeeding years. For the L. & N. to do this you must have more than a superficial knowledge of the functions of a railroad.

You, the people, must understand the myriad detail difficulties involved in the operation of a railroad, and realize that the L. & N. regrets errors and short comings far more than any individual can possibly regret them.

That on its broader side, the L. & N. is planning and making investments for the future in order that the rich natural resources of the section may be developed, and the people supplied the same excellent service that compares most favorably with that rendered by any railroad in the United States.

The L. & N. believe that a sane and rapid readjustment process is now under way, and has been under way for some time; that the people fully realize the depression produced by the war and have gone to work intelligently to discount its evil effects during the year 1915.

The L. & N. sees no reason for alarm, while on the other hand it is not optimistic of an era of "Unparalleled prosperity". We believe a sympathetic understanding of the difficulties under which each of us is laboring, and a friendly disposition to co-operate, the one with the other, will go a long way to compensate for whatever actual depression in business may exist.

The L. & N. hopes that the year 1915 will witness more profitable co-operation between it and the people than ever before.

he following is a record of proceedings of the mass meet of the citizens of Chilton nty, assembled at the Court se Saturday, February the by call of Representative W. Thomas, for the purpose of ussing certain Bills which e been introduced in the Senof Alabama, relative to the l government of Chilton unty.

ohn W. Stanfield was chosen Chairman, and W. L. Popwell, s made Secretary.

Representative Thomas made a short speech, relative to the Bils in the Legislature, in which he briefly explained their meaning, import etc.

He was followed by Judge L. H. Reynolds, who after some remarks upon the measures, introduced the following resolution addressed to the members of the Legislature as a whole:

Whereas, it is a fact known to all of us, that the farmers and other citizens of Chilton County have been a material factor in making for the merchants, business and professional men of Clanton and other towns, the means which they now enjoy, and the business which they are pursuing, and,

Whereas, some of these same merchants and business and professional men, have, by their actions, seemingly turned their backs on the very persons to whom they are so greatly indebted, by favoring measures which take away the citizen's right to vote on certain questions, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the citizens of Chilton County, present in this mass meeting, that we take special notice of said action of these certain merchants, business and professional men who favor taking the right of ballot from the people, by the enactment of certain bills in the Legislature of Alabama, or otherwise, and further, that hereafter, in the transaction of our business, we pledge ourselves to stand by the men who have stood by us in this fight for our right to vote.

The resolution was unanimously adopted by the meeting, and was ordered presented to the Legislature.

Short speeches were made by J. O. Middleton, W. H. Shaw, A. F. Benton of Pike Gounty, Rev. A. R. Aldridge, Prof. J. W. Moore, and others.

Motion by L. H. Reynolds that a delegation be appointed to go before the Senate Committee Monday night, at the hearing of the argument on the proposed Bills. The following persons volunteered to go before the committee and use their iutluence against the passage of the measures:

Dr. J. P. Crumpton, Dr. R. J. Eiland, W. C. Robinson, Lee Hayes, M. D. Foshee, W. J. Morris, John Baker, Rev. J. F. Winkler, W. C. Dickinson, J. Bice, W. M. Wyatt, John Mims, Greer Culver, R. J. W.lliams, A. E. Teel, W. H. Conway, W. H. Shaw, W. L. Popwell, W. I. Mullins, Dudley Collins, H. G. Reynolds, R. J. Downs, Charles Cooper, P. C. Weldon, W. T. Herrod, Jim Mims, Dr. E. A. Matthews, Dr. T. J. Marcus, Joe Foshee, H. A. Harris, A. R. Aldridgd, J. O. Middleion, S. E. Waldrup, L. H. Reynolds, W. O. Rich.

The following resolution was offered by J. M. Mims, and adopted by the meeting:

State of Alabama,
Chilton County,

Whereas, there has been introduced in the Legislature of Alabama, two Bills of vital import ance to the people of Chilton County, viz: Senate Bill 279, abolishing the County Court of Chilton County, and creating a court of criminal jurisdiction; and Senate Bill 280, abolishing the Court of County Commissioners of said county, and creating a Board of Revenue; and

Whereas, said Bills provide that the officers of said Court and said Board, be appointed by the Governor, or otherwise, thereby depriving the people of said County the right to select said officers; and,

Whereas, said Bills are not prompted by the best interest of said county, nor any imperative or existing need, but emanate solely from the selfish desire of a coterie of small politicians who realize their utter inability to get elected to office by a vote of the people; and,

Whereas, in our opinion, said Bills are vicious, unwise, unnecessary, wholly wrong in their conception, and fraught with great danger to the best interests of the people of said County; therefore,

Be it resolved, by the citizens of Chilton County, in mass-meeting assembled at the Court House in Clanton, on this, Feb. 6th, 1915, regardless of political affiliations, that our representative and Senator, and the Legislature as a whole, be, and they are hereby earnestly memorialized not to enact said Bills into Law.

A resolution was passed, requesting that the procedings of the mass meeting be published in both the county papers.

(Signed) John W. Stanfield,
Chairman.

W. L. Popwell,
Secretary.

NEW COUNTY COMMISSIONERS TAKE UP THEIR DUTIES

The convening of Commissioners Court on Monday morning marked the change of two members of the court. The terms of Messrs. Williams and Waldrup, who were elected last November began. Mr. Waldrup has served as Commissioner before, and the duties will not be so new to him. Mr. Williams is a new member, but that is no room for any conjecture that he will not measure up to every requirement of the office.

"There shall be one day in each scholastic term of the public schools set apart to be known as Temperance Day, when a suitable program shall be prepared to the end that the children of Alabama may be taught the evils of intemperance."

State Superintendent Wm F. Feagin, has designated Friday, March 5th, 1915, as Temperance Day for the current scholastic year.

An official program has been prepared for this day, and consists of readings and recitations to be participated in by the students of schools in Alabama. The exercises prepared are to be interspersed with songs of patriotic temperament, and when carried out will make for the boys and girls an impressive sentry against the great evil of intemperance.

A further provision is made in the law, which requires the teacher of public schools to give instruction as to the nature of alcoholic drinks, tobacco and other narcotics, and the effect upon the human system, as regularly as any other subject is taught in the school.

MOUNTAIN CREEK

In answer to a call made by our Repsesentative, Mr. Thomas, the writer let his presence be shown at the Court House last Saturday afternoon. To those who were not there, I must say that they missed quite a lot, as we had a very interesting meeting. Many expressed their disapproval of those bills which have been introduced to the legislature, because the true meaning of those bills is to take away from us our sacred rights of selecting our officers by the ballot.

Many Democrats were with us in our meeting, and they stated openly and frankly that those bills were not of Democratic origin, even if the founders of same had at some passed date affiliated with the Democratic party. However, they did not call them traitors, but it was not much trouble to read the word "traitor" between the lines.

To us it seems that the founders of those bills must undoubtly be a cross between a Monarchal and Tyrannical class of people who would even dream of taking from us that which our forefathers fought, bled and died for.

We expect to find in the Legislature of Alabama, men of grandeur and nobler thoughts and ideas, and for that reason we are not anticipating anything but a square deal with them in our meeting next Monday night.

The founders of those bills may derive some pleasure on account of causing us to go to Montgomery Monday night, but however we are willing to make a sacrifice, if it will in the least, aid in the matter of preserving our sacred rights here in the county.

In next week's issue the writer hopes to relate our success with the law makers

With best wishes and kindest regards, I am,

Yours very truly,
Chas. Cooper.

W. C. JONES'S BARN BURNED

Early Sunday night the barn of Mr. W. C. Jones, who lives about three miles north of Clanton was destroyed by fire, together with all its contents.

There was stored in the building, eight bales of cotton, 600 bushels of corn, 200 gallons of syrup, 300 bushels of cotton seed, 30 sacks of cotton seed meal, a number of plow tools and other farming implements. They were consumed totally by the flames, and consequently were a complete loss.

Two mules which were in the barn, were severely burned before they could be gotton out. It is probable that one of them will die.

Mr. Jones's total loss from the fire will probably exceed two thousand dollars; he carried no insurance.

DEMOCRATS IN MINORITY BY NEARLY TWO MILLION.

The Republican National Committee has compiled the official figures of the election of 1914 from every State of the Union. Wherever there was an election of United States Senator, the committee has taken that result as the vote of the State. In those States where no Senatorial election was held, the committee has taken the total Congressional vote as the figures of those States. Compiling in this way the figures for the whole United States, the result shows that over one hundred and sixty thousand more Republican votes were cast than Democratic. And this, too, in face of the fact that the Progressive vote amounted to nearly one and a half millions.

This shows well in what a minority is the Democratic party to day. Together, the Republican and Progressive parties cast seven and one-third million votes. This was the anti-Democratic vote of the country. Every voter who cast one of those ballots, declared himself opposed to Democratic rule in the nation and all that it means. The number of votes cast in the whole country in favor Democratic national policies was five and three-fourth millions. So there were about one and two-thirds millions of voters who declared against Democracy at the November election, more than the number of those who declared for it. That is a margin sufficient in size to make even a Wilson Administration pause in its program of obstinate disregard of the wishes of the nation.—Philadelphia Press.

"TO THE VICTORS BELONG THE SPOILS"

The doctrine of "Old Hickory's" spoils system, accounts for many changes in affairs of government, which otherwise would be made without any material reason for transition, Particular applicable to the system is the manner in which postmasters of the country are invested with the right of office.

The change of Clanton's Postmasters on last Monday, was an event of considerable more, in reality, than just the mere turning over of the books and records of the office from one man to another; although there was no great performance attached to the incident.

The expiration of Mr. Dudley's term as postmaster marked the termination of a period of twelve years, during which he has held the position as a loyal adherent of the true principles of the Republican party. During the vicissitudes of the turbulent times of change and exchange in politics, Mr. Dudley has held firm to his pristine faith in the G. O. P. And he passes up his position to his successor with as much faith and fidelity to his party, as he received it from his predecessor years ago.

Mr, Dudley, Republican, is succeeded by Mr. Roberts, Democrat. The change of men is also a change of political control. This fact makes the great difference between the postmaster of the past and the postmaster of tht future. But this should make no difference in the administtation of the affairs of the office. Both are good men and good citizens. Mr. Dudley's good reputation as postmaster is already made; that of Mr. Roberts, we have no doubt, will soon be in evidence.

ABOUT CHILTON'S MASS MEETING HERE SATURDAY

The following is a letter appearing in The Montgomery Advertiser of Wednesday, relative to the mass meeting held at the Court House last Saturday. The letter is signed by E. M. Pinckard, as Chairman ot the Democratic Executive Committee of Chilton County:

"Clanton, Ala., Feb. 7th, 1915.
"Editor The Advertiser:

"Please allow me to correct the false impression necessarily created on the public mind by an article appearing in your Sunday issue of The Advertiser, displaying under large headlines, "Chilton County Citizens Meet to Denounce Bill." The article is a knowingly incorrect and garbled account of the meeting mentioned, and was well thought out and written with the intention to deceive. The facts are, that under the Clarion call of the Republican Representative from Chilton, W. E. Thomas, which was published in the local papers, the Bull Moose, Republican and anti-Democratic politicians and office seekers met in the court house, and the crowd, led by the ever-present L. H. Reynolds, and his allies, was treated to the usual tirades af abuse and vituperation of the best citizens of the county and the Democratic party in general. Resolutions were of course 'unanimously adopted' condemning the Bills in question, denouncing the same as another scheme of the hated Democrats to "take away the rights of the pee-pul," etc., etc. They also adopted a resolution, (which, by the way, was introduced by a man who did not write it, for the reason that he could not write it), boycotting all the business and professional men in the county, who favored these bills. The chairman of this meeting, as is well known, is and has been an anti-democrat and a personal and political ally of L. H. Reynolds and his crowd for several years, olthough he claims when he is away from home, to be a life-long democrat. There were no Democrats who participated in the meeting in question. There were a few in the hall who went there to hear and see what was going on. The Democrats of Chilton county have long since learned how much their presence is welcomed and what weight anything they might wish to say upon public questions has at the usual and continuous mass meetings of the citizens called by L. H. Reynolds and his allies. The progressive, taxpaying and public spirited citisenship of Chilton County are insisting upon the passage of these bills and others—all of which make for the development of our splendid resources, and which we cannot hope to accomplish under present county conditions. The Legislature can secure for us the great blessings which the passage of the bills in question offer, and we are hopefully and confidently expecting succees.

"E. M. PINCKARD,
"Chairman Chilton County Democratic Executive Committee."

The many fair minded men of Chilton County, who are acquainted with the conditions of the fight that is being made against the Bills which have been proposed in the Legislature, and who well know the facts regarding the mass meeting last Saturday, will need no explanation to see the incorrectness of some of the things stated in Mr. Pinckard's letter above.

He says a resolution was introduced in the meeting, and passed, boycotting the business and professional men of Clanton who favor the passage of the Bills in the Legislature. The resolution so referred to is published elsewhere in this issue of this paper, in the account of the meeting. It does not boycot anybody. The men who were in that mass meeting, and hundreds of others over the county, feel that they have been the cold shoulder by those who are in favor of these bills; they likewise feel that there are other business and professional men who are standing by the people in the fight for their rights. The resolution does no more than pledge themselves to stand by the merchants, business and professional men who have stood by them in the fight for their rights. What is more right and natural for a set of men to do? Who can blame a man for wanting to help the man who helps him?

Mr. Pinckard says that the above resolution was not written by the man who introduced it. We cannot say as to that; but will venture to state that Mr. Mims, who introduced the resolution, could come as near writing a resolution as Pink did writing that letter in The Advertiser.

But he says no Democrats participated in the mass meeting. Then how is he going to account for the speeches which were made by such men Joe Popwell, Dr. Gragg, Dr. Marcus, A. R. Aldridge and J. W. E. Gulledge.

It is needless to enter into a long discussion of Mr. Pinckard's letter though. We all know already the conditions surrounding it.

MISTAKE IN RESOLUTIONS PASSED LAST SATURDAY

In our account of the mass meeting last Saturday on the first page of this issue the make-up man made a mistake in regard to the resolutions adopted at the meeting. The resolution which Judge Reynolds introduced was placed to the credit of Mr. Mims, and the one Mr. Mims introduced was credited to Judge Reynolds.

The mistake escaped the notice of the editor till it was too late for correction in the main article, hence our reason for making this special notice.

Fate Henley, who lived near Clanton, was arrested in Montgomery monday upon suspicion of having stole a mule, upon the evidence of having attempted to sell a mule at a very low price. The authorities in Clanton were notifien, and upon investigation it was found that Henley had stole a mule from A. L. Collins. Henley was returned to Clanton Wednesday by Deputy Gore, and placed in jail.

There hasn't been but very little done in the way of farming yet on account of bad weather, and one cannot say he is behind another. But do not despair Mr. Farmers, I am getting old and I have never yet seen a year but that a crop could be made.

The Lord knew what He was about when he planned the seasons, and it is all for our benefit, and if we would do our part faithfully and give God the praise for the increase of our labors, we would be a more prosperous and happier people. We do not realize our dependence on God that we should. We labor and God blesses our labor, with the food and clothes, and we should think more about His goodness and loving kindness and show by our daily lives to the world that we love our God.

GIRL SERIOUSLY BURNED DIED TUESDAY EVENING

Miss Le Vera Henley who was visiting her uncle, Mr. J. B. Farley, near Clanton, was seriously burned Monday morning. In some way her clothing caught fire, and her body was severely scorched before relief could be given her.

Dr. Marcus was called to attend her, but in spite of his faithful efforts the young girl died Tuesday afternoon.

The incident is a very tragic one. Miss Henley was about fifteen years old, and the daughter of Mr. John Henley who lives near Pleasant Grove. She had come to the house of her uncle, Mr. Farley, to spend a week with his children and was met by this sad fate.

Her mother is frantic over the happening.

Baby of Future is Considered

Much thought has been given in late years to the subject of maternity. In the cities there are maternity hospitals equipped with modern methods. But most women prefer their own homes and in the towns and villages must prefer them. And since this is true we know from the great many splendid letters written on the subject that our "Mother's Friend" is a great help to expectant mothers. They write of the wonderful relief, how it seemed to allow the muscles to expand without undue strain and what a splendid influence it was on the nervous system. Such helps as "Mother's Friend" and the broader knowledge of them should have a helpful influence upon babies of the future. Science says that an infant derives its sense and builds its character from cutaneous impressions. And a tranquil mother certainly will transmit a more healthful influence than if she is extremely nervous from undue pain. This is what a host of women believe who used "Mother's Friend."

Rheumatic Throat Is Common Trouble

Should Be Treated in Blood To Prevent Recurrence.

There are successful gargles that stop soreness in the throat, but to prevent their incessant return, the blood must be put in order. The best remedy is S. S. S., as it influences all the functions of the body to neutralize the irritants or waste products and to stimulate their excretion through the proper channels.

Rheumatic sore throat is a dangerous indication, as it means that the blood is loaded with more uric acid than the kidneys can excrete, and may thus lead to serious general disturbance.

The action of S. S. S. stimulates cellular activity. It prevents the accumulation of irritants in local spots. It enables the arteries to supply quickly the new red blood to replace worn-out tissue.

For this reason uric acid that finds the throat an easy prey to its breaking-down influence, is scattered and eliminated. In other words, S. S. S. prevents chronic conditions by enabling all the mucous linings of the body to secrete healthy mucus. Its influence is shown in a marked improvement of the bronchial tubes, whereby the huskiness of voice with thick, grayish expectorations is overcome. S. S. S., well diluted with water, means a blood bath, since it is welcome to any stomach and at once gets into the blood.

S. S. S. is free of all minerals and contains ingredients wonderfully conducive to well-balanced health.

You can get it at any drug store, but do not accept anything else. There is danger in substitutes. S. S. S. is prepared only by The Swift Specific Co., 528 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Our Medical Dept. will give you free instruction by mail on any subject of blood disorders. Write today.

DEMONSTRATION WORK.

By J. T. Watt, State Agent, Auburn, Ala.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

The purpose of the Demonstration Work is to carry a school of practical agriculture to the farmer on his own farm; to give him facts and concrete demonstrations on his farm under his own supervision that he may more fully understand them and learn under his own observation the improved cultural methods as well as the best rotation of crops and the importance of growing legumes as his source of nitrogen and as his forage crops; also the growing of more and better livestock.

The Demonstration Work serves the purpose of enabling the experiment stations and the Department of Agriculture to put into the hands of the farmer the vast amount of information accumulated in their research work. Its purpose is to disseminate information already acquired and not to do experimental or research work. The ultimate end is to increase the earning capacity of the man on the farm, thereby improving rural conditions that we can have better farm homes, better churches, better school houses, better roads and better rural society.

SPRAYING.

Bordeaux Mixture

By Ernest Walker, Horticulturist Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Bordeaux Mixture is the best cheap fungicide, although for most spraying lime and sulphur has come into general use and is less likely to cause "spray injury."

The common formula is known as the 4-5-50 formula. A strong Bordeaux is sometimes used on dormant, woody plants in winter, called the 6-6-50 formula. Again one pound of copper sulphate to fifteen gallons of water is used without lime on dormant trees.

To make Bordeaux, slake the lime, or a multiple of the amount called for in the formula in a flat tight-bottomed box. Use enough water to slake and form a thick smooth paste. Divide by marks at edge of box into equal amounts. Taking out a section then gives the amount of lime needed for a barrel lot of a given formula.

Dissolve the copper sulphate in an earthen jar or a barrel, at the rate of one pound per gallon.

These separate lots constitute "stock" preparations. When making up a barrel lot of Bordeaux, dilute the lime and copper sulphate needed, in separate vessels, to say, 12 or 15 gallons; then pour together simultaneously into a third vessel. This makes a light blue liquid that does not quickly settle. Now add water to make 50 gallons; adding one pound of dry lead arsenate to the above amount of Bordeaux makes a combined fungicide and insecticide. Consult bulletins of your Experiment Station.

OTHER CROPS THAN COTTON AS SECURITY FOR LOANS.

By J. F. Duggar, Director of Alabmaa Experiment Station and Extension Service.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Other crops than cotton have heretofore not been accepted by bankers and other money lenders as security for loans. This has been largely because such crops have not been marketable with ease and certainty.

There is every reason why corn, oats, cowpeas and other staple nonperishable crops should serve as well as cotton to pay loans. The conditions to this end are, first, certainty of market; second, such character of the borrower as will insure his gathering and delivering the crop in marketable shape; and third, faith on the part of the lender in the marketability of the crop and in the reliability of the borrower; and, fourth, knowledge by producer and lender of probable yield of these crops.

All this brings us again to the necessity of farmers at each shipping point organizing themselves into cooperative marketing clubs, each having an elected salesman or committee to sell all of its products in carload lots. Such salesmen must of course have authority to make each carload uniform in kind and quality of product by returning for local use any produce not of the same kind or grade as the remainder of the car.

Any farmer with enough credit to borrow from a bank should make yields at least as high as the following:

25-40 bushels fall oats at 60c ----------$15 to $24
8-12 bushels peas at $1.50---$12 to $18
160-250 pounds lint cotton at 7c ----------$11.20 to $17.50
1 to 1 3-4 tons cowpeas or Johnson grass hay at $12 ----------$12.00 to $21.00

The local banker's objection to lending money on such crops might be removed by the following plan: Notification to the bank by the salesman for the marketing club of the kind and amount of produce shipped by each borrower in each car lot; also the making out of the check in payment for lots to the local bank as agent for the several shippers.

THE MASS MEETING ON SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 6.

Was It "Representative," or Just an Insignificant Political Pow-Wow?

We are anxious that the people of Chilton county know just how our honorable contemporary, The Clanton Press, regards the mass meeting at the Court house, on Saturday, February 6, which was held for the purpose of discussing the proposed bills in the Legislature, relating to Chilton county government.

They have the following to say in the last issue:

"The Press was given a copy of the proceedings of the Bull Moose mass meeting held at the Court House on Saturday last, with request to publish. The meeting was called by W. E. Thomas, Republican Representative in the Legislature from Chilton county. As the meeting was by no means a representative one, and believing that the masses of the people of Chilton county are little interested in what was done, the proceedings of the pow-wow are not published in the Press."

It matters not how we, the Press, or any other party looks at that assemblage of men, it can not be disputed that it was a body of men of as good intelligence as are in the entire county.

Now to those who were present, and to many others who know what the meeting was for, and who the men were who attended it: Take notice of these few things.

The Press says it was a "Bull Moose mass meeting." Is that statement true?

The body of men as a whole requested that each of the county papers publish the proceeding of the meeting. The editor of the Press was present, and knows this is a fact. He says he did not publish the report because "the meeting was by no means a representative one," and he believes that "the masses of the people of the county are not interested in what was done."

If the Press is the exponent of the people of the county as it proposes to be, why did it not honor this request of three hundred and sixty-five men, citizens voters, of the county, to publish the record of their action on this important matter? And not only did these three hundred and sixty-five make the request, but was sanctioned by over four hundred others when they attached their names to those petitions of protest to the Legislature.

If it were a fact that the meeting had been purely a political one, and attended only by Progressives, and the body as it did had asked the Press to publish record of its proceedings, even under those circumstances the Press would have been violating its claim to being a paper for the people of the county if it had failed to give the publication requested.

But now three hundred and sixty-five men—both Democrats and Progressives—and with no even political capital in mind but the common good of the county have asked a voice through the columns of a county paper and been flatly refused, because the editor believes they are not worthy of his consideration in this matter which we all know is so vitally important to the people of the county.

The Press turns up its nose at the fact that the meeting was

THE MASS MEETING ON SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 6.

Was It "Representative," or Just an Insignificant Political Pow-Wow?

We are anxious that the people of Chilton county know just how our honorable contemporary, The Clanton Press, regards the mass meeting at the Court house, on Saturday, February 6, which was held for the purpose of discussing the proposed bills in the Legislature, relating to Chilton county government.

They have the following to say in the last issue:

"The Press was given a copy of the proceedings of the Bull Moose mass meeting held at the Court House on Saturday last, with request to publish. The meeting was called by W. E. Thomas, Republican Representative in the Legislature from Chilton county. As the meeting was by no means a representative one, and believing that the masses of the people of Chilton county are little interested in what was done, the proceedings of the pow-wow are not published in the Press."

It matters not how we, the Press, or any other party looks at that assemblage of men, it can not be disputed that it was a body of men of as good intelligence as are in the entire county.

Now to those who were present, and to many others who know what the meeting was for, and who the men were who attended it: Take notice of these few things.

The Press says it was a "Bull Moose mass meeting." Is that statement true?

The body of men as a whole, requested that each of the county papers publish the proceedings of the meeting. The editor of the Press was present, and knows this is a fact. He says he did not publish the report because "the meeting was by no means a representative one," and he believes that "the masses of the people of the county are not interested in what was done."

If the Press is the exponent of the people of the county as it proposes to be, why did it not honor this request of three hundred and sixty-five men, citizens, voters, of the county, to publish the record of their action on this important matter? And not only did these three hundred and sixty-five make the request, but it was sanctioned by over four hundred others when they attached their names to those petitions of protest to the Legislature.

If it were a fact that the meeting had been purely a political one, and attended only by Progressives, and the body as it did, had asked the Press to publish a record of its proceedings, even under those circumstances the Press would have been violating its claim to being a paper for the people of the county if it had failed to give the publication requested.

But now three hundred and sixty-five men—both Democrats and Progressives—and with not even political capital in mind, but the common good of the county have asked a voice thro' the columns of a county paper, and been flatly refused, because the editor believes they are not worthy of his consideration in this matter which we all know is so vitally important to the people of the county.

The Press turns up its nose at the fact that the meeting was called by our Representative, who is a Progressive (it said Republican) as if it took it for granted that that fact alone was a danger signal. In this the Press unconsciously lets out a betrayal to the people of its narrow mindedness and political prejudice. It does the same thing as to assume that Mr. Thomas is the representative of only the Progressives, and not the Democrats also, of Chilton county.

The gall that it must take to pull off a stunt like that one of the Press in this instance is surely amazing; but it is not much more extreme than that of the fellow who will take the medicine they are giving him, and believe they are earnest, sincere and honest in their presumed effort to serve "all the people of the county" in a just and undiscriminating manner becoming to a paper in such a position.

UNION GROVE

The debate at the school on Friday afternoon of the 5th. was well carried out. The boys and girls acquitted themselves well. The subject for debate was: Resolved, that the horse is more useful to mankind than the cow. This was a debate among the members of the sixth and eighth grades. The boys taking the affirmative and the girls the negative. The judges were Mr. A, F. Benton, of Pike county, Mr. W. H. Conway, and Mrs. Honeycutt, who gave the decision in favor of the negative.

Next Friday the school will have a joint celebration of Washington and Lincoln's birthday: Recitations and dialogues will be given by the lower and part of the upper grades. The following subject will be debated; Resolved, that George Washington was a greater man than Abraham Lincoln. Speakers for the affirmative will be John Dorminy and Grady Headly, for the negative Edwy Conway and Maston Collum.

Our Basket Ball Team went to Thorsby Friday afternoon and played the Baptist High School Team but were out classed; the score resulting 20 to 2.

Three games were played on the local court. The first between the fourth and fifth grades. Score 8 to 4 in favor of the fifth grade. The second between two divisions of the sixth grade. Score 14 to 8. Third a general game among the different grdes. Score 18 to 16.

We will try to arrange for a game on the local court for next Friday.

Our teacher, Prof. Smith, certainly does believe in every student taking part in some game at recess periods, and best of all is right out among us taking part in all the games, he tells us to "Work while you work and play while you play".

The results of our organized societies in school can very readily be seen. Our leaders are hustlers.

There will be another singing here the first Sunday afternoon in "Gospel Glory", the new 1915 book. All singers invited.

By the way, we hear that the Press man gave as his reason for not publishing the proceedings of the mass meeting at Clanton that it was by no means a repasentative one. We wonder if he thinks it needed the addition of the "Curry-Smith-Foshee Heard Minority" to make it a representative one?

UNION SPRINGS

The nice weather of last week started farm work in earnest in this part of the county.

Mr. G. W. Hodgens of Bibb was in this section Sunday.

The singing to be at the school house Sunday afternoon was rained out.

There will be singing at Union Springs Chapel next Sunday afternoon.

Mr. A. J. Langston of Bibb has moved into this community.

Prof. Mullins' school now occupies the new school building.

Mrs. Isaac Waldrup of near Fenwood was shopping in Bessie Friday.

Some commenced gardening last week—the bright days made people forget the "Badger's" shadow.

Several new members were added to the Sunday school last Sunday. Mrs. J. N. Eryen is the efficient superintendent of the "cradle roll" department.

Mrs. Bearden of Macedonia went shopping in Bessie Friday.

W. R. Latham of Pleasant Grove was here Sunday.

Mrs. Cates visited near Randolph the latter part of last week.

Those proposed bills from Chilton relative to removing the Commissioners, etc., are enough to make such Democrats as Moren, Houston and Samford turn in their graves. We think it was in 1888 the county Democratic convention was held in Jemison. The county then had a Board of Revenue. But that convention passed a resolution asking that the right to vote for County Commissioners be restored to the people, and it was done. If it was good Democratic doctrine then for the people to elect their officers why not now? We are sure one hundred per cent of the people in this section regardless of party would vote against those proposed bills.

We thought "By the people, of the people and for the people" was a Democratic tenet, and we believe it is yet. Then if a Democrat gets elected by a margin of one vote, let him hold the office. We believe every true Democrat, Republican, Socialist, Prohibitionist, or Progressive will say "yes," let the people rule. Then after the people have spoken why all this hen and cry about making changes in the county that the people do not want.

On the afternoon and night of Feb. 23rd, Mr. F. A. Hall, V. D. M., will lecture at the Waldrup school house. His lectures will doubtless be urging the church to finish her work, as her time is extremely short. Services are strictly undenominated.

PINEDALE

The little son of Mr. J. W. A. Popwell is sick with pneumonia.

The literary school is getting along fine with Prof. J. M. Parrish as principal.

Messrs. Arthur Williamson, Walter Lambert and Misses Rose, Bud and Emmer Lee Mims made a trip to Lock 12 Sunday. I'm sure they had an enjoyable time, being as it was such a pretty day.

The correspondent counted 13 children, ages from 13 to 3, playing in rural route agent Culver's yard at Mountain Creek, and, seeing Mr. Culver in the lot near by, the correspondent referred to the unlucky number "13," when Mr. Culver, after a moment said, "Well, the kitchen chimney fell and killed 3 or 4 last year explains why there are only "13" here."

Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Barrett, of Clanton, were visitors to the old Soldiers Home last Sunday. They called to see Mr. and Mrs. Kilgore, a pleasant old couple living there.

Rev. J. A. Prince, of Verbena, preached in the auditorium building on last Sunday. Mr. Prince is well liked by the old civil war veterans and they always attend to hear him.

CARD OF THANKS

As it is impossible for us to thank each one personally, we take this method, through the kindness of the Union-Banner, of thanking the many friends and neighbors, who were so kind and helpful during the sickness and death of our darling son and brother, E. J. Evans, who departed this life January 17, 1915. May the day be far distant when they shall all pass through the same shadow, but when the time does come, may they all be surrounded by the same generous air and tender sympathy that they brought to his home when the Lord called our precious son and brother home. We all hope to meet up there.

We wish also to thank them for the help and loving kindness rendered to his bereaved family. May God bless and reward each one of them as they deserve.

We, his parents, brothers and sisters are far away from the land in which he lies, but we hope to meet him in heaven.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Evans and Children, Palacios, Texas.

We are prepared to shelter and care for your cotton.

J. H. Duncan, Mgr. Farmers Warehouse.

COUNTY FARMERS UNION.

The Chilton County Farmers Union will meet with Collins Chaple Local No 223, three miles east of Thorsby, on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 26, 27, 1915.

We are to have the services of the teaching force from the State Agricultural College, and other State workers who will give lectures on most all farm subjects. Also demonstrations will be given.

The majority of the farmers need such instructions as will be given at this meeting. Necessity will force us to change our methods of farming and the time has come to begin to train our-selves and our children to meet the agricultural demands of the near future.

Diversified farming and cooperative marketing will be discussed in all its phases, which will be worth the time of any farmer to attend.

J. M. Smith,
Co. Secretary.

Why not bring your cotton to our warehouse, have it insured and save your worry lest it should burn.

J. H. Duncan, Mgr. Farmers Warehouse.

MOUNTAIN CREEK

As previously stated quite a bunch of Chilton county's progressive citizens met the law makers in Montgomery last Monday night. In our crowd we had several of the most important Democrats of the county who united with us in making our protest to the legislature, that those bills should not be passed.

Mr. Ellis Gulledge made quite an interesting talk to the committee, among other things, he stated that he was an old confederate soldier and that he had lived in Chilton county for a number of years, and further stated that he had always been a Democrat, but he was not in favor of men being legislated out of office, who had been elected by the majority of the people, and that he was willing to settle the difference at the polls. He further stated that those bills would take from the people their long cherished liberties.

Mr. Sam Latham and Mr. John Standfield also stated that they, too, were Democrats, but were opposed to the passage of those bills. Mr. Latham brought out several legal points relative to them and also mentioned the unnecessary expense appertaining thereto.

Mr Judge, the Representative of Shelby county, gave us quite a lot of encouragement. He stated to the committe that he was opposed to the passage of those bills, owing to the fact that they had tried them out in Shelby county, and had found them wanting in many respects, and further stated that he had been requested to present those bills for Chilton county, but he refused to do so.

Mr. Curry of Clanton was the only one who favored the passage of the bills. He got up and stated to the committee that he was not aware of the fact that we were going to have a meeting that night, and that it was merely by chance that he was there. He further stated that our meeting at Clanton was not advertised, but someone in the crowd happened to have the county papers along with them, and when told of the presence of those papers he looked like thirty cents with a hole in it. He contradicted himself several times while trying to promote those bills. He finally concluded his remarks by stating that the Democrats ought to have charge of the county.

The writer conversed with several of the lawmakers while in Montgomery, relative to those bills, and we are glad to state that they all seem to be willing to allow us our rights. I don't suppose that it is necessary for us to apprehend any danger now. Should the bills pass the Senate, we are sure that they will be killed in the house.

Moreover, there is many a slip between the cup and the lip, so we hardly know just what to expect. Trust that the cloud will soon pass over, and that the sun will again shine brightly.

Very truly,
Chas. Cooper

P. S. We notice that Mr Pink has cast his lot with the "few" who will be long remembered and never forgotten by the people of Chilton county.

N. R. Nichols, of Limestone, raised 18 bales of cotton on 18 1-2 acres last year.

FRANCIS MARION VINES MINISTER 44 YEARS

Rev. F. M. Vines died Feb. 5th. at Ennis Texas

Rev. F. M. Vines died at the home of his son, T. A. Vines, three miles west of Ennis at 1:45 p. m. Friday, after an illness of a little more than eighteen months. On July 27, 1913, he was stricken with paralysis and has never been well since that time, though a good part of the time he was able to be up about the house. He had been in bed just a week when the end came.

Francis Marion Vines was born in Autauga county, Alabama, April 5, 1836, and lacked but a little more than two months of being 79 years of age. His earlier life was spent in Alabama, he moved to Mississippi in 1882, and to Texas in 1895, having lived in this community about twenty years.

He was married in Alabama to Miss Leah Mullins on Jan. 29, 1856, just 59 years till the day of his death. She died here in 1907.

The funeral, under the direction of J. W. Neal, took place from the First Baptist church in Ennis at 1 o'clock Saturday, conducted by Rev. J. W. Mortan of Bardwell and Rev. Edkar Parker, pastor at Ennis, attended by a large number of relatives, neighbors and friends, after which Bardwell Masonic lodge, assisted by Ennis lodge, took charge of remains and tenderly laid them to rest in Myrtle cemetery with the beautiful and impressive burial service of that order, which he loved so well.—Ennis Texas Local.

SOME COMPLIMENT

It is not often an editor hands himself a compliment.

But this is the exception, and that is just what we are doing, because a certain well known citizen of this community has persistently recognized the value of this paper as a disseminator of local news, and has paid us this best of all compliments in a manner which speaks volumes for his knowledge of the good things of life.

He is not destitute of this world's goods, and he possesses the rare faculty of holding onto that which he gets, lest the pangs of proverty overtake him in his declining years.

He possesses a wide knowledge of local affairs, because he is a constant reader of this paper, and the knowledge extracted therefrom is turned to good account in his own behalf.

If an important event is soon to occur he knows of it in advance, because he has read of it in this paper.

If there is a bargain to be had anywhere in the community he is promptly apprised of the fact, because that, too, he has read of in this paper.

And if an acquaintance is sick, or if death has overtaken some member of a family, or the stork has paid a visit to the home of some friend, he is among the first to extend his condolences or congratulations—because of these, also, he has read in this paper.

He is a man of wisdom—a pillar of strength—with a brain which absorbs to the utmost of the essence of life.

Few things escape his notice—he is ever on the alert.

But the ONE THING which he NEVER OVERLOOKS is THIS PAPER, and therein lies the compliment which we take unto ourself. It gives us a feeling that we are something more than a mere human worm, that we are even a wheel cog in the community wheel.

True, he is NOT A SUBSCRIBER to the paper—his dollar never reaches this office—but he READS THE PAPER JUST THE SAME.

His neighbor is a subscriber, and pays in advance, and in his generosity he lends the paper to the "pillar of strength"—by request.

But it may not always be so. In time we have hopes that the "pillar" will pay us the supercompliment of permitting us to humbly add his own distinguished name to our subscription list.

Time works wonders—even in the newspaper field.

It seems that if there are so great a number of people in the county in favor of those proposed bills, they would have showed up at the meeting called by the Democrats at the Court house last Saturday.

We learn that the first one of the cases against the Alabama Power Co. in Shelby county was won by the Power Company. The trial was a long and teidous one. Were those who met with the Democratic Executive Committee last Saturday the possessors of that sacred Anglo-Saxon blood the Press spoke of last week? Yes, they must be very restless about their public duty to Chilton county. They are so moved by this desire to "serve" the people that they are taying now to get a chance to demonstrate their patriotism and high sense of public duty, although the people only a few months ago repudiated them in the most stunning tones. We don't believe even the Anglo-Saxons ever had such a burning desire to be public servants.

A Fundamental

Safe and rapid railway transportation is a fundamental business necessity.

The construction of railway mileage antedates by but a short time the rapid development of agricultural interests and commercial activity.

Property values are doubled, trebled, quadrupled, overnight, simply by the bona fide announcement of intention to construct a modern railway through a given section.

It is therefore remarkable that so many individuals have seen fit to attack and hamper the railway interests of the country in their efforts to earn a sufficient amount to enable them to continue to supply good service and realize something for betterments and extensions.

Not only that: People who might otherwise feel inclined to invest in plans for the construction of new railroads refrain from doing so, believing that their investment would be subject to attack and possible loss through adverse public sentiment.

Regulation, like all powerful weapons, should be used with the utmost caution by intelligent men, of good judgment, who are conversant with the powers and dangers of regulation.

The L. & N. writes of these things because it does not believe regulation means destruction. Particularly is this true when the thing regulated is a Fundamental Business Necessity—a part and parcel of the commercial fabric of the nation.

No spirit of antagonism should exist between the railroad and those empowered by law to regulate the railroad.

Rather should they meet and discuss whatever difference may exist in a spirit of mutual benefit and fairness, each bearing its share of whatever burden imposed, and each enjoying its share of the fruits of its labors.

It is in just such spirit as this that the L. & N. operates throughout the vast naturally rich territory traversed by its lines.

The freight and passenger service afforded the territory is unsurpassed in rapidity, safety and facility. We believe the people appreciate the service, and the policy behind it, and we look to them confidently to favor us with their patronage, and through the efficiency of our service, to merit their good will.

Oil Treatment for Stomach Troubles

A simple prescription made up of a combination of pure vegetable oils is producing wonderful results for sufferers from stomach, liver and intestinal troubles. The remedy, which is said to have originated in France, where it has been used for years by the peasantry, was introduced into this country by George H. Mayr, a leading Chicago druggist, who cured himself of severe stomach, liver and intestinal troubles by its use. Those who have used it say the first dose is sufficient to convince any one of its remarkable merit, and that within twenty-four hours the sufferer feels like a new person. This medicine, which has become known as Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, is sold by leading druggists everywhere with the positive understanding that your money will be refunded without question or quibble if ONE bottle fails to give you absolute satisfaction.

CHILTON CLUB WELL ON TO SUCCESS

Organization Completed, With Beginning of 34 Members

The Chilton Club an organization for the promotion of social and business harmony, with rooms in the new Hayes building on Seventh street, has been formally organized, and started fairly on the road to success. The membership so far is composed of 34 proggressive business men of Chilton County, four of whom live outside of Clanton. It is presumably certain that by the end of the month the number of members will be increased to 50.

The officers of the club are as follows: Dr. P. I, Hopkins, President; Dr. A. M. Gowan, Vice. President; Grady Reynolds, Secretary; Victor J. Heard, Treasurer. These officers, together with J. E. Robinson, Sr., compose the Board of Governors.

The purpose of the Club is to create a more harmonious social standard among the members, and the universal advancement of the business and commercial interest of Chilton County at large. Its scope is by no means confined to Clanton alone; it is intended to take in and benefit Chilton County as a whole.

Greatest of All Human Blessings

"The most wonderful thing in the world is love expressed in the helpless infant. And among those aids and comforts for expectant mothers is the well known "Mother's Friend."

This is an external application to enable the abdominal muscles to become more pliant, to expand naturally without undue pain from the strain upon cords and ligaments.

In almost every settled community are women who have enjoyed the blessing of this famous remedial and helpful embrocation. Their daughters have grown up to learn of its splendid assistance.

Applied as directed upon those muscles involved it soothes the fine network of nerves with which all the muscles are supplied. Thus a great share of the pains so much dreaded may be avoided and the period of expectancy passed through in ease and comfort.

Anything that adds so much comfort must be counted as a blessing indeed.

In a little book sent by mail much useful information is given to inexperienced mothers. It tells how to use "Mother's Friend" and how to avoid caking breasts. Get a bottle to-day and write for book to Bradfield Regulator Co., 409 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Be sure you get "Mother's Friend."

Remarkable New Drug Store Service!

The establishment of SAN-TOX service to the public is based upon the uniform excellence of SAN-TOX preparations and is the culmination of a nation-wide campaign for better and more reliable drug store service inaugurated by the manufacturers of the SAN-TOX preparations and selected high-class retail drug stores.

There has long been a crying need for just such service to the public. Deception in drugs and toilet necessities has long been rife. Nostrums without number have been foisted upon the public. Druggists themselves have been helpless. The conscientious druggist will not recommend such worthless nostrums. Yet he cannot do otherwise than sell them when they are called for.

No More Doubt—No More Deception

The SAN-TOX preparations are the very highest grade that a combination of thorough pharmaceutical knowledge and skill and purest drugs and other ingredients can produce. The remedials are not patent medicines. They are made from formulas of proven value—formulas which, for the most part, have been used for years by the medical profession. There is a SAN-TOX remedial for practically every minor ailment. Your SAN-TOX druggist will recommend it and his recommendation is based upon his exact knowledge of what the remedial contains.

The SAN-TOX TOILET SPECIALTIES are made from purest ingredients obtainable, after selected formulas. There is one for every toilet need—they are of the highest grade in every particular at popular prices.

Nothing Secret About

San-Tox

None of the toilet preparations are secret. Your SAN-TOX dealers will gladly show the formulas of any of them upon request. Each preparation bears upon the carton the SAN-TOX guarantee and if it does not give perfect satisfaction your dealer will cheerfully refund your money. Every SAN-TOX druggist has agreed to do so.

Make a SAN-TOX Trial At Our Risk

Go to the SAN-TOX druggists listed below and buy, for instance, a bottle of SAN-TOX Eau de Quinine Hair Tonic. Use it a few days and judge for yourself how thoroughly it cleanses the scalp, gets rid of dandruff, allays all scalp irritation, stops the hair from falling out, and how thick and glossy it makes the hair. Compare it, from actual results obtained, with any other hair tonic you have ever used and if you do not find it vastly superior in every respect, the SAN-TOX druggist will refund your money.

Look For the SAN-TOX Nurse Trade Mark

Whenever you are in need of a toilet preparation for any purpose whatever, or a safe, reliable remedy for some minor ailment, be sure to go to the SAN-TOX drug store in your locality and ask for a SAN-TOX preparation. Notice the Nurse Trade Mark on the package. It is emblematic of quality, purity and safety.

VARIETIES OF COTTON.

By E. F. Cauthen, Associate Agriculturist and Recorder Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

A study of the cotton variety tests of the Alabama Experiment Station during the past ten years shows that among the most productive of the hundred or more varieties and so-called varieties are Cook, Cleveland, Dillon, Layton and Toole and others very much like them. These varieties have certain distinct characters that belong to all of them.

These leading varieties are not the earliest nor the latest to mature, neither do they produce the largest nor the smallest bolls. Under ordinary conditions the plants are usually medium size with leaves neither large, coarse, nor very small. The fruit limbs are medium long with many almost or completely suppressed wood-limbs. There are from one to four large base or wood-limbs at the bottom of the vegetative part of the plant. The bolls are usually round or oval and are without sharp bur tips which prick the fingers of the pickers. Seed are small or medium and fuzzy. Each hundred pounds of seed cotton should produce from 36 to 40 lbs. of lint. The fiber is short to medium, but never long.

There is no one leading variety of cotton that is adapted to all soils and climatic conditions. In some sections the leading one may be a very early one, while in other sections the leader may be among the later maturing varieties.

Helping Kidneys By Clearing Blood

A Function Greatly Assisted By a Well-Known Remedy.

Most readers will be interested to more clearly understand why analysis of urine is so important. In the use of S. S. S. to purify the blood, its action is a stimulant to the myriad of fine blood vessels that make up the constructive tissues of the kidneys. All the blood from all over the body must pass through the kidneys. They act as testers and assayers. And according to what they allow to pass out in the urine, both as to quantity and materials, the health of the kidneys and the quality of the blood is determined. The catalytic energy forced by S. S. S. is shown in the urine. It is also demonstrated in the skin. And as the blood continues to sweep through the kidneys the dominating nature of S. S. S., acting as it does through all the avenues of elimination, shows a marked decrease of disease manifestations as demonstrated by urine analysis. This assistance is a great relief to the kidneys. The body wastes are more evenly distributed to the emunctories; their elimination is stimulated by the tonic action afforded the liver, lungs, skin and kidneys. Thus, in cases of rheumatism, cystitis, chronic sore throat, huskiness of voice, bronchitis, asthma and the myriad of other reflex indications of weak kidney action, first purify your blood with S. S. S., so it will enable the tissues to rebuild the cellular strength and regain the normal health.

S. S. S. is prepared by The Swift Specific Co., 527 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and if you have any deep-seated or obstinate blood trouble, write to their Medical Dept. for free advice.

SUGGESTIVE CROPPING PLAN FOR TWO-HORSE FARM

By J. F. Duggar, Director of Alabama Experiment Station and Extension Service.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

There is no one best plan. The following is offered with a hope that it may contain suggestions that farmers can incorporate into the plans for their individual farms. This is based on 50 acres of cultivated land to the two-horse team—in addition to a permanent pasture:

Acres.
20 corn with cowpeas or velvet beans between rows;
15 cotton;
8 oats;
2 sweet potatoes;
2 Spanish peanuts—successive plantings;
1 early sorghum for hay;
1 early cowpeas for producing seed for the late crop;
½ for garden and truck crops;
½ sugar cane or sorghum for syrup.

If four acres of the oat land be inclosed it may be used for a winter pasture. If so, at least five pounds of rape may be harrowed in among the growing oats. Crabgrass, etc., in the same inclosure may constitute an extra summer pasture, or peanuts or soy beans may be planted here for hogs. At least four acres of the oat land should produce two crops; the second one may be cowpeas. In the central and southern parts of the cotton belt a very early variety of cowpeas (such as New Era) planted early will mature seed in July, or just in time for planting a late crop for hay.

If eight acres have not been planted in fall oats most of that area may be planted in cowpeas for seed or hay, or a part in additional peanuts.

GOOD SUGGESTION TO CLANTON PEOPLE

It is surprising the amount of old, foul matter the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-i-ka, drains from the system. This remedy became famous by curing appendicitis and acts on BOTH the upper and lower bowel so thoroughly that ONE DOSE relieves sour stomach, gas on the stomach and constipation almost IMMEDIATELY. We are mighty glad we are Clanton agents for Adler-i-ka. The Upchurch Drug Company.

FERTILIZER FOR IRISH POTATO

By Ernest Walker, Horticulturist Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Give for the spring crop an 8-4-10 formula at rate of 1,000 lbs. per acre; one-fourth to one-third this amount in drill. In either case, apply preferably two or three weeks in advance, and mix thoroughly with the soil. Let, say, one-third of the nitrogen be in the form of nitrate of soda, and balance organic (i. e., blood, cotton seed meal). On clayey soils, not too long cropped, reduce potassium by two per cent. If potassium cannot readily be obtained, reduce the proportions to conform and increase the amount used per acre correspondingly. The best results can be expected only on land reasonably well supplied with humus. Stable manure at rate of ten to fifteen good loads per acre is best fertilizer if land needs humus. Unless applied in the fall it will be best to "compost" the manures to render the plant foods promptly available. The moist heating also destroys weed and grass seeds.

In passing, let me say, the value of composting manure for spring crops can not be too much emphasized, nor can the importance of carefully saving animal manure and all humus-making materials on the farm. Humus is needed in most Southern soils, and especially in land used for potatoes.

For seed, use only healthy potatoes, good sized pieces (two eyes). Plant 4 inches deep and 12 to 14 inches in rows 3½ feet apart. Have the land thoroughly prepared—mellow—press pieces with foot in cover. Ridge rows. Cross cultivate, potatoes begin to show, to kill and to level. Cultivate freely. Avoid hilling.

Spray with Bordeaux every two weeks after potatoes are 6 inches high. For beetles, add 2½ lbs. of arsenate of lead to each 50 gallons of Bordeaux as soon as bugs or larvae appear. Lime sulphur sprays is not satisfactory for potatoes.

Varieties: Triumph, Early Ohio, Cobbler.

Northern seed is generally used, but home grown has proved satisfactory.

Watch for "powdery scab" on seed from North.

By Ernest Walker, Horticulturist Alabama Experiment Station.

The top for a time are too large for the injured root system to support, and the grower cuts back the top one-half to one-half to restore the balance. (3) Trees normally produce more buds than can ever develop into branches, and more branches than flowers and fruit than is compatible with good size and color. INPEACHNENT AGAINST BIBB COUNTY JUDGE

Efficiency Inpaired by Use of Intoxicants, According to Allegations

Charges of incompetency, based on the alleged fact that he used intoxicating liquors, were made yesterday aguinst Probate Judge W. L. Pratt, of Bibb county, in impeachment proceedings brought against the official by Attorney General W. L. Martin. The papers were filed yesterday afternoon in the office of General R. F. Ligon, Clerk of the Supreme Court, and early action is requested.

These charges are based upon recommendations made by the Bibb County grand jury that impeachment proceedings be instituted against Probate Judge Pratt. It is charged that his efficiency in office is impaired by his use of intoxicants. Judge Pratt was in Montgomery yesterday and will insist upon an early trial.

Friends of Judge Pratt claim that the charges were made because of political reasons and that they were brought in order that another man might be appointed probate judge. These friends yesterday expressed theis confidence that the official would be exonerated when the evidence is considered.

Under the law, the Attorney General must bring impeachment proceedings when they are recommended to him by a grand jury. The recommendations of the Bibb county grand jury created a sensation in that county. It is claimed by friends of Judge Pratt that the affairs in his office are in first class shape.

Regular impeachment charges are incompetency, corruption in office and wilful neglect of duty. Only the incompetency charge was brought against Judge Pratt.

HOW HOG CHOLERA IS SPREAD.

By C. A. Cary, Dean Veterinary College, Auburn, Ala.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

First—Cholera may be spread by driving or shipping infected hogs. They carry the infection and may infect the wagon or car, or they may distribute it along the way by their excretions. When a new hog is received on the farm it should be kept entirely separate from all other hogs for at least three weeks. Then the hog should be dipped or sprayed with some weak antiseptic, such as weak creolin.

Second—Those who visit cholera infected places often carry infection on their shoes.

Third—Dogs and cats carry the infection on their feet or by eating infected carcasses.

Fourth—English sparrows and pigeons may eat grain in infected lots and carry the infection from farm to farm.

Fifth—Bussards feast on infected carcasses, fly great distances, and infect pastures with their feet and their excretions and also infect the water supply in feed lots.

Sixth—Wind may carry infected dust for a short distance, possibly across the road or farther.

Seventh—Running water may be infected by flowing through an infected pasture, by carcasses being thrown into it, by buzzards and dogs bathing in it, or by sewers.

Eighth—Kitchen slops may contain scraps from pork that is infected with cholera and other diseases.

Ninth—Failure to burn or bury dead animals helps to spread cholera and other diseases.

Tenth—The careless handling of virus by men not qualified to use it may spread cholera.

Eleventh—Improperly made serum and virus may spread cholera. Serum and virus should be bought from the nearest State Serum Laboratory or from a firm which has Government supervision and a Government license.

Twelfth—Permitting hogs to run at large spreads cholera.

Thirteenth—Contaminated or infected public roads, streets or driveways spread cholera.

Fourteenth—Public stock yards are all infected with cholera virus.

Fifteenth—Show hogs at fairs often distribute cholera. All show hogs should be inoculated and held in quarantine for four weeks and then disinfected before they go to the show; and when they leave the fair they should again be disinfected and held in quarantine before they go back to the farm.

LACY SERVING TERM IN WETUMPKA PRISON

Noted Embezzler Taken On Sunday to the State Penitentiary

Theo Lacy, former Chief Clerk of the Convict Bureau, was carried Sunday afternoon to Wetumpka, where he will begin serving a sentence of ten years for embezzling over $100,000 of the State's funds entrusted to his care while connected with the bureau. He left the county jail at 4 o'clock in company with Transfer Agent Whit Duck.

Lacy was given over to the transfer agent on an order from the bureau, with which he was formerly connected, and it was signed by Hartwell Douglass, successor to James G. Oakley, former President of the Board. Lacy had been in jail here for over a year, pending an appeal.

The noted prisoner is now under two sentences totalling sixteen years for embezzlement. He began last night serving on a sentence of ten years and another sentence of six years has been appealed. He has been in jail here since his convition last year, following his surrender after having eluded officers for many months.

Before leaving Lacy issued a statement to the Sunday morning papers asserting his belief that he would ultimately prove his innocence of any unlawful intent. His unbroken silence has been a shield for certain friends he declared.

FOURTH DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

The fourth district Sunday school convention was held at the Verbena Baptist Church, Sunday, February 1st.

Owing to some confusion as to the time and place of meeting the attendance was probably a little smaller than it would have been otherwise; but the convention was good. Nine of the twenty-one schools were represented. We had with us one of the state's ablest workers, Mrs. Leon C. Palmer.

The convention will meet next with with the Walnut Creek Sunday School, some time in March.

UNION GROVE

Health here is very good at present.

Prof. R. A. Smith is quite ill now but is expected to be back at school in a few days. The school is getting along nicely under the care of Mr. Edwy Conway while Prof. Smith is ill.

All the people have begun to prepare for making their crops around here, all you can hear is "Gee and Hah."

Misses Nora and Nancy Smith and Lilla Littleton spent the night with Misses Bessie and Lessie Robinson Saturday night.

A few of our young folks went to the singing at Mt. Pleasant Sunday afternoon, but I think it rained too much for the singing.

We are going to be entertained by some of the orphan children from Cullman next Friday. Would be glad for all the people who can to come and be with us for I am sure they will tell us something that will be worth listening to.

We are expecting to have a debate here the first Saturday night in March, hoping all the people will come to be with us. We are also expecting to have a singing here the first Sunday afternoon in March, every body is invited to come and help us with the singing.

Uncle Eben.

"De young man dat has a good pa an' a good ma," said Uncle Eben "don't need to go no furder in brag gin' 'bout his ancestry."

A belt worn by Napoleon Bonaparte at the battle of Waterloo has just been presented to the National Military Museum of Paris. That's good, for even a belt may perpetuate the greatness of its wearer. And on second thought, we have an old belt or two we wore in bygone days which the museum may have for the asking.

Washington dispatches tell us the "open door" is assured in China. Bully! Let's push through and cop off some of that juicy Chinese trade.

It behooves those who are interested in the agricultural welfare of Chilton county to see to it that the crop diversification campaign of Alabama, is brought to our county before its career for this season is spent. Our people need to know the valuable lesson it teaches about diversification and those in a position to do so should see that our farmers are not neglected in this work.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

We beseech thee, Lord, to behold us with favor, folk of many families and nations gathered together in the peace of this roof, weak men and women subsisting under the covert of the patience. Be patient still; suffer us yet awhile longer;—with our broken purposes of good, with our idle endeavors against evil, suffer us awhile longer to endure and (if it may be) help us to do better. Bless to us our extraordinary mercies; if the day come when these must be taken, brace us to play the man under affliction. Be with our friends, be with ourselves. Go with each of us to rest; if any awake, temper to them the dark hours of watching; and when the day returns, return to us, our sun and comforter, and call us up with morning faces and with morning hearts—eager to labor—eager to be happy, if happiness shall be our portion—and if the day be marked for sorrow, strong to endure it.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

THE MAPLESVILLE ROAD

Week before last a publication was made asking for bids on the construction of a highway from Clanton to Maplesville. But last week a notice appeared stating that the court of County Commissioners had recinded the former action, and would not consider the matter any further.

We believe the nullification of the former order by the Court was a wise act. This belief does not arise from any antipathy for good roads in Chilton, but simply comes out of regard for some business facts and principles involved, and which we believe the Commissioners saw and appreciated.

This road from Clanton to Maplesville is, above all other roads in the county, the one most in need of improvement. If it were at any rate a justifiable method for the county to plunge into debt to build a road, it seems the most excusable if directed toward this particular one. But the lamentable part of the transaction lies in the fact that the officials did not see the importance of this road until they had exhausted their means on the Birmingham-Montgomery Highway.

The people of the western part of the county have no direct railway connection with the seat of their trade and county government at Clanton; hence they must employ and depend upon the country road leading here. For that reason, which applies to no other section of the county so well, those people should have the best road possible for them under a sensible and business method of obtaining good roads.

The people north and south of Clanton are connected with their county seat of government directly by railway, and it matters not so much if the country roads are not very good, they can get here by rail if they must come to attend to business. This fact makes the roads north and south of Clanton secondary to the one from the west.

Yet we believe at present it is unwise to attempt the building of the Maplesville road, or any other as for that matter, because the county is already tied hand and foot for years to come, on the building of the Birmingham-Montgomery Highway. Till we get out of that debt it is even more unwise to contract other obligations than it was to assume the first one—and it is indeed hard to conceive of anything more thoughtlessly done than the tieing of that string of warrants to the county, which it cannot pay inside of many years, just to satisfy some foreign desires for a highway from Birmingham to Montgomery.

THE YOUNG VOTER

In that speech at Indianapolis which Mr. Wilson intended should be the keynote of the Democratic marching song, but which has turned out to be, instead, a millstone about the party's neck, he made an appeal to young men to ally themselves with the forces of Democracy. With all his sophistry of reasoning and glittering generalties of speech he urged the young voter to become a part of that political movement of which he is the head, the dictator and the motive power.

As recruiting officer of the Democratic army, Mr. Wilson will not be kept very busy so far as young men are concerned. The flag that hangs from the window of his recruiting office is not one to attract this type of voter. The Democratic flag is a medly of many things. In it there is not the fast color of constancy and consistency. In many places the flag is torn, the result of trying to twist itself so as to meet every political wind that blows. In other places it is sadly discolored with the stains of the bad policies to which the Democratic party has attached itself;

What is there that the Democratic party can offer as an inducement to the young voter? He will not be satisfied with a prosperity that is "merely pyschological," nor contented with promises of good times that are ever just on the eve of arriving, but which never arrive. He will have but a smiling interest in fanciful crowns of thorns and crosses of gold. He will not relish the idea of keeping political step to any Chautauqua jester's cap and bells. He will not regard with approval a Mexican policy that interferes in the affairs of an international neighbor, brings about a condition worse than before, then departs and in smug, Pecksniffin language declares that our duty there has been done,

What attraction for a young man can that party have that can present, eighteen months before its national convention, but these four possible nominees for the Presidency: Woodrow Wilson, the coy candidate for renomination; Champ Clark, the reminiscent and receptive candidate; William G. McAdoo, ardent aspirant and advocate of heredity at the White House; and William J. Bryan, the perrenial and preposterous aspirant. This list contains the names of all the potential candidates who have emerged from obscurity or succeeded in retaining places in the bolitical sun since the Democratic power began in 1912. What is there in a consideration, of that quartet, to make of Democracy a haven for young men?
—Philadelphia Press.

A little agitation of the boys corn club and pig club movement right now, means more than a lot of talk and activity after it is too late to enter the contest, and the time to plant corn is past. Now is the time boy, to make up your mind to win a prize; do it, and get right into the game from the start. Will you?

EVER SALIVATED BY CALOMEL? HORRIBLE

Calomel loses you a day! You know wtat calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggise, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for 50 cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entiaely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitete for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and cannot salivate.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a days work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.

RECORDS OF VETERANS WANTED AS HISTORY

We have learned that no records of Alabama's Confederate soldiers have been preserved in the Confederate Memorial Museum, Richmond, Va., which contains 176 volumes of records of Confederate soldiers from other States. The Alabama room in this museum should contain records of Alabama soldiers, for the use of future generations and the preservation of your history. The Daughters of Alabama are anxious that equal recognition be given the veterans of the State, but it will be impossible to secure these records without your assistance and co-oporation.

Therefore, we urgently beg that you cut the following blank out, fill it out with your record and return promptly to Miss Bessie Allen, Montevallo, Alabama, who will copy records and get them in order for binding in permanent form. If you would secure other blanks with records of soldiers deceased or living, and send with yours, we would be doubly grateful. In fact, all who read this are requested to fill out one or more of the following blanks and return as requested.

Hint for Coming Maternity

In a little book designed for expectant mothers more complete instruction is given in the use of "Mother's Friend." This is an external embrocation applied to the abdominal muscles for the purpose of reducing the strain on ligaments, cords and tendons.

In thus bringing relief and avoiding pain great good is accomplished. It serves to ease the mind, indirectly has a most beneficial effect upon the nervous system and thousands of women have delightedly told how they were free of nausea, had no morning sickness and went through the ordeal with most remarkable success. "Mother's Friend" has been growing in popular favor for more than forty years. In almost every community are grandmothers who used it themselves, their daughters have used it and they certainly must know what a blessing it is when they recommend it so warmly. Strictly an external application it has no other effect than to ease the muscles, cords, tendons and ligaments involved hence is perfectly safe to use by all women. It is used very successfully to prevent caking of breasts.

Enclosed Please Find Check.

The clerks were looking sickly
And the Typist feeling pale
The Register was idle
And exibited "No Sale."
The office boy was thinking
Of the good old days at school
This sadness reached the darky
Who was beating up the mule.
The dog effaced himself at once
And took a one-eyed nap
The Big Squeeze had the war news
All written on his map
And as he opened up his mail
He nearly threw a fit
For every letter started with
"Please forward" or "Remit."
But now a change comes over him
He sees an envelope
That takes the cramp pains from his face
A sure enough white-hope.
He opened it with baited breath
And then exclaimed "By Heck!"
Here's a novelty indeed,
"Enclosed please find a check,"
He smiled and all the clerks at once
Forgot that they felt stale
The telephone aroused the dog
Who straightway wagged his tail
The boy released a whistle
And the mule began to sing
And the old typewriter rattled
And ended up, ding, ding.
This story has a moral
For the people of our town
The bigger better people
Who would others' sorrows drown
If you owe a fellow creature
Just a small account
And it has slipped your memory—
The matter or amount,
You may scatter seeds of kindness
And may be save a wreck
If you write a letter that begins,
"Enclosed, please find a check."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

TOO MANY CHILDREN

are under-size, under-weight

with pinched faces and poor blood; they do not complain but appetite lags, they have no ambition and do not progress.

Such children need the rich medicinal nourishment in Scott's Emulsion above everything else; its pure cod liver oil contains nature's own blood-forming, flesh-building fats which quickly show in rosy cheeks, better appetite, firm flesh and sturdy frames.

If your children are languid, tired when rising, catch cold easily or find their studies difficult, give them Scott's Emulsion; it supplies the very food elements that their systems lack.

Scott's Emulsion contains no alcohol and is so good for growing children it's a pity to keep it from them.

4. Such application must include an agreement on the part of the owner to abide by all rules and regulations established by the Committee on Sewers, and to waive any claim for damages in case of revocation as herein provided.

5. Permits to connect with a public sewer will be issued only where the plumbing in a building is in accordance with the rules for plumbing prescribed in these regulations.

6. Persons violating the regulations after receiving permits shall be fined $5 for every day that the drain remains connected with the public sewer after being notified by the City Engineer or Committee on Sewers that the work has been improperly done, or for such other reasons as the said Engineer or Committee may deem sufficient.

7. No more than one building shall be connected with a public sewer through one drain pipe without a special permit from the Committee on Sewers.

8. The material of all drains laid in any street or public way shall be iron or salt-glazed, vitrified pipe.

13. The inside of every drain shall be left perfectly clean and smooth, and a proper scraper be drawn through each pipe as it is laid.

When sidewalks which are difficult to put back into their original surface have to be passed under, tunneling may be resorted to as directed by the Engineer or the Committee on Sewers. When necessary to disturb a drain in actual use, it must not be obstructed without special permit from the Engineer or the Committee on Sewers.

20. The back filling shall be thoroughly rammed, and the paving or ballast replaced in the best condition possible, and to the satisfaction of the Engineer or the Committee on Sewers, within forty-eight hours after the back filling of the trench. Neglect of this requirement shall be sufficient cause for a revocation of the drain layer's license.

21. Notice must be left at the office of the City Engineer or the Committee on Sewers, twenty-four hours before work is begun on the drain, and no material shall be used or work covered until inspected and approved by the City Engineer or Committee on Sewers.

22. Any settlement over a drain, on any street or public way, within one year, shall be replaced at the expense of the plumber or drain-layer who did the work.

IN REGARD TO FAIR CATALOG.

I have just read the Fair catalogue and think it good, but was impressed with the small amount given as prizes to the boys and girls clubs. Those amounts are all the Fair authorities are able to offer, but the great and lasting good growing out of this move are such as to make it incumbent upon us to put all the ginger possible in the work. Would it not be a good plan to encourage a little team work among the schools and by a concerted effort on their part raise funds that would provoke the best effort possible on the part of the boy? I think we have something over seventy school districts in the county. Would it not be easy, well and wise for each of those teach in their respective districts to raise as much as two dollars and then with a little aid from the outside have something like two hundred dollars to offer as a grand prize to the boy making the greatest yield at the least cost. This would call forth the boys best thought and energy. What do you trustees and teachers think about the plan? Think it over and come to the meeting next Saturday prepared to take decisive action on the matter.

Yours very truly,
J. J. Pickens.

Mr. Hall of the International Bible Students Association, lectured in this community on the 23rd of February. Attendance was good. Much interest was manifested. His lecture was on the plan of Redemption, showing the fall of man from Edenic perfection, showing some of the experiences of the Holy people; the church along the narrow way; showing that we are now in a dispensational change, and that just beyond the greatest trouble of all history which is now on, and increasing, that we will enter an era of peace, happiness, and prosperity, never equalled since the fall of man from the garden of Eden; that this great overthrow will be short, that light is increasing and will continue until the sun of righteousness reaches his zenith of glory. He used a chart about ten feet long to illustrate his discourse. He is an aged man and fluent speaker.

W. B. Evans Found Dead After Purchasing Carbolic Acid and Wood Alcohol

W. B. Evans, age 50 years, was found dead late Saturday afternoon in the rear of his home, near Fairview, Autauga County. He previously purchased a quantity of both carbolic acid and wood alcohol, and it is thought that he took his own life. His face showed signs of great agony and the ground where the body lay showed signs that the dying man had struggled in the pains caused by the acid.

The fact that Evans had purchased the carbolic acid and alcohol was learned soon after the man was missed from his home. A search was immediately instituted and the body found.

Evans was a man of good standing in his community and no reason is known for the suicide. He is survived by a wife and five children.

Hello, Mex.! How many presidents have abdicated today?

Buck up! Be a sport! Sinking American ships may become an old story in time.

Some fellows are always enthusiastic when they talk about themselves.

The Japanese are extremely modest in their demands of China. They only want the whole country—and are in a fair way to get a good slice of it.

Disappinting! The flight of Haitie's president could only command an inch of space in the daily press.

Here's a bully good idea! Let's have a law requiring every senator and congressman who votes for war to enlist and go to the front. Then THERE'LL BE NO WAR!

Fashion has decreed that women must reduce in weight in order to wear the latest gowns. What a calamity for those who cannot reduce, and yet will not wear an out of date garment!

Why buy big guns for coast defenses? Once started congress can roar loud enough for all belligerent purposes.

Washington dispatches report that the president is much concerned lest the United States become embroiled in the European war. Small wonder, with little to fight with except popguns and pitchforks.

China unwittingly perpetrated a monumental joke when she begged the United States to protect her from the encroachments of Japan. Uncle Sam would have difficulty in protecting his own national hide. Nations cannot fight without munitions of war.

CHANGE AND VARIATION.

The world itself, and all animate life indeed, are wrought with many changes. Day by day, week by week, and year by year, things of material and physical existence are subjected to varying conditions, and the result is a phenomenon rendering the object unlike itself in the previous period.

Snch changes are even more than excusable; they are in conformity with the laws of nature. Hence no one ever questions them.

But on the other hand, as we are concerned with the intellectual side of life, we find a different law regarding changes. Instead of going without question they are breeders of suspicion.

Someone has invented an excuse for the fellow who haphazardly changes his mind, by saying that a wise man sometimes changes his mind, and a fool never does. But this excuse is certainly poor consolation to the man whose opinion is swayed and twisted by every little influence with which he comes in contact. The man who lends ear to one thing and another, and has no constancy, is not respected half as much, though he happen to be right, as a man who is really wrong but believes he is right, and upholds his opinion with honesty and sincerity.

In the acts of public officials we are the most apt to detect examples of this wavering of opinion. It is no doubt hard to keep clear on all matter, but it CAN be done. And if it is NOT done, condemnation and reproach surely await him who was blind to the performance of his duty.

It the authorities can do nothing without placing the county in debt, and if it is necessary to go in debt for roads, it seems to us that it would be a far more sensible method to issue bonds for that purpose, than to issue time warrants as has been done. It would give the people themselves the right to say whether or not they desire a county debt. Personally, we do not believe in contracting debt of any kind, if it can be avoided.

For the first time in several years, the people who have warrants against the county treasury are having to discount them for 10 to 20 per cent to get cash on them. We would like to ask how much they will have to discount them if the county continues to issue warrants as they are now doing. When can a man expect to get his warrants cashed at all.

Certain obliging "experts" are charging the high cost of flour to the war. Certainly—of course—just so! And this poor old war will be scapegoat for eveay piece of speculative skulduggery for the next fifty years to come.

If this country must be forced into war we expect our public office holdess to be the first to enlist. Then we mere mortals can bask in the sunshine of their patriotism.

Mayor Harrison of Chicago made a grand stand play of not entering the race for renomination until his wife gave her consent. The question was properly and scientifically mooted, and duly advertised and discussed in the daily press, with a weather eye always to leeward for the woman vote. And the women did vote--and Carter will return to the bosom of his family, the worst defeated candidate who ever jockeyed for feminine favor. Women are not fools.

WANTS "GRANDMA" TO WRITE FOR THE PAPER

We have received the following letter in regard to getting Mrs. Prim of Randolph to contribute to the Union-Banner, and we publish same in order that this lady may see for herself how her articles are estimated by the readers of the paper. Following is a copy of the letter:

Jemison, Ala., Feb. 28, 1915.

"Editor Union-Banner,

"With no other thought but the success of your paper, I would modestly suggest that if possible you get Mrs. Prim of Randolph to write for The Union-Banner from Free Springs. Her letters are popular, and I think they would add interest to the paper. Of course you will have to let her have her way; I am sure by so doing she will write regularly; otherwise she will not. The correspondence is what interests the rural districts.

Recognizing the popularity of "Grandma's" letters, and desiring to seee the paper prosper, causes me to offer the foregoing suggestions. Yours for success,

A Subscriber."

We appreciate the interest of this subscriber in our success, and trust that Mrs. Prim and many others will lend us their valuable aid in the way of weekly community news letters for publication.

BUILD BIRD HOUSES

Editor Union-Banner:—Please allow me to say through the columns of your paper that through the courtesy of and with the compliments of Hon. John W. Abercrombie, M. C. I have mailed copies of Farmers Bulletin No. 609, Bird Houses, to every white school in the county, as well as to quite a number other citizens and I hope that one of said bulletins will be placed in each school library and that as many bird houses be built this spring as possible. Why not build one at every school house in the county? Those further interested in birds may write to the Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C., for Farmers Bulletins numbers 54 and 513. Hoping that this may help in increasing our intere t in our feathered friends, I am,

Respectfully yours,
J. N. Dennis.

Clanton Mercantile Company

Mr. Mims Discusses Some Matters Of Importance.

Clanton, Ala., March 2, 1915.
Editor Union-Banner:

I want to make a short reply to the letter of Mr. E. M. Pinckard, which was copied in your paper of February 11th. The letter was signed by him as Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of Chilton County.

In the first place Mr. Pinckard tries to belittle the crowd that met at the court house at the call of Mr. W. E. Thomas, when there was about five hundred of the best citizenship of the county, men who have made and supported Mr. Pinckard, and without them he could not exist in his present business. Why does he not like them? Why does he speak of them as he does? All because he and four or five more politicians who are too dead to mention, cannot use these people to suit their o vn whims, and because they cannot dictate everything in the county.

Mr. Pinckard and his four or five bosses in Clanton would take from the people every right they have left if they could; they would not let the people have the right to vote on any question, and they would keep the people in poverty, so they could oppress them and make slaves of them.

What do the proposed laws which he and his crowd advocate mean? They would legislate men out of office, who have been elected by the people, without a shadow of a charge against them, all because the Clanton crowd cannot use them.

I would like to ask if the citizens of this county are not competent to elect their county commissioners? Then are they competent to elect a Judge of Probate, Sheriff, Tax Collector and Assessor? In fact are they competent to vote on any question? The only criticism that has ever been made of the Commissioners of this county is that they sometimes followed the lead of the Democrats a little too far.

I say it would be no worse to go into our smoke houses and take our meat we have stored away, than to take men out of office who have been placed there by our ballots, and are therefore our own. And if I were Mr. Pinckard I would not want men who are not competent to vote for Commissioners to trade with me. I would not want to mix with such ignorant men. He says I did not write the resolution that was passed at the mass meeting. I dictated every word of it, and Mr. Pinckard cannot say that of the letter which I refer to, for too many people have heard one of his bosses make the same expressions which are in the letter.

He says there were not any Democrats present at that mass meeting. The Clanton bosses have a way of reading everybody out of their party, if they do not bow to them and do their bidding. I would ask what about such men as Dr. Gragg, Dr. Marcus, Mr. J. W. E. Gulledge, J. W. Stanfield, W. I. Mullins, W. H. Sartor, J. C. Jones, J. J. Stanley, E. A. Matthews, J. R. Broadhead and Rev. Robt. Aldridge; in fact I am sure that a majority of the Democrats of this county are opposed to the proposed laws.

I hope Mr. Pinckard will write an article and tell the people of this county (who have made him what he is) why he wants to take from them their liberty. And publish the names of the parties who are behind the move, and let the people see who they are. I expect to see that most of the gang are looking for an appointment under the new laws, if they are passed.

The little court bill is too insignificant to mention. It only provides for a few places for a few broken down politicians, who could not be elected for anything in this county. I think it would be more honorable to provide a pension for them.

I will close for the present, and when Mr. Pinckard explains the demand for the proposed bills, I will come again.

Yours truly,
J. M. MIMS.

Experienced Women Advise Mother's Friend

Because it is so perfectly safe to use and has been of such great help to a host of expectant mothers, these women, experienced in this most happy period, advise the use of "Mother's Friend."

Applied externally to the abdominal muscles its purpose is to relieve the undue tension upon the cords and ligaments resulting from muscular expansion. Beneath the surface is a network of fine nerve threads and the gentle, soothing embrocation, "Mother's Friend," is designed to so lubricate the muscular fibres as to avoid the unnecessary and continuous nagging upon this myriad of nerves. It is a reflex action.

Applied to the breasts it affords the proper massage to prevent caking.

Thousands of women have reason to believe in this splendid help under the trying ordeal of motherhood. Their letters are eloquent evidence of its great value to women. In use for many years it has come to be a standard remedy for the purpose.

There is scarcely a well-stocked drug store anywhere but what you can easily obtain a bottle of "Mother's Friend" and in nearly every town and village is a grandma who herself used it in earlier years. Expectant mothers are urged to try this splendid assistant to comfort.

Mother's Friend is prepared by Bradfield Regulator Co., 410 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Send for our little book.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

FERTILIZER FOR IRISH POTATO

By Ernest Walker, Horticulturist Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Give for the spring crop an 8-4-10 formula at rate of 1,000 lbs. per acre; —one-fourth to one-third this amount in drill. In either case, apply preferably two or three weeks in advance, and mix thoroughly with the soil. Let, say, one-third of the nitrogen be in the form of nitrate of soda, and balance organic (i. e., blood, cotton seed meal). On clayey soils, not too long cropped, reduce potassium by two per cent. If potassium cannot readily be obtained, reduce the proportions to conform and increase the amount used per acre correspondingly. The best results can be expected only on land reasonably well supplied with humus. Stable manure at rate of ten to fifteen good loads per acre is best fertilizer if land needs humus. Unless applied in the fall it will be best to "compost" the manures to render the plant foods promptly available. The moist heating also destroys weed and grass seeds.

In passing, let me say, the value of composting manure for spring crops can not be too much emphasized, nor can the importance of carefully saving animal manure and all humus-making materials on the farm. Humus is needed in most Southern soils, and especially in land used for potatoes.

For seed, use only healthy potatoes, and good sized pieces (two eyes). Plant 4 to 6 inches deep and 12 to 14 inches apart in rows 3½ feet apart. Have the soil thoroughly prepared—mellow—and press pieces with foot in covering. Ridge rows. Cross cultivate, when potatoes begin to show, to kill weeds and to level. Cultivate frequently. Avoid hilling.

Spray with Bordeaux every two weeks after potatoes are 6 inches high. For beetles, add 2½ lbs. of arsenate of lead to each 50 gallons of Bordeaux as soon as bugs or larvae appear. Lime sulphur sprays is not satisfactory for potatoes.

Varieties: Triumph, Early Ohio, Irish Cobbler.

Northern seed is generally used, but home-grown has proved satisfactory here. Watch for "powdery scab" on seed from North.

French Remedy Aids Stomach Sufferers

France has been called the nation without stomach troubles. The French have for generations used a simple mixture of vegetable oils that relieve stomach and intestinal ailments and keep the bowels free from foul, poisonous matter. The stomach is left to perform its functions normally. Indigestion and gastritis vanish.

Mr. Geo. H. Mayr, a leading druggist of Chicago, cured himself with this remedy in a short time. The demand is so great that he imports these oils from France and compounds them under the name of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. People everywhere write and testify to the marvelous relief they have received using this remedy—one dose will rid the body of poisonous accretions that have accumulated for years and convince the most chronic sufferer from stomach, liver or intestinal troubles.

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy is sold by leading druggists everywhere with the positive understanding that your money will be refunded without question or quibble if ONE bottle fails to give you absolute satisfactio

PRUNING.

By Ernest Walker, Horticulturist Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

We prune trees (1) to restore a disturbed balance between the root system and tops; (2) to direct growth or form desirably shaped plants; (3) to conserve the energies of the tree and produce larger and better fruit.

(1) Trees lose much of their root system when transplanted from the nursery to the orchard. The tops then for a time are too large for the injured root system to support, so the grower cuts back the top one-fourth to one-half to restore the balance; moreover the root system in the new location is not in such intimate contact with the soil as it was before being disturbed and cannot absorb as well. The cutting back reduces evaporation and compensates for this.

(2) Trees need training while young the same as children. Left to themselves they may form bad habits. The grower must have an ideal to work to. This renders shaping of the developing tree easy. He can form a low head, a high head, a spreading top or compact head by cutting back to buds suitably placed.

(3) Trees normally produce more buds than can ever develop into branches, and more branches to bear flowers and fruit than is compatible with good size and color. The orchardist cuts out part of the branches and twigs so that food supplies may be concentrated in twigs and branches which count. In all this work he cuts close and clean so that the wound made may heal readily—no stubs. Next he paints the wounds, should they require more than one season to heal, with a harmless waterproof and antiseptic paint, such as white lead, omitting the dryer.

"Marvel of Progress"

The construction company which undertakes to build a railroad "Against the grain of the country"—that is, over the mountains and valleys instead of seeking the course of least resistance—must—

Bridge rivers of doubt, tunnel mountains of obstacles, traverse quagmires of despair, stand ready to expend millions of dollars.

Consequently the course of least resistance was for a number of years the short sighted rule, and not the the broad minded exception.

Small consideration was given the fact that hundreds of miles must be traversed to reach a point not far distant on an air line. Greater mileage meant a greater expense, and this great expense would endure during the active transportation life of the railroad so constructed.

"A Marvel of Progress" is the way in which the recently completed double track of the L. & N. from Birmingham to Decatur, Ala., has been designated.

It is a marvel of progress because it enables one engine to do the work formerly required of two engines.

The newly completed work gave lower grades, thus reducing cost of operation; took out reverse curves, filled in trestles, leveled mountains, thus increasing speed of operation and insuring greater safety to life and property.

The passenger can now travel over this section in perfect ease and comfort where formerly reverse curves and heavy grades caused rough riding.

This "Marvel of Progress" was planned and constructed by the L. & N. for use now and during generations yet unborn. It is but one of the many indications of the policy of the L. & N. to build for the future, to supply permanent improvements that will be handed down as a heritage of progress to our children and our children's children.

By its plan of construction the cost was not levied against any one generation. The present and future generations will enjoy the benefits, but the payments will be equally distributed through the process of bond issues.

It is the policy of the L. & N. to continue its work of creating "Marvels of Progress". To do so it must earn sufficient to enable it to secure money from the financial markets. To earn, the L. & N. must receive your loyal support in the way of passenger and freight patronage. If you, the people, will favor us with your patronage we will exert every effort to merit your good will through the service we render.

WHAT THE EXTENSION SERVICE IS

By J. F. Duggar, Director of Alabama Experiment Station and Extension Service.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Extension work is, in brief, the giving of information on practical subjects to farmers and their families in the counties in which they live. The word service is sometimes used to indicate that the college and experiment station men are attempting to serve the entire public while doing extension work.

For a number of years the Alabama Polytechnic Institute has done a certain amount of extension work through correspondence, farmers' institutes, etc.

As recently organized under the provisions of the Smith-Lever Act recently passed by Congress, the Extension Service in Alabama includes all the demonstration agents, as well as a part of the time of some of the specialists of the College and Experiment Station.

Among the activities of the Extension Service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute are these: Farm demonstration work; boys' corn and pig clubs; girls' canning clubs; women agents in a number of counties; extension work with hog cholera and dairying; giving assistance in organizing farmers into clubs for more advantageous marketing of their products; rendering assistance and advice by publications and correspondence relative to diversification of crops, better farming, livestock, horticulture, insects and diseases of plants and animals.

It is hoped that the Legislature will soon make it possible for these and other lines of extension work to be conducted in every county in the State. This will be done if the present Legislature makes the necessary appropriation to secure for Alabama the annual increase in funds that Congress has agreed in the Smith-Lever Act to make to every State that contributes to extension work as much money as the annual increase offered by Congress in that Act.

Half Your Living Without Money Cost

A right or wrong start in 1915 will make or break most farmers in the Cotton States. We are all facing a crisis on cotton. Cotton credit is upset. The supply merchant cannot advance supplies on 1915 cotton. You must do your best to produce on your own acres the food and grain supplies that have made up most of your store debt in the past.

A good piece of garden ground, rightly planted, rightly tended and kept planted the year round, can be made to pay half your living. It will save you more money than you made on the best five acres of cotton you ever grew! But it must be a real garden, and not the mere one-planting patch in the spring and fall.

Hastings' 1915 Seed Book tells all about the right kind of a money-saving garden and the vegetables to put in it. It tells about the field crops as well and shows you the clear road to real farm prosperity, comfort and independence. IT'S FREE. Send for it today to H. G. HASTINGS & CO., Atlanta, Ga.—Advt.

Most Skin Trouble Readily Overcome

The Active Principle of a Famous Remedy Works Wonders.

Many people have marveled the way S. S. S. overcomes skin troubles. The explanation is the fact that S. S. S. works in the blood and the blood is really a most intricate and extraordinary mass of arteries and veins.

When you come to realize that the skin and the flesh beneath are composed of a network of tiny blood vessels you solve the mystery.

There are wonderful medicinal properties in S. S. S. that follow the course of the blood streams just as naturally as the most nourishing food elements.

It is really a remarkable remedy. It contains one ingredient, the active purpose of which is to stimulate the tissues to the healthy selection of its own essential nutriment. And the medicinal elements of this matchless blood purifier are just as essential to well-balanced health as the nutritious elements of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food.

Not one drop of minerals or drugs is used in its preparation. Ask for S. S. S. and just insist upon having it. And if you desire skillful advice and counsel upon any matter concerning the blood and skin, write to the Medical Department, The Swift Specific Co., 529 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Do not allow some zealous clerk's eloquence over something "just as good" as S. S. S. to fool you with the same old mineral drugs. Beware of all substitutes. Insist upon S. S. S.

SUGGESTIVE CROPPING PLAN FOR TWO-HORSE FARM

By J. F. Duggar, Director of Alabama Experiment Station and Extension Service.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

There is no one best plan. The following is offered with a hope that it may contain suggestions that farmers can incorporate into the plans for their individual farms. This is based on 50 acres of cultivated land to the two-horse team—in addition to a permanent pasture:

Acres.
- 20 corn with cowpeas or velvet beans between rows;
- 15 cotton;
- 8 oats;
- 2 sweet potatoes;
- 2 Spanish peanuts—successive plantings;
- 1 early sorghum for hay;
- 1 early cowpeas for producing seed for the late crop;
- ½ for garden and truck crops;
- ½ sugar cane or sorghum for syrup.

If four acres of the oat land be inclosed it may be used for a winter pasture. If so, at least five pounds of rape may be harrowed in among the growing oats. Crabgrass, etc., in the same inclosure may constitute an extra summer pasture, or peanuts or soy beans may be planted here for hogs. At least four acres of the oat land should produce two crops; the second one may be cowpeas. In the central and southern parts of the cotton belt a very early variety of cowpeas (such as New Era) planted early will mature seed in July, or just in time for planting a late crop for hay.

If eight acres have not been planted in fall oats most of that area may be planted in cowpeas for seed or hay, or a part in additional peanuts.

MARBURY HIGH SCHOOL VS. CO. HIGH SCHOOL

Exciting Basket Ball Game Between Girls Teams

Last Saturday the girls of the Chilton County High School went to Marbury to engage the girls of the Marbury High School in a Basket Ball game.

They returned to Clanton Saturday afternoon with a report of victory by a close margin, and bearing a miniature shroud to the last memory of Marbury's five.

The following article from Marbury, relative to the game was published in Sunday's Age-Herald:

"Marbury, March 6.—An interesting and hotly contested game of basket ball was played here this afternoon between the Clanton High school team and the Marbury institute team, which resulted 23 to 22 in favor of the Clanton team."

But we receive the following communication from Marbury relative to the game:

"Marbury,—The Basket Ball game between the girls of the Marbury High School and the Chilton County High School Saturday was exciting.

At the end of the first quarter the home girls were running away wrth the visitors with a score of 14 to 5 in spite af the 'win at any cost" attitude of the referee for the visitors. In the second quarter this state of mind seemed to reach a frenzy, fouls were called right and left to the evident astonisoment of her own team as well as Marbury's girls. The ball was kept continually in the visitors' hands for free throws."

We do not understand how both teams claim victory. We merely publish the above by courtesy to the request of the players and the Marbury correspondent.

EVERGREEN DISTRICT

Health of this community is generally very good.

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely under the management of Brother C. A. Taylor as Superintendent.

The singing at Mr. T. A. Prickett's last Saturday night was fine.

We learn that there is to be a Sunday school organized in the new school building across the creek. We wish them good luck in the work.

Joe Wells and Miss Bessie were visiting near Clanton last week.

There is to be a singing at W. S. Beaird's on Saturday night before the third Sunday. We are expecting Prof. Robinson from Corinth to be with us. There will be singing at the schoolhouse the third Sunday at nine o'clock, and preaching at eleven.

With good luck to The Union-Banner and its many readers, I will close for this time.

SOME OLD RECORDS BY MR. J. N. SCOTT

Story Told of Some Happenings Years Ago in Chilton County.

Editor Union-Banner:

It is real amusing to see how hard it is to get some people to break away from their old way of doing things, especially some Democrats in this county.

But I want to say that the Legislature at Montgomery has a good spirit and the right view of things, by letting the majority rule, and endeavoring to cut down the expenses of the government. Those lawmakers will add many a star to their crowns by trying to get the state out of debt. Everybody knows that it is bad business to get in debt, and it invariably shows bad management.

Mr. Editor, I remember 28 years ago the Democrats of this county had things going their way. Callen was then Probate Judge, with a full house of officers, and they took all the money that was paid into the treasury to pay their salaries. Court certificates were not worth five cents in the dollar. In that year R. M. Honeycutt was elected by the majority of the people, but was counted out. Six years later he was elected again, and the Democrats attempted to count him out; but the people met at Clanton to see that he got the office that was given him by the majority of votes.

Yes I remember that old plank court house that you spoke about last week being torn down. It was the original Democratic stand. But Honeycutt occupied it for six years and got the county a little out of debt. But by being independent he got defeated, when the people elected S. M. Adams Probate Judge over him. During his term the new court house was built. His administration was good, but he let the Democrats fill him with their dope and he finally turned his back on the hill billies who elected him. Next time he came out as the nominee of the Democratic party. The peogle put out L. H. Reynolds against him and Adams withdrew. Then the Democrats put up E. B. Deason, but Reynolds was elected by a big majority.

So he took charge with a full house of officers. The county was in debt on account of building the new court house. There was not a decent bridge of any kind in the county. The administration went to work and paid the county out of debt, built six steel bridges in the county, and a number of wooden ones, and constructed the new wing to the court house. Then when we attended court we could get money for our certificates; taxes were lowered during his term, and when he went out of office he left nine thousand dollars in the treasury.

Now boys, look around and see how things are now. Look what a change that has come about in the last four years. The nine thousand dollars that was left in the treasury is gone, and besides the county is about seventy-five thousand dollars in debt. It is not able to buy lumber enough to put a water box across the road, say nothing of building a steel bridge. No wonder boys, that you rolled up such a majority in the last election.

Say, Mr. Editor, what about those fellows who got up those bills in the Legislature? They must surely be wanting a job of some kind. These fellows are not Democrats; they are monarchists, for Democrats believe in the majority rule.

Now, Mr. Democrat, if you ever expect to accomplish anything, you must do right. You need not try to take an undermining advantage of the people, for your sins will find you out.

Politically speaking, we had a great revival last November, and many were brought into the fold. But stay with us boys till next November, and we will run the old ship back into the sea of prosperity.

Respectfully,

J. N. Scott,

Jemison, Ala., March 8, 1915.

MITCHELL B. MANNING

The man whose name appears at the head of this writing was born at Prattville, Autauga county, Alabama, March 8, 1848. He moved with his parents to Rockford, Ala., when he was about four years old. They lived at Rockford for several years, then moved about four miles east on a farm where he grew to manhood and married Miss Beatrice Lauderdale, Dec. 18, 1870. They had born to them eleven children, eight boys and three girls, nine of whom, six boys and three daughters, together with his widow survive him.

James William Manning died June 22, 1900, at the age of 25 years, and Grover died April 24, 1902, at the age of 14 years, leaving D. O., A. R., A. B., M., G. E., and E. M., of the boys living, and Jeanette White, wife of W. T. White, Laura Webb, wife of Sidney Webb, and Miss Lona, the three girls all living.

Bro. Manning lived a successful life. He lived practically all his life in the same community, had the confidence of his neighbors, was a christian and member and a deacon in the Missionary Baptist church at Corinth, where he lived a faithful and an efficient member. He had his churches interest in his heart and did much for the moral and uplift of his community.

He was elected a member of the Commissioners Court in 1882. He was elected and filled the office of Justice of Peace in his precinct 13 years, and served his county in these capacities with credit to himself and the county. He had accumulated a sufficiency of this world in 1904; he decided he could live easier and more comfortably somewhere else than his old home, and bought land and moved to Weogufka and lived there until 1912, when he moved near Thorsby in Chilton county. It was one of his visits to his old home in this county to look after his renters when about two miles south of Sylacauga where he met his untimely death at the hands of unknown Ruffians, who assassinated him and drug him several yards from the road. Fortunately he was found soon after his horrible death and his body prepared for burial and brought to Rockford and buried in the old cemetery east of town.

This obituary would have been prepared sooner but the family hoped that the Ruffians would have been caught and justice dealt to them that the facts might appear in connection with it.

A LETTER FROM MR. CHAS. COOPER

For several days I have been trying to trace the origion of that certain "bunch" of would be rulers of Chilton county. The principles inculcated in the above bunch must have undoubtedly had its origin at sometime in the distant past.

In reading the history of the "Dark Days of the United States" we notice one character who seemed to possess this same principle. This man's name is one that nearly everyone is familiar with, and his life is looked on with coutempt by all liberty-loving, patriotic citizens.

Mr. Arnold is the man whom we all wish had never been born or died when he was young.

When we look at the life of Arnold, and then think of the thing this certain "bunch" have been trying to pull off, do we not see a certain amount of similarity?

Arnold has been given up to be the greatest traitor that has ever trod the soil of the American continent. And the actions recently of a few of our citizens seems to be that of a traitorous kind.

In reading the sacred text we find that Daniel had to contend with a bunch who were possessed with the same principle.

The life of Daniel is one we all enjoy reading.

When Daniel was carried as a captive to the foreign land he never forgot the God of all the earth. He won favor in the eyes of the kings of the foreign land and finally became a great ruler.

The natives of Daniel's new home became jealous of him, and decided that they would put him out of business. They finally decided that they could find no fault in him, unless it was something pertaining to his God. So then they approached King Darius and said that all the presidents of the kingdom, the governors, the princes, the coun, sellors and the captains have consulted together to establish a royal statute and to make a firm decree that whosoever shall ask a petition of any God or man for thirty days save of thee O King, he shall be cast into the dens of the lions. They then ask the King to sign the writing that it be not changed according to the laws of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

The edict became a law but however it never reached Daniel, as he continued to pray daily to the living God, and did not bow to the mandates of this new law and of course he was cast into the den of lions. Then said he unto the king, O king live forever, my God has sent his angel and hath shut the mouths of the lions, that they have not hurt me. Daniel's accusors were then put into the lions den and whre soon destroyed.

The bills gotten up by that "bunch" in Chilton, are not as drastic as those gotten uy by Daniel's enemys but they do in a measure pertake of the same nature.

Those bills are not dead yet, they are quietly reposing in the archives of the capitol.

When honest people sleep the other kind creep.

The promoters of those bills were no doubt satisfied that they would be defeated if brought before the legislature recently, so that is why they made an excuse and got the time of hearing suspended. They hoped that by doing this we would go to sleep and they would have clear sailing.

In conclusion my advise to the people is, that we keep an eye ever open and a tongue that is not dumb and a heart that will never to sorrw succumb.

Very truly,

Chas. Cooper.

Thoughts of An Idle Hour.

I Sometimes wonder how many people ever pause long enough to give a single thought to the "courtesies due the press."

Probably one in ten—possibly not more that one in twenty..

And yet it is a matter which should be given serious consideration by every person who has at heart the welfare of the community.

The editor of the local paper is expected to faithfully chronicle the events of interest in the community. It is demanded of him by the public, by the people who pay for the paper, by those who constitute the citizenship of the community, and if he fails in this duty the burden of censure falls upon his shoulders alone. The public accepts no excuse.

Editors are only human and are not gifted with second sight. They cannot tell what is happening beyond their range of hearing or vision, although they are popularly supposed to know everything and a little besides.

They must depend upon their eyes and ears for every item of news that appears in the paper, and in this they should have the loyal cooperation of every resident.

Courtesies extended to the editor of the local paper is as bread cast upon the waters. It bears fruit in many fold.

Churches, societies, clubs, organizations of every nature expect the editor to push their causes along, to give them advance publicity, and after the events to place them in proper light before the public at large.

He is expected to boost everything and everybody in the community, to advertise the town and its advantages, and to guard its welfare in all ways.

He of course is willing enough, but it costs him time and money to do it, and in return he is entitled to every reasonable courtesy that can be extended to him. It is the universal law of "courtesy to the press."

Of course no well bred newspaper man would think of accepting an invitation to a private social affair unless he felt sure his presence was really desired for reasons of friendship.

But public and semi-public affairs are on a different plane. The editor is entitled to an invitation and tickets for himself and lady, and this rule is universally recognized, though often forgotten.

In large cities no affair of importance is ever given without tickets being sent to the press. The result is shown in the news columns.

And what applies to the large city applies equally to the smaller town—or it should so apply.

Every organization which gives a public affair of any nature should remember the press—if it expects the press to remember it in the proper manner.

Every church which gives a "supper" should send along its complimentary tickets—in fact, he is entitled to this courtesy in relation to any public or semi-public affair that is given,

His presence is highly desirable in order that he may secure at first hand the data necessary to a proper reference to the affair in the news columns of his paper.

Editors all know this—but they, as a rule, hesitate to ask for courtesies which should be voluntarily extended.

And the public, always well meaning enough, is too prone to forget.

Thus it is that the public at large—the readers of the paper—suffer for the delicacy of the editor and the thoughtlessness of others.

It might be different, and it OUGHT to be different.

And in time it may even BE DIFFERENT—if the people will only pause long enough to place themselves in the editor's position and DO A LITTLE THINKING.

It may be that the editor of this paper will be too diffident to publish this article, but I hope not—for I know that every well meaning person in the community will agree that I am right.

Every man in this county who is worth killing ought to feel ashamed of a fellow who will make a public statement that Chilton is a stench in the nose of all civilized American citizens. We do not blame him for not wanting the public to know his name. He certainly must be ashamed of himself too.

Everybody Knows Why Everybody Else Trades at This Store

The reason is simple---very simple---direct and to the point.

It is because we give you better values for your money than any other store.

It is because we never sell an article that we can not recommend or would not use in our own home.

It is because we know that the best way to get your dollar is to give you the worth of that dollar in returns.

Now take a look at these special offerings we are making this week. Where could you duplicate them?

Clanton Mercantile Company
Clanton, Alabama.

We are glad "One of the People," said he did not know of a single loyal Democrat who had been to Montgomery to intercede for the passage of those bills. We have believed all the time that the true Democrats of the county were opposed to the measures, end are glad to know that somebody else thinks so. But "One of the People" says he is a Democrat; and we guess those "Democrats" who have been hanging around the legislature say they are Democrats also. Now which is which, brother? Who swallowed the golf ball?

"One of the People," made a big spiel in the Clanton Press last week about the Bull Moosers going to Montgomery, to dictate to the Legislature in regard to those Chilton county bills. Now Mr. One of the People, we were not so much afraid that the Legislature would not do the right thing. We believe they will, according to the facts in hand. The delegation went there to place these facts before them, and to correct the false impressions that might have been created by some of your disloyal Democrats who had been hanging around there putting bugs in the ears of some of the legislators.

That fellow who was writing in the Clanton Press last week said it seemed to him that a lot of fellows did not care how they get the hard earned dollars, just so they got them. Just so my friend. That is what we have been telling you all the time. That is just the platform that your good Democratic brethren have been riding here in Chilton county for the past few rounds. That is way they are advocating those bills in the Legislature; they know they can never again get up the face to ask the people for an office, and if they did they wouldn't get a smell. Therefore they are trying to institute a scheme whereby they can get some appointive pie. Of course they don't care how they get it, "jes so they git it."

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

Genuine Merit Required tn Win the People's Confidence

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many produdts that are extensilely advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfil the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particular- to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact that it fulfils almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder diseases, corrects uniary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcles Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghampton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention the Clanton Union-Banner.

Gets Right Twist On Rheumatism

Makes Short Work of Cleaning Out Your Entire System—Aches and Pains Go Fast.

In S. S. S. You Get a Twist on Rheumatism that Settles It.

Many a rheumatic sufferer has been to the drug store for a bottle of S. S. S. and been handed something claimed to be "Just as good." Truly, to ask for bread and be given a stone is still in practice. If you are troubled with rheumatism in any form be sure to use S. S. S, and note its wonderful influence.

S. S. S. has the peculiar action of soaking through the intestines directly into the blood. In five minutes its influence is at work in every artery, vein and tiny capillary. Every membrane, every organ of the body, every emunctory becomes in effect a filter to strain the blood of impurities. The stimulating properties of S. S. S. compel the skin, liver, bowels, kidneys, bladder to all work to the one end of casting out every irritating, every pain-inflicting atom of poison; it dislodges by irrigation all accumulations in the joints, causes acid accretions to dissolve, renders them neutral and scatters those peculiar formations in the nerve centers that cause such mystifying and often baffling rheumatic pains.

And best of all this remarkable remedy is welcome to the weakest stomach. If you have drugged yourself until your stomach is nearly paralyzed, you will be astonished to find that S. S. S. gives no sensation but goes right to work. This is because it is a pure vegetable infusion, is taken naturally into your blood just as pure air is inhaled naturally into your lungs.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. today, and ask for S. S. S.

You may depend upon it that the store that sells you what you ask for is a good place to trade. Write to the Swift Specific Co., 204 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their Book on Rheumatism.

CLANTON WATERWORKS IN OPERATION

The city waterworks of Clanton is now in operation. The water was turned into the mains Tuesday afternoon and a number of demonstrations on main street proved plentiful water and abundant pressure for hose activities. It is hoped that if nothing else, the operation of waterworks will check the fire rage that grasps Clanton every winter, and has been unusually prominent here for the past few months.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

"Marvel of Progress"

The construction company which undertakes to build a railroad "Against the grain of the country"—that is, over the mountains and valleys instead of seeking the course of least resistance—must—

Bridge rivers of doubt, tunnel mountains of obstacles, traverse quagmires of despair, stand ready to expend millions of dollars.

Consequently the course of least resistance was for a number of years the short sighted rule, and not the the broad minded exception.

Small consideration was given the fact that hundreds of miles must be traversed to reach a point not far distant on an air line. Greater mileage meant a greater expense, and this great expense would endure during the active transportation life of the railroad so constructed.

"A Marvel of Progress" is the way in which the recently completed double track of the L. & N. from Birmingham to Decatur, Ala., has been designated.

It is a marvel of progress because it enables one engine to do the work formerly required of two engines.

The newly completed work gave lower grades, thus reducing cost of operation; took out reverse curves, filled in trestles, leveled mountains, thus increasing speed of operation and insuring greater safety to life and property.

The passenger can now travel over this section in perfect ease and comfort where formerly reverse curves and heavy grades caused rough riding.

This "Marvel of Progress" was planned and constructed by the L. & N. for use now and during generations yet unborn. It is but one of the many indications of the policy of the L. & N. to build for the future, to supply permanent improvements that will be handed down as a heritage of progress to our children and our children's children.

By its plan of construction the cost was not levied against any one generation. The present and future generations will enjoy the benefits, but the payments will be equally distributed through the process of bond issues.

It is the policy of the L. & N. to continue its work of creating "Marvels of Progress". To do so it must earn sufficient to enable it to secure money from the financial markets. To earn, the L. & N. must receive your loyal support in the way of passenger and freight patronage. If you, the people, will favor us with your patronage we will exert every effort to merit your good will through the service we render.

The long talked of belled buzzard was in this community one or two days last week.

Mrs. J. D. Atchison of Cox's visited relatives here last week.

The debating society will meet at the new school house next Saturday night. Subject will be resolved, "That the negro should be in a government to himself." Several speakers on the program.

Mr. A. J. Langston and family visited relatives at Randolph Saturday and Sunday.

Little Clarence Smitherman is still on the sick list.

The singing at the Chapel last Sunday afternoon was good. The songs and music of the church always have an attraction Although the weather was cold, still the attendance was good.

That was a striking thought gathered from last Sunday's lesson; The danger and foolishness of trying to be like other people, illustrated in the history of the Jews and King Saul.

We can recall churches once really spiritual, but alas! they wanted to be like other people, now they seem just a formal organization. They carried out their desires and reaped a harvest of indifference. The remedy is to turn from such a course.

We think it a good plan of the Commissioners court to publish their vote on important measures, like they did last week. Let the people see how they vote on the expenditures of the county. We are sure a great majority were pleased with the vote of Herrod and Waldrup on the Maplesville road. Yes, build the road, but pay debts first. How can we ever have independence individually or collectively while burdened with debt? High taxes, panic, low tariff and debt. What a combination.

Men Pay Homage to Mother's Friend

"I am not surprised to observe the number of men who come into the store to purchase 'Mother's Friend,'" remarked a leading druggist.

The expectant mother if she hasn't heard of this splendid embrocation is probably not reading the papers to much extent. And if she does it is a happy thought to send hubby to the drug store. "Mother's Friend" is applied externally over the abdominal muscles.

It is a gentle, soothing lubricant, penetrates to the fine network of nerves beneath the skin and has a marked tendency to relieve the muscular strain to which these broad, flat abdominal muscles are subjected. The cords, tendons and ligaments are thus permitted to stretch without the corresponding surface strain so often involved during the period of expectation. And particularly to young mothers is this remedial application of inestimable value since in thus keeping the muscles firm but pliant it enables them to go through the ordeal without laceration of the epidermis often the case when this gentle attention is neglected.

"Mother's Friend" is highly recommended by a host of women. Write Bradfield Regulator Co., 408 Lamar Bldg. Atlanta, Ga., and we will send you a valuable little book to expectant mothers.

VEGETABLES FOR PLANTING DURING FEBRUARY

By Earnest Walker, Horticulturist Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Home gardens for the farmer are an absolute necessity, and farmers should begin now to establish the garden. The following plants should be gotten in now. If not already in, an asparagus bed should be planted. Now is the time to plant cabbage, carrots, kohl-rabi, mustard, onion sets, peas and spinach. We may have a little cold weather that will injure some of these, but it is far better to take the risk and have them started.

Parsley, onion sets and lettuce should be sown in the hot bed for transplanting into the garden. About February 1st, egg plants, peppers and tomatoes should be sown in the hot-bed to be transplanted in the garden after danger of frost is over. About February 15th in this section of the state, earlier in South Alabama and later in North Alabama, lettuce, onion seeds, radishes and beets should be planted in the open, as they will then stand any cold that is likely to come.

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND MAKES YOU SICK

Acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver and you lose a day's work

There's no reason why a person should take sidkening, salivating calomel when 50 cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegitable liquid which will start your liver just a surely as calomel, but it doesn't make yon sick and cannot salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfadtly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks yous bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.

Haydn and Church Music.

Carpani, the poet, once asked his friend, Haydn, "how it happened that his church music was almost always of an animating, cheerful and even gay description." To this Hadyn's answer was: "I cannot make it otherwise. I write according to the thoughts which I feel. When I think upon God my heart is so full of joy that the notes dance and leap, as it were, from my pen, and since God has given me a cheerful heart, it will be easily forgiven me that I serve him with a cheerful spirit."

Keeping It Up.

Shortly after the death of one of England's great poets one of his devoted admirers visited the little village where the poet had lived and died. The stranger entered into conversation with an old man, a native of the village, remarking sadly on the death of the poet. "Aye, aye," answered the old man encouragingly; "still I mak' no doobt but the wife'll carry the business on."

NEW SALEM

Health of this community is fairly good at present, except Mr. Jimmie Williams. He came home from the infirmary on the 11th inst., and he is doing fine considering his operation.

Everything seems to be moving along nicely through this section. Farmers are very busy planting corn and getting their ground prepared while the weather is good.

A crowd gathered at Mr. D. H. Gentry's Friday night and kindly surprised him with a musical entertainment. All seemed to enjoy themselves fine.

Some of our young folks from around here attended the entertainment at Mr. W. H. Foshee's on Saturday night of the 6th inst. and reported an enjoyable time.

The speaking at Cross Roads Friday p.m. was very good.

Prof. C. N. Oden spent a few days with some folks last week.

Misses Lizzie Oden and Elruna Sunberg went to Thorsby last Thursday shopping.

JOHN OAKS HURT IN RAILROAD ACCIDENT

As he was getting off a passenger train at Falakto last Sunday evening, Mr. John Oaks, a well known citizen of this county, happened to a rather serious accident, and sustained severe injuries about the body and head.

Information regarding the occurrence gives it that the train did not stop for him to get off, and in making an effort to alight he was thrown to the ground with much force.

After he was hurt the train stopped, and he was picked up and carried to an infirmary in Montgomery for treatment.

Although his injuries were severe, it is not thought that they will prove fatal.

FLOUR MILL POSSIBLE FOR CHILTON COUNTY

Grow Your Wheat At Home And Have Better Biscuit At A Lower Price.

Would you like to have a first class flour mill built within reach of you?

Would you not like to raise two or three acres of wheat, in order to avoid having to pay those high prices for your flour?

If you would like to have a flour mill within your reach, kindly drop me a card stating that you do. Also if you have any wheat planted now, state the number of acres you have.

I have a plan whereby a flour mill can be built, provided however, the farmers will co-operate with me. These terms of co-operation are within the reach of all. There is not a renter in the county who would be unable to comply with the requirements.

It is a positive fact that wheat can be grown here. Mr. G. W. Davis of our community has been raising it here for a number of years. He tells me that he raises eighteen bushels per acre.

Last year the Marbury Lumber Co. raised over fifty bushels on one acre, but I think that an exception to the general rule, but to make fifteen or twenty bushels to the acre is very easily done.

This proposition is being gotten up by the writer who is a native born "Chiltonite," with the purpose in view of making it possible for us to have biscuits three times a day, without having to pay the merchant eight or ten dollars per barrel.

If this appeals to you, kindly advise me and I will arrange to make the matter clear to you, either in person or by mail.

A NOTED LECTURER TO APPEAR IN MONTGOMERY

We are advised that Pastor Charles T. Russell of the Brooklyn and London Tabernacles, the widely noted Bible Lecturer, is to appear in Montgomery on Monday March 22nd. Pastor Russell is the author of numerous books and other writings on the Scriptures, some of which are printed in as many as twenty-seven languages and are sold in all parts of the world. In fact his books are said to have attained a wider circulation than any other ever written, the Bible alone excepted.

As is Pastor Russell's invariable costum the announcements read, "Seats free—No collections". In all his forty years of service as Pastor and Lecturer he has taken a collection. His approaching visit to Montgomery affords an opportunity for many to hear, FREE, this remarkable man. He has the message of the hour, a message for the people. His subject on this occasion will be "ARMAGEDDON", dealing with the social, political and financial outlook in Christendom today, and the Scriptural forcast of the outcome. All should hear him.

The team winning this debate will then prepare to debate against the team winning a similar debate between the Bibb County and the Shelby County High Schools. The second debate will be on a different subject, and will be held a month or more later. The winners of the second debate will then go to Tuscaloosa for the final debates for the Championship of the State. A very interesting debate is promised for next Friday night.

In order to pay the expenses of the visiting team and the judges, the small sum of 15 cents will be charged as an admission fee to this debate. Children under 15 years will be charged 10 cents.

CHILTON COUNTY COMMUNITY FAIRS PLANNED

Chilton county has always believed in diversification. It has had more diversified politics than all the balance of the state combined. Last year it set the pace by giving several community fairs, the first ever held in the south. This year they propose to hold six or seven others, and each community will have its blue ribbons; and everything will be free. The county fair will then be the culmination of the whole affair. Saturday the county set another pace for the balance of the state to follow. A meeting was called for the organization of the district school trustees and teachers. They invited Superintendent Feagin and Professor Hobdy of the educational department to be present and address them. The meeting was well attended. They organized by the election of Judson Strock of Verbena as chairman; Howard Roper of Maplesville, secretary-treasurer, and the officers together with Superintendent W. T. Bean, and C. C. Slaton, Principal of the County High School, and E. E. Upchurch, Trustee, were made a committee to draw a constitution and by-laws. The purpose of this organization, the first of its kind in the state, is to get co-operation and develop the educatianal idea which will be the means of furthering the diversification plan that has recently been stressed. Messrs. Feagin and Hobdy came back elated at the success of the meeting. It is but the beginning of a general movement along that line, which is not only an innovation, but is a forward step of great merit.—Montgomery Journal.

EVERGREEN DISTRICT

We have been having some pretty weather lately, and the farmers are beginning to plant some corn.

We had a good attendance at Sunday School last Sunday.

There was a large crowd at the singing at Mr. B. C. Ledbetter's last Sunday night.

We thank Mr. Codway and Mrs. Shaw for their visit to Evergreen last Friday. Mrs. Shaw made an interesting talk on the tomato club, and Mr. Conway was talking about farming. If the people of the county would do as they tell us, times would be better. Raise your meat and bread at home, and then you can de better. We want them to come again.

W. S. Beaird visited at M. P. Robinson's near Thorsby last Saturday.

Miss Cora Lett went to Montgomery last Saturday and returned Sunday evening.

Mr. Lett is in the infirmary at Montgomery this week.

There will be a singing at W. S. Beaird's next Saturday night.

DISTRICT CONVENTION

There will be a District Convention at Walnut Creek, about three miles east of Clanton, on April 2nd. We hope to see all of the schools of all denominations represented at this convention. The program will be published next week.

SOME THOUGHTS OF AN IDLE HOUR.

What is Gossip?

Webster tells us that a gossip is a person "who runs about telling and hearing news."

But Webster was a chivalrous gentleman, and times have changed since his day. His definition of a gossip has become weak and lacking in descriptive force.

But common consent is more up to date—more accurate and just in its verdict—and by common consent the professional gossip has been designated as a thing in human shape with more mouth than brains.

The small town gossip can do more harm in one hour than a whole community of people can overcome in a lifetime of effort.

The gossip is the breeder of scandal, the wrecker of reputations and the blighter of hopes.

The gossip is the buzzard of society, the bane of humanity and the advance agent of the devil.

The gossip has but one creed, and that is the crucifixion of innocence and the perpetuation of infamy,

The tongue of the gossip is so forked it would bring the blush of shame to the face of that other reptile of the split tongue species—the snake.

The gossip lives but to revel in the slime of insinuations and innuendoes and calumnies.

Scandal is the bread of life to the gossip, and the greatest desire and most intense longing of the professional is for "more gossip."

The stock in trade of the gossip is like the rainbow—it has no end. It just keeps on going, and enlarging, and crucifying until it blights everything it encounters.

It is like the breath of hell upon the fair cheek of an angel

The gossip's tongue begins to wag in the morning, wags all day, keeps on wagging into the night, and, like cascarets, wags while you sleep.

The gossip construes the idle pastime of the innocent maiden into the intrigues of a subtle and poisoned brain.

If a man looks twice at a woman, the gossip rips his character to shreds and nails his hide to the wall of obloquy.

The gossip meddles in the private affairs of everybody within reach of the vitriolic tongue, peers benind the curtains of every home, and erects skeletons in closets where none exist.

The tongue of the gossip is the most poisonous and deadly instrument of torture in existence, for it has no regard for the truth, veracity, or for human suffering.

The poisounous reptile strikes, and inflicts a mercifully quick death.

But the gossip maims, and lacerates, and crucifies until the human soul is seared with its burden of agony.

When God created the heavens and the earth He inflicted humanity with the presence of snakes and other slimy and cozy and pestiferous and odoriferous objects of loathing.

And He also inflicted us with the gossip—for what reason only He in His superior wisdom can tell.

Is there a hereafter for the gossip?

And if so, WHERE IS IT?

Heaven won't have them, and hell don't want them.

Are they to pass down through the ages of eternity as a people without a final plane of abode?

Or are they, like the reptile, a thing without a soul?

The question is too deep for the human mind to solve.

But perhaps the gossip can tell.

Is our county of Chilton such a stench in the nose of all civilized Americans? Have we retrograded to such a mean pace of activities?

Well, the only way we can adequately judge the matter is not in our own estimations, but in the opinion of the outside world. For this we wish to cite our readers to what the Montgomery Journal of last Sunday had to say about Chilton County. The article is reproduced in this issue of the paper.

A FLOUR MILL FOR CHILTON COUNY

We are pleased to state that we have gotten on trail of at least a possibility, if not probability, of a flour mill for this county. Mr Charles Cooper of Mountain Creek was in Clanton last Saturvay, and outlined a proposition he has figured out, whereby he will be able to put up a mordern mill for making wheat into flour. He has an article in this issue of this paper in regard to the matter, and we want to insist that every farmer who reads it, and any others too, drop Mr. Cooper a card and tell him that you are interested in his proposition; then he will make full explanations of it to you directly in person.

If our farmers will plant wheat enough to justify a good mill in the county, it would enable everyone to have plenty of biscuit to eat, and sit down contentedly and defy the high prices which manufactures are demand- for their product.

The action of the educational meeting at the high school last Saturday, in making the organization of our county teachers and trustees a permanent thing, was an initial one along this line. No other county in the state has done such a thing. The matter received the hearty approval of Mr. Feagin and Mr. Hobdy at its beginning and they can no doubt see in the future great good to come from it. Our trustees and teachers are to be commended for their interest in this work.

Chilton county is ahead of the rest of the game in the matter of holding communiy fairs. She held the first of these fairs last year that have ever been conducted in the south. Next season there will be even more of these community enterprises, culminating in the county fair, and much more interest will be shown than was in last year. People will see more readily the advantage of them now, than they did at first.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

Genuine Merit Required tn Win the People's Confidence

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many produdts that are extensilely advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfil the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particular- to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact that it fulfils almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder diseases, corrects uniary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcles Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghampton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention the Clanton Union-Banner.

All Blood Disorders Quickly Driven Away

Astonishing Results With the Greatest Blood Purifier Ever Discovered.

Strength, Power, Accomplishment are all Typified in S. S. S.

Some blood disorders become deeply rooted in the glands and tissues, and the mistake is made of resorting to drastic drugs. These only aggravate by causing other and worse troubles. A host of people know this to be true. They know from painful experience.

To get right down into where the blood is vitiated requires S. S. S. the greatest blood purifier ever discovered.

This remarkable remedy contains one ingredient, the active purpose of which is to stimulate the tissues to the healthy selection of its own essential nutriment and the medicinal elements of this matchless blood purifier are just as essential to well balanced health as the nutritious elements of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food.

Not only this, but if from the presence of some disturbing poison there is a local or general interference of nutrition to cause boils, carbuncles, abscesses and kindred troubles, S. S. S. so directs the local cells that this poison is rejected and eliminated from their presence.

Then, too, S. S. S. has such specific stimulation on these local cells as to preserve their mutual welfare and a proper relative assistance to each other.

In a very brief time S. S. S. has the reconstructive process so under control that remarkable changes are obseved. All eruptive places heal, mysterious pains and aches have disappeared, and from head to foot there is a conscious sensation of renewed health.

From the fact that S. S. S. is purely a botanical preparation, it is accepted by the weakest stomach and has great tonic influence. Not one drop of drugs or minerals is used in its preparation. Ask for S. S. S. and insist upon having it. And if you desire skillful advice upon any matter concerning the blood and skin write to The Swift Specific Co., 205 Swift Bldg, Atlanta, Ga. Do not allow some zealous clerk to larrup the atmosphere in eloquence over something "Just as good" as S. S. S. Beware of all counterfeits.

Our Advertising

Two and a half years ago the assertion was made that intimacy of understanding and mutual confidence did not exist between the L. & N. Railroad and the people.

Acting on the advice of various public spirited, broad-minded citizens, anxious to see the rich natural resources of the territory developed, the L. & N. decided to conduct certain advertising in the public press.

Previous to this decision, the charge had been made that the L. & N. conducted its business in secrecy and without regard to informing the general public.

After two and a half years of honest, open advertising—publicity designed to inform the people of its plans and service—the L. & N. is accused of an attempt to manufacture false public sentiment and to venalize the press.

The charge that the L. & N. was conducting sinister operations in secret was made by the same demagogic interest which now asserts that the L. & N. is seeking to deceive the people and venalize the press.

The L. & N. states its full conviction in the power of the press and its confidence in the value of newspaper publicity.

The L. & N. takes a positive position on two propositions:

First, that the L. & N. would not under any circumstances seek to venalize the press of Alabama, and,

Second, that the L. & N. could not intimidate or venalize the press of Alabama.

There are many business enterprises in Alabama spending far more than is being spent by the L. & N. in legitimate newspaper advertising, such as is being conducted by the L. & N.

The L. & N. has not paid, and will not pay, to any newspaper anywhere, any sum of money in excess of the regular rate charged by a newspaper for advertising service.

In the opinion of the L. & N. there is not in Alabama a newspaper which would demean itself by accepting an exorbitant rate from a public utility corporation, and if there was such a newspaper the L. & N. would refuse to do business with that newspaper.

This statement is made in justice to the L. & N. and in justice to the press of Alabama with which the L. & N. does business.

Any insinuation that the L. & N. is engaged in any such nefarious practice is a libel on the L. & N. and an unjust reflection on the moral integrity of the press of Alabama.

CALOMEL DYNAMITES A SLUGGISH LIVER

Crashes into your bile, making you sick and you lose a day's work

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causes cramping and nausea

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is a harmless vegetable subsitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you wiff be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.

Joyful Anticipation of Motherhood

There is apt to be a latent apprehension of distress to mar the complete joy of expectation. But this is quite overcome by the advice of so many women to use "Mother's Friend." This is an external application designed to so lubricate the muscles and to thus so relieve the pressure reacting on the nerves, that the natural strain upon the cords and ligaments is not accompanied by those severe pains said to cause nausea, morning sickness and many local distresses. This splendid embrocation is known to a multitude of mothers.

Many people believe that those remedies which have stood the test of time, that have been put to every trial under the varying conditions of age, weight, general health, etc., may be safely relied upon. And judging by the fact that "Mother's Friend" has been in continual use since our grandmother's earlier years and is known throughout the United States it may be easily inferred that it is something that women talk about and gladly recommend to prospective mothers.

"Mother's Friend" is prepared only in our own laboratory and is sold by druggists everywhere. Ask for a bottle to-day and write for a special book for expectant mothers. Address Bradfield Regulator Co., 407 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Half Your Living Without Money Cost

A right or wrong start in 1915 will make or break most farmers in the Cotton States. We are all facing a crisis on cotton. Cotton credit is upset. The supply merchant cannot advance supplies on 1915 cotton. You must do your best to produce on your own acres the food and grain supplies that have made up most of your store debt in the past.

A good piece of garden ground, rightly planted, rightly tended and kept planted the year round, can be made to pay half your living. It will save you more money than you made on the best five acres of cotton you ever grew! But it must be a real garden, and not the mere one-planting patch in the spring and fall.

Hastings' 1915 Seed Book tells all about the right kind of a money-saving garden and the vegetables to put in it. It tells about the field crops as well and shows you the clear road to real farm prosperity, comfort and independence. IT'S FREE. Send for it today to H. G. HASTINGS & CO., Atlanta, Ga.—Advt.

SPRAYING FRUIT TREES TO KILL SAN JOSE SCALE

By W. E. Hinds, Entomologist Alabama Experiment Station, Auburn, Ala.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Our most deadly fruit tree enemy is the San Jose scale. The full-grown scale is only about one twenty-fifth inch in diameter, so it is usually overlooked even when abundant. It may kill trees in three years or less.

The best known treatment is to spray during January or February, while the trees are dormant, using what is known as lime-sulphur wash. This material may be purchased in concentrated form of reliable insecticide manufacturers or dealers and needs only to be diluted at the rate of 1 gallon in about 8 gallons of water to make the winter spray. The wash may also be made at home at somewhat lower cost by boiling together for an hour about 15 to 18 lbs. of rock lime and 15 lbs. of sulphur flour or flowers, then diluting this mixture to make 50 gallons of spray.

The good effects of this spraying are so marked that all fruit trees should be treated even if the scale is not present. It improves the health of the trees, controls several other insects than scale and some fungous troubles as well. For further details get Alabama Experiment Station Bulletin No. 144.

RESOLUTION OF RESPECT

Whereas this body of trustees and teachers are now enjoying a happy and profitable day in which we believe much and lasting good is to come from the addresses and talks on education and kindred subjects, and whereas this meeting was strongly advocated by one of our teachers who to-day is kept from being prerent by the death of his beloved wife, therefore,

1 Be it resolved that this body tender its heart felt spmpathy to Prof. F. B. Williams.

2 That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the county papers and a copy to Prof. Williams.

SCORE ONE FOR CLANTON WATERWORKS

Great Conflagration is Averted By Activities of Fire Fighters With City Water

Shortly after noon last Thursday the residence of Mr. Albert Headley was discovered to be on fire. The bucket brigade at once answered the alarm, but the situation proved too much for them. But the city hose was soon attached to a nearby standpipe, and a great volume of water was readily playing on the flames. Within a few minutes the danger was subdued, and probably what would have been a fire damage of thousands of dollars was checked at only a small damage to one residence.

The greatest significance attached to this incident is the fact that it proved a vindication for Clanton's waterworks system at the very first tryout.

The authorities have secured some additional firefighting apparatus, including about fifteen hundred feet of hose, ladders, etc., and a fire company has been organized with L. I. Duncan as chief. He will train his men to fight fire in a thouroughly systematic manner.

TAG DAY FOR NEW BAPTIST CHURCH FUND

The wide awake and energetic ladies of the Baptist Church of Clanton have decided, and wisely too, that we are in need of a big bright brand new church house for our ever-increasing congregations at church and Sunday school. And to aid in raising funds for same, they have designated next Saturday, March 27, as tag day. They will have a committee of ladies and girls to canvass the town, and tag everyone who will donate something for the worthy cause. And we hope and expect to see some of Clanton's walking benevolent institutions tagged from head to foot on that day, for they will have all opportunity then to help out a worthy institution.

MAPLESVILLE NEWS

Mr. W. J. B. Deramus of Haynes was a visitor in Maplesville last Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. R. P. Richardson went over to Montgomery last Friday.

Mr. Lester Parnell made a business trip to Atlanta, and also to Birmingham last week.

Mr. J. A Walls of Montgomery, Deputy U. S. Marshall, captured a still near Stanton last Saturday.

Mr. J. L. Moulder of Plantersville, principal of the Dallas county high school, and Mr. J. A. Lee, principal of the public school at Plantersville, passed through Maplesville on Friday, March 19, going over to Centerville to attend the debate between the Dallas county high school and the Bibb county high school. The judges rendered the decision last Friday night at Centerville in favor of the Bibb county high school on the Woman Suffrage question. The many friends of Walter Broadhead and Bowlin DuBose who represented the Dallas county school were very anxious for them to win the decision. However, their opponents had something to do to defeat them.

THIEVES AT WORK IN MOUNTAIN CREEK

George W. Coburn's residence was entered on Monday night by thieves who carried a large number of light movable articles, and dining room and pantry eatables. Prof. Harrod's room was not entered, much to his joy, as he had his trousers with last month's salary in the pockets under his pillow.

NEW SALEM

There will be a Sunday School Convention at this place on the first Sunday in April; Sunday school will be held at 10:00 a. m. and preaching at 11:00; the remainder of the day will be devoted Sunday school work.

MINERAL SPRINGS

Health in this community is very good except some colds and a few cases of pneumonia.

Bud Paschal has lost several days on account of a bad cut he received on his leg the other day while splitting rails. Dr. Gragg has been to see him several times. The neighbors are going to prepare his land for a crop, as it will be some time before he is able to do any work.

It looks as if times will begin to pick up out this way soon, as Mr. Middleton and Mr. Jones are going to put in a saw mill here. we hope it will give this settlement a good lift.

The snow seems to have stopped planting for a while. Some have already planted some corn. It seems that it would have been well to plant some pepper and onions with it to keep it warm, and make it come up.

In regard to the flour mill for Chilton, I for one highly indorse the proposition, and think it will be a good thing for us to have. I believe every farmer ought to advocate this, and get busy and talk it up. I hope to see the mill in or near Clanton. I live north of Clanton, and have 8 acres planted in wheat, Several up here have some wheat planted, and I think if there were a good mill in reach there would be still more planted next year. Hope the farmers will soon be making all their living at home. Everything that we need grows right here, and we can have some to sell, and get a better market for it than we can for cotton. If we can make a good living at home we will not need much cotton. So why not make less cotton and more of everything else, so you can live at home and board at the same place.

A sad occurrence to our community last Saturday was the death of Mrs. Tom Littlefield. Her remains were carried to Pleasant Hill cemetery last Sunday morning, where the funeral was conducted by Rev. COUNTY OFFICERS MAKE A NUMBER OF RAIDS

Many Criminals Brought to Jail During the Past Week--- Varied Offenses.

On Saturday night when the jailer went to the county jail to feed the prisoners, there were only seven persons confined behind the bars. And when he went to perform the same task Sunday night there were nineteen "on the inside looking out." This increase of twelve prisoners in 24 hours was brought about by the alertness and activities of the Sheriff and his deputies in keeping order and decorum on the streets and alleys of Clanton and other places in the county.

Sheriff Harris and Deputy Gillespie made a raid on a negro crap game Saturday night, and captured the following dusky gentlemen who were amusing themselves: Steve McCall, Jack Williams, Cliff Oden, Bland Williams, Sam Williams, Joseph Brown, Jink Pearson, Frank White, Jesse Fuller.

Revenue officers Wall and Robbins caught three illicit distillers actually at work with a still near Maplesville Saturday night, and secured the arrest of one of them, Frank Whatley, a negro. The other two made their escape.

Deputy Ralph Calloway, at Maplesville, arrested the following negroes Saturday night for selling liquor, and they were brought to jail Sunday by deputy Gillespie: Marcus Silman, Gene Silman, Will Watson, Charlie Brown, and Nathaniel Mitchell.

Deputies Gore and Gillespie arrested John Crayton, colored, at Lomax last Thursday, with an excessive amount of liquor in his posession. It was presumed that he was on his way to Lock 12, to dispose of his wet goods in the usual blind tiger fashion.

R. A. McLaughlin, better known as "Mac," the whistler with the street medicine show which exhibited in Clanton recently, returned to Clanton from somewhere (evidently a place where the tigers are very blind or not blind at all) Sunday night, and started a performance which ended in a great amount of noise and disturbance before he could be induced to enter the confines of the bars. He was drunk, to say the least of it. He plead guilty to the charge Monday and was fined $10 and costs.

MOUNTAIN CREEK

Last Wednesday Mr. Chas. E Atwood, of Biddeford, Maine, spent the day with me. In speaking of the general depression in business, Mr. Atwood said that we were in better shape than the farmers of the New England states. He said that free trade had ruined them; that they were just simply up against it. I ask him why had free trade affected the farmers of his state so very badly. He said, "The farmers of my state are engaged in potato raising. They grow potatoes for the money crop as the southern farmer grow cotton for his money crop. We have been receiving sixty-five cents per bushel for our potatoes recently, and now we have been forced to sell them for twenty-two cents a bushel, as a result of free trade." Our Canadian farmers have been allowed to ship their potatoes into the United States duty free. The Canadian farmers raise their potatoes more cheaply than we can, because they make their children work in the field, and we have been sending our children to school. The most of our Irish potatoes come from the New England states, but we are paying one dollar and twenty cents per bushel, even if they are selling for twenty-two cents there. Someone, somewhere is getting the cream out of it, and for that reason it stands us in hand to raise what we need.

As to the flour mill announced in last week's issue, will say that I am very much delighted at the number of inquiries that I have received concerning it. I will endeavor to answer all writers at once. We shall be glad to hear from others who are interested. Our plan is the most liberal plan ever gotten us.

Very truly,
Chas. Cooper.

SAVE CRIMSON CLOVER SEED

On account of the European war, crimson clover seed will be very high this summer and fall, therefore it will be well for us to arrange to save our own seed at home. If all who are growing crimson clover now will write the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D C., for Farmers Bulletin 646, at once, they will find valuable helps explained and simple devices shown for saving said seed crop. Let's get this bulletin, make us a simple seed gathering device, and have it ready when our clover gets ripe. It will keep money at home and save fertilizer bills.

Boy or Girl? Great Question!

This brings to many minds an old and tried family remedy—an external application known as "Mother's Friend." During the period of expectancy it is applied to the abdominal muscles and is designed to soothe the intricate network of nerves involved. In this manner it has such a splendid influence as to justify its use in all cases of coming motherhood. It has been generally recommended for years and years and those who have used it speak in highest praise of the immense relief it affords. Particularly do these knowing mothers speak of the absence of morning sickness, absence of strain on the ligaments and freedom from those many other distresses which are usually looked forward to with so much concern.

There is no question but what "Mother's Friend" has a marked tendency to relieve the mind and this of itself in addition to the physical relief has given it a very wide popularity among women.

It is absolutely safe to use, renders the skin pliable, is penetrating in its nature and is composed of those embrocations best suited to thoroughly lubricate the nerves, muscles, tendons and ligaments involved.

It is prepared only by Bradfield Regulator Co., 201 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

Genuine Merit Required tn Win the People's Confidence

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many produdts that are extensilely advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfil the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particular to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact that it fulfils almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder diseases, corrects uniary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcles Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghampton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention the Clanton Union-Banner.

Mysteries of Rheumatism Practically Solved

S. S. S. is a Regular Wizard in Driving Out Rheumatism.

Rheumatism is often the effect of some other blood affliction that has left its impress in the joints, muscles and mucous coverings of the body. It works into the tissue cells, those tiny, little bodies in which nutrition goes on. And it is here that a most remarkable medicine known as S. S. S. does its most active and most effective work.

Its action is marvelous. Bed-ridden rheumatics get on their feet as if by magic. That cold, clammy sensation that made you hug a red hot stove is gone in a twinkling. That excruciating pain that made a feather lay as heavy as a ton of coal on the skin is gone. You get up and dance with glee.

Your rheumatism is gone—absolutely! It is an actual logical fact, that Swift's Sure Specific flushes your blood, gives your entire blood circulation a fine thorough bath. It just naturally and in a twinkling irrigates every atom in your body. It rushes into every cell, causes every bone, muscle, ligament, tendon, mucous surface and every nerve to thrill with freedom, with health, with newfound springiness.

And best of all, S. S. S. though a powerful searching, overwhelming enemy to pain and the causes of rheumatism is as pure as the dew on a peach blossom, as powerful as the heroic works of nature, as searching as the peremptory demand of the most exact science.

Ask for and insist upon getting S. S. S. the world's cure for rheumatism.

For private, personal advice on stubborn chronic rheumatism write at once to the Swift Specific Co., 203 Swift Building, Atlanta, Ga. Their medical department is famous on all blood diseases, and is equipped to make personal blood tests, approved by the highest medical authorities. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today. Then away goes rheumatism for all time.

Haydn and Church Music.

Carpani, the poet, once asked his friend, Haydn, "how it happened that his church music was almost always of an animating, cheerful and even gay description." To this Haydn's answer was: "I cannot make it otherwise. I write according to the thoughts which I feel. When I think upon God my heart is so full of joy that the notes dance and leap, as it were, from my pen, and since God has given me a cheerful heart, it will be easily forgiven me that I serve him with a cheerful spirit."

Kind and Generous.

"Are you kind and generous toward your neighbors?" asked the uplifter. "I should say I am," replied Mr. Crosslots. "I let 'em listen to my phonograph every evening and never charge 'em a cent."

Shockingly Unfit.

The subaltern was being put through an examination in geography, wherein he proved himself astonishingly ignorant. At last, after a failure on his part of unusual flagrance, the examiner scowled at him and thundered: "Idiot, you want to defend your country, and you don't know where it is!"

Rival Baseball Teams Play Interesting Game at Clanton Saturday

Despite the fact that last Saturday was not what might be termed an ideal spring day, and was not so well adapted to playing baseball, the teams of the Chilton County High School and the Shelby County High School had arranged for their game here and would not accept the bluff of the weather man. They were determined to have the contest pulled off in their own style, regardlss, and this they did in an interesting manner.

The Chilton boys secured a good lead in the first inning, bringing in four scores. But in the second the Shelby boys drew in on them, and held them to a shut out for the rest of the game, securing seven scores themselves.

A good crowd of spectators witnessed the game, and were well pleased with the way the boys handled their task, altough they would have liked to see the home team come out victors.

The visiting boys were a jolly set, and it is hoped they may be able to return to Clanton some timt for another game.

THORSBY NOTES

Booth Lowery, the last number on the Entertainment Course, at the Baptist Church, Thursday, April 1st. Do not forget him.

The meetings at the Congregational Church, under the leadership of Rev. J. M. Graham, are proving interesting and helpful. They will continue through next Sunday.

Guy Holsombeck, of Randolph, has enrolled at the Institute in the Business course.

The Joint Debate between Thorsby Institute and Sylacauga last Friday night was very interesting.

The debators from Sylacauga were both fourth year men, and the Institute debators were only second year men. The judges awarded the dicision to Sylacauga on the close margin of two and one-half per cent. The Sylacauga team will next debate against the winning team in the debate held last Friday night between the County High Schools of Dallas and Bibb Counties.

Booth Lowery is both humorous and instructive. It will pay you to come and hear him April 1st at the Baptist Church. Admission 15 and 30 cents.

FOR SALE—Horse and cow. Cow soon fresh.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of wonderful success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

SARDIS

The health at this place is very good at present.

Sunday the wedding bells were surprising to the people. Miss Mary Short and Mr. Alonzo Hayes, who met the train at Adams and went to Centerville, was, at the latter place, happily married.

Come Chiltonites and let us make our county the leading county, which can be easily done by co-operating in our communities, and communicating through our county paper, Union-Banner. Never let time pass unimproved, less we regret it. Regret is a pain serving you in a different manner; and a blotch on our page of lite which, without forgiveness, will always be a cloud over us. The most miserable life there is, is spent in regrets. A man who stands at the end of life's journey, and looks back over his long vista of years, dropping regretful thoughts on unimproved opportunities, is to be pitied. His only words are: "If I only had my years to go over, it might have been," but alas! too late, too late. Young man don't hasten along through life without studying things 't would be best to do. Help first your community then otherwise.

Our Advertising

Two and a half years ago the assertion was made that intimacy of understanding and mutual confidence did not exist between the L. & N. Railroad and the people.

Acting on the advice of various public spirited, broad-minded citizens, anxious to see the rich natural resources of the territory developed, the L. & N. decided to conduct certain advertising in the public press.

Previous to this decision, the charge had been made that the L. & N. conducted its business in secrecy and without regard to informing the general public.

After two and a half years of honest, open advertising—publicity designed to inform the people of its plans and service—the L. & N. is accused of an attempt to manufacture false public sentiment and to venalize the press.

The charge that the L. & N. was conducting sinister operations in secret was made by the same demagogic interest which now asserts that the L. & N. is seeking to deceive the people and venalize the press.

The L. & N. states its full conviction in the power of the press and its confidence in the value of newspaper publicity.

The L. & N. takes a positive position on two propositions:

First, that the L. & N. would not under any circumstances seek to venalize the press of Alabama, and,

Second, that the L. & N. could not intimidate or venalize the press of Alabama.

There are many business enterprises in Alabama spending far more than is being spent by the L. & N. in legitimate newspaper advertising, such as is being conducted by the L. & N.

The L. & N. has not paid, and will not pay, to any newspaper anywhere, any sum of money in excess of the regular rate charged by a newspaper for advertising service.

In the opinion of the L. & N. there is not in Alabama a newspaper which would demean itself by accepting an exorbitant rate from a public utility corporation, and if there was such a newspaper the L. & N. would refuse to do business with that newspaper.

This statement is made in justice to the L. & N. and in justice to the press of Alabama with which the L. & N. does business.

Any insinuation that the L. & N. is engaged in any such nefarious practice is a libel on the L. & N. and an unjust reflection on the moral integrity of the press of Alabama.

UGLY CONDITIONS ARE CHARGED AT THE ALABAMA SOLDIERS HOME

Various Reports Have Been Made to the Legislative Investigators.

Numbers of reports and various charges have beem made recently to the legislative investigating committee regarding the management and condition of affairs at the Alabama Soldier Home at Mountain Creek.

Following are reports of some of the testimony, being extracts from press communications:

"R. H. Long, of Mountain Creek appeared before the Merrit investigating committee of the legislature and asked it to make an investigation of affairs at the home for Confederate soldiers. He said the management seems to be poor, that soldiers are expelled sometimes 20 or 30 days as punishment for infraction of rules, and that medical attention is lacking because the physician for the home is old.

"Mr. Long declared there has been much complaint at the home and that nearly all the inmates had asked him to come to Mentgomery and present the facts to the committee."

Mr. Long said that the institution needed younger men at the head of it, according to one of the newspaper reports.

According to another communication, Captain Simpson, Commandant of the Home, denies that the old soldiers are dissatisfied. In answer to Mr. Long he appeared before the committee with a detailed account of the management of the affairs of the home. He stated that Mr. Long had been instigated by a few irratible "sore-heads" who were always finding fault. "In my opinion seven-eights of the inmates would deny the charges of Mr. Long," he concluded.

The following paper was circulated among the old vets and numerously signed:

"We, inmates of the Confederate Soldiers Home, having read or had read to us, the statements made by R. H. Loug before the legislative committee at Montgomery, pronounce such statements untrue."

We learn that the legislative committee is to meet at the home and probably make a thorough investigation..

EVERGREEN DISTRICT

There is not any sickness in our community. Everybody is well and making preparations for the spring crops. There is not so much guano being hauled into this community for cotton this year.

The school improvement association has been doing some work on our school building.

We are expecting a nice time next Sunday at this place.

Mr. Jacks and wife from near Clanton made a visit to Mr. Well's last Sunday.

Mr. Morris, one of our neighbors, went to Birmingham last Friday. On his way to the depot he was knocked down and robbed by some negroes. They secured about nine dollars from him, and placed him in an out house and left him unconscious. He knew nothing from three o'clock in the afternoon till eight that night.

Our Sunday school is good. Singing last Sunday night at Mr. Will Morris's was all right. The singings have completely broken up all parties, we are glad to say.

What Road Warrants Have Done for Shelby

From "The Peoples Advocate," of Columbiana.

Montevallo, March 22. At a mass meeting held in the court house in December last, a committee was appointed to investigate the road contracts and warrants issued therefor by the County Board of Revenue. I had the honor to be made chairman of that committee. After repeated efforts to get at the true situation from the Board and having failed by reason of their refusal to give the desired information, we appealed to the Governor to send an examiner of public accounts to investigate the same, Mr. J. T. Gorman was assigned the task and his report dated March 19, 1915, is now in the hands of Judge E. S. Lyman of the County Court, and we presume will be in this weeks' issue of our county papers. It will be seen from that report that six per cent warrants have been issued by the Board of Revenue to the amount of $438,000, all of which is for road building except $75,000, which are old county court house warrants issued by a previous Board.

The examiner clearly points out that on the taxable values of property in the county not over $309,000 of warrants bearing 5 per cent interest could be issued, and the law automatically stamps void all in excess of that amount. From this it will be seen that $129,000 of these warrants are illegal and worthless. It is presumed that the first $309,000 warrants are valid and the excess issued void. The county treasurer has no option in the matter and will be forced to refuse payment. Now ihis will fall heavily on many of our citizens who have taken warrants since the limit was reached. What is to be done is the question? I am no lawyer, but it seems to me that the taxpayers should at once file a bill of injunction, enjoining the treasurer from paying interest or principal of these road warrants, on the grounds of fraud, illegal interest, and want of consideration. It will be remembered that the contract with Newell & Co., was made without a single competitive bid. prices agreed to be paid in contract as shown below we traud on its face—the rate interest illegal, and the road the Bibb county line to Vi in many places unfinished impassible.

Moving loose dirt 31 1-4 cubic yard, against 17 cents petitive bid later.

Moving loose rock 67 1-2 cubic yard against 32 cents petitive bid later.

Moving chert 1 mile 88 cents, for which our citizen sub-contractors got 40 cents.

Moving chert each addi mile or fractional part 68 3-4 cents for which our ple as sub-contractors cents.

Lumber in bridges $43.75 thousand feet. Grubbing clearing right of way $68.75 acre, against competitive bi $25.00.

It will therefore be seen glance that for the $363,000 of interest bearing warrants county has received less half the value in material work. If this is not fraud on people, what is it?

The Examiner in his re suggested that we get an engi of the State Highway departm to pass on the quality of done, material furnished, pr paid, etc. This we propose to

In the meantime we learn more warrants are being iss and it is believed our indeb ness will now reach a half lion dollars. A day of rec ing is sure to come and the p erty of the people of Sh county will be bound for th big debts if allowed to heap It is a reflection on the int gence of the people of the co to allow this ruinous policy continue. The committee wo like to hear from others.

What

To the People of the Patrons and Chilton County Greetings:

Your County High School comes before you in this issue of your home papers with feelings of profound gratitude, and conscious pride. It has been a matter of expediency that we have delayed making this announcement of your school with its various features and activities. Your loyal support and co operation, your ready compliance with all the requirements of High School Regulations, noble sacrifice you have made to enter your children and to secure the splendid opening we have had are equalled only by the public spirited efforts you have made to provide a county high school for the boys and girls of Chilton county. You are entitled to the very best results that industry, experience, wisdom and forethought can supply. These results the State and county boards of education and the faculty of the school are endeavoring to secure to you. Your high school opened at a time of year to materially test your interest and moral support. You have stood the test grandly, and we are grateful.

Your splendid and well appointed building, the superior of which is not found in all the State, your spacious and beautiful grounds, now stand as a monument to your progress and public spirit.

The large enrollment of pupils, the splendid personnel of the student body, their willing and ready responsiveness to the requests of the teachers, and the tactics of the school, the plane of friendship and between teachers and above all, the splendid spirit developing and manifest day by day, present the pleas for the continuance of your attention, moral support and good will.

The Opening.

On the fourth day of January, the day on which, by appointment, the school was to begin, the circumstances were such as to preclude a formal opening as desirable when the scope and dignity of a county high school are considered.

All preliminaries for beginning the work were made while the building was being rushed to completion. What the Chilton County High School is Doing

To the People of Chilton County, the Patrons and Friends of the Chilton County High School,--Greetings:

Your County High School comes before you in this issue of your home papers with feelings of profound gratitude, and conscious pride. It has been a matter of expediency that we have delayed making this announcement of your school with its various features and activities. Your loyal support and co ope ration, your ready compliance with all the requirements of the High School Regulations, the noble sacrifice you have made to enter your children and to secure the splendid opening we have had are equalled only by the public spirited efforts you have made to provide a county high school for the boys and girls of Chilton county. You are entitled to the very best results that industry, experience, wisdom and forethought can supply. These results the State and county boards of education and the faculty of the school are endeavoring to secure to you. Your high school opened at a time of year to materially test your interest and moral support. You have stood the test grandly, and we are grateful.

Your splendid and well appointed building, the superior of which is not found in all the State, your spacious and beautiful grounds, now stand as a mon ment to your progress and public spirit.

The large enrollment of pupils, the splendid personnel of the student body, their willing and ready responsiveness to the requests of the teachers, and to the tactics of the school, the high plane of friendship and good will between teachers and pupils, and above all, the splendid school spirit developing and made manifest day by day, present cogent pleas for the c ntinuance of your attention, moral support and good will.

The Opening.

On the fourth day of January, the day on which, by appointment, the school was to begin, the circumstances were such as to preclude a formal opening so desirable when the scope and dignity of a county high school are considered.

All preliminaries for beginning the work were made while the building was being rushed to completion. Providing temporary connections for heating the building; procuring with limited means such supplies and material as could not be dispensed with; securing an adequate and competent corps of teachers necessary to meet the requirements of the high school regulations, were some of the problems then coufronting the Principal.

The Teachers.

Happily for the school, the teachers hastily secured, have demonstrated qualities of both mind and heart commending them to safe instruction, and industrious care in the departmental work of the high school.

They have met nobly the difficulties incident to lack of equipment and conveniences, and have exhibited praiseworthy sympathy and co-operation with the policy of the Principal, and with the general management of the school.

The Faculty.

In addition to the Principal, who is in charge of the departments of Latin and Mathematics and Industrial Drawing, these members compose the splendid and able faculty.

H. L. Foshee of Thorsby, Science and Mathematics.

Miss Corita Wilson, of Clarksville, Tenn., English and History.

Miss Mary Alice Brown, of Gadsden, Ala., Teacher of Expression.

Miss Dora Haynes, of Hayneville, Ala., Domestic Science and Arts.

Miss Emmette Matthews Clanton, Ala., Music, (Piano and Violine).

Miss Evelyn Waller, of Montgomery Teacher of Seventh Grade

The Departments

We desire to commend in the highest terms the work of the teachers in their several departments.

The departments of Music and Expression are supported by monthly tuition. These departments are not mere appendages to the school, but constitute essential and necessary parts of High School work.

I desire to make especial mention of the efficient work of Miss Matthews in developing her pupils in the matter of Piano Technique, Finger Movement and Wrist Development. Tone and cast are added to the High School through her pupils on both piano and violin.

Miss Brown deserves credit not only for the equipoise developing in her pupils in the matter of Readings and Expressions, but also in their increasing desire for classical literature and good books. These two Departments commend themselves to your careful consideration.

Miss Wilson proves herself both capable and competent in the Department of History and English, while Mr. Foshee has an established record as an able instructor in the branches of his Department.

The Department of Domestic Science and Arts is well organized under the superior direction of Miss Haynes, and the interest manifested by her pupils in Sewing and Cooking commends her tactful and efficient management.

Mechanical and industrial Drawing are well under way, and steps are being taken to equip the basement rooms with benches for wood work.

The Drawing Class is now being equipped with excellent Mechanical Drawing Instruments, and other supplies, and show their appreciation for the educative value of this Department which the High School provides.

Miss Waller, as teacher of the Seventh Grade, has been a most helpful assistant every way by ably correlating the seventh Grade work to that of the High School.

The Seventh Grade

Under Rule 8 of the High School Regulations, the Seventh Grade pupils are admitted to the High School. This has proven more than an experiment; it has been a success both for the High School in general and these pupils in particular. It will always be the policy of the present management to open the doors of the High School to the Seventh Grade.

Other Activities

In addition to the major work of the school, we are gratified at the material and helpful results through well organized Activities of the High School. I refer to the unselfish and constant efforts of the splendid mothers composing the High School Improvement Association, under the Presidency of Mrs. Tom Curry; also to the Athletics of the High School, for both boys and girls; two well organized Literary Socities,; The Dramatic Club and a Library Commission composed of High School pupils. Seperate paragraphs by the Directors of these outline, much to your interest, the progress made and the good results obtained.

I shall mention in this connction, however, that the School Improvement Association, in addition to a neat bank account, has equipped the High School Auditorium with an artistic, and beautiful Stage Curtain at a cost of $144; also, our Library Commission will soon install for the High School, near two hundred volumes of well selected books.

Enrollment

Our enrollment now numbers one hundred and twenty seven, with ninety-four of these in High School. Remote parts of the county are well represented.

Equipment

The High School stands badly in need of equipments and fixtures necessary to the high type of work deservedly demanded for your children.

The school needs to be equipped with a small Laboratory, and an ample outfit of physical apparatus for teaching Chemistry and Physics.

Our seating capacity has been overreached already. We need more desks. We must look to an interested and public spirited patronage for these needed supplies. A little help from everybody will soon place this youngest High School in the State to where its advantages will be equalled by few, and where our boys and girls can indeed be educated at home, and at small cost.

Money

Our supply of funds is limited, especially this session. We command barely a sufficiency to meet the salaries. The State appropriation must necessarily be supplemented if this growing school meets your demands.

Our sources of supplement depend upon the matriculation fees paid by the pupils, and such other supplements as may be secured through the County Educational Board, and other county authorities, and by private donations.

We hope to make, and we must make this school an influence to justify every effort and every sacrifice to secure the supplement to enable the school to meet the purposes for which it was designed and established.

This is now the economic side of the High School, to see that definite and permanent plans are organized for such local support as the school must have from year to year. We feel that the progressive citizens of Chilton. and the intesested patrons of the school will see that this High School, the "Child of the County" is nourished, fostered and supported with care and zeal.

Senior Class

Although the youngest High School in the State, Our High School will have the proud distinction of graduating a class of five at the close of this its first Session, May the 12th.

Commencement

The High School will come to a close, May the 12th. We are arranging for a successful program of exercises commensurate with the High School. We cordially invite you to be with us throughout the entire exercises. Programs with further notice will be sent you in due time.

Summer School

The High School immediately at its close, will resolve itself into a Summer special school for advanced pupils and teachers desiring to take the State examination. For this a nominal fee will be charged. Folders outlining this Summer special term will be mailed you soon.

Conclusion

Friends, the County High School is before you. It is yours. You have reasons to be proud of it. You have a just claim to all the advantages it can be made to afford. It is your high privilege to work for it, encourage it, talk for it, prepare your boys and girls for it, send them to it, help it and defend it.

The Principal appreciates the honor of being placed in charge of its broad field of work.

We thank you in the name of our student body for the moral support you have given the school, and for words of encouragement, and deeds of kindness.

Yours sincerely,
C. C. SLATON,
Principal.

HOUSEHOLD SCIENCE

Domestic Science, to be of the greatest value, must give the pupils a practical knowledge of foods and the principles which underlie their preparation for the table, and at the same time train the pupils to apply the principles intelligently.

The course begins with a preliminary lesson in organization, for acquainting the pupils with the kitchen utensils, and the general instructions for working, and care of utensils. Pupils are most interested in the parforming of an experiment or a cooking process, and when the practice precedes the recitation, they learn to think and do for themselves, and therefore get a better understanding of the theory.

The food principles form the basis for the lessons, which are arranged to deal first with the simple food materials, and then progression to the more complex food combinations is gradual and practical.

The aim is to train pupils to think for themselves, and to do for themselves. Better spoil a dish in the making than deprive the pupils of the experience of doing the actual work themselves.

Marked emphasis is placed on the cleanliness and attractiveness of the kitchen dress. Standards are set, which the children can reach only by constant practice. We find that good kitchen habits can be secured only by the teachers persistent demand for the ideal.

The duties of the average housekeeper who does her own work are so many and varied that it is often hard for her to know just where to begin. A woman in this position often wastes much nervous energy by fretting over unaccomplished work. Now, the end for which Domestic Science and Art aims, is the minimizing of the labor and the systematizing of the daily routine of work. Every step saved is added to the store of energy.

In this department the girls are being taught to look to the future welfare of their personal habits, the welfare of their homes and the welfare of the human race. The girls of today are the housekeepers and homemakers of tomorrow, and to them we leave the responsibility of the rearing of a nation of strong men and women; strong mentally and physically. This strength of mind and body depends upon the proper nourishment prepared in the first ten years of life. Then, why are the girls being taught to learn a "Balanced Ration?"

I desire to express thanks, personally and in behalf of the Chilton County High School, to the friends who have in many ways given encouragement and assistance in the organization of this department of Household Science and Art.

Chilton County High School Improvement Association

The Chilton County High School Improvement Association was organized for the purpose of doing all in our power for the betterment of the High School conditions. We have one of the best high school buildings in the State and it is our desire to see it one of the best equipped.

The organization is composed of a number of progressive ladies of Clanton and Chilton county, with the following officers:

President, Mrs. Thos. A. Curry.
Vice-Pres., Mrs. W. M. Adams.
Secretary, Miss Evelyn Waller.
Treasurer, Mrs. W. I. Mullins.

While still a young and rather feeble organization, it has done some very good work. The things that called for the improvement association were urgent needs, and it required no close search to find them. The duties were at hand, and seemed to say, "Here I am, begin."

First of all, there was the beautiful auditorium without a curtain for the stage, and no lights. If properly fitted up this auditorium will not be excelled by any of the high schools of the state; so the President of the Association appointed a curtain committee at once to begin operations for securing a fitting arrangement for the stage. A very attractive curtain was secured, the cost of which was covered by advertisements placed upon it, and this with the folding doors dividing the stage, gives us a splendid house for presenting light dramatic performances, and various kinds of entertainments.

But there was a need more urgent than the curtain for the stage—shades for the class room windows. Did you ever try to read with the sun shining on your book? Don't you remember how it caused your eyes and head to ache? The greatest need of the school was truly felt to be these shades, and funds were soon raised for placing them.

There are yet many things to be done, and the enterprising ladies who compose this live improvement association will no doubt devise some means to prove themselves equal to the occasion. They implore the co-operation of every woman, and especially every mother, who is interested in the promotion of educational conditions. The High School is the property of Chilton county. The more shoulders there are put to the wheel, the more readily will the wagon run. Won't all you good ladies join in the promotion of this noble work of improving the high school?

Athletics in the County High School

We believe that education would not be complete unless we make provision for the proper development of the students physically as well as morally and mentally; for education is indeed threefold moral, mental and physical.

We have grounds and equipment for basket ball and base ball and have already had several match games with the schools of this and adjoining counties.

The boys basket ball team composed of Mitchell Foshee, Watson Jones, Horace Popwell, Clyde Williams, Johnnie Burnett and Roy Foshee played three ames with the Baptist High School of Thorsby in which our boys were successful in one.

The girls basket ball team has had better success than the boys as they played the girls of the Baptist school winning 21 to 15. They also played the Autauga County High School at Prattville winning by the score of 23 to 20, and the Marbury Institute team was defeated by the narrow margin of one point, the score being 23 to 22. Those who compose the team are Misses Izora Callen, Annie Gragg, Bessie Davis, Rilla Smith, Effie Burnett, Libbie McKee, Willie B. Jones, and Ola Durbin.

PEOPLES TELEPHONE 96.

We always admire a good talker who knows when not to talk.

Speaking of inventions, why not dish up some noisless soup.?

Don't consign your enemies to hades. Just send 'em to Mexico.

The fortress of Przemysl has fallen. Of course—name killed it.

A married woman invariably feels flattered when told she does not look it. So do we.

Good news at last, boys! Skirts are to be worn very short this season.

Eggs? Say, the price has tumbled to where we may safely devour one a day without fear of bankruptcy.

The courage of some men is sublime. A New York judge has just ruled that a wife's wages belong to her husband.

We heard a fellow discussing wheat yesterday without the bat of an eye lid. Some people always do talk in the millions.

While talking of a bigger army and navy, why not go a step farther and advocate a bigger brand of statesmanship in this country.

Doing nothing is the hardest job on earth. Which probably accounts for the fact that a country editor never feels fatigued.

It happened in Chicago. Dad started to sing. Son commenced to groan. Dad's in hell. Son's on the way. Honors are even.

General Carranza is compelling foreigners to "cough up," "kick in," hand over their "dough." And so did Huerta—before he skiddooed. Let's hope.

When your wife begins to tell you you are about three times as smart as you know you are, dig—just dig—and be equal to the occasion.

Funny, isn't it? City folks are always scurrying around hunting for a dollar, and farmers are racing around looking for a safe place to invest.

No wonder so many city chaps are pining to become American farmers. Farmers own the earth, its substance, and at the present rate of speed will soon have a mortgage on the air.

It has been definitely settled that Shakespear did not serve as a butcher's apprentice in his boyhood days. But even this has failed to lower the price of meats.

An Austrian princess is in this country painting portraits of distinguished people at $25,000,000 a paint. And if our delinquent subscribers will just loosen up and shell out the ducats we may be able to accept her invitation to "sit for ours"

Why can't some local genius achieve lasting fame by inventing the autoplane—a car that will glide swiftly along smooth roads and rise gracefully in the air when approaching the bumps or taking a hill? Buck up, feellows—it's your inning.

Grand Duke Nicholas of Russia is six feet seven inches tall and commands an army of seven million men, the largest fighting force ever assembled under one flag. And we are five feet six inches tall, and edit a country newspaper, and have to satisfy an army of the most enlightened, most energetic and most critical people on earth. And we would not swap jobs with G. D. Nick for a plugged nickel to boot.

FREE SPRINGS

Lagrippe is all the go up here; almost evervone it and it has served some of them badly.

We are having some pretty weather now, and the farmers are making good use ot time. A lot of land is being broken and some corn planted. There is going to be a lot of guano used in this community this year, but I think there will be less cotton than usual. I hope so any way. I know that it is best to raise a plenty of food for family and stock first, then if you have any time to do so, have a little cotton for a little money, for it is little money that you will get out of cotton. Raise corn, peas potatoes, oates, hay and peanuts for your stock.

Our school is moving on nicely but some of the students have stopped to help on the farm.

Mr. Charley Ray shot his brother, Jim Ray, about a cow. His wound is not thought to be serious.

Mr. W. H. Mahan is still very sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Lenard Martin of Jemison visited Mr. and Mrs. Eula Brown Sunday.

J. C. Prim and son Hugh, and daughter Ethel, went to New Prospect to hear preaching by Rev. J. C. Phares. He is a workman that needeth not be asnamed, rightly deviding the word of God

Rev. J. C. Phares spent Saturday night at J. C. Prims.

Clyde Prim made a visit to Mars Hill Sunday.

Oh I just can't tell where everyone goes. It is too much like tatling, and I haven't any patience with a tattler. Doesn't it make one feel miserable to hear ones friends dissected and part of them analized and things made just so black that you can not tell them from a negro, or an imp just from the warmest place we have ever heard of?

Let brotherly love continue, says the scripture; but first get brotherly love in the heart by looking for the good in all, for there is some good in all. You know that love hides a multitude of faults, and it is so much better to love than to hate. One feels better and others love you in return. Who can possibly love a cross and crabbed persou; Of course family ties bind but look around you and note the difference in one that is kind and obedient to parents and always glad to accomodate brother or sister and kind to neighbors, and another that is always sulky; nothing ever goes to their liking, always cross and grumbling. No one cares for them. Is it any wonder? Can they blame anybody but themselves? Oh for eyes to see ourselves as others see us. Wouldn't we be careful then in all our ways?

Lets take a close inspection of our own and not some one else's heart and life. Lets train our thoughts on our daily manners and words. Lets weed out every unkind word and thought and strive to keep the "Golden Rule" by doing to others as we would have others do unto us. Love is the fulling of the law; as God loves us let us love our fellow beings.

J. Sterling Moran of Thorsby was in Clanton Monday.

THORSBY NOTES

Next Monday will be Woman's Night at the Community Meeting. Miss Tappen of Montevallo will be the speaker and will give demonstrations of cooking and serving meals. A pleasant social time will follow. Every one is invited.

Don't forget to hear Booth Lowrey's Lecture on "Simon Says Wig Wag" at the Baptist Church Thursday night of this week. This is the last number of the Entertainment Course. Admission, to those not holding Course Tickets, 30 cents; Children and Students, 15 cents.

The renewed "Thorsby" sign in the park along the railroad attracts the attention of all passing by. The sign is the work of Mr. G. Berlin. Several who have visited who have visited Thorsby recently have commented on the fact that the town is one of the prettiest along the railroad. Let the good work go on. There fs still room for improvement.

UNION SPRINGS

On next Sunday April 4, there will be an all-day singing in the old books at Union Springs chapel. Prof. Lawley of Montevallo promises to be present. Bring books and spend the day in song.

Mr. Mahan is quite sick again. A communion service free to all christians was held in this community last Sunday night. It was very well attended. Service was opened by one of Dr. Mason's compositions, "There is a foun tain filled with blood" and closed with a beautiful selection from Gospel Hymns, "Savior more than life to me." The service being held on the night of its institution added to the interest; it was observed at the same hour throughout the civilized world.

Mr. Zack Abney of Randolph visited here Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson of Jemison visited here last week.

The grippe seems to be loosing its grip here.

Rev. Cook of Thorsby attended the debate at the new school house Saturday night. Miss Sallie Russ has returned from an extended trip to Florida.

It is a relation of Shelby's experience with the issuance of county warrants for building roads. Read what he says and beware lest our own county fall into the same sad plight.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

Genuine Merit Required tn Win the People's Confidence

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many produdts that are extensilely advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfil the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particular-to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's S amp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it sho s excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

According to s orn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact that it fulfils almost every ish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder diseases, corrects uniary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid hich causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcles Post. Address Dr, Kilmer & Co., Binghampton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention the Clanton Union-Banner.

Your Burden---And Ours

Any burden imposed upon the L. & N. Railroad is a burden imposed upon the people living in the territory traversed by the L. & N.

The L. & N. is a servant of the people. To the extent that the people handicap the L. & N. in its performance of service, to that extent do the people suffer from inefficient service.

Rather should the L. & N. co-operate with the people it serves.

Rather should the people co-operate with the L. & N. and receive the service to which they are entitled.

Simple honesty is one of the cardinal principles of the L. & N. A violation of this principle imposes a burden on someone.

That someone may be an employe, or may be a shipper, or may be the L. & N.

Whoever it is, a just punishment in decreased business or a resentful public opinion will be meted out.

The L. & N. therefore attempts to live up to its principles of simple honesty under any and all circumstances.

It cannot in all fairness expect the people to do any less. It can but inform the people of its plans for the future and its integrity of purpose in the hope that the people will co-operate to the mutual interest of all concerned.

There is not now, nor has there ever been, any disposition on the part of the L. & N. to misinform the people of Alabama.

Misinformation is a burden second only to ignorance.

The L. & N. asks simply that the people read and inform themselves. Then think.

Proper information, mentally digested, will relieve both the L. & N. and the people of many unnecessary burdens.

Marvels of Landscape, Sculpture and Architecture, Wonderful Exhibits at Huge Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco

LOW ROUND TRIP RATES AFFORD GREATEST OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME TO TAKE WONDERFUL JOURNEY AND SEE FINEST DISPLAYS OF WORLD'S NATIONS

These pictures at best can indicate but feebly the indescribable marvels presented by the Panama-Pacific International exposition at San Francisco to which the people of all nations are thronging.

Forty-two foreign nations, and more than 80,000 individual exhibitors, representing every country on the globe have sent to this wonderful $50,000,000 show the best of their present-day achievements which are now displayed in the eleven colossal exhibit palaces and also in the buildings of the state and foreign group, the latter structures being built in most cases in a style of architecture characteristic of the state or nation represented. More than $10,000,000 has been invested in the "Zone," the 3,000-foot amusement street of this great fair, where the world's premier showmen are conducting the most wonderful and most original sight-seeing and pure-fun attractions ever assembled for any celebration on earth

In order to put the opportunity of seeing this most marvelous of all expositions within reach of the greatest number of people the railroads have cut rates in half to and from San Francisco, and the hotel and restaurant associations of the city have agree to keep their schedule of prices down to normal figures.

Complete information regarding this wonderful world's fair may be had free for the asking by addressing Manager of the Bureau of Publications, Press Building, Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco, California, who will forward to any address a beautiful sixty-page booklet, illustrated in colors, containing detailed information regarding the glories of this great celebration and a complete description of the Panama Canal.

Surmounting these pillars are beautiful figures of women gazing into an urn, expressive of Art and Beauty. Eric Ellerhause is the designer of these groups. Over the foliage and forestation of the Fine Arts lagoon can be seen the Half Dome of Philosophy and the grand central dome of the Palace of Education.

THE

NO RECITAL AT HIGH SCHOOL LAST THURSDAY

Enjoyed By a Select and Appreciative Audience

The piano recital of the pupils of Mrs. R. H. Croswell at High School auditorium Thursday last was enjoyed by a select and appreciative audience.

The first number on program, "Danse de Ballet," by Schutte, was played by the youngest pupil Marzelle Mullins, who has never had any instructor but Mrs. Croswell. Her phrasing and fingering are perfect, and as everybody says, "She plays too sweet."

The next number, "To spring time," by Eggleston, was given by Warrene Spigener, and showed careful and conscientious study, the staccato work in second part being difficult and requiring light touch.

The third number, "Ruben's Melody," in F. was artistically played by Sara Adams, the connection of Melody of left hand with right and the big effect was brought applause from the audience.

Mandolin Serenade, by Bahm, played by Mary Sue Mullins was sweet and melodious. The man-dolin solo in right hand, and the accomplishment in left was beautifully rendered and showed talent.

Meditation, by Morrison, a pretty piece, was played beautifully by Lilla B. Mullins, the slow moment being legato, and the theme being very light.

Rachmanus Valse, "LaSylphes" was beautifully rendered by Miss Roby Gore. The number is difficult, requiring a smooth technic.

Nocturnean No 2, Wollenhaupt, is exceedingly difficult composition because of the passing of the fourth finger under the thumb, and the big crescendos were beautifully rendered by Roberta Curry who has musical talent of an exceptional degree.

Chopin Valse No. 2, was beautifully rendered by Miss Kate Ramus. A perfect legato touch and perfect rythm being required, because of its lightness and speed. This composition is called "The Minute Waltz."

The old song, "Silver Threads among the Gold," (by request), was sung by Roberta Curry, who has a voice of rare sweetness and clearness. She was assisted by her father, Mr. Thos. A. Curry, whose beautiful tenor voice needs no comment in Clanton.

AN OPEN SECRET

The success of the L. & N. is an open secret to the observer of railroad operations. It consists of:

Systematic Organization
Conscientious Service
Efficient Effort

Systematic Organization means that the L. & N. has placed modern equipment at the disposal of carefully trained, competent officials and employes.

Conscientious Service means that those officials and employes will utilize that equipment to the best of their ability in the interest of the L. & N. and the general public.

Efficient Effort means that careful study is given by officials and employes to the best and most effective means of giving maximum comfort at a minimum expense to the public in time and money.

This policy obtains in both the freight and passenger departments.

In addition to which the L. & N. maintains a special department for the co-operative development of the rich natural resources of the territory served by its lines.

This principle applied to any organization of such magnitude as the L. & N., may sound expensive. On the contrary, we have clearly demonstrated that the practice is sound economics.

Each official and employe is inspired with the spirit of the L. & N. pride in his company and the service rendered. Thinking that the L. & N. is the best railroad system anywhere in the country inspires a determination to maintain the standard of superiority.

The L. & N. places a high value on ability. But there is a human trait more valuable—Loyalty. Ability can be develped in the loyal man. But the disloyal man of ability finds no place in the L. & N. organization.

The man who is loyal to the L. & N. must be loyal to himself, loyal to the territory served by the L. & N., and imbued with the determination to give the best that is in him of constructive service.

These human elements are under close scrutiny by trained observers. The plan accounts in large measure for the pre-eminence enjoyed by the L. & N., and the excellence of the service rendered the general public.

The L. & N. solicits the freight and passenger business of the traveling and shipping public, with the assurance that entirely satisfactory service will be rendered.

EVERGREEN

Health of this community is good at present.

Everybody is just about done planting corn down here, and some are planting cotton.

Sunday school is just fine at our school building.

There was one of the most enjoyable singings Sunday night at W. S. Beard's we have had.

Some of the Woodmen from here went up to New Salem last Sunday near Thorsby to attend the unveiling of the monument of Sov. Joseph Cleckler.

Mr. Will Morris and wife visited at W. S. Beard's Sunday.

We are glad to know that Mrs. Litaker is able to be up again.

We are going to have an all day singing at our school building some time in the near future. Watch the Union-Banner for the announcement. If you are not taking the Union-Banner, subscribe at once and read all the good letters from all over Chilton county, and keep in touch with all that is going on in our county.

MT. CREEK

Referring to the announcement made in this paper a few weeks ago relative to a flour mill, beg to advise my friends throughout the county that all arrangements for the erection of the mill has been made, and it will be built at Marbury.

We thought for awhile that it would be possible to build it in Clanton, but, the town of Marbury offererd better inducements for the mill, and on account of the cotton seed oil mill being there it was decided to build the flour mill there.

This mill will be built entirely of new and up-to-date machinery, guaranteed to make pretty white flour.

I wish to thank all of the people who have written me stating that they were interested in the mill. I am very sorry that I have been unable to answer all the letters and hope that yon will accept this letter as though it were an individual one.

Yours truly,
Chas. Cooper.

ENTERPRISE DISTRICT

Miss Minnie Moore has been spending a few days with Miss Odessa Smith.

Mrs. Sallie Chandler says she isn't afraid of the panic now for she took off a hen with 23 little chicks last Sunday.

A crowd of Enterprise boys and girls went to Bethel last Sunday and had a nice time.

Our Sunday school at Prospect is fine.

Come on boys and girls and lets fill the Union-Banner with news.

EXISTING CONDITIONS AT ALA. SOLDIERS' HOME

To the People of the State of Alabama, Greeting:

At the request of some of the inmates of the Soldiers home the writer has been induced to write a few words concerning the existing conditions of the home as viewed by a resident of Mountain Creek.

For some time there has been quite a lot said concerning the management of the home. Some of the inmates have been praying that the investigation committee would render them some assistance, but so far, nothing has been done.

The writer does not wish to assail the management of the present commandant because the evil that strikes the writer most forcibly may be beyond his reach.

The expulsion of the inmates of the home seems to be the worst evil with which they have to contend. It seems that inmates are turned out for the least violation of rules. This in it self does away with the pleasure and contentment that the home ought to afford, as it keeps the inmates in dread.

Captain Jeff Falkner, that grand and notable character who was the father of the home, said to the writer one day before he died that he hoped to make the home a heaven on earth. If it were possible now for him to see his comrades turned out of the home for trival offenses, no doubt that he would turn over in his grave and say that things radically wrong.

The writer believes that there should be rules and regulations, but it seems very cruel indeed to turn those old men out of the home. It seems that a milder form of punishment should or could be introduced. They would not have been turned out of the army during the "Sixties" for similar offenses.

Mr. Morris and wife was expelled from the home almost two years ago and have been living here ever since, supported by the people of this community. From the best information we have at hand it seems that this expulsion was brought about as the result of an argument Mr. Morris had with some one in the home. We understand that others have been expelled for similar offenses.

We understand that it is being rumored in the home now that those who participated in asking for an investigation will be ousted just as soon as the mist has cleared away, if this be true, surely something ought to be done for those who stood amid shot and shell during the "sixties."

In studying the sacred text we have learned that we are once a man, twice a child. This being true we trust that the people of Alabama will bring it to bear upon the minds of their representatives and senators, and ask that they pass a law prohibiting the expulsion of the inmates of the home for trival offenses.

Very truly yours,
Chas. Cooper.

DIVERSIFICATION

Southern farmers and business men are entering the most important period of the present year, namely, the planting season. For years the Federal Department of Agriculture, in common with others who know the weaknesses of Southern Agriculture, has urged a sufficient diversification to make the South self-supporting. It has worked to influence the South to change from all cotton to 'food for its people, fhed for its livestock, and cotton."

In every county in the South the farmers ought, under this plan, to grow their own gardens and can the fruits and vegetables for home use, to grow their own beans peas, potatoes, corn, oats, cane or sorghum for syrup, and their weat supply from poultry, hogs and cattle. The livestock is to consume the waste products of the farm ann to bring profit out of its waste lands. Beyond the needs of every farm there are the home markets of the South which should be supplied from these farms. In almost every community there may be found farmers who are following this programe and prospering as the result. Under this system cotton becomes the great cash crop, strengthened through a self-supporting system of agriculture.

The increased fall seeding of wheat and oats has been encouraging, but the criticai season is here if we are to produce our own food and feed for the livestock. During the planting season the following items should be emphasized:

1. The home garden must be put in and kept going to produce fresh vegetables for the family use and some to can for the winter. Send for the Farmers' Bulletin No. 647. Be sure to raise potatoes, either Irish or sweet, for home use.

2. Carn must be planted on a larger acerage or the South will have to continue to import it in large quantites. A conservative estimate shows that the South imports 105,649,000 bushels of corn annually. We need more of it to supply our farms and the town and city consumption.

3. Plant peas or beans in the corn or seperately. Harvest the viner for hay and gather the peas or beans for food, In some sections pumpkins or squarh may also be raised in the corn.

4. Do not fail to look after the farm poultry. Fifty hens to the family will not cost much to keep and will greatly assist in making the family self-supporting. Good fresh eggs are always in demand.

5. Prepare pastures for the hogs where possible. If every family would raise the pips from not lessthan two sows, on the average, it would help to supply the South with meat.

6. The uncertainty of the market aud the probability that a large amount of cotton will be carried over out of tnis year's crop should influence caution in cotton planting. With this uncertainty the living is the important thing. The Departmen has for years advocated a readjustment of the cotton acreage per farm in order that a better system, founded on self support, might be introduced in place of the presenc system. This means the eeduction of the proportion of each farm devoted to cotton.

Not less than a twenty-five percent reduction on the cotton acreage, on the average, per farm will leave room for the production of the gardene, oats, corn, hay, syrup and livestock necessary in order to make the South self-sustaining as to food for its people and feed for its livestock.

This program is not advocated merely as a temporary makeshift, nor merely for the purpose of cutting down the cotton acreage, but as a permanent and lasting system which orght to be adopted in order to avoid financial and agriculturial uncertainty in the South.

County agents are urged to call these matters to the attention of farmers and business men during the planting season. You will remember that bulletins touching on each of the matters suggested above may be obtained on application to the Department or to your agricultural college.

NOTICE

I will be in the market for cotton seed until April 10th. Those having seed to sell will please bring them on by that time.

SPRAYING FRUIT TREES TO KILL SAN JOSE SCALE

By W. E. Hinds, Entomologist Alabama Experiment Station, Auburn, Ala.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Our most deadly fruit tree enemy is the San Jose scale. The full-grown scale is only about one twenty-fifth inch in diameter, so it is usually overlooked even when abundant. It may kill trees in three years or less.

The best known treatment is to spray during January or February, while the trees are dormant, using what is known as lime-sulphur wash. This material may be purchased in concentrated form of reliable insecticide manufacturers or dealers and needs only to be diluted at the rate of 1 gallon in about 8 gallons of water to make the winter spray. The wash may also be made at home at somewhat lower cost by boiling together for an hour about 15 to 18 lbs. of rock lime and 15 lbs. of sulphur flour or flowers, then diluting this mixture to make 50 gallons of spray.

The good effects of this spraying are so marked that all fruit trees should be treated even if the scale is not present. It improves the health of the trees, controls several other insects than scale and some fungous troubles as well. For further details yet Alabama Experiment Station Bulletin No. 144.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

EVER SALIVATED BY CALOMEL? HORRIBLE!

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for 50 cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a days work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't grige.

Our singing on Easter Sunday was very well attended. The singers did their part well and made some real good music, and the people who listened seemed to be very much interested.

The behavior was all we could ask, and we consider the day was well spent, everybody seemed to enjoy themselves. We are proud there are at least some people around Poplar Springs whohave zeal and courage when they have promised to support a day like this are there to make it a success.

Blue Monday.

In Bavaria and some other parts of Europe the Monday before Lent was at one time known as Blue Monday. The churches were decorated with blue, and the day was kept as a holiday by classes whose ordinary avocation required them to labor on Sunday. As this led to violent disturbances the custom was legally abolished.

Simple Cement.

For mending ornaments and delicate china there is nothing better than rice-flour cement. It is very easily made, it being only necessary to mix rice flour or ground rice thoroughly with cold water, simmering gently over a slow fire until it thickens, thereby forming a most durable adhesive substance which can be used hot or cold, in the usual way.

Of Interest and Importance to all Women

Timely Knowledge on a Subject Which Most Women Happily Anticipate

Among the helpful influences for the expectant mother is a splendid external application known as "Mother's Friend." It enables her to go through the ordeal in comparative comfort. She applies it herself. Her own hand guided by her own mind is her only attendant. She uses it just where required. It is deeply penetrating in its influence, gently lubricates the cords, ligaments and muscles to assist in a perfectly natural and gradual expansion.

It gives no sensation beyond a feeling of relief, a sense of security and a conscious knowledge of physical rest and comfort.

In the best homes throughout the country and in the best drug stores everywhere, "Mother's Friend" for half a century has been the standard.

Many a grandmother today is recommending this splendid help to her daughter just as did her mother before her. Phone or send to the nearest druggist for a bottle of "Mother's Friend." It is perfectly safe, absolutely harmless and wonderfully effective. And then write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 535 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a highly instructive book particularly timely and interesting to all mothers or expectant mothers. It is mailed free. Write today. Don't fail to send for this book.

Gets Right Twist On Rheumatism

Makes Short Work of Cleaning Out Your Entire System—Aches and Pains Go Fast.

In S. S. S. You Get a Twist on Rheumatism that Settles It.

Many a rheumatic sufferer has been to the drug store for a bottle of S. S. S. and been handed something claimed to be "Just as good." Truly, to ask for bread and be given a stone is still in practice. If you are troubled with rheumatism in any form be sure to use S. S. S. and note its wonderful influence.

S. S. S. has the peculiar action of soaking through the intestines directly into the blood. In five minutes its influence is at work in every artery, vein and tiny capillary. Every membrane, every organ of the body, every emunctory becomes in effect a filter to strain the blood of impurities. The stimulating properties of S. S. S. compel the skin, liver, bowels, kidneys, bladder to all work to the one end of casting out every irritating, every pain-inflicting atom of poison; it dislodges by irrigation all accumulations in the joints, causes acid accretions to disolve, renders them neutral and scatters those peculiar formations in the nerve centers that cause such mystifying and often baffling rheumatic pains.

And best of all this remarkable remedy is welcome to the weakest stomach. If you have drugged yourself until your stomach is nearly paralyzed, you will be astonished to find that S. S. S. gives no sensation but goes right to work. This is because it is a pure vegetable infusion, is taken naturally into your blood just as pure air is inhaled naturally into your lungs.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. today, and ask for S. S. S.

You may depend upon it that the store that sells you what you ask for is a good place to trade. Write to the Swift Specific Co., 204 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their Book on Rheumatism.

MRS. SARA BAKER

Mrs. Sara Baker was born March 5, 1868, died March 14, 1915. She joined the Missionary Baptist Church in 1891, and lived a christian life. She leaves a husband and six children; four girls and two boys, and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her departure. She had been in ill health for 15 years. Pneumonia seized her on the 10th of March and she only lived four days. She was laid to rest at Highland cemetery on the 15th of March, Rev. M. J. Parrish conducting the funeral services.

NOW HER FRIENDS HARDLY KNOW HER

But This Does Not Bother Mrs. Burton, Under the Circumstances.

Houston, Texas.—In an interesting letter from this city, Mrs. S. C. Burton writes as follows: "I think it is my duty to tell you what your medicine, Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me.

I was down sick with womanly trouble, and my mother advised several different treatments, but they didn't seem to do me any good. I lingered along for three or four months, and for three weeks, I was in bed, so sick I couldn't bear for any one to walk across the floor.

My husband advised me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic. I have taken two bottles of Cardui, am feeling fine, gained 15 pounds and do all of my housework. Friends hardly know me, I am so well."

If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, don't allow the trouble to become chronic. Begin taking Cardui to-day. It is purely vegetable, its ingredients acting in a gentle, natural way on the weakened womanly constitution. You run no risk in trying Cardui. It has been helping weak women back to health and strength for more than 50 years. It will help you. At all dealers.

WALKER SPARROW CAPTURED IN SELMA

Sheriff Harris and Debuty Gore went over to Selma last Friday after a negro, named Walker Sparrow, who was captured by authorities there, charged with the killing of Lena Wilson, a negro woman, at Riderville, about two years ago.

They also brought back a negro man, named Frank Morris, who is charged with assault with intent to murder. They both were lodged in jail.

NEW SALEM BOYS WIN

The debate that was set to take place at Union Grove Saturday night, April 17, on the subject, Resolved:

That we should add an amendment to the constitution of the U. S. A, for nation wide woman suffrage, came off most brilliantly. Those who represented the affirmative side were Ephriam E. Smith of Clanton and Orville M. Martin of the Chilton County High School, and those who represented the negative side were J. D. Gentry and Burnie F. Martin of New Salem. One of the affirmative speakers, Mr. E. V. Marcus, was not present and Orville M. Martin acted as substitute. The following judges rendered the decision in favor of the negative side, Messrs. Arnold A. Conway of Jemison, Walter Aldridge of Stamps Hill and Nathaniel Smith of Union Grove.

We wish to congratulate Prof. R. A. Smith, Chairman, for his debate for woman sulfrage. He denied the bible points of the New Testament, and said they were the Mosecial laws and they did not pertain to now a days. How do you make that out Mr. Smith? But in spite of the fact that Mr. Smith argued for the affirmative side the negative side were victorous.

We appreciate the large audience and their courtesy toward the boys.

Am glad that our Sunday school is still improving, and we hope to make it better.

The singing at this place Sunday p. m. was fine considering our small crowd. I think we should meet at this place twice a month and sing if we don't our singing is going to go dead.

John Henry Maherg and Herbert Collins attended the entertainment at Mr. W. H. Foshee's Saturduy night.

Miss Lizzis Oden visited Mrs. John Collum Thursday p. m.

Am certainly glad to see so many letters from different communities in our paper, lets try and fill our paper every week and we can if we will but try.

W. C. HEADLEY

On the 10th of April, about midnight, the death angel visited the home of W. C. Headley and wafted his sainted spirit home to the realms of eternal bliss and happiness, to occupy one of those mansions in our Fathers house of which our Savior said there were many, and that he had gone to prepare a place for all of his faithful followers, and that he would come again and receive them to himself.

Brother Headley was a noble citizen, a kind and generous neighbor always ready to lend a helping hand to those in want or distress who came under his observation. He made an honest and good living for himself and family by the toil of his hands.

Brother Headley had lived to the ripe old age of eighty-five years. In conversation with the writer at different times during the last two years he calmly expressed himself as having his business all properly arranged and at perfect peace with his God and only waiting calmly waiting the call of the master to come up higher, he said he was fully ready and prepared. He was laid to rest in Walnut Creek cemetery at eleven o'clock on the 12th, the funeral services being conducted by Rev. James Dubose, attended by a large concourse of friends and sorrowing relatives.

May his honest and upright life be an inspiration to his children and grand children is the prayer of the writer who loved him as a brother.

A. C. Mims.

SARDIS

Health in this community is very good at present. Everybody seems to be enjoying this sunshiny weather.

The singing at this place Sunday p. m. was enjoyed by a very large crowd, but not as large a crowd as we would like to see. There will be singing and Sunday school at this place every Sunday evening. Everybody come and let's have better singing and Sunday school.

We are glad to see the young people take more interest in the prayer meeting. Come young men and women and let's make the prayer services better. FRANK NOW HAS BUT LITTLE HOPE

Only Executive Clemency Now Stands Between Frank and Execution

Atlanta, April 19.—Leo M. Frank's attorneys, when informed of the decision today of the United States supreme court, said that they believed that every means in Frank's behalf before the courts now had been exhausted. They added that they now probably would prepare a petition for presentation before the Georgia prison commission, asking for commutation of Frank's sentence.

"I am very much disappointed over the supreme court's decision, but I will keep up the fight," said Leo M. Erank when informed that his habeas corpus case had gone against him.

He refused to add to this statement.

The mandate of the supreme court as received here is expected to be received verbatim by the federal district court authorities in a few days. On its arrival Solicitor General Dorsey probably will request that Frank be arrainged before the Fulton county supreme court for resentence,

Bill of Rights.

The bill of rights is a declaration of fundamental principles deemed basic to the Constitution itself and borrowed from the English bill of rights of 1689. When the Constitution of the United States was framed and submitted to the people it did not have a bill of rights and it was so harshly criticized on this account that its friends promised to incorporate or add such a declaration, and the first ten amendments to the Constitution, made after the main instrument was adopted, were in fulfillment of this promise. All the State Constitutions now have bills of rights, practically identical with one another.

EFFECT OF GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY SOON REALIZED

I feel it my duty to let you know what Swamp-Root did for me. I was bothered with my back for over twenty years and at times I could hardly get out of bed. I read your advertisement and decided to try Swamp-Root. Used five bottles, and have never been bothered a day since I took the last bottle of it. I am thoroughly convinced that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root cured me and would recommend it to others suffering as I did.

My husband was troubled with kidney and bladder troubles and he took your Swamp-Root and it cured him. This was about five years ago.

You may publish this letter if you choose.

Very truly yours,
MRS. MATTIE CAMFIELD,
R. F. D. No. 3 Globeville, Mich

WALL CRASHES INTO TWO STORES IN BIRMINGHAM

Hann's Shoe Store and A. & P. Tea Store Wrecked. 12 Thought Dead.

More than a dozen people are thought to have been killed and a score are known to have been injured when the five-story wall of the old Steele-Smith building on Second Avenue burned several months ago, crashed down on the Hann Shoe Store and the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. store in Birmingham Wednesday afternoon. Both stores were crowded with shoppers.

The wall fell during a heavy rain storm. Eye witnesses state lightning struck the wall, while others claim the high wind caused the crash.

SUGGESTIVE CROPPING PLAN FOR TWO-HORSE FARM

By J. F. Duggar, Director of Alabama Experiment Station and Extension Service.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

There is no one best plan. The following is offered with a hope that it may contain suggestions that farmers can incorporate into the plans for their individual farms. This is based on 50 acres of cultivated land to the two-horse team—in addition to a permanent pasture:

Acres.
- 20 corn with cowpeas or velvet beans between rows;
- 15 cotton;
- 8 oats;
- 2 sweet potatoes;
- 2 Spanish peanuts—successive plantings;
- 1 early sorghum for hay;
- 1 early cowpeas for producing seed for the late crop;
- ½ for garden and truck crops;
- ½ sugar cane or sorghum for syrup.

If four acres of the oat land be inclosed it may be used for a winter pasture. If so, at least five pounds of rape may be harrowed in among the growing oats. Crabgrass, etc., in the same inclosure may constitute an extra summer pasture, or peanuts or soy beans may be planted here for hogs. At least four acres of the oat land should produce two crops; the second one may be cowpeas. In the central and southern parts of the cotton belt a very early variety of cowpeas (such as New Era) planted early will mature seed in July, or just in time for planting a late crop for hay.

If eight acres have not been planted in fall oats most of that area may be planted in cowpeas for seed or hay, or a part in additional peanuts.

BIDS WANTED.

In pursuance to an order made and adopted by the Court of County Commissioners of Chilton County, Alabama, at their meeting held April 5, 1915, I, E. B. Deason, Judge of Probate, have requested to be published the following notice: Notice is hereby given that at a regular meeting of the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Alabama, held at Clanton, Alabama, on the 5th day of April, 1915, an order was made and adopted providing for the building or constructing of a first grade public road fram the five mile post on the public road now leading fram Clanton to Lock 12, on the Coosa River, to yellow leaf creek at or near where said road now crosses said creek.

Said road to be built by grading, graveling or cherting, the work to be done by contract to be let to the lowest responsible bidder under sealed bids to be deposited with the Judge of Probate on or before the 17th day of May, 1915.

Said bids shall set forth the number of miles in length and the kind of road, whether graded, cherted or graveled and the charge per yard for each kind. The said bids shall be made upon plans and specifications to be prepared by R. L. Kenan, County Engineer, of said County. The payment for the building of said Highway to be made by the County by issuing warrants payable in annual installments from one to four years. All persons offering to bid upon said contract for the building of said road, or any section or number of miles of the same, may deposit their bids in sealed envelopes marked "bids for County Road Work," and addressed to the Commissioners Court, on or before 12 o'clock the 17th day of May, 1915, at which time said bids will be passed upon by the Court. The Court reserves the right to reject any or all bids made. Contractors bidding will be required, as evidence of good faith in making bids, to deposit with said bids a certified check for $300.00, or deposit the same with the Judge of Probate on or before said bids are opened and passed upon by the Court.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

UGH! CALOMEL MASES YOU DEATHLY SICK

Stop using dangerous drug before it salivates you! It's horrible!

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and starighten you right up better than calomel without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate, so let them eat anything afterwards.

Of Interest and Importance to all Women

Timely Knowledge on a Subject Which Most Women Happily Anticipate

Among the helpful influences for the expectant mother is a splendid external application known as "Mother's Friend." It enables her to go through the ordeal in comparative comfort. She applies it herself. Her own hand guided by her own mind is her only attendant. She uses it just where required. It is deeply penetrating in its influence, gently lubricates the cords, ligaments and muscles to assist in a perfectly natural and gradual expansion.

It gives no sensation beyond a feeling of relief, a sense of security and a conscious knowledge of physical rest and comfort.

In the best homes throughout the country and in the best drug stores everywhere, "Mother's Friend" for half a century has been the standard.

Many a grandmother today is recommending this splendid help to her daughter just as did her mother before her. Phone or send to the nearest druggist for a bottle of "Mother's Friend." It is perfectly safe, absolutely harmless and wonderfully effective. And then write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 535 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a highly instructive book particularly timely and interesting to all mothers or expectant mothers. It is mailed free. Write today. Don't fail to send for this book.

All Blood Disorders Quickly Driven Away

Astonishing Results With the Greatest Blood Purifier Ever Discovered.

Strength, Power, Accomplishment are all Typified in S. S. S.

Some blood disorders become deeply rooted in the glands and tissues, and the mistake is made of resorting to drastic drugs. These only aggravate by causing other and worse troubles. A host of people know this to be true. They know from painful experience.

To get right down into where the blood is vitiated requires S. S. S. the greatest blood purifier ever discovered.

This remarkable remedy contains one ingredient, the active purpose of which is to stimulate the tissues to the healthy selection of its own essential nutriment and the medicinal elements of this matchless blood purifier are just as essential to well balanced health as the nutritious elements of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food.

Not only this, but if from the presence of some disturbing poison there is a local or general interference of nutrition to cause boils, carbuncles, abscesses and kindred troubles, S. S. S. so directs the local cells that this poison is rejected and eliminated from their presence.

Then, too, S. S. S. has such specific stimulation on these local cells as to preserve their mutual welfare and a proper relative assistance to each other.

In a very brief time S. S. S. has the reconstructive process so under control that remarkable changes are obseved. All eruptive places heal, mysterious pains and aches have disappeared, and from head to foot there is a conscious sensation of renewed health.

From the fact that S. S. S. is purely a botanical preparation, it is accepted by the weakest stomach and has great tonic influence. Not one drop of drugs or minerals is used in its preparation. Ask for S. S. S. and insist upon having it. And if you desire skillful advice upon any matter concerning the blood and skin write to The Swift Specific Co., 205 Swift Bldg, Atlanta, Ga. Do not allow some zealous clerk to larrup the atmosphere in eloquence over something "Just as good" as S. S. S. Beware of all counterfeits.

Haydn and Church Music.

Carpani, the poet, once asked a friend, Haydn, "how it happened that his church music was almost always of an animating cheerful and even gay description." To this Hadyn's answer was: "I cannot make it otherwise. I write according to the thoughts which I feel. When I think upon God my heart is so full of joy that the notes dance and leap, as it were, from my pen, and since God has given me a cheerful heart, it will be easily forgiven me that I serve him with a cheerful spirit."

Those to Be Envied.

Those are most to be envied who soonest learn to expect nothing for which they have not worked hard, and who never acquire the habit of pitying themselves overmuch, even if in after life they happen to work in vain.—Lord Macaulay.

NOW HER FRIENDS HARDLY KNOW HER

But This Does Not Bother Mrs. Burton, Under the Circumstances.

Houston, Texas.—In an interesting letter from this city, Mrs. S. C. Burton writes as follows: "I think it is my duty to tell you what your medicine, Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me.

I was down sick with womanly trouble, and my mother advised several different treatments, but they didn't seem to do me any good. I lingered along for three or four months, and for three weeks, I was in bed, so sick I couldn't bear for any one to walk across the floor.

My husband advised me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic. I have taken two bottles of Cardui, am feeling fine, gained 15 pounds and do all of my housework. Friends hardly know me, I am so well."

If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, don't allow the trouble to become chronic. Begin taking Cardui to-day. It is purely vegetable, its ingredients acting in a gentle, natural way on the weakened womanly constitution. You run no risk in trying Cardui. It has been helping weak women back to health and strength for more than 50 years. It will help you. At all dealers.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Although the regular routine of the High School work has been slightly affected by the practicing for the commencement. The school as a whole is moving on nicely. The final examinations are now being had which also creates some disturbance.

The Sesemean Society met Tuesday evening in the auditorium and delivered their last program for this session of school. A large crowd composed of almost all the high school pupils together with several outside visitors were present.

A very attractive commencement is anticipated. Almost an entire week is going to be devoted to that part of the work.

REPLY TO NEW SALEM BOYS

I notice in last week's paper that the New Salem boys were very jubilant over their victory at Union Grove on the subject of Woman Suffrage, and in their jubilation got things mixed up.

They seemed to intimate that I argued in favor of the Affirmative side during the debate which is a mistake, as they know.

The talk I made was after the judges retired and only to entertain the congregation while waiting for the judges who, as the boys know, were out of the house.

They also got wrong further in their write up of the debate in stating that I denied anything of the New Testament. I did state that what they read as points from the New Testament referred to the old Moseical Laws which I still say.

I do not wish to enter into any discussion of this subject through the paper but hereby challenge them, Messrs J. D. Gentry and Burney Martin, to meet me in debate any time and at any place which they may select, and I will then answer their question to their entire satisfaction. The other boys who were to meet them also wish me to extend the challenge for them.

Respectfully,
R. A. Smith.

NEW SALEM NEWS

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

The following are the subjects at the Baptist Church for discussion by Rev. H. W. Fancher:

Sunday a. m., "Our Name."

Sunday p. m., "In School with Christ."

Everybody invited to come out to these services.

PACE MAKERS

Safe and rapid transportation is a fundamental business necessity.

While the rates paid the transportation companies are fixed by laws enacted by the people, thus preventing competition in price, there is nevertheless keen competition in the excellence of service rendered.

For instance, a shipper is required to pay a railroad of slow schedule and inferior equipment just as much as he pays to the L. & N. for a fast schedule, superior equipment and prompt service.

Consequently the L. & N. gets the bulk of business going out of its territory, and the bulk of the foreign shipments coming into its territory.

This result has stimulated other railroads that compete with the L. & N. They have of necessity had to maintain equipment and render good service, or else lose the business.

What the public demands of a railroad is Service.

Therefore the efforts of the L. & N. to retain its position of pre-eminence in the railroad world, and the efforts of its competitors to keep the pace, has been of direct benefit to the general public.

Larger and more powerful engines; better box cars of greater capacity; straight tracks with low grades; more comfortable coaches for passengers; faster schedules and perfect safety—these are the many transportation facilities afforded the general public by the L. & N.

All at the same price the public is required to pay to a railroad not offering similar facilities.

It is not in a spirit of disparagement that this statement of facts is made. The L. & N. wishes simply to keep the people informed concerning the facilities it offers, the service rendered, and the policy of progressiveness.

We believe these matters will commend the L. & N. to the favorable consideration of the shipping and traveling public and merit the good will of the people throughout the territory.

EVERGREEN

Everybody in this community is getting along all right as far as I know.

Everybody is just about thro' planting, but we are afraid that the dry weather well injure our crops.

We had a large crowd out at our Sunday School last Sunday. We have enrolled at present 86.

There was an enjoyable singing on Saturday night at E. B Prickett's. Cake was served to all present.

The people of this community met on last Friday afternoon and cleaned up the school house.

We are expecting some good recitations the second Sunday in May, and some good singing too.

Several from here went to the singing at Mr. Letts' on last Sunday night and they report a good singing.

DECORATION DAY AT THE SOLDIERS' HOME

On last Sunday the people of Chilton County certainly acquitted themselves splendidly at the Old Alabama Soldiers' Home, near Mountain Creek.

It would be unfair to attempt to mention the names of those that were present, in fact the crowd was so large that it looked as if all sections of Chilton County had sent its citizens to strew flowers on the graves of the old men, who, when they were young, stood up for Alabama and the Southland during the "dark days" of 1861-5.

Capt. J. M. Simpson, Veteran Samuel Andress, Mrs. Bessie Hestle, of Nashville, Tenn., Miss Lucy Simpson, of Birmingham, Adjutant J. A. Crowley, Mrs. Carrie McMasters, Mr. Cleveland Kicker, and the genial Dr. J. P. Elsberry, are severally entitled to the credit for the splendid success of the day.

Then, to Mrs. Bashinsky, of Troy, Mrs. Mitchell, of Montgomery, and Mr. Andrews, who entertained the veterans and visitors in the Auditorium Hall, it is needless to say more than that efforts were appreciated and highly esteemed.

The Sunday School children, assisted by visitors and veterans, placed the flowers on the graves of the dead Confederates, and at 5 o'clock the good people had left for their homes knowing that they had participated in a sad duty. W. P. T.

CHILTON COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION

As before announced the Chilton County Singing Convention met with Mt. Moriah the 4th Sunday in April and spent a real successful day singing praises to God.

The body was called to order at 10:15 by the President with song. Prayer by Chaplain.

R. A. Smith, L. T. Grant, A. H. Glasscock, S. M. Yates and T. Cofer directed fifteen minuets each. We were then dismissed for dinner which was served in abundance. We were called to order again at 1:30, song by President, and then R. A. Smith, L. T. Grant, A. H. Glasscock, M. C. Crumpton and J. L. Harris directed twenty minutes each. We had one duet by the President and his daughter, Miss Eva Franklin, which was fine indeed.

This meeting was a grand success as we had a full class of singers and a house full of interested listeners.

The Organists for the day were Misses Eva Franklin and Gennie Collins and Mr. Lee Grant. At the close of the services the congregation sang "Abide with me," led by President, and prayer by A. H. Glasscock.

F. Iven Popwell,
Secretary.

ENDORSED HENDERSON

A number of Chilton County citizens and old veterans met at the Alabama Soldiers' Home and passed resolutions endorsing the administration of Governor Henderson. They stressed Mr. Henderson's success in borrowing a million dollars with which he intends to keep the financial condition of the State afloat. W.P.T.

THE MERCHANT AND THE COMMUNITY.

The small town merchant is a necessity, and that which is necessary should be protected. The community needs his wares as much as he needs the community cash.

But not every small town merchant is alive to his opportunities and his obligations.

Many of them fall by the wayside because of their ignorance of or indifference to the rights of the public.

Fifty years ago the town merchant sat in his store and waited for business to come to him.

Today the successful merchant is a hunter—he must go out gunning for customers—and his ammunition is his stock in trade and his gun is the local newspaper.

Country people of today are as intelligent and up to date as the r city cousins, and they gauge the merchant by his own actions.

If he is a hustler—if he keeps his store clean, his goods neatly displayed, his advertisement running regularly in the local paper—he attracts the public eye, and the public follows its eye.

But a clean store, neatly displayed goods and newspaper advertising are not the only requisites to a successful mercantile career.

The country merchant should not bank too much on the fact that he is a necessity.

He should be progressive—constantly bidding for trade—devising means of bettering the condition of the consumers, and acquainting them of the fact. He should consider their welfare, as well as his own.

The merchant should have one iron creed, and that creed should never be broken. He should treat all custome's alike, never misrepresent his goods, and keep his shelves well stocked with truth

He should be considerate of other business men in the community, for their rights are as great as his own. They do not own the town, and neither does he.

He should join wholeheartedly in movements for building up and expanding the business interests of the community, for success is only found on the topmost rounds of the ladder.

The merchant who has built up a reputation as a public spirited man, as one who labors for the well being of the whole community, never lacks for customers at his store.

They migrate toward his door as naturally as the birds fly south in winter.

Such merchants gain the confidence of the people, for the people know that the same intelligence and fair mindeness which he exerts in behalf of the community will be extended to his customers in commercial life

Most country towns have a few such merchants in their midst, and the community is the better off for their presence.

You invariably find their advertisements in the local papers, telling of the merits of the wares they have to sell, and giving the people that information to which they are clearly entitled,

Such business men are successful, because their methods of business and their very attitudes breathe success.

They have many customers, because the people admire a hustler.

This town is located in a good community, and it should have a bright future ahead of it.

But it depends upon us alone.

We have some good business men in this town.

They are well supplied with brains, and those brains are capable of accomplishing great results.

Indviidually they can do much, but collectively they can revolutionize trading conditions of this community.

The money that is being daily sent away for goods might just as well be spent at our local stores—and would be, if the merchants arose to the opportunities before them.

It it the easiest thing in the world to keep the money at home, for consumers are not fools.

Just keep the goods the people want, and of the quality they want.

Sell those goods at a fair margin of profit, thereby competing in quality and price with the outsider.

Then advertise persistently—keep the home goods constantly in the mind of the consumer—awaken him to the fact that it is as much to his interest as to yours to keep his money in circulation at home.

When you convince the consumer that you have the goods that he wants, and that they can be purchased here just as cheaply as elsewhere, he will keep his money at home by trading at home.

The people want a live community, and are willing to support live business men.

Who is in the live class? Speak up, gentlemen—speak up!

I feel it my duty to let you know what Swamp-Root did for me. I was bothered with my back for over twenty years and at times I could hardly get out of bed. I read your advertisement and decided to try Swamp-Root. Used five bottles, and have never been bothered a day since I took the last bottle of it. There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

WILT RESISTANT COTTON VARIETIES

COOK NO. 307-6—NEW WILT RESISTANT STRAIN ORIGINATED AT AUBURN

Yields Well, and Turns Out About 35 Per Cent. Lint—Is Not an Early Variety.

By E. F. Cauthen, Associate Agriculturist, Alabama Experiment Station, Auburn, Ala.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

The number of wilt resistant varieties of cotton has increased during the past few years. The farmer who has wilt or blackroot in his cotton land can select from them a variety that conforms to his ideas of a good cotton.

None of the varieties are entirely immune to wilt or nematode injury, but any of those mentioned below will increase the yield from almost nothing on badly infested lands to almost one hundred per cent. of a crop.

DILLON. Of the different wilt resistant varieties Dillon is the oldest, and withstands the disease to a greater extent than any other variety. However, it is not well liked by many farmers because it grows very tall on fertile land and because the bolls form in clusters, are small, and difficult to pick. It yields well, and turns out about 35 per cent. lint. It is not an early variety.

WOOD. A variety grown extensively on southeast Alabama, known under the name of Wood, Sam Wood, Bass, or Anti-blight, is somewhat like the Dillon in that it has small bolls, is late, and makes a very large growth on fertile land. It is unlike Dillon in that it has several wood-limbs, longer fruit limbs and is much easier picked.

COVINGTON-TOOLE WILT RESISTANT. This variety makes a small plant, is early, has small bolls and picks easily. It yields well and turns out about 36 per cent. of lint.

The wilt resisting variety of Covington-Toole should be distinguished from ordinary Covington-Toole, which does not resist wilt disease or nematodes.

DIXIE. Dixie is a small-boll, long-limb, variety that has proven very satisfactory on badly infested lands. It is medium early, not hard to pick, and yields a good per cent. of lint.

COOK 307-6. This is a new strain of Cook, originated by the Alabama Experiment Station. It has medium size bolls, picks very easy, is early, yields well and turns out a good per cent. of lint. There are very few seed of this strain, as it has not yet been grown extensively. The supply of seed has been exhausted.

TRI-COOK. This is a new variety that is promising. It combines some of the good qualities of both Cook and Triumph.

There are some other good wilt resistant varieties, but for lack of space they are not described here.

PREVENTING WORMY PEACHES

Two or Three Sprayings With Arsenate of Lead Will Do the Work.

By W. E. Hinds, Entomologist, Alabama Experiment Station, Auburn.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

The worms occurring in peaches, plums, etc., are the grubs of a weevil known as the plum curculio. These weevils pass the winter as adult beetles, emerging in the spring by the time peach trees begin to bloom. They occur also abundantly on the wild plums which are commonly permitted to grow in thickets on our farms. By the time the peaches have passed full bloom, the curculios occur on them in large numbers and if nothing is done to control them there is little chance of producing profitable crops of attractive fruit.

It is easily possible, however, so to control the curculio as to produce from 95 to 98 per cent. of perfectly sound fruit instead of losing from 50 to 90 per cent. as is commonly the case where no treatment is applied. The treatment consists in applying two or three sprayings to the young fruit. The first sraying should be made in from 10 to 15 days after the trees are in full bloom or at the time that the blooms are beginning to slip away from the young fruits. In this spraying use at the rate of 1 1-2 or 2 lbs. of neutral arsenate of lead with about 3 lbs. of freshly slaked lime per barrel of 50 gals. of water. After about two weeks give a second spraying using about 2 lbs. neutral arsenate of lead with each barrel; but in this case instead of using simply the lime solution, put the arsenate of lead into what is known as self-boiled lime-sulfur solution. Directions for making the self-boiled lime-sulfur are given in Alabama Bulletin No. 152. The use of these two materials together saves one spraying as it controls both the curculio and the brown rot at the same time. To secure very best results, a third spraying may be needed about two weeks after the second, using the same combination of materials as for the second treatment. Alabama Press Bulletin No. 44 describes this work more fully.

The remainder of the game went wholly in favor of the Wetumpka boys, the ninth inning bringing about a score of six to thirteen in favor of the visitors.

Haydn and Church Music.

Carpani, the poet, once asked a friend, Haydn, "how it happened that his church music was almost always of an animating, cheerful and even gay description." To this Hadyn's answer was: "I cannot make it otherwise. I write according to the thoughts which I feel. When I think upon God my heart is so full of joy that the notes dance and leap, as it were, from my pen, and since God has given me a cheerful heart, it will be easily forgiven me that I serve him with a cheerful spirit."

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND MAKES YOU SICK

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when 50 cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.

Saturday: The Convention was called to order by the President, J. W. Hayes, who directed the opening song, Amazing Grace. Prayer by Rev. J. N. Scott.

By order of the committee on program the following directors occupied the floor during the day: Profs. Lawley, Williams, Vandiver, W. R. and J. N. Scott, the Vice President, W. T. and H. H. Armstrong, Dobbs, Hodgens, Langston, Jackson Brothers, and Misses Ida Scott and Leila Davis.

Sunday: Opening song by the President. Prayer by Prof. Lawley. Directors for the day as follows: Vice President, Profs. Scott, Lawley, W. T. and H. H. Armstrong, Teel, Davis, Holdritch, Conway, Williams, Vandiver, Culpepper, Jackson Brothers, Hodgens, Franklin, Morris, Miss Henry Lee Sanders and the Secretary.

It was a good Convention. The people came in great numbers, we doubt if Cedar Grove ever entertained as large a crowd in all her history. Weather was ideal. Dinner was rich and bountiful.

One feature of the Convention was the talk and directing by the venerable Prof. Dobbs whos age is nearing the century mark. Another was the nice directing by the young ladies.

We thank the people of Cedar Grove for their kindness and hospitality. We particular thank the ones who placed the beautiful flowers in our midst.

The session will be held at Beth Salem near Pletcher on the 1st Sunday in September.

To the great author of music be all the prrise.

Secretary.

ALECK RUSS

Veteran Aleck Russ, aged 87 years, died at his home near Cooper and was buried in the cemetery at Clanton, April 30. The deceased served during the civil war in the 13th Alabama Regiment.

VETERAN'S WIDOW MAY STAY AT SOLDIERS HOME

Veteran L. A. Scott, Company B. Fifty-Ninth Alabama Regiment, died at the Alabama Soldiers' Home.

The deceased was 70 years old.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sarah Scott, who can remain in the Home if she so desires, and receive the benefit by act of the Legislature which was passed on the request of Captain J. M. Simpson, providing that all widows of veterans who were connected with the Home at the time of the veteran's death are entitled to remain.

This is pleasing to the commandant, as heretofore he has had to cause the widows' withdrawal from the Home at the death of the husband. The remains were buried in the Home Cemetery.

HIGH SCHOOL CARNIVAL WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

In spite of bad weather a large and enthusiastic crowd turned out to enjoy the Carnival Friday night. The gates opened at 7:30 with outdoor attractions. The Gypsy Dance was a feature of the evening. This took place on the campus in front of the building.

Then there was "Ballin' the Jack" a dance performed by Reuben Popwell in costume.

The old plantation minstrel held in the auditorium drew a large crowd with its music and jokes. Miss Libbie McKee was especially good in her monologue on "matrimony and the trials thereof." After this there were the Freaks, Sleeping beauty, Blue Beard and Goldilocks all of which were extremely creditable to the actors and drew a very large crowd. All of the Carnival folks deserve credit but mention can be made of only a few. Among those who reflected especial glory on themselves were the "Speelers" Messrs. Wesley Adams and Oliver Mullins, who kept the crowd in front of their shows shrieking with laughter at their remarks.

The proceeds of this entertainment, $30.00, will be used to furnish some reference books for the school library.

MAPLESVILLE NEWS

Last week a Woodman Circle was organized here with a large number of charter members. The Woodmen of the World and the Circle carry most excellent fraternal insurance.

Friday night, April 30, a large number went from here to Plantersville, Ala. to be present at the closing exercises of the Plantersville public school. The exercises were excellent and showed the result of good training at home and school.

Mr. Crayton Calloway went to Montgomery Monday.

Dr. Kinkade of Jemison was a visitor to Maplesville last Tuesday.

The school at Maplesville will close next Monday night, May 10th, We are going to have a program for the entertainment of the parents, citizens and all the visitors. We hope to make the closing exercises a success.

DRAMATIC CLUB ENTERTAINMENT HIGH SCHOOL

A chaste, classical and beautiful entertainment was given at the High School auditorium last Tuesday night, under the auspices of the Dramatic Club.

The plays of "Fennel," and "Game of Comedy," were well chosen and the parts rendered by Mitchell Foshee, Omar Reynolds, John Burnett and Wesley Adams showed careful preparation. Frank Palmer especially delighted his many friends, who take delight in his ready talents.

Misses Haynes and Smith both exhibited rare dramatic talent. The music by the orchestra, composed of Misses Reynolds, Heath, Matthews and Stanfield was superb.

The vocal numbers rendered by the Quartet, composed of Julian Lathem, Dr. Hopkins, Robert Kenan and Palmer were delightful in the fullest, and the audience exhibited every token of appreciation for their splendid voices.

Those who failed to attend missed a real treat.

THORSBY NEWS

A new and important industry has been secured for Thorsby, in the purchase by Mr. F. E. Gronquist, of an up-to-date Roller Flouring Mill of 30 barrels daily capacity. Mr. Gronquist has had this matter in contemplation for several months, believing that Thorsby and Chilton county offer a good field for such an enterprise. He already owns a corn and feed Mill with a 20 horse power Gasoline Engine which will be made part of the equipment of his new mill to be built and opened sometime during the summer.

Mr. Gronquist has the advantage of a thorough knowledge of the Flour Mill Business, from building and equipment of the plant, to the production of high grade flour, having spent many years as a millwright, and operator of high class flour mills, he knows the business from the ground up.

The opening of such an enterprise marks a long step in progressive farming for Chilton county. Any industry that enables the farmer to turn his raw material into a finished product at low cost is a direct help to him on the road to prosperity.

The Faculty of Thorsby Institute elected for the ensuing year consists of Rev. S. H. Herbert, Principal; Miss Helen C. Jenkins, Associate Principal; Miss May Stoddard, Miss Effie Pittman, Mrs. J. A. Hunter and Rev. E. W. Butler for the literary department, Miss Ruth Lassfolk, Music Department and Miss Elizabeth Hoopes, Matron and Domestic Science. All but Mrs. Hunter are at present members of the Faculty.

Mr. George W. Derry, of Lowell, Mass., has been engaged as Superintendent of Industries of Thorsby Institute, and has arrived and taken up the work. One of the objects of his employment is to so direct the work of students who are earning their expenses, that it will as far as possible provide necessities for the Boarding Department from the products of the School Farm.

CLOSING EXERCISES OF COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

Friday night, May 7th, the initial number of the Chilton County High School closing exercises will be rendered by the pupils of the 7th grade.

Saturday is Seventh Grade day for the County. Do not fail to hear the address for this occasion by Hon. Spright Dowel of the department of Education. Others will also speak. Diplomas will be awardad to more than a hundred seventh grade pupils who passed successfully the seventh grade examination.

This will be a memorable day for these aspiring little fellows, and they would feel keenly disappointed if parents and friends were not present to share in their triumph.

Sunday, the Commencement Sermon will be preached by Dr. E. D. McDougal, President of the Men's Presbyterian College at Anniston, at the High School auditorium. Both the Baptist and Methodist Churches have yielded their regular services to this, and all will join in the commencement service. The school is to be congratulated on securing this eminent devine, and scholar.

To appraise the value of a smile, look up the breach of promis suits.

All the world loves a lover, but the maiden loves him best of all—if his cash holds out.

Of course he who laughs last laughs best. But what about the fellow who never laughs at all?

A self made man and a tailor made woman are shining examples of present day possibilities.

Roosevelt and Barnes got a heap of front page advertising, but its value is yet to be determined.

An ad in this paper is as convincing as a flea beneath your undershirt. It produces quick action.

With good times hanging onto our coat tails the proper stunt is for us to stop yelling "wolf" and go to work.

'Tis said a Missouri farmer is raising elephants on his farm. Does this portend a strike among the mules?

When you hear a man denouncing kissing as vulgar, just write him down as one who has sought and found not.

And now Mexico wants this country to kick Huerta from our peaceful shores. What a handicap is neutrality!

Gentle Spring—but the subject is too overworked, time worn and bedraggled for our versatile pen.

An old bachelor is never so happy as when telling of the many charming women who have yearned to call him hubby.

They say General Villa is reaching the end of his rope. But Pancho hopes it will not be attached to a strong limb.

A dollar spent on the streets of this town is worth ten times the amount to the people who have to walk them. Spend it!

It begins to look as though Italy might grab off all of the benefits of war without doing any of the fighting. Great heads!

Germs are abroad and scientists are warning us against the awful effects of kissing. Hang the scientists—and on with the kiss!

A man in love for the first time often wonders what has struck him. The same feeling usually assails the woman a few years after marriage.

To send money away for your goods when you can buy them just as cheaply right here at home is like robbing your baby to feed a stranger's dog.

Only our well known spirit of neutrality prevents our expressing an opinion of the fellow who reads his neighbor's paper and then gives the paper a roast.

"Time is everything," said a local banker to the tramp.

"Yep! And I've got a mortgage on the world," was the reply as he assumed a comfortable position for his hourly snooze.

Prosperity? The old girl is hitting the high places in her eagerness to envelope us in her golden arms. That fellow who owed us five bones on subscription blew in and elevated us to the Vanderbilt class yesterday. Next!

BOTH ENDS AND THE MIDDLE.

The Retailer—the Newspaper—the Consumer.

There you have it—both ends and the middle—and the three working in harmony should make any community prosperous.

The one cannot prosper without the other, and neither can meet with success without the cooperation of the other two.

Therfeore, to achieve prosperity for this community it becomes the pasamount duty of all concerned to work in harmony—to labor to one common end to protect the homes that give us shelter and to conserve the interest of the people who constitute the community.

We may make of this community a hive of industry and a realm of peace, prosperity and happiness—or we may just drift along with the tide, pick up the crumbs that are thrown our way, and grumble because the Lord provides for others and apparently forgets our existence.

It will be as we make it—no other way.

The Lord has provided us with intelligence, and health, and energy, and the power to accomplish things.

With that his work is done, and the rest is up to us.

If we make the best of that which He has given us we will soon become prosperous, and happy, and contented—a people enjoying to the fullest of life's blessings.

But if we neglect the gifts with which He has endowed us the penalty of failure will fall upon our own shoulders—the responsibility will be ours alone—the commercial stagnation of our common community will be but the natural sequence of our own short sightedness.

No community will prosper without the presence of a variety stores, shops and other marks of commerce and trade. They are as necessary as the ground that we till and the sun and rain that produce our crops.

No store or shop can survive without the loyal support of the community—the whole community.

The interests of the retailer and the consumer are one in common—the success of the one depends upon the cooperation of the other.

But these two interests that should be working in harmony are often too wide apart—separated by a yawning gulf of indifference and neglect.

And the body politic—the community as a whole—suffers, and stagnates, and withers and dies.

But there is a remedy.

And herein comes the province of the middleman—this newspaper.

From a commercial standpoint the local newspaper is simply a "go between"—it is the medium of carrying the message from the merchant to the consumer.

The consumer reads the paper, and if he sees nothing in its advertising columns of which he stands in need it is but natural that in many cases he should drift to other points for his wares.

The local business man is forgotten simply because he does not advertise—because he is slower than his out of town competitor.

But if the merchant is alive to his opportunities, if he uses the advertising columns of the paper to bring his goods to the favorable attention of the buyer, then he is meeting competition, is making an effective bid for the home trade, and invariably achieves prosperity.

Men of brains realize that it is to their own individual interests to foster their own community by trading with their home institutions.

But the seeker—the buyer—never goes to a haystack for a needle.

He follows the lure of the well written advertisement, and if that advertisement happens to be an out of town concern using another paper, then it is generally the out of town retailer who gets the business.

But the remedy should be applied.

The two ends and the middle should get closer together for the common good of the community.

The local retailer and the consumer are the two ends, with this paper as the middle, and if all will unite in the common cause there will be but one verdict—PROSPERITY.

This paper stands willing to do its part.

The consumer is willing to do his part—is waiting for the message from the retailer.

Our advertising columns will carry the message

But what of the retailer?

Will he send that message for which the consumer is waiting?

Or will he remain passive and let stagnation become the common lot because the message is never told, because the community cash floats out to other points? He will render the final verdict.

CEDAR GROVE.

Everybody is feeling better in this community after our singing Convention on the past Saturday and Sunday.

A large crowd attended, and we had good behavior from all. Many good leaders sang. The most enjoyable feature of the convention was the lesson directed by W. F. Culpepper of Clanton and assisted by his pretty daughter. What is more lovely to God and man than a sweet girl in her teens playing the dear old songs of zion? We hope to have Miss Culpepper back in our community. We also hope for other days in song to come to Cedar Grove again.

TO PEOPLE INTERESTED IN CLANTON CEMETERY

The Civic Improvement Club requests everyone that has a personal lot at cemetery to clean it off by May 11th, as that day is set apart by Club to clesn up at cemetery.

The Club don't clean the lots of people who live in Clanton and can look after them, and they should have pride enough to do so as well as love and respect for their dead.

Please see to your fences being fixed that need it as the ones that are falling will be removed from grounds by the Club. We don't care to have any hard feelings, but the cemetery has been neglected so long we feel that somebody ought to make it their business to keep it clean.

Fix your fences--the Club wants to paint them later.

Cultivate Observation.

To behold is not necessarily to observe, and the power of comparing and combining is only to be obtained by education. It is much to be regretted that habits of exact observation are not cultivated in our schools. To this deficiency may be traced much of the fallacious reasoning and the false philosophy which prevails.—W. Humboldt.

EFFECT OF GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY SOON REALIZED

I feel it my duty to let you know what Swamp-Root did for me. I was bothered with my back for over twenty years and at times I could hardly get out of bed. I read your advertisement and decided to try Swamp-Root. Used five bottles, and have never been bothered a day since I took the last bottle of it. I am thoroughly convinced that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root cured me and would recommend it to others suffering as I did.

My husband was troubled with kidney and bladder troubles and he took your Swamp-Root and it cured him. This was about five years ago.

You may publish this letter if you choose.

Very truly yours,

TO THRIFTY HOUSEWIVES

With the summer approaching there will be many things you will need for wear and also for the house and the table.

Your husband is the maker, but it is for you to be the saver. He does the accumulating, but the thrifty housewife is just as important in her line of work. If she is careful of her household expenditures the bank account is constantly being increased and the day of eventual affluence is nearer at hand. The thrifty housewife makes the home.

But how are you to practice economy without denying yourself or your household of those things that are necessary to a comfortable existence in life.

It is a very simple and easy matter.

Avoid waste and buy economically. In other words, buy goods of quality, but buy them where you get what you want at a price below the other fellow.

It is useless for us to tell you we have the goods, for you know that. It is equally useless for us to tell you that we make the price, because everybody knows that, too.

Your best method of practicing economy, then, is to trade with us, for this is essentially a store of quality and economy. For the best evidence of the truthfulness of this statement try it yourself, or just take an hour or so and size up the people who pass in and out of our doors. They are thrifty people, and have learned from experience where it is best to trade.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. BOLL WEEVIL AND LATE PLANTING

ADVISABLE TO PLANT EARLY

As Soon as Soil and Air Conditions Promise Rapid and Continuous Growth.

By W. E. Hinds, Entomologist, Alabama Experiment Station, Auburn.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Each year we hear some persons living within the weevil infested area, advising the delaying of cotton planting until unusually late in order to starve out the boll weevils that have lived through the winter. For some reason, this idea seems to have a peculiar attractiveness for cotton planters. Unfortunately, however, the boll weevil cannot be starved out so easily and there is really only about one chance in many hundreds for cotton planted after the first of June in the weevil area to outyield that planted moderately early. The reason for this is that weevils come from winter quarters during a very long period of time. Some are out and look for cotton even before the earliest planted is out of the ground; but even in the latitude of Southern Texas, not all weevils had left their winter quarters before the last week of June or the first week of July.

Under our Alabama conditions, we can never advise unusually late planting of the cotton; neither do we advise extremely early planting because of the danger to the young plants by frosts, and also on account of the danger of plants being stunted by cold. It is advisable to plant as soon as the soil and air conditions promise a rapid and continuous growth of the young plants. Have the ground thoroughly prepared for the seed, properly fertilized and then cultivate shallow and frequently during the season. Get Alabama press bulletin 64 on "Boll Weevil Control In Early Summer."

In the early spring, several species of insects are commonly mistaken for the boll weevil. Among these, the two of most common occurence are the so-called bloodweed weevil which occurs in the stems of some species of rag weed or blood weed, and the transverse Baris which is found abundantly in the roots and stems of cockleburs. Neither of these weevils bears any close resemblance to the real boll weevil. Compare especially the general shape of the body, the length of the snout as compared with the length of the rest of the body, the curvature of the snout, the teeth on the inner side of the thick part of the front legs, etc. Get Alabama Bulletin 146 for illustrations of various insects mistaken for the bool weevil. These weevils do not attack cotton and the boll weevil attacks nothing else besides cotton.

HOME MIXING OF FERTILIZERS

Advantages Obtained By This Method Becoming More Popular—Can Be Made Cheaper.

By D. J. Burleson, Assistant Agriculturist, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

By home mixing we mean that fertilizer materials, such as dried blood, sulphate of ammonia, acid phosphate, kainit, etc., are bought by the farmer and mixed at home in whatever proportion he desires. Most farmers buy factory mixed fertilizers, but the mixing of the fertilizer materials at home is becoming more popular. Some advantages of home mixing follow.

First—Usually the amount of plant food contained in a ton of the average mixed fertilizer may be obtained at from two to five dollars cheaper when the fertilizer materials are bought and mixed at home.

Second—By home mixing the farmer may avoid the buying of unnecessary constituents. Different proportions of the food elements may be made for different crops, or for the same crop on different soil types. A factory mixed fertilizer is made for average conditions and, therefore cannot suit every condition.

Third—Since the farmer knows the source of the food elements in a home mixture, he knows how rapidly they become available. Often the farmer does not know the source of the nitrogen in the mixed fertilizer.

Fourth—By comparing the effect of various fertilizer material, when used alone, or when mixed in different proportions, the farmer may learn the needs of his soil. This he cannot do so long as he uses mixed fertilizers.

Bill of Rights.

The bill of rights is a declaration of fundamental principles deemed basic to the Constitution itself and borrowed from the English bill of rights of 1689. When the Constitution of the United States was framed and submitted to the people it did not have a bill of rights and it was so harshly criticized on this account that its friends promised to incorporate or add such a declaration, and the first ten amendments to the Constitution, made after the main instrument was adopted, were in fulfillment of this promise. All the State Constitutions now have bills of rights, practically identical with one another.

Those to Be Envied.

Those are most to be envied who soonest learn to expect nothing for which they have not worked hard, and who never acquire the habit of pitying themselves overmuch, even if in after life they happen to work in vain.—Lord Macaulay.

Simple Cement.

For mending ornaments and delicate china there is nothing better than rice-flour cement. It is very easily made, it being only necessary to mix rice flour or ground rice thoroughly with cold water, simmering gently over a slow fire until it thickens, thereby forming a most durable adhesive substance which can be used hot or cold, in the usual way.

Planning for the Stork's Arrival

Among those things which all women should know of, and many of them do, is a splendid external application sold in most drug stores under the name of "Mother's Friend." It is a penetrating liquid and many and many a mother tells how it so wonderfully aided them through the period of expectancy. Its chief purpose is to render the tendons, ligaments and muscles so pliant that nature's expansion may be accomplished without the intense strain so often characteristic of the period of expectancy.

"Mother's Friend" may therefore be considered as indirectly having a splendid influence upon the early disposition of the future generation.

Whatever induces to the ease and comfort of the mother should leave its impress upon the nervous system of the baby.

At any rate it is reasonable to believe that since "Mother's Friend" has been a companion to motherhood for more than half a century it must be a remedy that women have learned the great value of.

Ask at any drug store for "Mother's Friend," a penetrating, external liquid of great help and value. And write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 402 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their book of useful and timely information.

Wonderful Blood Remedy That Works in the Tissues

The Very Latest Theory About How and Why the Blood is Disordered.

S. S. S. Means Pure Blood Which Insures Long Life and Health.

The great experts in Chemistry and Physiology now declare what has all along been contended by the Swift Laboratory that the germs of blood disorders find lodgment in the interstices of the tissues.

And herein is where S. S. S. goes to work rapidly, effectively and with wonderfully noticeable results.

This famous blood purifier contains medicinal components just as vital and essential to healthy blood as the nutritive elements of wheat, roast beef, and fats and the sugars that make up our daily ration.

As a matter of fact there is one ingredient in S. S. S. which serves the active purpose of stimulating each cellular part of the body to the healthy and judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. That is why it regenerates the blood supply; why it has such a tremendous influence in overcoming eczema, rash, pimples, and all skin afflictions.

And in regenerating the tissues S. S. S. has a rapid and positive antidotal effect upon all those irritating influences that cause rheumatism, sore throat, weak eyes, loss of weight, thin pale cheeks, and that weariness of muscle and nerve that is generally experienced, by all sufferers with poisoned blood.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store, and in a few days you will not only feel bright, and energetic, but you will be the picture of new life.

S. S. S. is prepared only in the laboratory of the Swift Specific Co., 201 Swift Bldg, Atlanta, Ga. Who maintain a very efficient Medical Department, where all who have any blood disorder of a stubborn nature may write freely for advice.

S. S. S. is sold everywhere by all drug stores.

Beware of all attempts to sell you something "Just as good." Insist upon S. S. S.

FREE SPRINGS

Health of this communlty is very good at present. The farmers have been blessed with a good rain, which was badly needed.

There was preaching at this place Saturday night and Sunday by Bro. Henderson.

Mr. Eunice Watson and family spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. H. Z. Barnes.

Mrs. Abie Prim visited Mrs. Leatha Brown Sunday.

Mrs. M. J. Prim spent last week with her son, Mr. R. L. Prim, east of Jemison.

Miss Ethel Prim visited Miss Eva Hayes Sunday.

Prof. Howard Roper's school closed at this place April 30th. The patrons visited the school in the afternoon, and we had an old fashion "spelling bee." First we chose and spelled, and then the men challenged the ladies, and so with the men on one side and the ladies on the other we had a jolly good time spelling, and the ladies beat. We were dismissed with a short lecture by Prof. Roper. We were sorry to give him up as our teacher, and hope to have him back again, for he is a fine teacher.

EVERGREEN

There is not any sickness in this community just now.

We had a good rain last week, and everybody seems to be just as busy as they need to be.

Our Sunday school is just fine. There were 86 present last Sunday. We were very glad to have Dr. Caffee and wife with us in our Sunday school last Sunday. Mr. Caffee made a good talk in our Sunday school.

Mr. Will Strock and wife of Verbena visited our Sunday school Sunday.

Mr. E. J. Robinson and sister visited W. S. Beaird last Sunday.

Some of our folks wend out to Corinth last Sunday, and report a nice time.

We are expecting a good time next Sunday at the school house. Singing and Sunday school in the morning, and preaching at 11 o'clock. And we are expecting to use the afternoon for other work, which should have been done before now.

The good old Summer is coming, and as it comes let us fill our County paper with good letters from all over the county; sure do enjoy reading them.

Wednesday night the weather was ideal for the final closing which was exclusively for the Senior Class exercises. These students consisting of O. B. Thompson, Dorcas Maddox, Willie Edwards, W. E. Martin and Jimmie Morrow, bear the unique distinction of being the first graduates of the Chilton County High School.

The stage was beautifully set, flowers were in profusion, and the spirit of one of the finest audiences tended to show that pride and due appreciation were not wanting on the parts of our citizens and patrons for this occasion.

The exercises were conducted in appropriate style, and the papers read by the young graduates speak well for their attainments due to their arduous study, and their superior instruction.

Hons. W. W. Pearson and Ray Rushton, the one our venerable Circuit Judge, the other one of the most brilliant lawyers of the state were the speakers.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

The Chilton County Ministerial Association was organized at Thorsby, Ala., on Monday, April, 5th 1915, and the following officers were elected:

Rev. C. E. Moorman, Chairman; Rev. C. H. Rogers, Secretary.

Executive Committee: Rev. J. F. Winkler, Chairman; Rev. E. W. Butler, Rev. M. C. Crumpton, Rev. C. H. Rogers.

It was decided to meet monthly and discuss various subjects relative to the Ministerial Problems and that would hasten the coming of the Kingdom of our Lord and Master.

Every Preacher in the County who missed the meeting was the loser, for it was full of good things,

One man expressed the sentiments of several of us when he said "That he had gotton more out of the meeting than he could from any book in his library."

It is earnestly hoped that the Preachers of Chilton County of all Denominations will become members of the association, as there is so much enthusism in them, and we have so many things in common in the great work of winning souls for the Master.

The following program for the next meeting which will be held at Jemison, Ala., Monday, May 31st, 1915, will benefit you and your presence will be additional inspiration for us.

The value of the Mourner's Bench, Rev. I. W. Chalker

The non-resident Pastor, Rev. C. E. Moorman and J. F. Winkler.

The Church a Civic Force. Rev. E. W. Butler and Rev. Messer.

Pioneer reminiscences, Rev. R. M. Honeycutt.

Facing the Situation, Rev. C. H. Rogers and C. F. Herrod.

UNION SPRINGS

Fine seasons in this part last week.

Mrs. J. D. Atchison of Cox's is visiting here.

Mrs. Ella Pate is visiting at Pletcher.

A fine delegation from this section attended the singing convention at Cedar Grove. They came back jubilant. The convention seems to have perceptibly increased their musical zeal, it seems to have been a great up lift along that line.

The singing Sunday afternoon was largely attended. People just sing right along regardless of the panic. While the panic is severe and after a short respite may come again with unparalleled fury. Yet the people are being prepared musically, agriculturally and otherwise for the great refreshing to follow; because the increasing light from the rising sun of righteousness will drive out the imperfect from both the church and state; hence the great uplift in Sacred song. The authors of long ago who gave us real gems of music, are being prized today with increasing admiration. the good, the beautiful, and true will abide while the false and unholy will pass away. In view of the golden future, for man that will doubtless be ushered in with a storm, people can well afford to sing more and more.

"The mists are cleared away,
All hail the supernal day,
The sun shall go down no more."

In the great concourse, at the Cedar Grove convention, it was a real pleasure to meet so many who have been battling for the peop'es' cause in Chilton, viz: Mims, Barrett, Vickers, Scott, Jackson, Cobb and others too numerous to mention. There was the venerable Dobbs who lived in the time of Reese and White still able to sing. While in his steps were the bright faced children singing, what a picture.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED

An Equal Suffrage Association was organized in Clanton, May 5th, under the direction of Mrs. Oscar Hundley.

Officers elected were Mrs. E. M. Pinckard, Pres, Mrs. N. S. Johnson, 1st Vice Pres., Mrs. Sam Johnson, 2nd Vice Pres. and Mrs. J. Hugh Jones, Sec.

The Suffrage means to give women equal rights with men. Men are responsible for the conditions under which the children live. But we hold women responsible for the result of those conditions. If we hold women responsible for the results, must we not, in simple justice, let them have something to say as to what these conditions may be? There is one simple way of doing this, give them the means the men have—let them vote.

Mrs. E. M. Pinckard.

All music teachers and directors of the county are earnestly requested to be present.

R. A. Smith,

NEW SALEM

Health of our community is not very good at present, but we hope everybody will be alright again soon.

On Saturday evening, May 8th, the death angel visited the home of Mr. Jessie Price and bore the spirit of his little infant babe to the happy beyond. It seems so hard to give it up, but God's will must be done. He knoweth and doeth all things well, and we must be submissive to his will.

Weep not dear relatives and friends for our loss is heaven's gain. The dear little babe can't come back to you but you can go to it, The remains were laid to rest in New Salem cemetery Sunday morning.

Our Sunday school at this place is still doing fine.

Some of our young people attended the singing at Mt. Pleasant Sunday p. m.

Mr. John Henry Maherg made a pleasant trip to Lomax Sunday.

Mrs. Joe Collins is spending this week with her daughter, Mrs. Jessie Price.

Mr. Marian Driver and wife were visitors at Mr. Meadie Driver's Sunday

The singing at Mr. F. A. Maddox's Sunday night was largely attended and enjoyed by all.

Mr. Jimmie Williams made a trip to Clanton Sunday morning.

Mr. Claudie Deason and Mr. Powell Honeycutt from Coosa visited relatives in this community Saturday night and Sunday.

There will be singing at this place next Sunday p, m., May 16th, at 2 o'clock. Gospel Glory will be the book used. We hope to see a large crowd out, and we cordially invite everybody especially the singers. Now lets everybody be on time and spend the afternoon in singing God's Praises from our 1915 book.

S. M. Yates, Jr,

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends who aided us during the sickness and death of our beloved father, John Baker. May God's richest blessings fall upon them is our prayer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Baker, Jr.

DAVIS-MULLINS

On last Thursday, May 6th, Mr. Horace W. Davis and Miss Lilla Belle Mullins eloped in an automobile to West Point, Ga., and were married. The objection of the young couple's parents to their marriage, accounts for the short time they were getting to a place of safety. They left here at eight o'clock a.m. on last Thursday, and was driven to West Point by one of Clanton's most famous chauffeurer's, Mr, Lee Maddox, and arrived in West Point at four o'clock p.m. on the same day—making the long trip in eight hours.

The happy young couple returned to Clanton on Saturday evening, where they will make their future home.

Their many friends here wish them much happiness through life.

DEATH OF UNCLE JOHN BAKER

With the late death of Uncle John Baker, is marked the breaking of another link in the already weak chain that connects the pioneer days of this section of the State with the present time. Uncle John (as he was familiarly known all over Chilton County) was one of the few men living in the present period of time, whose lives date back of the history of Chilton County, and hold together the transactions of those days and the doings of our modern times.

The worthy gentleman to whose memory these few words are meant as a tribute, was born in South Carolina in the year 1825, making him at the time of his death, 89 years old. He came to what is now Chilton County (then Autauga, later known as Baker county) with his parents while he was in his infancy. They settled near the present site of the town of Clanton, and have lived here ever since, growing into one of the largest and most prominent family trees in this section of Alabama.

At the age of 18 years Uncle John was married to Miss Phariby Mims, who died in 1900.

They became the parents of 10 children, 8 girls and 2 boys, all of whom died prior to the demise of their father except the two boys, they being the oldest and the youngest of the children. But all the children lived to marry and rear families in this County.

At the time death came to him, Uncle John could look around him and see his own decendants down to the 5th generation.

His death was caused by no special ailment. It was the result of infirmities caused by his advanced age,

His remains were entered at Walnut Creek cemetery Thursday, April 29th, the burial being carried out according to his own specifications and designs. Rev. F. A. Gibson officiated at the ceremony, in the presence of hundreds of relatives and friends. There are many things which could be said in honor of the good man's life; but after all they would be merely the repetition of the estimation which he held in the minds and acquaintances of pratcically every man in this County.

He was probably more universally known than any other man in this section, and was equally as much honored and respected.

His life as a whole was a sober, honest, honorable and upright one. He loved his Country and cherished the friendship of his fellows. In all things, he was far sighted and reliable, and his judgment could be trusted.

As a proper conclusion to these last words in his memory, it may truly be said that Uncle John Baker was a MAN, and anything that in any way concerned a man, always found him ready to respond to the call of his duty to right, to Justice and to God.

Many a life has been touched by his at some time or other. Many of them are still on the road to destiny, bearing evidences of his influences. A voice rises from all of them now and may he be permitted to know in his occupancy of his reward that they wish peace to his ashes.

CALOMEL DYNAMITES A SLUGGISH LIVER

Crashes into sour bile, making you sick and you lose a day's work

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonfull and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.

VARIETIES OF COTTON.

By E. F. Cauthen, Associate Agriculturist and Recorder Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

A study of the cotton variety tests of the Alabama Experiment Station during the past ten years shows that among the most productive of the hundred or more varieties and so-called varieties are Cook, Cleveland, Dillon, Layton and Toole and others very much like them. These varieties have certain distinct characters that belong to all of them.

These leading varieties are not the earliest nor the latest to mature, neither do they produce the largest nor the smallest bolls. Under ordinary conditions the plants are usually medium size with leaves neither large, coarse, nor very small. The fruit limbs are medium long with many almost or completely suppressed wood-limbs. There are from one to four large base or wood-limbs at the bottom of the vegetative part of the plant. The bolls are usually round or oval and are without sharp bur tips which prick the fingers of the pickers. Seed are small or medium and fuzzy. Each hundred pounds of seed cotton should produce from 36 to 40 lbs. of lint. The fiber is short to medium, but never long.

There is no one leading variety of cotton that is adapted to all soils and climatic conditions. In some sections the leading one may be a very early one, while in other sections the leader may be among the later maturing varieties.

SCOTT CRADDOCK OF JEMISON KILLED

It is reported that on May 12th, Mr. Scott Craddock of Jemison was shot and killed by Mr. Morris Reynolds of Jemison. As told by eye witnesses, Revenue officers went to Craddocks home and destroyed two distilleries, and sixty gallons of beer. Craddock made his escape, and Mr. Reynolds was deputized to make the araest, and Craddock shot at him twice whereupon Reynolds returned fire and killed. The killing occured just over the line in Bibb county.

TO THRIFTY HOUSEWIVES

With the summer approaching there will be many things you will need for wear and also for the house and the table.

Your husband is the maker, but it is for you to be the saver. He does the accumulating, but the thrifty housewife is just as important in her line of work. If she is careful of her household expenditures the bank account is constantly being increased and the day of eventual affluence is nearer at hand. The thrifty housewife makes the home.

But how are you to practice economy without denying yourself or your household of those things that are necessary to a comfortable existence in life.

It is a very simple and easy matter.

Avoid waste and buy economically. In other words, buy goods of quality, but buy them where you get what you want at a price below the other fellow.

It is useless for us to tell you we have the goods, for you know that. It is equally useless for us to tell you that we make the price, because everybody knows that, too.

Your best method of practicing economy, then, is to trade with us, for this is essentially a store of quality and economy. For the best evidence of the truthfulness of this statement try it yourself, or just take an hour or so and size up the people who pass in and out of our doors. They are thrifty people, and have learned from experience where it is best to trade.

HOUSE FLY SHOULD BE CONTROLLED

LACK OF TOILET FACILITIES ON FARMS CAUSE OF MANY DEATHS.

SANITARY CLOSETS NEEDED

Can Be Constructed at a Cost of From Five to Ten Dollars. Cheaper Than Coffins.

By W. E. Hinds, Entomologist, Alabama Experiment Station, Auburn, Ala.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

In Alabama in 1913, 6,000 babies died before they were two years old. Possibly more than one-half of these deaths were due to bowel troubles produced by germs which were, in most cases, transmitted to their food or drink by house flies. Typhoid fever claimed 900 victims, and of this number it is quite possible that the house flies were responsible for at least 300. Tuberculosis, diarrhoea, dysentery and other diseases are also spread by house flies.

One of the principal reasons for the large number of deaths from fly-borne diseases in Alabama is that so many of our farm homes are entirely without toilet facilities or have closets that do not exclude flies. A fairly satisfactory sanitary closet may be constructed at a cost of from $5.00 to $10 in money and a day's labor. Surely closets are cheaper than coffins. Let us, therefore, build more sanitary closets and buy fewer coffins. Write to the Entomologist of the Experiment Station at Auburn for further information regarding the closet construction.

House flies may be easily controlled by careful handling of stale manure, proper closet construction and by the use of traps, fly paper, etc., around the house. A fairly satisfactory plan is to make a large trap which can be used over the garbage pail or other receptacle. Traps may be purchased at the stores at small cost, and if properly baited, should give good service. Attractive baits may be prepared with a piece of lightbread, a little water and a little syrup. This combination is more effective if there is added to it about 7 per cent of formalin. Another good bait consists of lightbread with a small quantity of half milk and half water and a little syrup with about 5 per cent of formalin. The formalin can be left out, but the bait is more effective with it. Decaying bananas constitute a cheap and fairly attractive bait.

The breeding of house flies can best be controlled by scattering on the manure powdered borax, which costs from 5c to 10c per pound. The borax can be applied as powder, used at the rate of 10 ounces per 8 bushels or 10 cubic feet of manure. Two or three gallons of water should be sprinkled on after the borax is applied, or a solution may be made of 10 pounds of borax in 32 gallons of water; and two gallons of this should be sprinkled over the manure and especially around the base of the pile.

To prevent flies the premises should be kept clean. Keep flies from having access to human excreta especially. Screen the kitchen and dining room. Trap the flies. "Swat" the flies and keep everlastingly at it.

DO NOT DISTRIBUTE FREE SEED

Reasons Why Experiment Stations Do Not Distribute Seeds Free Explained.

By D. J. Burleson, Assistant Agriculturist, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Letters containing requests for free seeds are continually coming to the Experiment Station. To the writer of each of these letters it must be explained that Experiment Stations do not distribute free seeds, except to some individual in each selected locality where certain definite experiments are needed.

The following are among the reasons why stations do not engage in free distribution of seeds:

First—It would be illegal to use for this purpose any of the Federal funds which support the Stations.

Second—If free seeds were supplied to a few applicants, their neighbors would expect the same donation, and hence the increasing demand would soon require an enormous appropriation from the State.

Third—Such a policy would cause a great waste of funds as a result of giving seed to those farmers who are doing little to improve the seed they already have, and who would not keep pure any improved seed.

Fourth—Some farmers are in the seed breeding business and are doing much good. It would not be just for the Experiment Station to use its funds to compete with these farmers. But this Station sells its small surplus of seeds at prices which do not injuriously compete with private growers.

Whenever any seed is bred upon the Station farm, such improved seed is first tested in careful experiments in various parts of the State. Then, if the new kind is successful, the public is encouraged to buy its seed, not from the Station, but from farmers who have been selected on the basis of special location and fitness for making such tests for a number of years.

WE EXPECT IT

Manifestly it is imposible for the L. & N., serving as it does thousands of people each day, to escape the whip of public criticism.

We expect criticism.

But neither the L. & N. nor the individuals who criticise the L. & N. should be blamed for this criticism.

Individual demands and tempers differ radically. One individual in a passenger coach will complain that the coach is too warm, while another individual in the same coach will complain that the coach is too cold.

A resident of Montgomery is gratified because a certain train leaves his city at 10 o'clock at night, while a resident of Mobile resents the schedule which provides for the same train to leave his city at 3 o'clock in the morning.

To make an extended railway journey is tiring and irksome to most people, fraying their nerves and creating a critical frame of mind.

The L. & N. has sought, through invention, constant observation and the judicious expenditure of large sums of money, to provide modern, comfortable coaches.

No consideration other than the convenience of the people enters into the making of an L. & N. schedule.

In the language of a very great and good American, the L. & N. seeks constantly to provide "The greatest good for the greatest number." We must of necessity consider the people as a whole, as a composite individual, treating all alike in the hope that unfavorable criticism will be reduced to the minimum.

The same conditions obtain in the freight department. Only a few stations can be stops, otherwise there would be no through freights, giving almost passenger train service to the inanimate luxuries and necessities of life.

The L. & N. writes of these things in the hope that the people will realize in a measure the many difficulties encountered in the operation of a railroad, and treat the L. & N. with consideration accordingly.

In the meantime the L. & N. will continue to render the best in passenger and freight service, and on that basis solicits the patronage of the general public.

Shockingly Unfit.

Simple Cement.

For mending ornaments and delicate china there is nothing better than rice-flour cement. It is very easily made, it being only necessary to mix rice flour or ground rice thoroughly with cold water, simmering gently over a slow fire until it thickens, thereby forming a most durable adhesive substance which can be used hot or cold, in the usual way.

Gets Right Twist On Rheumatism

Makes Short Work of Cleaning Out Your Entire System—Aches and Pains Go Fast.

In S. S. S. You Get a Twist on Rheumatism that Settles It.

Many a rheumatic sufferer has been to the drug store for a bottle of S. S. S. and been handed something claimed to be "Just as good." Truly, to ask for bread and be given a stone is still in practice. If you are troubled with rheumatism in any form be sure to use S. S. S. and note its wonderful influence.

S. S. S. has the peculiar action of soaking through the intestines directly into the blood. In five minutes its influence is at work in every artery, vein and tiny capillary. Every membrane, every organ of the body, every emunctory becomes in effect a filter to strain the blood of impurities. The stimulating properties of S. S. S. compel the skin, liver, bowels, kidneys, bladder to all work to the one end of casting out every irritating, every pain-inflicting atom of poison; it dislodges by irrigation all accumulations in the joints, causes acid accretions to disolve, renders them neutral and scatters those peculiar formations in the nerve centers that cause such mystifying and often baffling rheumatic pains.

And best of all this remarkable remedy is welcome to the weakest stomach. If you have drugged yourself until your stomach is nearly paralyzed, you will be astonished to find that S. S. S. gives no sensation but goes right to work. This is because it is a pure vegetable infusion, is taken naturally into your blood just as pure air is inhaled naturally into your lungs.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. today, and ask for S. S. S.

You may depend upon it that the store that sells you what you ask for is a good place to trade. Write to the Swift Specific Co., 204 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their Book on Rheumatism.

REPORT OF GRAND JURY CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.

Spring Term, Circuit Court 1915.

Hon. W.W. Pearson, Judge 15th Judicial Circuit:

We, the Grand Jury, duly empanneled and sworn for the Spring Term, 1915, of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Ala., beg to submit this, our final report.

We have investigated 67 alleged violations of the law, and have returned into your Honor's court 23 true bills.

COUNTY OFFICERS.

We have examined the books and accounts of the various county officials and find them neatly and legibly kept, but owing to want of time necessary, we have not attempted a thorough examination as to auditing etc., as this work is more ably done by our state examiners, as the law requires. The County Treasurer has furnished us with his report as to the finance of the county, and we have attached said report hereto and ask that it be made a part of this our final report.

COUNTY PROPERTY

Having looked over the court house and jail and found them in good condition, except that there were discovered some leeks in the court house roof, and would insist that the county commissioners have same repaired as early as possible. And we further recommend that a good and sufficient fence be put around the jail, believing it to be highly necessary for the safe keeping of the prisoners. Our committee appointed to investigate conditions at the county poor farm report general conditions good, but that one building is in need of a new roof, and we recommend that the county commissioners court attend to the matter as soon as possible. Said committee reports that the inmates are receiving attention, and at this time there are six white male and thirteen white female inmates.

GENERAL CONDITIONS

The small number of violations of the law reported to this Grand Jury indicate that our citizens are generally law abiding people. The greater part of the violations of law, reported to the jury have been directly or indirectly connected with intoxicants and violation of the prohibition law.

PUBLIC ROADS

Reports from over the county show that there has been great improvement in our public highways, with the exception, perhaps of Beats 7, 8, and 15 which are worked under the old system. These are steadily improving, and should the county continue to use good machinery properly applied, that within a few years, we will have a fine system of public roads; and we hope all good citizens will work together to that end.

The following prisoners confined in jail have had no indictments returned against them by this body, and respectfully ask that your Honor issue such order as is required to have them discharged from custody, to wit: Wiley Rudy, C. E. Patrick and John Williams.

Remembering your Honor's charge in regard to illiteracy in the county, we recommend to the teachers, that they enforce a more rigid discipline. as proper control and government of a school is one of the first essentials to education, and would insist on parents and guardians cooperating with teachers that they may be able to properly control and govern their pupils. In consulting statistics on the literacy and illiteracy in Chilton county, we find that in 1914 the number of children from 10 to 20 years old were 4772, of which 4403 could read and write, leaving 369, who could not read or write. Chilton county ranks 28, or in other words 27 counties in Alabama have a smaller per cent of illiterate white children from 10 to 20 years old. Illiteracy as shown by the biennial census of 1914, issued by the Department of Education of Alabama is already excessive, and owing to this error we feel that Chilton county has been done an injustice before the public.

THE CATTLE TICK

The 1910 census shows that our cattle on an average are worth about $14.00 per head, and recent figures show that in Chilton county 1716 cattle are killed each year by the cattle tick valued at $25,284. When we take into consideration that the milk cow infested with the tick gives at least 10 per cent less milk by reason of these parasites and that it takes considerable more feed to raise and maintain cattle infested with ticks, how can we longer hesitate and delay tick eradication in Chilton county. Thanking your Honor for your able charge covering our duties as Grand Jurors, also the Solicitor for his aid and assistance in our work, and the sheriff and his deputies for the prompt manner in which they have executed the summons of this body and the Baliff for his services. We respectfully ask that we be finally discharged.

L. B. Pounds, Foreman.

CONCORD SCHOOL

I want to say to the people of Chilton county that I am proud of my patrons, and that I think I have a perfect right to be. When I tell you that I have worked for them two years, and they have stood by me through thick and thin—visited our school and helped me to make my life and the lives of their boys and girls more useful--I feel proud that I can say that they are not satisfied the present conditions, but are striving to make them better.

Not only do they want to see their school and churches become better, but they are looking after their home life with more interest as the years pass by.

I say I appreciate my patrons and I think every teacher should, but I think too, that every patron should do something to be appreciated for. How can I help praising them when I can see and know that they appreciate me. While my precious wife was sick, some of them laid aside all their home duties for her comfort, and for my comfort; came and stayed night and day with us, until God called her home. Others helped in so many ways—never in my life have I seen any one receive more attention than we received from some of my patrons and friends during her illness. and I have been with them two months since and have so many things to be thankful for that I live by or with such neighbors.

To those who read these lines, let me say to you if you wish to make friends that will love you, look after the sick, and better than friends, your reward will be greater in heaven too.

Now I want to say further that I am going to work with and for these patrons seven months next winter, and I want every district in our county, (I mean every patron) to see how I had my patrons want a seven months term. In order to have it they found that they must raise over three hundred dollars, private funds; to supplement state funds and pay it all by the 1st of November, 1915. The following list will tell the tale, when I tell you that everyone on this list has already given his note for the amout opposite his name, payable on the first day of November. And before I give you this list, let me say that if you think we are rick folks up here in Dry Valley, please come up to see us.

I present the following list to you patrons of Chilton county for an example for you to follow, and if you haven't already made your term seven months, won't you do it now? What my patrons have done, other patrons can do, if they want to. Now read the list:

Jeff Eddings, one pupil, $2.00; Jim Martin, one pupil, $2.00; George Croxton, one pupil, $2.50; F. M. Otts, one pupil, $2.00; B. M. Scott, one pupil, $5.00; Willie Arlridge, four pupils, $5.00; Ed Shaw, three pupils, $5.00; J. B. Denson, two pupils, $5.00; John Bradford, $5.00; S. H. Hatcher, one pupil, $5.00; S. A. Scott, two pupils, $5.00; Frank Northcutt, two pupils, $10.00; Bennie Mills, two pupils, $10.00; Will Yeates, two pupils, $10.00; Marvin Vernon, $10.00; Dave Latimer, three pupils; $10.00; W. O. Freeman, one pupil $10.00; J. P. Dykes, one pupil, $10.00; Ben Randall, one pupil, $10,00; Ben Armstrong, one pupil, $15.00; B. Campbell, four pupils, $15.00; Early Bradford, three pupils, $15.00; Jim Vernon, four pupils, $20.00; John Lucas, four pupils, $25.00; Jim Wiggins, one pupil, $25.00; Dave Killingsworth, four pupils, $50.00; Pleas West, three pupils, $50.00.

Now in conclusion, I want to ask you if I haven't a perfect right to be proud of my patrons, and aren't you proud of them too? And one more thing I must tell on them—they have decided that they want to listen to an educational lecture once a month—and Friday night week they will have the pleasure of listening to Rev. J. T. Winkler at the Concord school house, and we all cordially invite all who are interested in more education and better education, to come and enjoy the lecture with us.

I must say hurrah for my patrons.

Miss Waller was one of the most popular students of the University of Alabama, graduating from there with honors in 1912. She is a young woman of unusual inteilect and culture, and is personally very charming. She has a host of friends who extend to her their best wishes.

The destinguished young teacher accepted a position in the public school at the beginning of last session and taught there until the 1st of January, when she began her duties in the county high school, which opened at that date. Miss Waller's many friends in Clanton and Chilton county will be interested in hearing of her engagement.

GOSPEL OF THE PLOW IN INDIA

AGRICULTURAL MISSION WORK IN LAND WHERE EIGHTY PER CENT OF PEOPLE GET THEIR LIVING OUT OF THE SOIL.

One-Third Never Get Enough to Eat From Cradle to Grave.

Professor Sam Higginbothan is a missionary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, Professor of Agriculture in the Ewing Christian College, Allahabad, India, and superintendent of the leper asylum in that place. His splendid efforts have attracted the attention and enlisted the interest of people the world over.

Eighty per cent of the people of India get their living out of the soil, and Professor Higginbothan believes that India will forever remain, primarily, an agricultural country.

India has a growing season twelve months in the year, so that with rotation of crops, proper cultivation of the soil and irrigation, the soil will never be idle.

The poverty of India is appalling. Professor Higginbothan says that one-third of India's great population of 315,000,000 never know, from the cradle to the grave, what it is to have enough to eat. Over 100,000,000 of them live at the rate of one cent a day per capita.

Speaking of his work in India Professor Higginbothan says:

"My Indian neighbors are raising only six or eight bushels of wheat per acre. There is the same soil, with the same amount of sunshine and rain, the only difference being in the method of cultivation and in the seed chosen."

Baptist Gifts for Missions.

The handsome sum of $2,600 was given on missionary day in the Sunday school in the First Baptist church of Dallas, Texas, of which Rev. George Truett is the pastor. This sum represented is the offering to Home and Foreign Missions from 1,500 givers.

The plan now in operation by the Southern Baptists to observe every year what is known as "Missionary Day in the Sunday School" has proved to be a most effective and efficient plan for increasing the interest as well as enlarging the gifts to Home and Foreign Missions. Through this machine more than one and a half million people are reached on this day with the highest grade of missionary information. It is considered by those who inaugurated and who are forwarding this splendid plan that one of its greatest advantages is its educational value. While the machine itself is simple enough, representatives of the three great boards of the southern Baptist convention—the Home and Foreign Mission and Sunday School boards—plan and work for missionary day in the Sunday School for six months prior to the event. The result is that on this day the great cause of missions is emphasized in every Baptist Sunday School in the South.

The idea of setting apart one day in the year as "Missionary Day in the Sunday School" was conceived by Dr. I. J. Van Ness, of the Sunday School board, in 1907. However, it was only in 1913 that the three boards co-operated effectively in the general observation of this day.

It was estimated that gifts on "Missionary Day in the Sunday School in 1913 approximated $50,000 while those from the same source in 1914 probably reached the $100,000 mark. Leaders in this movement believe that this year missionary day in Sunday Schools will result in gifts amounting to $150,000 and, while it is impossible to tell the exact amount given, it seems practically certain that the sum will not be far from $150,000.

When Carey went to India the whole number of nominal Christians in the world was about 200,000,000. Now there are approximately 500,000,000.

More people go to bed hungry every night in India than live in all of North America.

TRY IT! SUBSTITUTE FOR NASTY CALOMEL

Starts Your liver without making you sick and can not salivate

Every druggist in town—your druggist and everybody's druggist has noticed a great falling-off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tone is perfectly safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle costs 50 cents, and if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tone instead and feel fine, full of vigor and ambition.

Haydn and Church Music.

Carpani, the poet, once asked his friend, Haydn, "how it happened that his church music was almost always of an animating, cheerful and even gay description." To this Hadyn's answer was: "I cannot make it otherwise. I write according to the thoughts which I feel. When I think upon God my heart is so full of joy that the notes dance and leap, as it were, from my pen, and since God has given me a cheerful heart, it will be easily forgiven me that I serve him with a cheerful spirit."

Simple Cement.

For mending ornaments and delicate china there is nothing better than rice-flour cement. It is very easily made, it being only necessary to mix rice flour or ground rice thoroughly with cold water, simmering gently over a slow fire until it thickens, thereby forming a most durable adhesive substance which can be used hot or cold, in the usual way.

TO THRIFTY HOUSEWIVES

With the summer approaching there will be many things you will need for wear and also for the house and the table.

Your husband is the maker, but it is for you to be the saver. He does the accumulating, but the thrifty housewife is just as important in her line of work. If she is careful of her household expenditures the bank account is constantly being increased and the day of eventual affluence is nearer at hand. The thrifty housewife makes the home.

But how are you to practice economy without denying yourself or your household of those things that are necessary to a comfortable existence in life.

It is a very simple and easy matter.

Avoid waste and buy economically. In other words, buy goods of quality, but buy them where you get what you want at a price below the other fellow.

It is useless for us to tell you we have the goods, for you know that. It is equally useless for us to tell you that we make the price, because everybody knows that, too.

Your best method of practicing economy, then, is to trade with us, for this is essentially a store of quality and economy. For the best evidence of the truthfulness of this statement try it yourself, or just take an hour or so and size up the people who pass in and out of our doors. They are thrifty people, and have learned from experience where it is best to trade.

EVERGREEN

There seems to be but little sickness in this community just now.

Since our refreshing showers everybody has been very busy.

The singing last Sunday at the school house was fine. There was the largest crowd of people ever witnessed at a singing at that place. And I must say too that we had the best behavior than ever before. There was plenty of dinner for all.

We organized a Baptist Church last Sunday at the schoolhouse.

We are expecting to build a Baptist Church at the Floyd graveyard.

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely under the management of our superintendent, Bro. C. G. Taylor.

We are glad to know that Mrs. Patterson who has been sick for some time is able to be up again.

Mr. B. C. Ledbetter is in Clanton this week.

We were glad to see Mr. Jesse Wood and family of Clanton Sunday shaking hands with friends here.

Bro. Norris preached the Ordination Sermon last Sunday afternoon which was a grand lesson.

Corn is looking fine in this section, but cotton is not so good.

We are sorry to know that our mail carrier, Mr. Sorrell, is in bed sick. We hope to see him up soon.

Mr. T. A. Prickett is having his little girl treated in Montgomery for some head trouble. We hope he will be successful in his work.

Mr. Lett is in Clanton this week on the Jury.

UNION SPRINGS

Everybody is busy.

Grover Cleveland of Randolph was out here Sunday afternoon in his car.

The people met Saturday afternoon and worked the corn crop at the new school building. It is being cultivated co-operatively.

Mrs Belle Smith visited relatives in Randolph Saturday night.

Rev. J. N. Scott of Mars Hill was a welcome visitor at the singing Sunday afternoon.

Ah! The high cost of living, the low tariff. Such lavish expending of the county's money on high ways etc., forms a combination that is trying to the great common people. We thought the "slogan" of the Republican party in the last county campaign was "cut expenses in the county. Still expenditures go on. We want the highways and the county high school if there is money in the Treasury, but going beyond our income piling up debt is bad for individuals or counties. Can't it be checked? We are still hoping.

The singing was well attended Sunday afternoon. The songs of Zion still live.

Mr. Noah Moore of Mars Hill visited the singing Sunday.

Miss Inez Devenport of Honeycutt's Mill was in this part last Sunday.

Walter Arledge of Stumps Hills was here Sunday.

Some of our young men attended church at Randolph last Sunday night.

Mr. A. J. Langston and family visited in Randolph Saturday night.

What a contrast between the great war in the East, the horrible panic, and the singing birds, and the flowers of May.

All Blood Disorders Quickly Driven Away

Astonishing Results With the Greatest Blood Purifier Ever Discovered.

Strength, Power, Accomplishment are all Typified in S. S. S.

Some blood disorders become deeply rooted in the glands and tissues, and the mistake is made of resorting to drastic drugs. These only aggravate by causing other and worse troubles. A host of people know this to be true. They know from painful experience.

To get right down into where the blood is vitiated requires S. S. S. the greatest blood purifier ever discovered.

This remarkable remedy contains one ingredient, the active purpose of which is to stimulate the tissues to the healthy selection of its own essential nutriment and the medicinal elements of this matchless blood purifier are just as essential to well balanced health as the nutritious elements of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food.

Not only this, but if from the presence of some disturbing poison there is a local or general interference of nutrition to cause boils, carbuncles, abscesses and kindred troubles, S. S. S. so directs the local cells that this poison is rejected and eliminated from their presence.

Then, too, S. S. S. has such specific stimulation on these local cells as to preserve their mutual welfare and a proper relative assistance to each other.

In a very brief time S. S. S. has the reconstructive process so under control that remarkable changes are obseved. All eruptive places heal, mysterious pains and aches have disappeared, and from head to foot there is a conscious sensation of renewed health.

From the fact that S. S. S. is purely a botanical preparation, it is accepted by the weakest stomach and has great tonic influence. Not one drop of drugs or minerals is used in its preparation. Ask for S. S. S. and insist upon having it. And if you desire skillful advice upon any matter concerning the blood and skin write to The Swift Specific Co., 205 Swift Bldg, Atlanta, Ga. Do not allow some zealous clerk to larrup the atmosphere in eloquence over something "Just as good" as S. S. S. Beware of all counterfeits.

HOW TO CONTROL PEACH BROWN ROT

Ninety-Five to Ninety-Nine Per Cent. of Crop Can Be Saved By Proper Treatment.

By F. A. Wolf, Plant Pathologist, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

This disease has, beyond doubt, caused more loss to the peach growers of this country than any other disease affecting the peach. The crop may reach maturity and during a few days of rainy weather be completely destroyed before it can be shipped, or it may become brown and rotten in transit and reach the market practically worthless. This loss may be prevented and 95 to 99 per cent of the crop saved by proper treatment. In one of the spraying demonstrations made by the Alabama Experiment Station last year, it was almost impossible to find a rotten peach on trees, the crop of which the previous year was a total loss.

Since the prevention of brown rot and wormy peaches are dependent on each other, it is best to spray about ten days after the petals fall with arsenate of lead at the rate of one and one-half pounds to fifty gallons of water, to which about three pounds of slaked lime has been added. This should be applied as a mist-like spray covering all parts with a thin film and avoiding drenching the trees.

About twenty days later the trees should again be sprayed with self-boiled lime sulphur (8-8-50) to which one and one-half pounds of arsenate of lead have been added to each fifty gallons of the spray. Self-boiled lime sulphur is made by slaking eight pounds of quick lime in enough water to cover it and stirring in the eight pounds of flowers of sulphur while it is slaking. The yellowish paste thus formed should be thinned to make fifty gallons of spray.

About a month before the fruit is expected to ripen, a final application of self-boiled lime sulphur (8-8-50) should be given.

Spraying peaches in this way not only prevents rotten and wormy peaches, but it has the effect of improving the color and texture of the fruit so that it carries to market in better condition and brings better prices than unsprayed fruit. Even when fruit is grown for home use it will more than repay the cost of sprayer and spray materials, especially if neighbors co-operate so as to use the sprayer together.

PRESERVE EGGS FOR WINTER

Better Price Can Be Obtained During Winter Months—Method of Preserving Easy.

By Earl S. Girton, Associate in Animal Husbandry, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

In order to have plenty of eggs for winter use at a low cost, people should plan to preserve their eggs at this season of the year. Eggs which sell at only 15 and 20 cents per dozen during the spring and summer can, if properly preserved, be sold for 30 to 40 cents per dozen during the winter time when eggs are scarce. There are several methods which can be followed. The water glass method, which is one of the most satisfactory, is as follows:

If possible, have a cool, dark cellar in which the temperature does not rise above 60 degrees Fahrenheit. Clean stone jars have been found to be the best receptacles. They should be of such size as to hold about 15 dozen eggs. To ten quarts of clean boiled water, which has been allowed to cool, add one quart of water glass and stir until thoroughly mixed.

Good, clean, sound eggs should be placed in the jar and the liquid poured over them until they are completely covered by one inch of the solution. When the receptacle is not covered there is an excess of evaporation which is followed by the mixture turning a milky white. In this the eggs do not keep well. Place the receptacle in the coolest place to be found and away from all sunshine. This method has been found to preserve eggs from nine months to a year.

Eggs will keep much better from a flock where there is no rooster than from one where the rooster is allowed to run with the hens. This is due to the fact that in the absence of all roosters the eggs are not fertilized and consequently there is no development of the chick, which would result in spoiled eggs.

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body.

In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamful sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown.

To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutriment gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. It is free from alcohol.

Sewing Circle With Much Whispering

Before the stork arrives there is much to talk about. The comfort of the expectant mother is the chief topic. And there is sure to be someone who has used or knows of that splendid external help, "Mother's Friend." It is applied to the abdominal muscles, gently rubbed in and has a most pronounced effect as a lubricant. It soothes the network of nerves, enables the muscles to expand naturally, relieves strain on the ligaments and thus sets at ease any undue strain on the organs involved. And it does this with perfect safety. Expectant mothers thus go through the ordeal with comparative ease and comfort. Knowing mothers who have used "Mother's Friend" speak in glowing terms of the absence of morning sickness, absence of strain on the ligaments and a freedom from many other distresses.

One of the most important symptoms to be relieved by "Mother's Friend" is the imagination that so often disturbs repose. Pains, even though natural, may so distort the mind that undue apprehension will sometimes follow. The gentle, soothing influence of "Mother's Friend" gives the mind substantial aid to become conscious of strength and there is a real, physical sensibility of muscular vigor as evidenced by freedom from undue strain.

You can get "Mother's Friend" at any drug store or they will gladly get it for you. Write today to Bradfield Regulator Co., 701 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a highly instructive book of great value to all expectant mothers. It contains a valuable expectancy chart, rules as diet and is brimful of suggestions that all women will appreciate.

A crowd at the court house door cheered Juror Burns as he left the building. Col. Roosevelt's attorney, John M. Bowers, issued a statement saying:

"The victory that Mr. Roosevelt has won is a victory for good government. The issue put to the jury was whether machine government or government by the people should prevail.

"The verdict certainly assures us that the Anglo-Saxon system of determining questions between litigants is rightly lodged in the hands of a jury of twelve men. Moreover, it determines that jurors holding political views opposed to those held by a party will not be swayed thereby in determining the questions submitted to them."

The foreman of the jury in a statement said: "After the first ballot we stood 11 to 1 in favor of the defendant. These figures were never changed, Mr. Burns refusing to change his vote until this morning.

"Except for Mr. Burns the jurors who voted for the plaintiff on the first ballot, did so, they said, because they did not want it to appear that they gave insufficient consideration to the great mass of evidence that was presented during those five long weeks. We are all very tired, I assure you."

SINCERE CONGRATULATIONS COME TO MISS LOIS WILSON

Alabama's Queen of Beauty, Miss Lois Wilson, has received many compliments and congratulations since she was chosen by the judges at the Alabama Beauty Ball to take the trip to California as the guest of The Birmingham News and the Universal Film Manufacturing Co., but she received an entirely new one this past week.

An old negro woman came to the big plate window in front of the office of the Goodall-Brown Company and peered in at Miss Wilson. Murray Brown saw her and ask her if she wanted to see Miss Wilson. She said she did, and came in to speak to her.

"I told Miss Alice this morning I was coming down to see Alabama's Beauty," she said when she reached Miss Wilson's desk.

"I wants to say this, Miss Wilson, I have promulgated around a lot in my time, and I must say the judges did not make no mistake.

"I wishes you a joyous trip and a most happy return."

Bowing to the Beauty, the old negro woman left the office, smiling.

Miss Wilson is still busy preparing for the great trip and is almost living up to her rule about no parties before she leaves She broke it Friday night to be a guest at the weekly dance at the Newspaper Club, but she says she expects to be too busy next week, getting ready to leave for Chicago June 4 to be able to go out.

TO HANDLE FRANK CASE FROM GEORGIA BASIS

Harris Not to Consider Outside World If Case Comes Before Him.

Macon, Ga., May 22.—Governor-elect Nat E. Harris today, after going through a pile of letters from more sympathizers in various parts of the country of Leo M. Frank, condemned to die next month for the murder of Mary Phagan, factory girl, made this statement:

"You can just say for Nat Harris that if the matter of dealing executive clemency to the condemned man is to be considered by him, that the entire outside world will not be taken into consideration one bit. It is entirely a Georgia matter, and if I am to consider the case I shall consider it altogether from a Georgia basis, with the interests of Georgia and the interests of Georgia persons at heart."

This statement followed receipt of letters from various. As many as a thousand persons, Mr. Harris estimated, have written him imploring him that in the event the matter comes before him to commute Frank's sentence.

The court imposed a fine of $25 on Mr. Jenkins and exonerated Mr. Rickarby. Mr. Rickarby says but one blow was struck. Mr. Jenkins apologized both to the court and to Mr. Rickarby.

FARMERS OF BUTLER COUNTY DISCOURAGED

A despatch from Greenville, in Butler county, Alabama, says that the farmers in that section are very much discouraged with the present outlook of their cotton crops. At present some kind of an insect is on the cotton and promises to do much damage. It is not known what kind of an insect it is, but many are under the impression that it is the boll weevil. It is thought by some to be a specie of pea weevil. A bulletin has been mailed out from Auburn by the government stating that this is not the boll weevil, but indications point strongly to the boll weevil.

Grubb. The contention was made that the police had interfered with the revenue of the concern by making constant raids.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

CHILTON FINISHES INTER-CITY ROAD

Stretch of Montgomery-Birmingham Road Practically Completed.

Final work on the Montgomery-Birmingham highway is being done in Chilton County, and that county has almost finished its part of the projected roadway between the Capital and Birmingham, according to Sam A. Latham, lawyer, of Clanton, who called on Governor Henderson yesterday on legal business.

"We are just finishing up this work in our county and I understand that Shelby County has also completed its work. Only a small stretch in Autauga County remains unfinished and, when this is completed, a fine highway between Montgomery and Birmingham will be open to the public," said Mr. Latham.

The Montgomery-Birmingham highway was launched two years ago at a meeting held at Clanton, and much work has been done on it in this period. W. S. Keller was the first president of the Montgomery-Birmingham Highway Association and Barney Roberts of Clanton, secretary.—Montgomery Advertiser.

DIXIE HIGHWAY WILL HAVE TWO BRANCHES

Commission Selects East and West Routes to the North

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 22.—The Dixie Highway, from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico, was given definite form here today, when the commissioners, two each appointed by the governors of seven states, adopted the route of the highway after a three days' session. Chicago was selected as the northern terminus and Miami as the southern.

The commission designated a west and an east route on various rival links of the thoroughfare between Indianapolis and Miami, but a plan was adopted late today looking toward connecting up the north portion of the two lines with a road along the eastern and western shores of Lake Michigan and connecting the south portion with a road from Miami, along the west coast of Florida, thus making a continuing loop of the highway. This scheme was suggested by Commissioner Carl G. Fisher of Indianapolis, who proposed extending the road from Chicago to South Bend, Ind., thence north to Mackinaw, thence south via Bay City to Detroit.

In adopting the plan the commission voted to invite Michigan into the association to provide the lake loop, and pledged itself to extend the east route from Dayton, Ohio, north through Toledo to Detroit. The Florida commissioners also were authorized to investigate extensions of the road from Miami up the west coast, joining the highway between Tallahassee and Jacksonville. Among the principal cities on the west route between Chicago and Chattanooga are Daville, Ill.; Indianapolis, Louisville and Nashville, while south from Indianapolis on the west route are Cincinnati, Lexington, Ky., and Knoxville, Tenn.

WHY THE HOME PAPER?

Have you ever asked yourself why you take your home, or why itis necessary to have a home paper at all?

Do so, and you will start a train of thoughts that will be illuminating to you.

The big city daily comes to you and gives you the important news of the outside world, but you and the home people are too small for a place in its columns.

About the only thought of you is the money it gets from you.

It deals in world matters and is of value to you because through it you obtain much of your knowledge of the greater affairs of life.

But it utterly ignores you and yours.

Hence the local paper, and likewise your reason for taking the local paper.

You cannot exist without a knowledge of your home community.

You must know of the plans and of the work of the local authorities, and you must know of the doings of the churches, and the lodges, and of your neighbors, and of the community in general.

You cannot obtain this from the big city paper, but you can and do find it in the columns of the home paper,

You buy the big city daily because you must know of the progress of the world, for your mind is developing day by day and demands this greater fund of information.

But your mind craves even a more intimate knowledge of affairs that are vital to the interests of you and yours, and these things you find only in the home paper.

To the great city daily you are but as a single pebble upon the beach, a drifting sand of the desert.

But to the home paper you are as one of us, an important factor in the community, a force with which to reckoned.

A disreputed and disintegrating community means a shrinkage and loss in property values and a stagnate public mind. Hence the home paper has an ever watchful eye to the interests of the community and of yourself, for only in the preservation of the community and of yourself can the home paper hope for a continued existence.

The home paper is your friend, and you know it.

And because you are loyal to your friends and to the community you believe in the home paper and its ceasless work for home and home people.

Your interests and those of the home paper are identical, and you need it quite as much as it needs you.

And the man who recognizes the necessity for a community of interests becomes a builder, and not a destroyer.

A Chicago lawyer asserts that the time is near at hand when prisons will be abolished, and criminals will be "doctored" instead of being punished. Is this a new advertising campaign for the medical colleges?

It is said the late John Bunny, the famous picture show man, earned one thousand dollars a week and when he died a few weeks ago left an estate of $8,000. It is suspected too that he must have been interested in some losing enterprises.

The national democratic officials tell us prosperity is here. Where is it? With over a million poor laboring wage earners out of work, and their families suffering, we can't see where the much talked of prosperity comes in.

"War it horrible; but when the Bethlehem Steel Works looks at that $16,150,000.00 check that Kitchener sent them for cannon, war also has its compensations. —Commercial Appeal.

This doesn't seem much like the war is the total cause of the panic in this country, eh?

A freak egg brought in by one of our readers, J. S. Gandy, is entitled to some notice. The egg is a perfect shape of a miniature gourd. Mr. Gandy received an offer of a hundred dollars for a hundred of them just like the one brought in. The small part of the egg represents the curved handle of the gourd perfectly.—Falkville News.

The opening of lock 17 on the Warrior River is one that means untold prosperity to the State and to that great old city, Mobile. Mobile is already one of the best cities of the south, and with the increased traffic and business, which this project will add, the gulf city will thrive and prosper. And the great good will not only come to Mobile, but to most every section of Alabama.

BLACKSMITHS OR CARPENTERS FIRST

The other day a blacksmith was arguing with a gardener as to which was the first trade in the world, according to the Kansas City Star.

The gardener said it was gardening, and quoted from Genesis: "Adam was put into the Garden of Eden to till it."

"Ah," said Pat, who had stuck up for his own trade. "Who made the spades?"

ELOQUENT

At the battle of the Modder River an officer observed Pat taking shelter from the enemy's fire, relates the Philadelphia Record. After the engagement the officer, thinking to take Pat down a peg, said:

"Well, Pat, how did you feel during the engagement?"

"Feel?" said Pat. "I felt as ifeveryhairon my head was a band of music and they were all playing 'Home, Sweet Home.'"

At the Alabama Soldiers Home, there is probably the finest herd of Jersey and Holstein cattle that there is in Alabama—numbers considered—and the Commandant, Capt J. M. Simpson, intends to thin out the lot a little.

In this herd there are five male Jerseys that the Commandant intends to offer for sale to Alabama stock breeders exclusively. No fancy prices will be asked, but an effort will be made to supply these splendid young bull calves to men in seperate communities who will take an interest in stock improvement. Formerly this over-plus of young cattle at the Home was disposed of to butchers who used the carcers for veal purposes, but this will not be the case this year or in the years to come. This young stock will be placed in the hands of stock breeders for stock breeding purposes, and preference given to individuals.

Cultivate Observation.

To behold is not necessarily to observe, and the power of comparing and combining is only to be obtained by education. It is much to be regretted that habits of exact observation are not cultivated in our schools. To this deficiency may be traced much of the fallacious reasoning and the false philosophy which prevails.—W. Humboldt.

W. J. Armstrong Honored by Alabama Red Men.

Rev. W. J. Armstrong was elected Great Junior Sagamore of the Great Council of Alabama I. O. R. M., at the annual session of that body in Birmingham last Tuesday. This was a worthy distinction accorded Mr. Armstrong, and his friends and brother Red Men will be pleased to learn of his election.

TO THRIFTY HOUSEWIVES

With the summer approaching there will be many things you will need for wear and also for the house and the table.

Your husband is the maker, but it is for you to be the saver. He does the accumulating, but the thrifty housewife is just as important in her line of work. If she is careful of her household expenditures the bank account is constantly being increased and the day of eventual affluence is nearer at hand. The thrifty housewife makes the home.

But how are you to practice economy without denying yourself or your household of those things that are necessary to a comfortable existence in life.

It is a very simple and easy matter.

Avoid waste and buy economically. In other words, buy goods of quality, but buy them where you get what you want at a price below the other fellow.

It is useless for us to tell you we have the goods, for you know that. It is equally useless for us to tell you that we make the price, because everybody knows that, too.

Your best method of practicing economy, then, is to trade with us, for this is essentially a store of quality and economy. For the best evidence of the truthfulness of this statement try it yourself, or just take an hour or so and size up the people who pass in and out of our doors. They are thrifty people, and have learned from experience where it is best to trade.

CROPS TO FOLLOW OATS

Cowpeas, Soy Beans and Other Legumes Preferred.

By J. F. Duggar, Director, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

As a rule, soil improvement crops are most advisable. Among these, first place is usually given to cowpeas.

Late or Mammoth soy beans may also be drilled in promptly after oats, and cultivated for seed or hay.

Spanish peanuts may still be planted. But with both soy beans and peanuts there is greater danger of getting a stand after oats than on less open land.

Only if the land is very rich should corn follow oats, and then usually with peas in every other row, or in the middles.

There is still time for sweet potatoes, but on oat stubble the stand is often poor.

Sorghum may be planted, then corn or sweet potatoes, but it impoverishes the soil.

BEST VARIETIES OF COWPEAS

Some of the Best Varieties for Seed and Hay and for Disease Resistance.

By E. F. Cauthen, Associate Agriculturist, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Speckled Peas—The most widely known variety of cowpeas is probably Speckled pea, called by some Whippoorwill or "Shinny." It has some vines and usually produces a good crop of seed. The pods do not burst open as soon as they are ripe and drop the peas on the ground. Harvesting may be delayed some time after the pods ripen.

If this variety is planted for hay it should be sown at the rate of one and a quarter bushels to two bushels per acre. The crowding of the plants forces the vines to grow more nearly upright, makes the mowing easier and increases the yield of hay.

Iron—The Iron variety makes a good yield of hay and a fair yield of seed. In growth the plants are intermediate between the bush and the running varieties. Its seed are rather small and when not weathered, light yellow in color. Its pods do not burst open as soon as they are ripe; therefore a delay of several weeks in their harvest does not cause a material loss in the quantity of seed. Land infected with either cowpea or cotton-wilt should be planted with Iron or Brabham cowpeas. The iron variety is very subject to mildew on the leaves, but resistant to wilt and root-knot.

Brabham—The Brabham is a new variety, resistant to wilt and root-knot. It somewhat resembles the Iron in growth and the Speckled in appearance of its smaller seeds. For seed production it stands high, and for hay medium.

New Era—The New Era is a very early bunch variety. The peas are small. Nearly round, and of a mottled, dark appearance. Two crops of New Era peas may be grown in one season in the central part of the cotton belt. It is one of the most productive of seed of the very early varieties.

Groit—This is a new, productive variety, very much like the New Era.

California Black-Eye—This variety is early and produces white, rather large peas, with black eyes, that sell at the highest price. It is extensively grown for table use, and, like most table varieties, it is less productive of seed or vines than the Speckled, New Era or Brabham.

Momentous Future In Woman's Mind

The expectant mother revolves in her mind all we understand by destiny. And it is of the utmost importance that her physical comfort be our first thought. There is a most splendid remedy for this purpose, known as "Mother's Friend." It is applied over the muscles of the stomach, gently rubbed in, and at once penetrates to relieve all strain on nerves, cords, ligaments and all parts involved. It makes the muscles so pliant that they expand naturally. And at the same time they are invigorated by the absence of harassing pains so apt to distress the mind. Whatever will add to the comfort of the expectant mother is a great and helpful influence since a calm and peaceful period must have a wonderfully beneficial impress upon the coming child. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" of any druggist and you will realize why so many women declare it to be the most helpful remedy they know of. Write today to Bradfield Regulator Co., 702 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a splendid book of great interest and value to every expectant mother.

Among the letters of interest in this book one says, in part, "Seven years ago I suffered from Wednesday to Saturday and had to have instruments. This time I was sick only three hours. I want to tell all that I can not praise 'Mother's Friend' high enough for the good it did me, as I had an easy time and the baby was perfect. I will always speak a good word for it."

KEEP ROOSTER PENNED

Should Be Separated From Flocks Soon as Hatching Season is Over.

By Earl S. Girton, Associate in Animal Husbandry, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

In order to get a better quality of eggs and to preserve them in good condition, it is necessary that the rooster be separated from the flock as soon as the hatching season is over.

It is a prevalent idea that the rooster must run with the flock in order to get high egg production, but this is erroneous. By keeping the rooster penned up, the eggs will not become fertilized and there will be no development of the embryo or little chick in the egg.

Although the eggs may not be under a hen, the temperature in the summer time is such that the empryos of fertile eggs will begin to develop after a few days growth, will deteriorate and will cause what we know as rotten eggs. This tendency of the eggs to spoil rapidly is decreased by keeping the rooster away from the hens. Infertile eggs will keep in good condition for two weeks or longer when subjected to a temperature which would spoil a fertile egg in 24 hours. Infertile eggs are also better for preserving purposes than fertile eggs.

Immediately following the hatching season, the rooster should be sold or used for table purposes, unless he is a very valuable bird, in which case he should be kept in a separate pen until early winter, when he may be turned with the flock again.

LAKES-TO-GULF HIGHWAY INCLUDE MONTGOMERY

Such is Decision at Meeting in Salem, Ind., Recently.

At a meeting of the Lakes-to Gulf Highway Association at Salem, Ind., recently, it was de cided to build the official high way from Chicago to Pensacola through Montgomery, according to a telegram received by Terry T. Greil, president of the Cham ber of Commerce, recently.

The wire to President Greil, announcing that it has been de cided to have the official high way through Montgomery, Presi dent Crum, of the association, declared that the meeting of yesterday was attended by many business men, and not politicians.

President Greil replied that the Montgomery people would give their hearty support to the proposition and called attention to the fact that a highway has recently been completed between Birmingham and Montgomery.

It is the plan, according to the telegram received here yesterday, to have the highway start at Chicago run through Salem and Indianapolis, Ind., Louisville, Ky., Nashville, Tenn., Birmingham and Montgomery and then to Pensacola.

It is thought that this highway will bring many automobile tour ists through Montgomery, something that the automobile committee of the local chamber has been anxious to have done for sometime.—Montgomery Advertiser.

ONLY PARDON CAN SAVE SHARP FROM GALLOWS.

Anniston, Ala., May 25.—Nothing but the pardoning power of Governor Charles Henderson now stands between Tim Sharp, convicted of the murder of two Anniston policemen, and death on the gallows. The certificate of affirmance from the Supreme Court has been received by A. H. Sheppard, Clerk of the Circuit Court, and turned over to Sheriff A. H. Borders. The date set for the execution is June 25. Sharp is now in the Birmingham jail, where he was carried for safe keeping after his conviction here.

GERMANY ASKS U. S. FOR A WEEK TO REPLY

London Dispatch States, However, Submarine War to Be Maintained.

London, May 25.—Germany has asked the United States government for another week in which to reply to the note of the sinking of the liner Lusitania, according to the Amsterdam correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company. He adds that the reply probably will be sent from Berlin on Saturday. The correspondent then continues as follows:

"The German reply to the American note will be couched in friendly terms on account of the Italian complications. The feeling toward America in Berlin is calmer now than it was. Everything possible will be done to avoid further trouble. German submarines are being instructed accordingly, although the note will explain, that upon the matter of principle, Germany cannot openly cease her submarine warfare."

Speaker Clark Snubs William Jennings Bryan

Bowling Green, Mo., May 24.—William Jennings Bryan, Secretary of State, will not witness the marriage of Miss Genevieve Clark, only daughter of Speaker Champ Clark, to James McIllhany Thompson of New Orleans, in Bowling Green on June 12. The reason is that he will not be invited. This was made known in Bowling Green today, and confirmed by a member of the speaker's official family. Mr. Bryan will be the only man prominent in official public life who will not receive an invitation to the wedding. Every person of high and low degree in the Ninth Congressional District, all members of the cabinet except Bryan, all members of Congress, except one, and nearly 5,000 persons famed in national and international life will be asked to be present. Bryan's name will be left off.

Five thousand personal friends of the speaker will receive invitation cards and the residents of the Ninth District, most of whom are known to Mr. Clark by name, will be invited by notices to be printed in the newspapers. Speaker Clark more than once has resorted to the use of "blanket invitations" of this kind and they have always broughtcrowds to "Honey Shuck," his Bowling Green home.

He Finds Grave of Uncle Killed in Resaca Battle

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 21.—Ex-Governor James Cox, of Ohio, today discovered the grave of Albert S. Andrew, only brother of his mother, who was killed in Resaca, Ga., in 1863. Ever since the war search has been made for the burial place of Andrew. A comrade carried the news back home that Andrew had been killed at Resaca and buried under a peach tree near that village. Today Mr. Cox discovered that the body had long ago been removed to the national cemetery in this city. He found a stone bearing the number 9,000, and tracing it in the records, located the name of his uncle, who was a mere boy when he fell in battle.

HOW WILSON HAS 'SET BUSINESS FREE'

More Failures in Two Years of Wilson Than in Four Years of Taft.

For the first two years of Mr. Wilson's administration there were 35,000 commercial failures. This number is some 10,000 in excess of similar failures during the first two years of the Taft administration. The total liabilities involved in the commercial failures during the first two years of the Wilson administration amounted to 760 millions of dollars. The total liabilities of the commercial failures in the United States during the four years of the Taft administration amounted to 640 millions, 120 millions less than for the two years of Wilson rule.

The liabilities involved in the failures occuring the first year of the Wilson administration exceeded by 70 million dollars the amount of the liabilities involved in the failures occuring in the last year of the Taft administration, and exceeded by 118 millions the liabilities involved in the failures that occurred during the first year of the Taft administration. That tells the real story of what Mr. Wilson's "New Freedom" did for the country.—Philadelphia Press.

Governor Walsh is Given Formula for Picking Wife

Boston Mass., May 23.—Incompatibility in marriage is soon to be a thing of the past, according to Dr. Max Baff, the Worcester scientist and former fellow in psychology at Clark University, who announces that he has discovered how to measure temperament.

With nothing more than a tape measure, he says, it is possible to find one's affinity and be positively sure that one is marrying the right man or woman.

Dr. Baff has had under observation Massachusetts best known bachelor, Gov. David I. Walsh. He announced the kind of a wife the governor should find in order to be assured of perfect happiness. Here are the specifications—the result of scientific observance:

She must be from five feet three inches to five feet six inches tall.

She must weigh from 141 to 146 pounds.

She must be tactful.

She must be cheerful at all times, especially before breakfast.

She must be sympathetic.

She must be ambitious.

She must be able to sing.

It is essential that she have a mezzo-soprano voice.

THE LEO M. FRANK CASE.

Atlanta, Ga., June 1st.—The Georgia Prison Commission granted a hearing today to a delegation of Cobb County citizens who presented a protest formulated at a mass meeting in Marietta last night against Leo M. Frank's application for commutation of sentence from death to life imprisonment. Mary Phagan, for whose murder Frank was convicted, formerly lived in Cobb County.

Spokesmen of the delegation in support of their protest declared they represented almost the entire population of Cobb County. "We believe in the enforcement of the law in this case," they declared, "and we believe the evidence shows Frank guilty. The jury and the courts have said so. If Frank is not guilty he should be set free; if he is guilty he should be hanged." They asserted the courts have held the prisoner had a fair trial.

Fred Morrison, one of the speakers, said: "There is no ground in this case on which to ask a commutation of sentence."

FRANK'S WIFE MAKES AFFIDAVIT TO SAVE HIM

Expert Says So-called "... Notes" Are ... Many Appeals ...

Atlanta, Ga., May 2... davit by Mrs. Leo M. Frank ... tailing what she knows ... husband's movements ... on the day of the Mary Phagan murder, will be presented ... the State Prison Commission ... the hearing here next ... on Frank's appeal ... mutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment ... announced today by Congressman W. M. Howard ... will have charge of Frank's ... tion. Mrs. Frank was not permitted under the State ... testify at the trial. ... will be tendered ... his counsel, it was said ... whether he will be heard ... depend upon the commission's ruling.

While the State law does not permit a person on trial for murder to be examined under oath, it provides that he may make a statement to the jury. When the case closed Frank made a detailed statement to the court in which he declared his innocence. When asked today if the prisoner would be heard a member of the commission stated that no applicant for a pardon or commutation ever had been allowed to appear in such proceedings ... he was not prepared to say whether the precedent would be broken in Frank's case.

Efforts are being made ... half of Frank to induce a majority of the jurors who convicted him to sign affidavits ... Another movement ... ency is under way ... ministers of Atlanta.

Another development in connection with the case which attracted ... was a report submitted ... ernor Slaton and the Commission by Albert S. Osborne, a handwriting expert of New York, in which Osborne ... his belief that Frank had nothing to do with the "murder note" found beside the body of Mary Phagan girl. James Conley, negro, testified at the trial he wrote these notes at Frank's dictation.

It was learned today that Solicitor General Dorsey, who prosecuted Frank, had filed with the commission a protest against a commutation of sentence.

Chairman Davison of the commission, while admitting receipt of Mr. Dorsey's protest, said ... to discuss it. Mr. Dorsey also refused to make any statement.

The commission today received a petition from the Georgia Society of New York, through its Board of Governors, urging that Frank's sentence be commuted to life imprisonment.

The society calls attention to the fact that its "membership is composed exclusively of Georgians, the descendants of Georgians and persons who have been educated in Georgia or who have married a Georgian."

In connecting myself with The Union-Banner again I have done so after due consideration. It will be remembered possibly by some of our readers that I was associated with this paper for a short period some two years ago, but for reasons, only remained a short time. Careful thought along this line has led me to again enter into the field here. As time goes on the possibilities for a splendid up-to-date county weekly paper at Clanton are more visible and encouraging. In the last two years, to say nothing of many years past, the county of Chilton has wonderfully advanced in all lines of progress and prosperity and her people are among the most law abiding and aggressive of the state. The towns of the county are in a class to themselves, compared to others, when it comes to upbuilding and progress during these distressing times which are now existing. In all these things Chilton County has many advantages, and these things go a long way towards inducing the citizen who is looking for a place to settle and cast his die.

It will be however, our aim to issue a clean cut weekly newspaper and we hope to merit the aid and support and patronage of the people of the county.

The Union-Banner offers the best clubbing list of most any paper. The Tri-Weekly Constitution and Progressive Farmer with our paper, for $1.50 in advance. Better subscribe while this good offer lasts.

There are 31,661 males of voting age and 33,765 women twenty-one years of age and over who are illiterate, either number approximating the combined adult population for the corresponding sex of our three largest cities—Birmingham, Mobile and Montgomery.

It is the easiest thing in the world for this community to become exceedingly prosperous in every way. Produce to the limit, sell all the surplus to outsiders, buy goods from home merchants, and keep surplus funds working in increasing the yearly output. It is easy to do and ought to be done.

But the Colonel's cost bill to defend himself will run over $60,000. So from the financial side the Colonel loses.—Selma Times.

And Barnes only asked $50,000 of the Colonel. However it is probable that the Colonel's expense account has been over-estimated. But if he spent a third of that amount in fees for attorneys, he failed to get his money's worth. He became his own attorney.—Advertiser.

Every good farmer should take a good farm paper. We are offering in a clubbing list, the Union-Banner; the Atlanta Constitution, and Progressive Farmer for $1.50 in advance.

The Constitution is a good old reliable farm paper, as well as newsy, and the Progressive Farmer can't be beat. Why not take advantage of this good offer while we are able to give it to you. This clubbing list may not last always.

The Confederate Reunion in session at Richmond is no doubt the most largely attended of anyone for years. The fact that it is being held at the old Confederate capital is one feature. And as the old Vets are thinned out more people naturally love to meet with and mingle with this beloved class of citizens. These grand old fellows are falling out of line one by one, and those of us who know and realize the character and worth of the brave old Vets regret to know this. Their influence and power will be missed when they have all passed away.

Joy to their meeting in Richmond!

"Prosperity has come back," is the daily announcement, but the average man finds it just as hard to get accommodation at the banks, and people are just as slow about paying their bills. If confidence can only be restored and the money that is hoarded can be coaxed back into circulation, things will soon get back to normal again.—Montgomery Times.

That's no joke: but we are afraid that with the blow the Underwood tariff bill dealt this country the business men and manufacturers will refuse to loosen up their purse strings just to vindicate Mr. Wilson.—Collinsville Courier.

USELESS OFFICES AND THE BOND ISSUE

It matters little whether the legislature or the governor suggests the reforms in reducing the number of judges. The people want and expect the legislature to reduce the ridiculous number of judges and courts that encumber justice and which were provided as "salary places" for friends of politicians.

The Ledger doesn't intend to point out the useless offices; all intelligent people know them. Circuit court terms are reduced to a few days in many counties, and too often there are not cases enough on the docket to justify a term of the court. We have carried the creation of courts to the limit, and competent lawyers have stated in private that outside of Jefferson, six circuit judges could attend to the work.

The people are thinking of these things, and they want to know what economies are to be pledged before they vote on the bond issue. The two things go together. Economy is the best argument for the bond issue. The Ledger predicts that unless the number of offices is cut materially a bond issue would be in danger of rejection at the polls.

Vague hints and unsupported promises will not be accepted. Reforms must be real to secure votes for bonds. —Birmingham Ledger.

The Ledger is right. The taxpayers of Alabama are tired of so many offices and officers—and so many appointive offices, just to provide places and fat salaries for friends of politicians. These useless places together with extravagant administration are fast putting the taxpayers of Alabama in a condition which will burden the generations to come. It is a ridiculous state of affairs.

Roosevelt as Political Leader.

Theodore Roosevelt having been vindicated by the jury in William Barnes' suit against him for libel is in the political ascendent once more.

Since his bolt from the regular Republican party and his defeat as the national progressive candidate for President in 1912 his power of leadership waned.

In the congressional elections of last year the progressive party was virtually wiped out of existence, while the Republicans made such substantial gains as to hearten the rank and file and give them courage for 1916.

For several weeks past Republican leaders have been quietly at work on reorganization plans for next year's campaign. Several names have been mentioned for the nomination, including that of Associate Justice Charles E. Hughes. While the progressives had been routed, it was felt that no republican candidate for the presidency would stand any chance of election if he were fought by Colonel Roosevelt and his faithful partisans. And that being so Roosevelt was to be reckoned with.

In view of the situation as it was Hughes seemed to be the strongest man for standard bearer. He had never been an enemy of Roosevelt and it was beginning to be understood that if Hughes were nominated the great body of those who formed the progressive party in 1912 would support him.

But today with Roosevelt in the role of hero again all the republican statesmen who have had up their lightning rods might as well take them down. Assuming that the colonel will return to the republican fold he will be nominated probably by acclamation. At any rate republicans are already talking of him as "our next standard bearer."

Political fortunes are often surprising. They change swiftly; and if Roosevelt is the Republican candidate in 1916 those prophets who said that the G. O. P. was as good as buried when it met a crushing defeat at the polls in 1912, will have to go out of the business of prophesying.

With Woodrow Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt as the opposing candidates the campaign will be the hottest in the history of this country.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The Union-Banner is one of the best equipped offices in this section of the state for advertising and job printing. With our paper a seven column publication we have room to give your "ad" space and prominence. Another thing our paper reaches the farming people. We are glad to boast of this real fact. The farming and laboring people hold the world intact. They are the people who trade with you and whose money you are after. In fact, there is not a business house in Clanton or any other town, as to to that matter, which does not cater to the farmer, and whose life and existence and success in business does not depend on the farming class Why not then give the Union-Banner an advertisement of your business and show the people you want their trade The Union-Banner is reasonable in its charges for job work and advertising. We hope to exist and thrive, if possible, on the live and let live plan. It is not fair and it is not intended that one business institution of any kind or character, should get all the trade, but if clean BUSINESS good work both in advertising and job work and a wide circulation will merit your patronage we want it and hope to get it. If the merchants of Chilton will give us a fair trial we will guarantee satisfaction and your moneys worth.

J. B. Colley of Montgomery, representing the Singer Sewing Machine Co., was in Clanton Friday. He has been doing some advertising with us and is well pleased with the results.

SHERIFF'S SALE, REAL ESTATE

The State of Alabama, Chilton County.

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, and to me directed whereby I, as Sheriff of said County, was commanded to make the sum of Three Thousand Dollars, principal and interest, and Eleven and 30 | 100 Dollars, costs of suit, the amount of a certain judgment and costs therein obtained at the Spring Term, 1915, of said Court of said County, Alabama, in favor of T. H. Joy and J. M. Marriott, partners doing business as the Joy-Marriott Co., against J. C. Taylor. I have levied upon and will sell to the highest bidder for cash, at public sale, at the Court House door of said County, between the hours of 11 o'clock a.m. and 4 o'clock p.m., on Monday, the 28th day of June, 1915, all the right, title and interest of the above named J. C. Taylor, in and to the following described real estate, viz:

Commencing at a point South of First Avenue and West of Seventh Street in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, running thence South for a distance of sixty feet to the property of E. M. Pinckard, thence in an Easterly direction and along fence a distance of ninety five feet, thence in a Northerly direction for a distance of sixty feet, thence in a Westerly direction and along the South line of First Avenue for a distance of ninety five feet to the point of beginning, as the property of J. C. Taylor, and lying and being in the town of Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama.

This 25th day of May, 1915.

5-27-3t. H. A. HARRIS, Sheriff.

Take your county paper and a good farm paper. The Union-Banner has a good clubbing list.

The United States treasury now is in danger of another heavy blow for which the Underwood tariff law is responsible. The customs court has just sustained the "5 per cent.,' clause of the tariff law, reducing duties to that amount on goods imported in American bottoms and from nations granted certain rights as "favored nations." If this decision is sustained by the supreme court of the country, then about $15,000,000 will have to be refunded that has already been collected. The law becomes retroactive to the time the Underwood tariff became effective two years ago. It will seriously embarass the United States, which has insufficient revenue as matters now stand, without this added catastrophe. Mr. Underwood should be proud of the legislation which bears his name; and so should Alabama—we don't think—Mobile Tribune.

Advertising for Candidates.

This year, before the candidates blossom out in numbers, the newspapers ought to discuss the question of how much space to give them free. It is free advertising to announce that a man intends to be a candidate.

It is hardly fair to charge a merchant for announcing that he has hats for sale, and then advertise a man's desire for a salary free of cost. Advertising is telling what a person or firm desires the public to know. A paper spends money to get a thousand or thirty thousand readers, so that it can tell them things promptly and at once. It is not fair to charge one man and give another the same benefit free of cost. It is of as much importance to advertise a man's desire for a $20,000 office as it is to tell that he wants to sell $20,000 worth of goods.—Birmingham Ledger.

With our 7-column paper we offer the best advertising medium in this section of the state.

CALOMEL DYNAMITES A SLUGGISH LIVER

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated snd all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a fifty cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.

Momentous Future In Woman's Mind

The expectant mother revolves in her mind all we understand by destiny. And it is of the utmost importance that her physical comfort be our first thought. There is a most splendid remedy for this purpose, known as "Mother's Friend." It is applied over the muscles of the stomach, gently rubbed in, and at once penetrates to relieve all strain on nerves, cords, ligaments and all parts involved. It makes the muscles so pliant that they expand naturally. And at the same time they are invigorated by the absence of harassing pains so apt to distress the mind. Whatever will add to the comfort of the expectant mother is a great and helpful influence since a calm and peaceful period must have a wonderfully beneficial impress upon the coming child. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" of any druggist and you will realize why so many women declare it to be the most helpful remedy they know of. Write today to Bradfield Regulator Co., 702 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a splendid book of great interest and value to every expectant mother.

Among the letters of interest in this book one says, in part, "Seven years ago I suffered from Wednesday to Saturday and had to have instruments. This time I was sick only three hours. I want to tell all that I can not praise 'Mother's Friend' high enough for the good it did me, as I had an easy time and the baby was perfect. I will always speak a good word for it."

TO THRIFTY HOUSEWIVES

With the summer approaching there will be many things you will need for wear and also for the house and the table.

Your husband is the maker, but it is for you to be the saver. He does the accumulating, but the thrifty housewife is just as important in her line of work. If she is careful in her household expenditures the bank account is constantly being increased and the day of eventual affluence is always at hand. The thrifty housewife makes the home.

But how are you to practice economy without going into yourself or your household of those things that are necessary to a comfortable existence in life.

It is a very simple and easy matter.

Avoid waste and buy economically. In other words buy goods of quality, but buy them where you get what you want at a price below the other fellow.

It is useless for us to tell you we have the goods, for you know that. It is equally useless for us to tell you that we make the price, because everybody knows that, too.

Your best method of practicing economy, then, is to trade with us, for this is essentially a store of quality and economy. For the best evidence of the truthfulness of this statement try it yourself, or just take an hour or so and size up the people who pass in and out of our doors. They are thrifty people, and have learned from experience where it is best to trade.

REGULATION

There exists a desire in the heart of every individual to better his condition. This is a laudable ambition. Unfortunately the strong are often willing to better themselves at the expense of the weak. The weak resent the imposition. This stirs up active antagonism.

Were all men engaged in creative work, and the development of resources, each striving to help the other in order that all might prosper, regulation would not be such a necessary part of our economic progress.

But there are men greedy for dollars, greedy for power, greedy for political preferment, greedy for prominence, who subordinate every paragraph in the code of ethics to an overpowering ambition.

These men need to be regulated. Calm, judicious minds are required. Pretense must be sifted from justice. The welfare of the people as a whole must be given the benefit of every doubt. Personal interest must not be allowed to influence public acts.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad believes in this policy because the Louisville & Nashville has a close, sympathetic relation with the people. Crops must be good, factories must be busy, the worker must earn, before the Louisville & Nashville Railroad can bring in and carry out necessities and luxuries.

The L. & N. is one with the people, and as such is subject to the laws—which means regulation. The Louisville & Nashville strives at all times to obey the law. Most of our laws imply restraint, but they restrain from evil doing, not from well doing. There is no law to restrain us from helping our fellow man, but there is a law, and justly so, restraining us from helping one individual to the detriment of another individual.

The L. & N. is a great public service company. It cannot be an influence for evil, because it is regulated by the people it serves. It can be, and is, a great influence for good, not because of this regulation, but because of its determination to progress, to succeed, along with the people it serves.

The L. & N. will always be found in the forefront of any movement designed for the general public good. It gives of its time, its money, its influence, its patriotism to agricultural, commercial and industrial development throughout its territory.

In addition, the freight and passenger service is unexcelled, and is such as to warrant the patronage of the people of the section served. On this basis the L. & N. solicits the favorable consideration of the traveler and the shipper.

Wonderful Blood Remedy That Works in the Tissues

The Very Latest Theory About How and Why the Blood is Disordered.

S. S. S. Means Pure Blood Which Insures Long Life and Health.

The great experts in Chemistry and Physiology now declare what has all along been contended by the Swift Laboratory that the germs of blood disorders find lodgment in the interstices of the tissues.

And herein is where S. S. S. goes to work rapidly, effectively and with wonderfully noticeable results.

This famous blood purifier contains medicinal components just as vital and essential to healthy blood as the nutritive elements of wheat, roast beef, and fats and the sugars that make up our daily ration.

As a matter of fact there is one ingredient in S. S. S. which serves the active purpose of stimulating each cellular part of the body to the healthy and judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. That is why it regenerates the blood supply; why it has such a tremendous influence in overcoming eczema, rash, pimples, and all skin afflictions.

And in regenerating the tissues S. S. S. has a rapid and positive antidotal effect upon all those irritating influences that cause rheumatism, sore throat, weak eyes, loss of weight, thin pale cheeks, and that weariness of muscle and nerve that is generally experienced, by all sufferers with poisoned blood.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store, and in a few days you will not only feel bright, and energetic, but you will be the picture of new life.

S. S. S. is prepared only in the laboratory of the Swift Specific Co., 201 Swift Bldg, Atlanta, Ga.—Who maintain a very efficient Medical Department, where all who have any blood disorder of a stubborn nature may write freely for advice.

S. S. S. is sold everywhere by all drug stores.

Beware of all attempts to sell you something "Just as good." Insist upon S. S. S.

OLDER BUT STRONGER

To be healthy at seventy, prepare at forty, is sound advice, because in the strength of middle life we too often forget that neglected colds, or careless treatment of slight aches and pains, simply undermine strength and bring chronic weakness for later years.

To be stronger when older, keep your blood pure and rich and active with the strength-building and blood-nourishing properties of Scott's Emulsion which is a food, a tonic and a medicine to keep your blood rich, alleviate rheumatism and avoid sickness. No alcohol in Scott's. Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

LIME REQUIREMENTS OF CROPS

Lime Loving, Those That Are Indifferent to Lime and Those That Are Injured by Lime.

By M. J. Funchess, Associate Agriculturist, Auburn, Ala.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Field crop plants and garden or truck plants may be grouped into three classes, namely, (1) those that are lime loving, (2) those that are indifferent to lime, and (3) those that are frequently injured by lime. Among the field crops that are distinctly responsive to lime are alfalfa, red clover, crimson clover, bur clover, sweet clover (melilotus), the vetches, peanuts, soy beans, velvet beans, wheat, barley, oats, sorghum and tobacco. Some of the garden or truck crops in this group are lettuce, beet, okra, onion, cabbage, cucumber, cantaloupe, rutabaga and garden pea. On very sour lands in middle and south Alabama both cotton and corn have responded profitably to lime, though these two crops are usually not classed as lime-loving plants.

Among the field crops that may be placed in the group indifferent to lime are cowpeas, lespedeza or Japan clover, rye and red top. Cotton and corn may also be placed in this group, especially where nitrate of soda is used as the source of nitrogen in the fertilizer. On land that is only slightly sour, lime will seldom pay profits when used for these last named crops.

Among the few important crops injured by lime the watermelon is a good example, consistently injured by the use of lime. This crop almost invariably is more thrifty on sour land than on land that has been limed.

As a general rule, it is more profitable to use lim for the legumes, such as alfalfa, the clovers and vetches, etc., than it is to use it for the non-leguminous crops like corn, cotton, oats or wheat.

THE PRODUCTION OF PORK

Hog Emeregency Animal—No Other Animal Compares With Him as Money Crop.

By J. C. Ford, Field Agent for Pig Clubs, Alabama Extension Service and U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Just at present we need something that can be substituted in part for cotton as a money crop; and in this respect there is, in my opinion, no plant and no other animal that compares with the hog.

A sow pig farrowed in the fall of 1914 will, if well cared for, produce a litter of pigs in the fall of 1915. These pigs can be used during the winter of 1915-16 to concert into cash the crops grown during the summer of 1915 and the winter of 1915-16.

Those farmers who are short of brood sows should start now and be ready for business by next fall. A good sow pig can be bought for a small price and fed through till next fall at very little cost. Such a gilt need be fed very little if any corn. She should be kept in thrifty, vigorous growing condition but not excessively fat. She will develop into a much better sow and can be carried through much more cheaply if given the run of a good pasture and regularly supplied with the following mineral mixture: Charcoal, 1 bushel; sardwood ashes, 1 bushel; salt, 8 lbs.; air-slaked lime, 8 lbs.; sulphur, 4 pounds; pulverized copperas, 2 lbs. This mixture will prevent worms and keep the system in good tone. It also tends slightly to balance rations that are poor in minerals.

Too Poor.

A WONDERFUL HEALING INFLUENCE KIDNEY TROUBLES.

A year and a half ago I was taken with a severe attack of Kidney trouble that pained me to such an extent that morphine had to be given me. Was attended by a doctor who pronounced it as Stone in the Bladder and prescribed Lithia Water. I took Lithia Water and Tablets for some time and received no relief from them. I stopped taking medicines for some time, later having some Swamp-Root in the house I decided to try it and felt much relieved. While taking the second bottle commenced to pass Gravel in urine until I had passed in all at least a half dozen or more and have not suffered the slightest since—and in all have taken one bottle and a half and feel very grateful to Swamp Root.

Haydn and Church Music.

Carpani, the poet, once asked his friend, Haydn, "how it happened that his church music was almost always of an animating, cheerful and even gay description." To this Haydn's answer was: "I cannot make it otherwise. I write according to the thoughts which I feel. When I think upon God my heart is so full of joy that the notes dance and leap, as it were, from my pen, and since God has given me a cheerful heart, it will be easily forgiven me that I serve him with a cheerful spirit."

Are We Reaching Our Share

We have in North America tw four million Protestant church bers and about fourteen or fiftee lion Roman Catholic church mem Added together, these make a one-third of the population of countries. In other words, if vide our field to be reached in America by the number of us ought to be active as Christian ers, each one of us has to reac persons in order to make North ica wholly Christian. Against every missionary has seventy and people to reach, or a field thirty-five thousand times the a size of the field of each one of us at home. Yet some of you, in thought about your tremendous tance, are wondering whether country or Canada can get along you happen to decide to go a J. Campbell White.

Wonderful Blood Remedy That Works in the Tissues

The Very Latest Theory About How and Why the Blood is Disordered.

S. S. S. Means Pure Blood Which Insures Long Life and Health.

The great experts in Chemistry and Physiology now declare what has all along been contended by the Swift Laboratory that the germs of blood disorders find lodgment in the interstices of the tissues.

And herein is where S. S. S. goes to work rapidly, effectively and with wonderfully noticeable results.

This famous blood purifier contains medicinal components just as vital and essential to healthy blood as the nutritive elements of wheat, roast beef, and fats and the sugars that make up our daily ration.

As a matter of fact there is one ingredient in S. S. S. which serves the active purpose of stimulating each cellular part of the body to the healthy and judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. That is why it regenerates the blood supply; why it has such a tremendous influence in overcoming eczema, rash, pimples, and all skin afflictions.

And in regenerating the tissues S. S. S. has a rapid and positive antidotal effect upon all those irritating influences that cause rheumatism, sore throat, weak eyes, loss of weight, thin pale cheeks, and that weariness of muscle and nerve that is generally experienced, by all sufferers with poisoned blood.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store, and in a few days you will not only feel bright, and energetic, but you will be the picture of new life.

S. S. S. is prepared only in the laboratory of the Swift Specific Co., 201 Swift Bldg, Atlanta, Ga.—Who maintain a very efficient Medical Department, where all who have any blood disorder of a stubborn nature may write freely for advice.

S. S. S. is sold everywhere by all drug stores.

Beware of all attempts to sell you something "Just as good." Insist upon S. S. S.

OLDER BUT STRONGER

To be healthy at seventy, prepare at forty, is sound advice, because in the strength of middle life we too often forget that neglected colds, or careless treatment of slight aches and pains, simply undermine strength and bring chronic weakness for later years.

To be stronger when older, keep your blood pure and rich and active with the strength-building and blood-nourishing properties of Scott's Emulsion which is a food, a tonic and a medicine to keep your blood rich, alleviate rheumatism and avoid sickness. LIME REQUIREMENTS OF CROPS

Lime Loving, Those That Are Indifferent to Lime and Those That Are Injured by Lime.

By M. J. Funchess, Associate Agriculturist, Auburn, Ala.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Field crop plants and garden or truck plants may be grouped into three classes, namely, (1) those that are lime loving, (2) those that are indifferent to lime, and (3) those that are frequently injured by lime. Among the field crops that are distinctly responsive to lime are alfalfa, red clover, crimson clover, bur clover, sweet clover (melilotus), the vetches, peanuts, soy beans, velvet beans, wheat, barley, oats, sorghum and tobacco. Some of the garden or truck crops in this group are lettuce, beet, okra, onion, cabbage, cucumber, cantaloupe, rutabaga and garden pea. On very sour lands in middle and south Alabama both cotton and corn have responded profitably to lime, though these two crops are usually not classed as lime-loving plants.

Among the field crops that may be placed in the group indifferent to lime are cowpeas, lespedeza or Japan clover, rye and red top. Cotton and corn may also be placed in this group, especially where nitrate of soda is used as the source of nitrogen in the fertilizer. On land that is only slightly sour, lime will seldom pay profits when used for these last named crops.

Among the few important crops injured by lime the watermelon is a good example, consistently injured by the use of lime. This crop almost invariably is more thrifty on sour land than on land that has been limed.

As a general rule, it is more profitable to use lim for the legumes, such as alfalfa, the clovers and vetches, etc., than it is to use it for the non-leguminous crops like corn, cotton, oats or wheat.

THE PRODUCTION OF PORK

Hog Emeregency Animal—No Other Animal Compares With Him as Money Crop.

By J. C. Ford, Field Agent for Pig Clubs, Alabama Extension Service and U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Just at present we need something that can be substituted in part for cotton as a money crop; and in this respect there is, in my opinion, no plant and no other animal that compares with the hog.

A sow pig farrowed in the fall of 1914 will, if well cared for, produce a litter of pigs in the fall of 1915. These pigs can be used during the winter of 1915-16 to concert into cash the crops grown during the summer of 1915 and the winter of 1915-16.

Those farmers who are short of brood sows should start now and be ready for business by next fall. A good sow pig can be bought for a small price and fed through till next fall at very little cost. Such a gilt need be fed very little if any corn. She should be kept in thrifty, vigorous growing condition but not excessively fat. She will develop into a much better sow and can be carried through much more cheaply if given the run of a good pasture and regularly supplied with the following mineral mixture: Charcoal, 1 bushel; sardwood ashes, 1 bushel; salt, 8 lbs.; air-slaked lime, 8 lbs.; sulphur, 4 pounds; pulverized copperas, 2 lbs. This mixture will prevent worms and keep the system in good tone. It also tends slightly to balance rations that are poor in minerals.

Too Poor.

A WONDERFUL HEALING INFLUENCE KIDNEY TROUBLES.

A year and a half ago I was taken with a severe attack of Kidney trouble that pained me to such an extent that morphine had to be given me. Was attended by a doctor who pronounced it as Stone in the Bladder and prescribed Lithia Water. I took Lithia Water and Tablets for some time and received no relief from them. I stopped taking medicines for some time, later having some Swamp-Root in the house I decided to try it and felt much relieved. While taking the second bottle commenced to pass Gravel in urine until I had passed in all at least a half dozen or more and have not suffered the slightest since—and in all have taken one bottle and a half and feel very grateful to Swamp Root.

Carpani, the poet, once asked his friend, Haydn, "how it happened that his church music was almost always of an animating cheerful and even gay description." To this Haydn's answer was: "I cannot make it otherwise. I write according to the thoughts which I feel. When I think upon God my heart is so full of joy that the notes dance and leap, as it were, from my pen, and since God has given me a cheerful heart, it will be easily forgiven me that I serve him with a cheerful spirit."

M CONLEY DENIES WRITING LETTERS

eleased From Jail After Serv- ing Sentence of One Year as Accessory to Phagan Murder

Atlanta, June 2.—James Con- ey, negro factory sweeper, who st night completed his sentence f one year as accessory to the urder of Mary Phagan, today enied that he had written the nna Maud Carter letters, which layed such an important part in eo M. Frank's extraordinary notion for a new trial.

Conley's denial, made today in he presence of Solicitor Dorsey, was the first intimation that Con- ey had written the famous murder notes" found beside Mary Phagan's body without as- stance from anyone. Conley had testified at Frank's trial that he notes were written by him at Frank's dictation.

Frank's attorneys claimed that he expressions and general form of diction in the Carter letters were identical with those of the murder notes" and that Conley had written both independent of outside suggestion.

Conley stated today that while he had received letters from the Carter woman, he had never re- plied to them and that he knew nothing about the letters of which he was reported to be the autl.or, further than what he had read in the newspapers.

The negro called voluntarily at Solicitor Dorsey's office today and made the statement.

FUNERAL PARTY GOES 120 MILES BY AUTO

Mexico, Mo., June 7.—The funeral trip of Mrs. Martha E. Jamieson, whose burial took place in Bowling Green, was perhaps the longest ever made by motor in Missouri. The body passed through Mexico, being in a large box strapped to the rear of a touring car. Arriving in Bowling Green, it had traveled in automobile fully 120 miles.

There were two cars, one carrying the body and the other members of the dead woman's family. The motor trip followed the news that should the body be shipped on a train from Huntsville, connections were such it would not arrive at its destination until too late in the afternoon.

OIL MILL PROPOSITION UNDER CONSIDERATION

It is currently reported that Clanton is soon to have a cotton seed oil mill. Just who the projectors are and when the new industry will be in operation we have been unable to learn; but it is hoped that the prevalent current news may not fall to the ground, but materialize, and bring this much needed enterprise to our city. To a man looking for a place to establish a business of this kind, no proposition could be more favorable and inducing than Clanton.

Ford Five Passenger $490

Cars Roadster $440

(PRICES F. O. B. DETROIT)

The Ford Company announced last year—as you well remember—that if their total sales reached 300,000 cars between Aug. 1, 1914 and Aug. 1, 1915, each purchaser during that period would back a refund of from $40 to $60.

Redarding that rebate Mr. Ford now says: "We shall sell the 300,000, and in eleven months, a full month ahead of August 1st! You may say that we shall pay back to each purchaser of a Ford Car between Aug. 1, 1914 and Aug. 1, 1915, barring the unforeseen, the sum of $50. You may say that I authorized you to make this statement."

What can I add to the above? $15,000,000 cash coming back to Ford owners! And to prospective Ford owners up to Aug. 1, 1915, it actually means—Ford Touring Cars for $490, less the $50 rebate! Ford Runabouts for $440, less the $50 rebate, f. o. b. factory, Detroit. What is left for me to say?

In addition to Ford Cars, which I carry always in stock, I am local agent for all the best cars on the market. If you are a prospective purchaser call and talk over the proposition with me. I carry a full line of automobile accessories. Anything your car needs secured in the shortest time.

Girls Tomato Club Has Good Outlook for This Season

Editor Union-Banner:—It is with pleasure that I am able to write that the girls canning club in Chilton county is making great progress. We have more working members this year than last, 87 being on roll. I have visited quite a number and heard from all. Almost everyone is in high spirits about the work and I think when the canning season is finished we will all be proud of the work accomplished.

We are earnestly urging each girl to keep a correct record of her work. so we may know what she did; and of course this is absolutely necessary in order to compete for prizes that will be given. We do not know yet what prizes will be offered, but we are trying to have something for every member who keeps records and reports promptly this fall.

We are getting three Chilton county girls ready to attend the short course in domestic science at Auburn. on the 21-26th inst. These scholarships were given to the girls for work done in the club last year (two were given by the Union State Bank, and the other by two government employees). We greatly appreciate their interest in our work.

We do not want the girls to get the idea that prize winning is the chief aim of the club. The desire to win a prize is a worthy ambition, and we are proud of the girls who can win "fair and square." The girl who gets most out of this work however, is the one who thinks first of the knowledge and experience to be gained, and the money it will bring her, and who finds solid pleasure in achievement, in doing a good work better than those around her have done it.

Canning season will soon be here; then what a jolly time we canning club girls will have visiting demonstrations and club picnics.

We are hoping to hear from our prize-winning girls through our county papers on their return from Auburn.

COWBOYS TAKE ABDUCTED BOYS FROM MEXICANS

American Posse Rides Across Border Into Sonora--Troop Commander is Cowed.

Nogales, Ariz., June 5. A posse of ten American cowboys and miners rode eight miles across the border into Santa Cruz, Sonora, this afternoon, levelled their guns at the colonel commanding the garrison, while 150 soldiers looked on, and obtained the release of two American boys kidnapped early today by three of the soldiers on the Arizona side of the border.

The colonel gave up his two 17 year-old prisoners, George Vaughan, son of a storekeeper at Duquesne, and Henry Chang, son of a Chinese-American citizen of Washington Camp, Ariz., without demur and the posse rode triumphantly back to the United States.

Santa Cruz is garrisoned by forces of Jose Maytorena, the Villa governor of Sonora. Washington Camp, where the Mexicans captured the boys, and Duquesne are border settlements 25 miles east of here.

What was expected to be gained by the kidnapping of the boys was not ascertained. O. K. Franklin, a miner, reported the kidnapping. He saw the three Mexican soldiers, mounted, near the border, driving the boys, who were on foot, ahead of them at the point of revolvers. The boys' hands were tied.

Army officers were notified, as was Sheriff W. R. Knight, who promptly started out from here with a posse. Meantime cowboys and members from Duquesne had taken the trail with the announced intention, which they proceeded to carry out, of going into Sonora to rescue the boys.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY IN ARTESIA MISSISSIPPI

Prominent Physician Shot and Killed; Slayer's Wife Attempts Suicide.

Columbus, Miss., June 3.—A deplorable tragedy was enacted at Artesia this morning at two o'clock when A. C. Cox, a druggist, shot and instantly killed Dr. R. E. Mauldin, a prominent practicing physician of that place, the killing having occurred in the bedroom of the Cox home. Improper relations with the slayer's wife, it is stated, was the cause of the tragedy. Cox fired six shots, three of which took effect, two entering the physician's head, and the third punctured the neck.

Immediately following the shooting Mrs. Cox took twelve bichloride tablets in an attempt to end her life. She is in a desperate condition, practically no hope being held for her recovery. Mrs. Cox was Miss Alice Gunn of Starkville, Miss., before her marriage to Mr. Cox. They have one child, a little boy. Her family is one of the most prominent in Starkville.

Mr. Cox and Dr. Mauldin previous to the tragedy, were the best of friends, the latter having made the Cox drug Store his headquarters, maintaining an office therein.

Wonderful Blood Remedy That Works in the Tissues

The Very Latest Theory About How and Why the Blood is Disordered.

S. S. S. Means Pure Blood Which Insures Long Life and Health.

The great experts in Chemistry and Physiology now declare what has all along been contended by the Swift Laboratory that the germs of blood disorders find lodgment in the interstices of the tissues.

And herein is where S. S. S. goes to work rapidly, effectively and with wonderfully noticeable results.

This famous blood purifier contains medicinal components just as vital and essential to healthy blood as the nutritive elements of wheat, roast beef, and fats and the sugars that make up our daily ration.

As a matter of fact there is one ingredient in S. S. S. which serves the active purpose of stimulating each cellular part of the body to the healthy and judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. That is why it regenerates the blood supply; why it has such a tremendous influence in overcoming eczema, rash, pimples, and all skin afflictions.

And in regenerating the tissues S. S. S. has a rapid and positive antidotal effect upon all those irritating influences that cause rheumatism, sore throat, weak eyes, loss of weight, thin pale cheeks, and that weariness of muscle and nerve that is generally experienced, by all sufferers with poisoned blood.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store, and in a few days you will not only feel bright, and energetic, but you will be the picture of new life.

S. S. S. is prepared only in the laboratory of the Swift Specific Co., 201 Swift Bldg, Atlanta, Ga. Who maintain a very efficient Medical Department, where all who have any blood disorder of a stubborn nature may write freely for advice.

S. S. S. is sold everywhere by all drug stores.

Beware of all attempts to sell you something "Just as good." Insist upon S. S. S.

OLDER BUT STRONGER

To be healthy at seventy, prepare at forty, is sound advice, because in the strength of middle life we too often forget that neglected colds, or careless treatment of slight aches and pains, simply undermine strength and bring chronic weakness for later years.

To be stronger when older, keep your blood pure and rich and active with the strength-building and blood-nourishing properties of Scott's Emulsion which is a food, a tonic and a medicine to keep your blood rich, alleviate rheumatism and avoid sickness. No alcohol in Scott's.

LIME REQUIREMENTS OF CROPS

Lime Loving, Those That Are Indifferent to Lime and Those That Are Injured by Lime.

By M. J. Funchess, Associate Agriculturist, Auburn, Ala.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Field crop plants and garden or truck plants may be grouped into three classes, namely, (1) those that are lime loving, (2) those that are indifferent to lime, and (3) those that are frequently injured by lime. Among the field crops that are distinctly responsive to lime are alfalfa, red clover, crimson clover, bur clover, sweet clover (melilotus), the vetches, peanuts, soy beans, velvet beans, wheat, barley, oats, sorghum and tobacco. Some of the garden or truck crops in this group are lettuce, beet, okra, onion, cabbage, cucumber, cantaloupe, rutabaga and garden pea. On very sour lands in middle and south Alabama both cotton and corn have responded profitably to lime, though these two crops are usually not classed as lime-loving plants.

Among the field crops that may be placed in the group indifferent to lime are cowpeas, lespedeza or Japan clover, rye and red top. Cotton and corn may also be placed in this group, especially where nitrate of soda is used as the source of nitrogen in the fertilizer. On land that is only slightly sour, lime will seldom pay profits when used for these last named crops.

Among the few important crops injured by lime the watermelon is a good example, consistently injured by the use of lime. This crop almost invariably is more thrifty on sour land than on land that has been limed.

As a general rule, it is more profitable to use lim for the legumes, such as alfalfa, the clovers and vetches, etc., than it is to use it for the non-leguminous crops like corn, cotton, oats or wheat.

THE PRODUCTION OF PORK

Hog Emeregency Animal—No Other Animal Compares With Him as Money Crop.

By J. C. Ford, Field Agent for Pig Clubs, Alabama Extension Service and U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Just at present we need something that can be substituted in part for cotton as a money crop; and in this respect there is, in my opinion, no plant and no other animal that compares with the hog.

A sow pig farrowed in the fall of 1914 will, if well cared for, produce a litter of pigs in the fall of 1915. These pigs can be used during the winter of 1915-16 to concert into cash the crops grown during the summer of 1915 and the winter of 1915-16.

Those farmers who are short of brood sows should start now and be ready for business by next fall. A good sow pig can be bought for a small price and fed through till next fall at very little cost. Such a gilt need be fed very little if any corn. She should be kept in thrifty, vigorous growing condition but not excessively fat. She will develop into a much better sow and can be carried through much more cheaply if given the run of a good pasture and regularly supplied with the following mineral mixture: Charcoal, 1 bushel; sardwood ashes, 1 bushel; salt, 8 lbs.; air-slaked lime, 8 lbs.; sulphur, 4 pounds; pulverized copperas, 2 lbs. This mixture will prevent worms and keep the system in good tone. It also tends slightly to balance rations that are poor in minerals.

Too Poor.

A WONDERFUL HEALING INFLUENCE KIDNEY TROUBLES.

A year and a half ago I was taken with a severe attack of Kidney trouble that pained me to such an extent that morphine had to be given me. Was attended by a doctor who pronounced it as Stone in the Bladder and prescribed Lithia Water. I took Lithia Water and Tablets for some time and received no relief from them. I stopped taking medicines for some time, later having some Swamp-Root in the house I decided to try it and felt much relieved. While taking the second bottle commenced to pass Gravel in urine until I had passed in all at least a half dozen or more and have not suffered the slightest since—and in all have taken one bottle and a half and feel very grateful to Swamp Root,

Yours very truly,

Carpani, the poet, once asked his friend, Haydn, "how it happened that his church music was almost always of an animating, cheerful and even gay description." To this Haydn's answer was: "I cannot make it otherwise. I write according to the thoughts which I feel. When I think upon God my heart is so full of joy that the notes dance and leap, as it were, from my pen, and since God has given me a cheerful heart, it will be easily forgiven me that I serve him with a cheerful spirit."

Tomorrow the Colonel and a party of men will board the Louisiana Conservation Commission's yacht Daisy for a trip among the Federal and State game preserves on the lower coast, which comprise about 30,000 acres. It is said that it was at Colonel Roosevelt's suggestion that the first Federal preserve was established in Louisiana, but he never has seen it.

FUNERAL PARTY GOES 120 MILES BY AUTO

Mexico, Mo., June 7.—The funeral trip of Mrs. Martha E. Jamieson, whose burial took place in Bowling Green, was perhaps the longest ever made by motor in Missouri. The body passed through Mexico, being in a large box strapped to the rear of a touring car. Arriving in Bowling Green, it had traveled in automobile fully 120 miles.

There were two cars, one carrying the body and the other members of the dead woman's family. The motor trip followed the news that should the body be shipped on a train from Huntsville, connections were such it would not arrive at its destination until too late in the afternoon.

OIL MILL PROPOSITION UNDER CONSIDERATION

It is currently reported that Clanton is soon to have a cotton seed oil mill. Just who the projectors are and when the new industry will be in operation we have been unable to learn; but it is hoped that the prevalent current news may not fall to the ground, but materialize, and bring this much needed enterprise to our city. To a man looking for a place to establish a business of this kind, no proposition could be more favorable and inducing than Clanton.

BRIDE WITHOUT RACE WON'T FIGHT DIVORCE

Detroit, Mich., June 7.—Mrs Annie Boone Little, "bride without a race," whose sensational fight to disprove charges of her husband that she is of negro origin, attracted nation-wide attention, has withdrawn her suit for divorce and will permit her husband, Charles A. Little, to obtain a decree on his cross bill without contest.

It has been learned that Mr. and Mrs. Little have signed an agreement whereby Little will be given a divorce on grounds of extreme cruelty. The question of Mrs. Little's parentage will not be an issue when the case comes up for final action.

Girls Tomato Club Has Good Outlook for This Season

Editor Union-Banner:—It is with pleasure that I am able to write that the girls canning club in Chilton county is making great progress. We have more working members this year than last, 87 being on roll. I have visited quite a number and heard from all. Almost everyone is in high spirits about the work and I think when the canning season is finished we will all be proud of the work accomplished.

We are earnestly urging each girl to keep a correct record of her work. so we may know what she did; and of course this is absolutely necessary in order to compete for prizes that will be given. We do not know yet what prizes will be offered, but we are trying to have something for every member who keeps records and reports promptly this fall.

We are getting three Chilton county girls ready to attend the short course in domestic science at Auburn. on the 21-26th inst. These scholarships were given to the girls for work done in the club last year (two were given by the Union State Bank, and the other by two government employees). We greatly appreciate their interest in our work.

We do not want the girls to get the idea that prize winning is the chief aim of the club. The desire to win a prize is a worthy ambition, and we are proud of the girls who can win "fair and square." The girl who gets most out of this work however, is the one who thinks first of the knowledge and experience to be gained, and the money it will bring her, and who finds solid pleasure in achievement, in doing a good work better than those around her have done it.

Canning season will soon be here; then what a jolly time we canning club girls will have visiting demonstrations and club picnics.

We are hoping to hear from our prize-winning girls through our county papers on their return from Auburn.

COWBOYS TAKE ABDUCTED BOYS FROM MEXICANS

Nogales, Ariz., June 5. A posse of ten American cowboys and miners rode eight miles across the border into Santa Cruz, Sonora, this afternoon, levelled their guns at the colonel commanding the garrison, while 150 soldiers looked on, and obtained the release of two American boys kidnapped early today by three of the soldiers on the Arizona side of the border.

The colonel gave up his two 17 year-old prisoners, George Vaughan, son of a storekeeper at Duquesne, and Henry Chang, son of a Chinese-American citizen of Washington Camp, Ariz., without demur and the posse rode triumphantly back to the United States.

Santa Cruz is garrisoned by forces of Jose Maytorena, the Villa governor of Sonora. Washington Camp, where the Mexicans captured the boys, and Duquesne are border settlements 25 miles east of here.

What was expected to be gained by the kidnapping of the boys was not ascertained. O. K. Franklin, a miner, reported the kidnapping. He saw the three Mexican soldiers, mounted, near the border, driving the boys, who were on foot, ahead of them at the point of revolvers. The boys' hands were tied.

Army officers were notified, as was Sheriff W. R. Knight, who promptly started out from here with a posse. Meantime cowboys and members from Duquesne had taken the trail with the announced intention, which they proceeded to carry out, of going into Sonora to rescue the boys.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY IN ARTESIA MISSISSIPPI

Columbus, Miss., June 3.—A deplorable tragedy was enacted at Artesia this morning at two o'clock when A. C. Cox, a druggist, shot and instantly killed Dr. R. E. Mauldin, a prominent practicing physician of that place, the killing having occurred in the bedroom of the Cox home. Improper relations with the slayer's wife, it is stated, was the cause of the tragedy. Cox fired six shots, three of which took effect, two entering the physician's head, and the third punctured the neck.

Immediately following the shooting Mrs. Cox took twelve bichloride tablets in an attempt to end her life. She is in a desperate condition, practically no hope being held for her recovery. Mrs. Cox was Miss Alice Gunn of Starkville, Miss., before her marriage to Mr. Cox. They have one child, a little boy. Her family is one of the most prominent in Starkville.

Mr. Cox and Dr. Mauldin previous to the tragedy, were the best of friends, the latter having made the Cox drug Store his headquarters, maintaining an office therein.

BURGLARS ROB MAN AND ASSAULT HIS WIFE

The men took turns in attacking the woman. Bo[illegible]gory, a white man, was later robbed of 50 cents by the two white men. Three negroes were also held up and robbed.

Ford Five Passenger $490

Cars Roadster $440

(PRICES F. O. B. DETROIT)

The Ford Company announced last year—as you well remember—that if their total sales reached 300,000 cars between Aug. 1, 1914 and Aug. 1, 1915, each purchaser during that period would back a refund of from $40 to $60.

Redarding that rebate Mr. Ford now says: "We shall sell the 300,000, and in eleven months, a full month ahead of August 1st! You may say that we shall pay back to each purchaser of a Ford Car between Aug. 1, 1914 and Aug. 1, 1915, barring the unforeseen, the sum of $50. You may say that I authorized you to make this statement."

What can I add to the above? $15,000,000 cash coming back to Ford owners! And to prospective Ford owners up to Aug. 1, 1915, it actually means—Ford Touring Cars for $490, less the $50 rebate! Ford Runabouts for $440, less the $50 rebate, f. o. b. factory, Detroit. What is left for me to say?

In addition to Ford Cars, which I carry always in stock, I am local agent for all the best cars on the market. If you are a prospective purchaser call and talk over the proposition with me. I carry a full line of automobile accessories. Anything your car needs secured in the shortest time.

The officials in Washington can write some attractive compositions on prosperity; but when it comes to the empty dinner pail and the man out of a job—that is something else.

The crops iu this section are fn good condition, but probably a little late. If seasons hit for a few days longer the farmers can ccunt on hog and hominy another year.

The Ford Motor Co has been reorganiz:d and the capftal of the corporation raised from two million to one hundred million dollars. A dividend of 48 million was declared.

The Federal court decision in which it decided with the United States Steel Corporation will be the means of much money being spent in the Birmingham District.

It is gratifying to the people of this section to know that Birmingham will get the meeting of the next Re-union. Birmingham always does herself proud on occasions of this kind and especially will she treat the old vets royal. No better place could have been elected.

Hon. F. W. Lull of Wetumpka and Leon McCord of Montgomery were the principal speakers at Clanton on last Monday night on the subject of illiteracy. Many valuable thoughts, with figures and statistics were put forth along this line.

The North, East and West are not panic stricken as a result of the war. If the war in Europe was not in progress hard times would be the cry there also. Grain, live stock and feed stuffs are at a premium during these war times. Financially the war is a benefit to some sections.

Just to think, we are to have another campaign for President next year! But it promises to be a very tame affair, and will make it unanimous for Wilson.—Montgomery Times:

Unanimous, nit! If there is any unanimous to it, it will be over the left. Too many people are on the eve oi starvation. But they say the war did it—eh?

Organize a Marketing Association Right Now.

Without waiting for the government to work out a rural credits system, however, there are some things our farmers should do for themselves. In fact, the more efficient our farmers become in solving their own problems the more they can get the government to do for them. God helps them that help themselves. Power is given to those who have power.

And our farmers through organization may certainly do much for themselves to better market conditions. If the members of the local unions, suballiances, or other farmers clubs or the individual farmers in your part of the county will begin now to make plans to market your cotton next fall in 25, 50, 100 or 500 bale lots, it is impossible to say how much you would gain.

1. Where large quantities are sold together it is easier to get competitive bidding and therefore higher prices.

2. You will doubtless get the advantage of higher prices for grades above middling—profits that are usually almost wholly lost to growers. As the farmers said in one county where a government grader did work last year, "Buyers had never before recognized any grades above middling."

3. The poorer and less well informed farmers who are now frequently imposed upon will be protected by this co-operation with their stronger neighbors.

4. If prices are low and you wish to hold your cotton, it will be much easies to secure favorable terms from banks and warehouses if you concentrate your holdings.

5. By pooling your cotton seed you will also get better cash prices, or if you exchange cotton seed for meal, it will be easier to get "a ton of meal for a ton of seed" or better.

Just one more word of caution: It takes longer to organize a marketing association than you think. If you are to be prepared to get full value for the 1915 crop, it is none too early to ask your neighbors to meet somewhere some Saturday and see what you can do about it. Of course a marketing association should not be confined to cotton, but should also aim to market corn, hay, livestock, meats, etc. A general farmers marketing association likn that reported last week from Lafayette county, Miss., will probably be best —Progressive Farmer.

100 Thousand Men.

Nature has smiled once more generously on the western farmer. It is estimated by the department of agriculture that the services of 100,000 men will be required to harvest the wheat crop.

The immensity of last year's yield, it is believed, will be equaled, if not eclipsed this year.

Weather conditions have confirmed this oplnion. The recent fall of snow in 11 wheat states must strengthen this opinion.

The greatness of the present yield can be measured mentally by the statement that 100,000 men will be necessary to properly harvest the crop.

The first call for recruits has just been issued in the western cities, for within a month the harvest will have begun in Oklahoma and will then move steadily northward until the last fields are gleaned in Minesota and Dakota, in time to escape the early frosts.

This shows that nature is generous at a time when the farmer can appreciate her generosity. The war may end before winter. It may be prolonged indefinitely. It makes no difference, for people must be fed, and this country will be looked to for the supply of wheat. Germany is not only actively cultivating her own fields, but also the fields of Belgium and France. The other nations are not so fortunate, and even Germany may, in the end, depend on the United States for bread. War prices have also added to the good fortune of the Western farmer. It means a golden harvest to them in more ways than one.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

Next week we shall talk particularly about silos and silage, how to build silos, how to make silage, and how to feed it. The south is a great grass country; but with the very best pastures it is possible to obtain, there still must be times, particularly in midwinter and mid-summer, when they will be short. For filling in these periods as well as to furnish an abundant supply of cheap and palatable roughage for all seasons of the year, the silo is coming to be recognized as one of our greatest assets. If you are in the live stock business on even a small scale you can well consider building a silo, and the letters and articles in our next issue will help you in doing it.—Progressive Farmer.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building-tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it.

CHRISTIAN-CAMP

In the parlor of the Tutwiler Hotel, Birmingham, Wednesday evening, May 26th, the marriage of Mr. W. L. Christian and Mrs. Pearl Camp was solemnized, Rev. John Milner officiating. The bride was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Lena Duran, of Montevallo. The culmination of this happy romance came as a surprise to their many friends. The bride was becomingly gowned in a blue tailored suit with hat to match. After the ceremony the bridal party with a few friends were entertained at a lovely dinner in the diningroom of the hotel.

Mr. Christian is a man of sterling qualities and stands high in the esteem of the people of this community where he counts his friends by scores. He occupies the position of cashier of the Columbiana Savings Bank, and has won for his bride one of Columbiana's choicest characters.

Mrs. Camp for a number of years has held a position with the Southern Railway at this place as assistant agent where she made friends of all with whom she came in contact. Her winning ways and charming personality have given her a very warm place in the hearts of our people, and it is with pleasure we welcome this happy couple to a permanent home in our city.

We wish for them a bright future filled with many blessings. —Columbiana Peoples Advocate.

Queen or Dairy Maid Ambition-the Same

In the expectant mother's mind there is no limit to what the future has in store, and yet during the period of expectancy, much depends upon the physical comfort of the mother. One of the best aids is a remedy known as "Mother's Friend." Applied over the muscles, it penetrates to the net work of nerves, relieves the pains incident to stretching of cords and ligaments, makes them pliant, induces daily comfort, restful nights, a calm mind and pleasant anticipation. You use it with your own hand, apply it as needed, and at once feel a sense of relief.

Mothers who have learned all this from experience tell of the blessed relief from morning sickness, the absence of strain and the undoubted healthful influence imparted to the coming baby.

One very important thing to remember about "Mother's Friend," it can not exercise any other influence than to simply lubricate the parts, make them more firm to naturally withstand the constantly increasing pressure. And as the muscles continue to expand, the nerves become accustomed to this new condition and adjust themselves without undue pain. "Mother's Friend" is entirely free of any drug influence whatsoever and may be used freely at all times.

Get a bottle of this splendid help today. Phone your nearest druggist or send for it. Then write Bradfield Regulator Co., 704 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a valuable book of instruction for expectant mothers.

"Mother's Friend" is recommended everywhere by women who have used it. And you can read some very interesting letters if you write for this book.

TRY IT! SUBSTITUTE FOR NASTY CALOMEL

Starts your liver without making you sick and cannot salivate.

Every druggist in town—your druggist and everybody's druggist has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tone is perfectly safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle costs 50 cents, and if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tone instead and feel fine, full of vigor and ambition.

THORSBY INSTITUTE COMMENCEMENT

Thursday night, June 3rd, occurred the Graduating Exercises of the Class of 1915 from Thorsby Institute. The class consisted of Misses Harriet Swan and Ethel Tapscott, who graduated from the High School Normal Course, and Mr. Einar Anderson, who graduated from the Scientific Course. The address before the Graduating Class was given by Rev. George B. Waldron, of Tampa, Fla., before an audience that filled the large auditorium. Many flowers and other presents were received by the graduates.

On Sunday night, May 30th, the Baccalaureate Sermon was preached by Rev. I. W. Chalker, of Clanton, Rev. Henry W. Fancher being unable to be present because of sickness.

The Recital of the Music Department, on Tuesday night, was attended by an audience which packed the house. The program was well rendered and showed the good work that has been done during the year in the Music Department. After the Recital the Domestic Science Class served light refreshments.

The play which was to have been given on Wednesday night, was omitted because of the sudden death of Miss Sadie Waites, which occurred early Wednesday morning. Miss Waites had been a student in the school for a year and a half, and was known and loved by teachers and students. Her death cast a shadow of sadness over the closing exercises, and made that which would, otherwise, have been a time of gladness, a time of sorrow.

TO THRIFTY HOUSEWIVES

With the summer approaching there will be many things you will need for wear and also for the house and the table.

Your husband is the maker, but it is for you to be the saver. He does the accumulating, but the thrifty housewife is just as important in her line of work. If she is careful of her household expenditures the bank account is constantly being increased and the day of eventual affluence is nearer at hand. The thrifty housewife makes the home.

But how are you to practice economy without denying yourself or your household of those things that are necessary to a comfortable existence in life.

It is a very simple and easy matter.

Avoid waste and buy economically. In other words, buy goods of quality, but buy them where you get what you want at a price below the other fellow.

It is useless for us to tell you we have the goods, for you know that. It is equally useless for us to tell you that we make the price, because everybody knows that, too.

Your best method of practicing economy, then, is to trade with us, for this is essentially a store of quality and economy. For the best evidence of the truthfulness of this statement try it yourself, or just take an hour or so and size up the people who pass in and out of our doors. They are thrifty people, and have learned from experience where it is best to trade.

Gets Right Twist On Rheumatism

Makes Short Work of Cleaning Out Your Entire System—Aches and Pains Go Fast.

In S. S. S. You Get a Twist on Rheumatism that Settles It.

Many a rheumatic sufferer has been to the drug store for a bottle of S. S. S. and been handed something claimed to be "Just as good." Truly, to ask for bread and be given a stone is still in practice. If you are troubled with rheumatism in any form be sure to use S. S. S. and note its wonderful influence.

S. S. S. has the peculiar action of soaking through the intestines directly into the blood. In five minutes its influence is at work in every artery, vein and tiny capillary. Every membrane, every organ of the body, every emunctory becomes in effect a filter to strain the blood of impurities. The stimulating properties of S. S. S. compel the skin, liver, bowels, kidneys, bladder to all work to the one end of casting out every irritating, every pain-inflicting atom of poison; it dislodges by irrigation all accumulations in the joints, causes acid accretions to disolve, renders them neutral and scatters those peculiar formations in the nerve centers that cause such mystifying and often baffling rheumatic pains.

And best of all this remarkable remedy is welcome to the weakest stomach. If you have drugged yourself until your stomach is nearly paralyzed, you will be astonished to find that S. S. S. gives no sensation but goes right to work. This is because it is a pure vegetable infusion, is taken naturally into your blood just as pure air is inhaled naturally into your lungs.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. today, and ask for S. S. S.

You may depend upon it that the store that sells you what you ask for is a good place to trade. Write to the Swift Specific Co., 204 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their Book on Rheumatism.

EVERGREEN DISTRICT

After a hard fight with General green, we have him subdued, and crops are looking fine. Our corn is mighty good; oats were a little short this time; wheat fair.

Our Sunday school is a little off on account of all day singings. It is good to sing praises to the Lord.

The arge crop of watermelons planted in this section shows a promising outlook.

What is wrong with the Mineral Springs writer? Wish all the writers would send in their news each week.

If all the business men would advertise in the Union-Banner, the readers could keep up with the times better.

Many of our people went to the singing at New Prospect Sunday.

Best wishes to The Union-Banner and its readers.

DELEGATIONS OPPOSE CLEMENCY FOR FRANK

Atlanta, June 7.—It became known today that Solicitor General Hugh Dorsey, has written Governor Slaton asking that he be allowed to appear before the governor to protest against clemency for Leo. M. Frank, when appeal for clemency reaches the governor for consideration. The governor has granted the solicitor this privilege.

Neither the solicitor nor the governor would talk concerning the letter to the Governor, but it is understood from an authoritative source that Dorsey is in possession of a large amount of data and evidence which he intends to submit to the Governor, including affidavits of a nature not yet divulged. A large number of petitions opposing Frank's commutation are also in the hands of the solicitor. It is reported that several delegations of Georgia residents will also be before the governor to oppose the move for clemency.

LARGEST AUTO ADVERTISEMENT IN THE WORLD

The Ford Automobile Company has a way of doing unusual things in an unusual way. Because nobody has ever done the thing before does not deter them; in fact, it invites their effort. When they voluntarily agreed to practically double the wages of their employes and distribute $20,000,000 a year among them, the business world wasped and said, "Can they do it?" The answer is written in the history of the company.

In August of last year this company announced that it would return to each purchaser of a Ford car bought between August 1st, 1914, and August 1, 1915, between forty and fifty dollars if they sold 300,000 cars between the dates mentioned. "Just a bluff," said the knockers. "They know they can't sell so many cars. They are after advertising." Henry Ford, President of the Ford Motor Company announces that 300,000 cars have been sold and each purchaser will be returned the amount agreed upon, aggregating $15,000,000.

Carrying out the Ford policy of doing unusual things in an unusual way, the Brownell Company, agents for the Ford in Alabama, in conjunction with their sub agents, inserted in The Birmingham Ledger's issue of June 5th, THE LARGEST ADVERTISEMENT FOR AN AUTOMOBILE EVER INSERTED IN ANY NEWSPAPER IN ANY CITY IN THE WORLD. There were twelve full pages describing the Ford car and giving the name of each of its agents.

Mr. L. J. Duncan, the Ford agent for Chilton county, is to be congratulated upon exhibiting the same spirit of enterprise as the home company at Detroit and the state agency in Birmingham. In the last sixty days he has sold almost as many cars as were sold last year in Chilton county.

A WONDERFUL HEALING INFLUENCE KIDNEY TROUBLES.

A year and a half ago I was taken with a severe attack of Kidney trouble that pained me to such an extent that morphine had to be given me. Was attended by a doctor who pronounced it as Stone in the Bladder and prescribed Lithia Water. I took Lithia Water and Tablets for some time and received no relief from them. I stopped taking medicines for some time, later having some Swamp-Root in the house I decided to try it and felt much relieved. While taking the second bottle commenced to pass Gravel in urine until I had passed in all at least a half dozen cr m e not suffered the slightest since—and in all have taken one bottle and a half and feel very grateful to Swamp Root,

Yours very truly,

1 Deputy Killed, Another Wounded by Negroes

Centerville, Ala., June 13—News has been received here of a terrible tragedy that occurred at Piper in the northern part of Bibb county about eleven o'clock last night in which Manley Burns a deputy sheriff of Bibb county, was killed and R. E. Narremore, another deputy sheriff, was severely wounded and two negroes killed. It seems that from the report that the two deputies had gone from Blocton to Piper, a mining town, to raid a crap game, and when the officers approached the negroes began shooting and deputy Burns was fatally wounded. After receiving the death wound, the deputy fired and killed one negro and then fell to the ground, but fired again and killed a second negro.

Sheriff Ward left Centerville at a late hour Saturday night for the scene of the killing which is about fifteen miles from Centerville. Deputy Burns was a brave officer and has many relatives in Bibb county.

TRIPLE FUNERAL AT WALNUT CREEK

Burial Services for Three Persons Held at Same Time And Same Place.

Probably one of the most unique and out-of-the-ordinary funeral ceremonies that was ever witnessed under ordinary circumstances was held last Thursday by Rev. M. J. Parrish at Walnut Creek church near here.

The minister at one and the same time, spoke the last earthly tributes of respect to the lives of three persons, as their bodies lay side by side before him, cold in death, and looked upon thru tearful eyes by hundreds of relatives and friends.

The deceased persons were Mrs. Meranda Miner, an aged lady, and two children of Henry and Crawford Easterling. Death in all three cases came as consequence of serious bodily ailment.

After the touching ceremony by the minister, the bodies were interred in the cemetery there.

CARD OF THANKS.

The children and relatives of the late Mrs. Hubbard desire to express their deep appreciation to the thoughtful people of Clanton for all the sympathy and kindness shown them in their sorrow, and pray that when the shadows fall on the homes of any of these friends, they may find equally sympathetic hearts.

MISS SADIE WAITES

At one o'clock Wednesday morning, June 2nd, Sadie Belle Waites, one of the students of Thorsby Institute, was called to her eternal home. Her death was sudden, being the culmination of an operation which she had undergone some two weeks previous.

For a year and a half the school had been permitted to enjoy her presence, and her kindly smile and friendly words had made for her a place in the hearts of both teachers and students. Her high ideals and noble purpose in life had been an inspiration to others. She will be sadly missed when the stndents gather again for school in the Fall.

The body was taken to the home near Eclectic, Ala., for interment, and was accompanied to Wetumpka by Rev. E. W. Butler, Miss Lassfolk, and Miss Stoddard representing the Faculty, and Miss Lois Abernathy representing the student body. A short service was held at the Dormitory just before train time, and many flowers were placed upon the casket.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the family of the deceased, who were so suddenly deprived of her who had been their joy and pride.

BOLL WEEVIL BECOMES ALARMING IN LOWNDES

Planters are Becoming Discouraged Over the Grave Situation.

Late reports from Lowndes county state that the boll weevil is doing an alarming damage to the cotton crop. No blooms at all have appeared on the plant. Just as soon as the squares appear they are attacked by the weevil, and everyone has been punctured.

Farmers are getting disheartened and are planting peas in the middle of the cotton rows. They are waiting to see exactly to what extent the weevils will damage the cotton crop before determining upon turning the cotton plants under and cultivating peas instead.

Organization of Potato Growers Would Be of Much Benefit.

Editor Union-Banner:

As your county is a member of the diversified Farming Association of Central Alabama, I take the liberty of reporting through you to your readers the recent organization in Montgomery county of a potato growers association. It is the plan of this organization to encourage the formation of potato growers associations in each county in central Alabama. We will be delighted to furnish a copy of our constitution and by laws to anyone interested in the subject. The object of our organization is to promote the growing of potatoes in this county and territory contiguous thereto It shall be the policy of the association to glean all the knowledge and information possible relative to growing, grading and marketing potatoes, and to disseminate such knowledge and information thru schools of instruction, pamphlets lectures, etc. The programs include all the practical phases of these topics, and our members express themselves as greatly benefitted by coming together and hearing experts and comparing experiences.

It is suggested that your readers who are interested in potato growing, obtain copies of the following bulletins from Auburn: Buletin No. 183 on "The Irish Potato;" and No. 184 on "Local fertilizer experiments with sweet potatoes;" and a special bulletin on "Sweet Potato growing in the cotton belt."

The potato comprises a large item of our bill of fare, and if Alabama can grow enough potatoes to feed herself, she can save several millions of dollars that she spends elsewhere for them. For instance the records show that Montgomery county spent a million and a half dollars last year out of the state for potatoes. Of this sum, $150,000 was paid in freight rates.

The diversified farming association's director for Chilton county is Mr. N. C. Robinson of Coopers. I am sure that with the assistance of your farm demonstration agent our director could easily organize the potato growers of your county into an association. When every county in Alabama is organized, we will then be able to grow potatoes on such a scale that buyers can come to us, and the question of a market will then be settled.

Respectfully,
M. B. OWEN, Sec'y.

Pistol Battle Follow Attempt To Take Mexican

Brownsville, Texas, June 13—A Mexican killed a fellow countryman in a dispute today on a ranch fourteen miles from here.

DEATH OF A CHILD.

On the tenth inst. the two-year old child of Mr. and Mrs. T. J, Mims died after a short illness. The remains were interred in the Shady Grove cemetery, funeral conducted by Rev. C. D. Messer.

OBITUARY

Died at her home near Oakley on June 6th, Mrs. Gothard, wife of Mr. Will Gothard. She leaves a large family and many relatives to mourn her departure.

Her body was laid away in Mars Hill cemetery, funeral service conductdd beautifully by Rev. Smitherman of Randolph. While she is now conquered by death, she is resting, waiting until the voice of Him who is the resurrection, and the life shall call her from the grave. "The dead know not anything." The world's dark night of weeping is closing, 'The Morning Cometh." The angry nations are being torn in fragments. Earth's coming king is present, removing the debris thus preparing the world for the inauguration of His kingdom the beautiful land--the home of the soul, the land that is fairer than day, the sweet bye and bye, the land of the olive and rose, the new earth where there will be no more death.

Mrs. Gothard's body was borne from the church house under the strains of sweet music, but that was not a prelude to the harmony and music that will prevail throughout the universe when she comes back again. Let her loved ones be cheered. Their creator makes no mistakes. The out working of His plan will more than satisfy. When they realize the grandeur and beauty of his plan in the destruction of the grave in the restitution spoken of in the sacred book with all its attendant harmony, they will not regret the trials along the way.

We take it that Mr. Bryan will readily admit that he "ain't no fightin' man."—Montgomery Advertiser.

There is a project on foot to build an Electric line from Birmingham to the Warrior River by the Tidewater Railways.

A league peace conference will be held at Philadelphia Thursday and former President, W. H. Taft will preside at the meeting.

The Mexican situation has become more civilized here of late, and it now appears that both factions are willing to have peace.

Villa says he is williug to lay down his arms and leave Mexico if Carranza will do likewise.

The note to Germany which Ex-Sec. Bryan was afraid would cause war seems to have been received with favor with a majority of the American people.

Many, many, people have said in the past, we are willing to give the national democratic administration a trial, but you can't find many such people now.

W. J. Bryan got scared and quit, but after reading the note to Germany people are wondering if the great Commoner didn't have some other idea in view.

Mr. S. P. Crockett of Montgomery has enlisted in the war, and will fight with the allies. If he had been of the opinion of W. J. Bryan perhaps he would not have gone away.

From present indications it looks as if the leaders of the warring factions in Mexico would be willing to quit fighting—but who can tell what this set of geesers over there will do.

We haven't heard much of the Hon. Champ Clark's sayings about W. J. Bryan's resignation. Perhaps Mr. Clark would have been glad of his resignation before the democratic convention at Baltimore.

In the North and East many factories have been running day and night for the last few months filling war orders, giving employment to thousand and thousands of hands, yet they tell you the war is the cause of it all.

Ex-President Rooseveit has declared hiss willingness to stand by President Wilson in his stand on the German situation. As all other good citizens Mr. Roosevelt believes in protecting the rights and liberties of the American people.

If the Tidewater Railway should be built from Birmingham to the Warrior River that would only be another stride in the many, many, achievements in the Greater Birmingham district. Only a few years, is our prediction, will mark this great enterprise.

Col. Harvey chose for the text of an inimitable article on Mr. Wilson and Mr. Bryan a few months ago a Spanish proverb: "When two men ride on an ass, one must ride behind." Mr. Bryan has concluded to walk.—The St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Union-Banner wants a correspondent from most every section of the county to give us the local happenings of interest. We will adhere strictly to the following:

Let the writer send his name with the communication. Write only on one side of the paper. Let your communication reach our office Tuesday. We are going to get our paper out on time and communications reaching us later than Tuesday will have to be left out. In writing letters leave off personalities and public controversies, as such things WILL NOT be published.

The wage earners of this land are the people who are feeling these conditions more keenly. For instance, the laboring man has had his salary cut and has been compelled to work at a reduced salary or lose his job and when he goes to buy his provisions he has to pay enormous prices. Flour something like $10.00 per bbl., meat 30 and 40 cents per pound, and all other supplies in accordance. Now besides millions of the poor fellows being out of employment—many of them—who have jobs are not getting wages enough to live and feed their families, yet there are some people who say there is no panic. If it isn't a panic, what on earth is it? It comes nearer being a famine than anything else. And some people say the war is the cause of it all.

Our Growing Export Trade.

This editorial from the Memphis Commercial-Appeal, one of the best Democratic papers of the whole country is a fair statement of affairs. The war is aiding this country and the facts in this editorial are proof positive. Then where is the trouble and why the present bad conditions? The distinguished writer failed to tell us.

Following is the editorial:

"It is an ill wind that blows no one good, and while our hearts bleed for struggling Europe, we cannot refrain from expressing our gratification over the glowing reports from the Department of Commerce, showing the enormous business we are now carrying on in European countries.

"An official statement issued by the department on our foreign trade since the opening of the war shows just what we are doing and just how dependent Europe is upon the United States.

Europe has increased its purchase from us over $350,000,000 more than during the same period last year. Of this increase England bought two-thirds France took $133,000,000 more than during the same period last year, Italy nearly $100,000, Sweden $60,000,000, Holland $30,000,000, and Norway nearly as much.

Because of the English blocade our exports to Germany thus far have decreased $290,000,000, to Austria-Hungary, $18,500,000, and to Belgium, $34,000,000.

The greatest amount represented in our exports, of course, is in foodstuffs, for we have been feeding Europe, and it is not surprising to note that since the war began, up to May 31, we have sold to the nations at war $355,000,000 more than during the same length of time in 1914. Then the fertile European fields were rich with harvests which meant fndependence. Today the same fields are barrowed with shot and shell and the food prospects are precarious.

Another important item is represented in the sales of horses to England, Franee and Italy, and this item alone represents something over $50,000,000, while $10,000,000 worth of mules were sold to the allies. Roughly speaking, the United States has been enriched something like a half billion dollars as a result of the war and tne sale of foodstuffs and war munitions alone.

"Now that the nations are growing more desperate and the supplies of ammunition are becoming exhausted, the American gun makers are being overtaxed with orders. The Baldwin Locomotive Works of Philadelphia on Saturday accepted a subcontract from the Remington Arms Company, to turn out $5,000,000 worth of guns, while two Pittsburg firms have accepted contraets more than double this for the manufacture of projectiles and cartridges.

"This country in other ways has suffered by the interruption of trade and the disturbance of commerce, but not nearly so much as the war has increased our business in a general way."

Rev. F. B. Ticknor, former editor of The Union-Banner, is making his mark in the newspaper business in Florida.

Upon leaving here he went to the Gulf to indulge in pleasurable fishing, swimming and general recreation; but his youthfdl dreams of newspaper success returned when he observed the great opportunities that lay about him, and he abandoned pleasure for work.

He is now editor of The Bradford County Times, having merged with it The Raiford Tribune, he having been editor of the latter for the past six months. Under the new arrangement his opportunities are increased, and his broad experience and newspaper knowledge will no doubt manifest itself by making The Times, more than ever, a journal full of thrift and energy for the upbuilding of the town of Lake Butler, and the whole of Bradford county.

His friends in Chilton county glory in the success he is finding in the sunny iand of the Gulf coast, and whish him well.

SPLIT.

The observant reader, cannot but discern between the lines of the many, many, things recently written on the Bryan resignation that a decided split in the democratic party must inevitably come sooner or later. So far as that is concerned the split has already come, and it only remains for it to widen and become effective. Like Roosevelt and Taft, Wilson and Bryan must divide. The parting of the waves are gradually getting broader and broader and when W. J. Bryan failed to sign the note to Germany his great political friendship towards Woodrow Wilson begun to dwindle. Naturally, when great men like these do not agree—they differ. Difference in opinion makes oponents and bitter oponents make enemies-and ultimately the warm friendship which once existed turns to hatred and bitter opposition.

In this case these two great men of state in their party have seen fit to differ, perhaps honestly so, but nevertheless the Democratic party unfortunately reaps the result.

The Alabama Convention of ginners will meet in Birmingham July 20th. A good move on the part of the ginners of the state is this one, and we are glad to see them making efforts to benefit themselves. As we understand, the business of this convention will be the consideration of laws for protection of ginmen, etc.

It is said Five hundred Italians may go from Birmingham across the River and fight for their country.

Letters to The Editor.

Washington, D. C., June 9.

Editor Union-Banner:

After spending a few days in "Old Virginia," I came on to Washington.

I paid a visit to the office of Mr. W. J. Bryan, who yesterday threw the whole country into astonishment by resigning his office of Secretary of State in Wilson's cabinet. He seems a bit worried over the matter. Some believe he is just starting something to boost him for next year. Perhaps he thinks he will yet have a chance to be President. I think his chances are small as our next President will be a Republican.

I have talked with many people in regard to the hard times, as to causes, etc. They say we really ought to have better times than ever before, and that we would have if the Republican party were in power.

I am enjoying myself in the capital, but have not forgotten the good people in old Chilton.

Neither have I forgotten the fact that the legislature will soon meet again, when those local bills will be taken up. We should all bear in mind the grave danger with which those measures threaten our civic liberties.

I shall soon be "Alabama bound," so will close, with best wishes.

Yours very truly,
CHAS. COOPER.

Dubberly, La., June 14.

Editor Union-Banner:

Please give me space for a few words to my old Chilton County friends.

We are having some dry weather in this section. Corn is being laid by already here. There is not so much cotton planted here this year. I have 220 acres in cultivation. Have already harvested 92 acres of oats, and am ready for the threshing machine. Harvesting was done in six days with a binder. I will thresh a thousand bushels, to sell farmers for seed. Have been sowing the Burt oat for 11 years. I planted 25 bushels of peanuts, and have 50 hogs to turn on them.

Mr. Editor, I will send in my dollar in a few days. Good luck to all.

Yours truly,
J. W. FOSHEE.

Childrens day here last Sunday was quite a success.

Shockingly Unfit.

The subaltern was being put through an examination in geography, wherein he proved himself astonishingly ignorant. At last, after a failure on his part of unusual flagrance, the examiner scowled at him and thundered: "Idiot, you want to defend your country, and you don't know where it is!"

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

All Blood Disorders Quickly Driven Away

Astonishing Results With the Greatest Blood Purifier Ever Discovered.

Strength, Power, Accomplishment are all Typified in S. S. S.

Some blood disorders become deeply rooted in the glands and tissues, and the mistake is made of resorting to drastic drugs. These only aggravate by causing other and worse troubles. A host of people know this to be true. They know from painful experience.

To get right down into where the blood is vitiated requires S. S. S. the greatest blood purifier ever discovered.

This remarkable remedy contains one ingredient, the active purpose of which is to stimulate the tissues to the healthy selection of its own essential nutriment and the medicinal elements of this matchless blood purifier are just as essential to well balanced health as the nutritious elements of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food.

Not only this, but if from the presence of some disturbing poison there is a local or general interference of nutrition to cause bolls, carbuncles, abscesses and kindred troubles, S. S. S. so directs the local cells that this poison is rejected and eliminated from their presence.

Then, too, S. S. S. has such specific stimulation of these local cells as to preserve their mutual welfare and a prompt relative assistance to each other.

In a very brief time S. S. S. has begun reconstructive process so under our care that remarkable changes are observed. The eruptive places heal, mysterious pains and aches have disappeared, and from head to foot there is a conscious sensation of renewed health.

From the fact that S. S. S. is purely a botanical preparation, it is acceptable to the weakest stomach and has great tonic influence. Not one drop of drugs or minerals is used in its preparation. Ask for S. S. S. and insist upon having it. And if you desire skillful advice upon any matter concerning the blood and skin write to The Swift Specific Co., 205 Swift Bldg, Atlanta, Ga. Do not allow a zealous clerk to larrup the atmosphere with eloquence over something "Just as good" as S. S. S. Beware of all counterfeits.

A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence—this only leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.

NOW HER FRIENDS HARDLY KNOW HER

But This Does Not Bother Mrs. Burton, Under the Circumstances.

Houston, Texas.—In an interesting letter from this city, Mrs. S. C. Burton writes as follows: "I think it is my duty to tell you what your medicine, Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me.

I was down sick with womanly trouble, and my mother advised several different treatments, but they didn't seem to do me any good. I lingered along for three or four months, and for three weeks, I was in bed, so sick I couldn't bear for any one to walk across the floor.

My husband advised me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic. I have taken two bottles of Cardui, am feeling fine, gained 15 pounds and do all of my housework. Friends hardly know me, I am so well."

If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, don't allow the trouble to become chronic. Begin taking Cardui to-day. It is purely vegetable, its ingredients acting in a gentle, natural way on the weakened womanly constitution. You run no risk in trying Cardui. It has been helping weak women back to health and strength for more than 50 years. It will help you. At all dealers.

All Babies Destined to Great Achievement

To be born is to be great. For there are possibilities in every tiny human infant. And for this reason every one should remember that whatever is done to aid the mother, to relieve her of distresses during her trying months, will surely be of marked benefit to the child.

Among the sterling aids is a splendid external remedy known as "Mother's Friend." It is what is called an embrocation. It is applied to the abdominal muscles, gently rubbed in by your own hand guided by your own mind. It makes the muscles pliant, they expand quite naturally and the effect upon the nerves is such that they adjust themselves to the process of expansion so that pain from this source is almost eliminated. Women who use "Mother's Friend" refer to the absence of morning sickness, they are relieved of a great many minor distresses, all apprehension disappears and those peculiar nervous "fidgets" no longer disturb the nights. It is well named, "Mother's Friend." Get a bottle today of any druggist. Then at once write for a most entertaining and instructive book for all prospective mothers. Address Bradfield Regulator Co., 705 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

This book explains the physical action of "Mother's Friend," tells why it enforces strength to the muscles and relieves undue strain. It also contains letters of experience from many happy mothers. It is just such a handy little book as every woman will at once recognize as just what she had always wished to read—plain facts about herself. The book is mailed free to any address. Write for it today.

HOW LONG do you want to live?

Disregard the laws of health and die early, or keep in touch with the druggist and live to a ripe old age.

A few pennies occasionally does it --keeps your system purified and in good working order.

Ask the Druggist--he knows.

WOMEN MAKE APPEAL FOR A SANITARY TOWN

Civic Club Appealed to the City Fathers for Money to Clean Up Clanton.

As the city is financially embarrassed, the civic club will do the best we can. We have spent some of the funds in cleaning the alleys, but without the loyal co-operation of the business men, we cannot bring about the best results. We beg each man in his business to clean up and not throw his refuse out so it will be an eye sore to passers by. We want Clanton to be a CLEAN TOWN, and we feel after making this appeal it will be all that is necessary for the true men of our town to respond to our wishes for an up-to-date little city.

You must co-operate with the "City Fathers"—why not honor and be loyal to city mothers of the civic club? Whenever you do we will throw you our best boquets.

TO THRIFTY HOUSEWIVES

With the summer approaching there will be many things you will need for wear and also for the house and the table.

Your husband is the maker, but it is for you to be the saver. He does the accumulating, but the thrifty housewife is just as important in her line of work. If she is careful of her household expenditures the bank account is constantly being increased and the day of eventual affluence is nearer at hand. The thrifty housewife makes the home.

But how are you to practice economy without denying yourself or your household of those things that are necessary to a comfortable existence in life.

It is a very simple and easy matter.

Avoid waste and buy economically. In other words, buy goods of quality, but buy them where you get what you want at a price below the other fellow.

It is useless for us to tell you we have the goods, for you know that. It is equally useless for us to tell you that we make the price, because everybody knows that, too.

Your best method of practicing economy, then, is to trade with us, for this is essentially a store of quality and economy. For the best evidence of the truthfulness of this statement try it yourself, or just take an hour or so and size up the people who pass in and out of our doors. They are thrifty people, and have learned from experience where it is best to trade.

TO FARMERS:

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company maintains an Agricultural Department composed of men who are expert in soil treatment, plant industry, poultry and dairying, cattle and live stock, fruit and berry; also men who are expert in mineral lands.

The service of these experts is free, and subject to the wishes of the people living in the territory traversed by the L. & N.

We would be very glad to have any one interested in agricultural and mineral products avail himself of this service, as we are convinced it would be of benefit to that individual.

In providing this service the Louisville & Nashville seeks to assist in the maximum development of the territory. These experts can give valuable information on soil conservation, on what kinds of crop to plant in a particular soil, and on crop rotation.

If the scientific principles outlined are carefully adhered to, the farmers of the territory will enjoy increased crops, and consequently increased wealth, which means more traffic and increased business for the Louisville & Nashville Railroad.

This Department is but another evidence of the constructive policy of co-operation adopted by the L. & N. for the benefit, not only of itself, but of the people it serves.

A letter addressed to the Agricultural Department, L. & N. R. R. Co., at Louisville, Ky., will receive prompt response.

BABY SHOWS IN THE CONGO LAND

Missionaries are Teaching African Mothers how to Rear Better Boys and Girls.

The attention of the whole civilized world has recently been directed to the efforts being made to raise "better babies," and it is interesting to know that efforts of this kind are now being made in the Congo to check the appalling rate of infant mortality.

Miss Margaret Van Leancourt, trained nurse of the Belgian Evangelical society, says:

"Many causes have contributed to this depopulation, for we a re led to believe that the country once had an enormous population before the demoralizing effects of an unchristian civilization entered it.

"Undoubtedly the ignorance of the mothers should be mentioned as one of the primary causes, yet even this cannot be responsible for such a terrible death rate as exists here."

Miss Leancourt mentions alcohol and the prevalence of sleeping sickness as contributing causes of the terrible death rate among the babies in the Congo. She continues:

"A committee has been formed in Belgium which has undertaken the work of reformation in the colony and they are devoting their best efforts to improve the moral conditions of the natives. This committee has at its head, Madam Vanderpeere, a woman of common sense and sound judgment who has given herself with untiring zeal to the alleviation of distress among the poorer classes of Brussels. This committee has received the sanction and approval of the government and has received very substantial support from the authorities.

(Father of well known native Presbyterian missionary in Africa. This man recently walked 100 miles to hear his son preach.)

"It is needless to say that the Protestant societies with their doctors, trained nurses and hospitals can be of invaluable assistance in carrying out the plans and purposes of this committee and thus enable our country to appreciate more fully the real value of the Protestant missions in the advancement of civilization. We have better means at our disposal and the members of our missions are more capable of accomplishing the desired result of the movement and let us hope that they may soon take full advantage of this excellent opportunity.

"Every station should have a "Baby Show" at least once a week where the little ones can be weighed and examined and advice should be given to the mothers concerning the care of their children and all other such subjects which are absolutely new to them.

"But opportunity is given to us all as missionaries to be in constant touch with the native women who are far less teachable than the men because they hold more tenaciously to their old customs and superstitions. But I know that they are very sensitive to kind treatment and when they are treated as human beings they become astonishingly near to us and permit us to become guardians with them of that which is dearest to them, their children."

FACTS THAT COUNT.

"The Methodist Episcopal church, South, has 3,000 Indian members, 122 Indian local preachers, 70 Indian preachers in active service, and three white preachers who give all their time to the Indians. The work is among the Nez Perces, Kiowas, Choctaws, Chickasaws, Cherokees and the Creek tribes. It is said that there are 54,000 Indians without religious instruction and 24,000 Indian children of school age, who do not go to school."

Baptist Gifts for Missions.

The handsome sum of $2,600 was given on missionary day in the Sunday school in the First Baptist church of Dallas, Texas, of which Rev. George Truett is the pastor. This sum represented is the offering to Home and Foreign Missions from 1,500 givers.

The plan now in operation by the Southern Baptists to observe every year what is known as "Missionary Day in the Sunday School" has proved to be a most effective and efficient plan for increasing the interest as

WILT RESISTANT COTTON VARIETIES

COOK NO. 307-6—NEW WILT RESISTANT STRAIN ORIGINATED AT AUBURN

Yields Well, and Turns Out About 35 Per Cent. Lint—Is Not an Early Variety.

By E. F. Cauthen, Associate Agriculturist, Alabama Experiment Station, Auburn, Ala.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

The number of wilt resistant varieties of cotton has increased during the past few years. The farmer who has wilt or blackroot in his cotton land can select from them a variety that conforms to his ideas of a good cotton.

None of the varieties are entirely immune to wilt or nematode injury, but any of those mentioned below will increase the yield from almost nothing on badly infested lands to almost one hundred per cent. of a crop.

DILLON. Of the different wilt resistant varieties Dillon is the oldest, and withstands the disease to a greater extent than any other variety. However, it is not well liked by many farmers because it grows very tall on fertile land and because the bolls form in clusters, are small, and difficult to pick. It yields well, and turns out about 35 per cent. lint. It is not an early variety.

WOOD. A variety grown extensively on southeast Alabama, known under the name of Wood, Sam Wood, Bass, or Anti-blight, is somewhat like the Dillon in that it has small bolls, is late, and makes a very large growth on fertile land. It is unlike Dillon in that it has several wood-limbs, longer fruit limbs and is much easier picked.

COVINGTON-TOOLE WILT RESISTANT. This variety makes a small plant, is early, has small bolls and picks easily. It yields well and turns out about 36 per cent. of lint.

The wilt resisting variety of Covington-Toole should be distinguished from ordinary Covington-Toole, which does not resist wilt disease or nematodes

DIXIE. Dixie is a small-boll, long limb, variety that has proven very satisfactory on badly infested lands. It is medium early, not hard to pick, and yields a good per cent. of lint.

COOK 307-6. This is a new strain of Cook, originated by the Alabama Experiment Station. It has medium size bolls, picks very easy, is early, yields well and turns out a good per cent. of lint. There are very few seed of this strain, as it has not yet been grown extensively. The supply of seed has been exhausted.

TRI-COOK. This is a new variety that is promising. It combines some of the good qualities of both Cook and Triumph.

There are some other good wilt resistant varieties, but for lack of space they are not described here.

HYMN SUNG IN SIX LANGUAGES

Missionaries from Foreign Fields Blend Their Voices in "What a Friend We Have in Jesus."—World-Wide News.

Blending their voices in five different languages, missionaries on seven foreign fields sang "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" in unison at the Southern Baptist convention just held in Houston, Tex., as a fitting close for the missionary session, at which representatives from almost every foreign field assisted by the convention made addresses. The languages in which the song was sung were Chinese, Japanese, Portuguese, American, Spanish and Portuguese, and the audience came in on the chorus, making the rendition of the song in six different languages with harmony.

A Moslem Youth's Companion.

One of the excellent plans which the Rev. S. Van R. Trowbridge, who sailed this month for Algiers to take up his work among Moslem children, hopes to realize, is the publication of a paper for boys and girls, similar to the "Youth's Companion," or "The American Boy." It is his purpose to produce the paper first in English, then to be translated into the various languages spoken throughout the Moslem world and published by the mission presses in the several localities.

(Dr. Wang, a well known medical missionary in China.)

Missionaries Far Away.

These countrymen of ours are in the torrid belt of Africa and at Point Barrow, four hundred miles within the arctic circle, where mail is delivered once a year.

Their hospitals are in the New Hebrides and among the fisher folk of Labrador, a thousand miles north of the Gulf of St. Lawrence. They are administering chloroform in Jerusalem and Damascus and Tyre, vaccinating in Peking and Singapore and on the road to Mandalay, giving quinine in the malerial forests of the Zambesi, the Congo and the Niger.

They are on the slopes of the Andes and high up in the Himalayas, "the roof of the world."

There is a medical station at Harpoot, near the headwaters of the Tigris and the Euphrates, and these are the instructions how to get there: "Cross the Bosphorus from Constantinople to Scutari and take the train to Angora going thence for three weeks by caravan."

Baron Kato on the Sunday School.

In an interview with the Rev. Horace E. Coleman, honorary secretary of the Japan Sunday School association, Baron Kato, minister of foreign affairs of the Japanese empire, said:

"As to the work of the Sunday school, we feel the need strongly now of moral education for our children. In former times they had a very good moral training through the teaching of Confucius, but in recent times this teaching has very much waned, and now we are really in a serious state so far as our moral condition is concerned. For this and other reasons we gladly welcome the moral training that the Christian Sunday school can give to our people. I wish you the best success in the undertaking in which you are concerned."

PREVENTION OF SMUT IN OATS

By H. B. Tisdale, Assistant in Agriculture Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala

The following method is the simplest one for preventing smut in oats. Pour the grain on a clean floor or canvas and sprinkle with a solution of formaldehyde at the rate of one ounce of a 40 per cent. solution to three gallons of water. Stir the grain and sprinkle until it is wet throughout. Then cover it well with clean sacks or canvas, and leave it for three to ten hours; after which the grain should be dried as quickly as possible.

Do not let the treated grain come in contact with material that might contain smut spores. The floor and the sacks should be treated with a stronger solution, about one ounce to one gallon of water.

Most druggists sell formaldehyde in solution of about 40 per cent strength (often called formalin) at 45 cents to one dollar per pound.

A WONDERFUL HEALING INFLUENCE KIDNEY TROUBLES.

A year and a half ago I was taken with a severe attack of Kidney trouble that pained me to such an extent that morphine had to be given me. Was attended by a doctor who pronounced it as Stone in the Bladder and prescribed Lithia Water. I took Lithia Water and Tablets for some time and received no relief from them. I stopped taking medicines for some time, later having some Swamp-Root in the house I decided to try it and felt much relieved. While taking the second bottle commenced to pass Gravel in urine until I had passed in all at least a half dozen or more and have not suffered the slightest since—and in all have taken one bottle and a half and feel very grateful to Swamp Root,

Yours very truly,

COLLINS OF CALERA KILLED; FATHER INJURED

Fatal Result of Auto Accident Brings Death to Son and Injury to Father.

The people of Clanton and Chilton county are sorry to know of the accident in which Mr. Jesse Collins of Calera lost his life on Wednesday night, the 16th. Mr. Collins and his father were on their way from Birmingham to Calera when within about one mile of Pelham his car crashed into a large hog in the road. The car was turned completely over and the two men were caught underneath it. The body of the younger Mr. Collins was mangled and it was thought his father was fatally injured, but the latest news is that he will recover.

Both gentlemen are well known citizens of Shelby county and at one time lived in Chilton. They have many friends here who regret to learn of the sad accident.

The funeral of the deceased was conducted from the Baptist church in Clanton, by Rev. H. Fancher last Friday; interment was made in the Clanton cemetery.

MRS. W. A. KING TAKES OWN LIFE

Marion, June 20—Mrs. W. A. King committed suicide this morning by jumping into an unused well at her home on Judson college square. Her husband missed the absence and began a search, which led to the well where he heard her struggling in the water; but before assistance arrived she had drowned. She had been in poor health a year, but kept up her work at Judson, where she had been teacher of piano and organ for over 40 years.

MORE COTTON BLOOMS

Mr. E. B. Wyatt, who lives on Route 2 from Verbena sent several cotton blooms last week. The first bloom appeared in his field on June 14th, however he received a bloom on the 15th. This speaks well for Mr. Wyatt as a farmer.

BECKER'S LAST HOPE IS GOVERNOR WHITMAN

And That is Slight---High Court Refuses Reargument of Case.

Albany, N. Y., June 18.--The court of appeals today denied the application of Charles Becker for a reargument on its decision affirming his sentence of death.

Becker, convicted of inspiring the murder of Herman Rosenthal, is in the Sing Sing death house, sentenced to die during the week of July 12. Intervention by Governor Whitman, or the United States supreme court, alone can save him, according to legal authorities. Little hope is expressed that the federal court will act favorably, or that the governor, who prosecuted the former police officer, will be inclined to grant him clemency.

There was no written opinion in the case handed down today. Becker's attorneys alleged in the application for reargument that Justice Seabury, who presided at the second trial, in instructing the jury, failed to present fully the defense's testimony.

Since writing the above it has been learned that the young man was carried to Birmingham, and died about the time the city was reached.

$100 REWARD IS OFFERED BY OFFICERS

For Man Who Shot and Killed Earnest Cobb June 11th.

The above reward will be paid for the arrest and delivery of Bon Morris, alias "Bonnie" Morris, alias Lee Ducket, alias "Adams" (white) to the Sheriff of Chilton county, Alabama.

Morris is wanted for the murder of Earnest Cobb, at Jemison, Ala., on Friday June 11.

Description;—Age about 28: height about 5 ft. 9 inches; weight about 160 pounds; hair light sandy red; eyebrows very thin and light; teeth full in front and upper teeth slightly worn.

Heel string of one foot has been cut by circle saw; this foot he slightly drags; wears No. 7 or 8 shoe.

A CHILTON BOY.

The following bit of news clipped from the Southern Democrat of Oneonta, will be of interest to the many friends of "Red" Robinson in Chilton:

"'Red' Robinson, the famous foot ball and baseball player, of Howard College has been selected as one of the teachers, and director of athletics in the Blount County High School."

Mr. Robinson's home is at Thorsby, and he has many friends in the county who have gladly noted his successful college career.

MRS. ISABELL BUSBY

"Earth hangs her head, not for shame; but because she holds so many dead."

On June 15th Mrs. Isabell Buzby, wife of Francis Buzby, passed away at her home near Providence in the northern part of the county. She suffered much, but did not complain.

She was a noble christian woman; to the sick and suffering an angel of comfort. She was a descendent of the Atchison family, who were among the pioneer settlers of Mulberry community.

Her remains were laid to rest in Providence cemetery, the funeral conducted by Rev. Honeycutt, who paid her a glowing tribute.

He touchingly alluded to the home gathering of the saints at this particular time—how they are being called away while needed here, before the approaching unparalelled trouble bursts upon the world, marking the close of the present dispensation.

Her casket covered with flowers was borne from the church to the sweet strains of the funeral march, and placed in the nearby cemetery.

Leo. M. Frank Will Not Hang

Governor of Georgia Commutes his Death Sentence to Imprisonment for Lifetime.

Atlanta, Ga. June 21—A crowd gathered this morning between 8 and 9 o'clock in Marietta street some of whom indulged in some threats against the governor. Five arrests were made, and the crowd dispersed. Most of them were from Cobb county, just north of this city, where the girl, Mary Phagan lived before she went to work in the pencil factory in Atlanta.

Milledgeville, June 21—Leo M. Frank, commuted late last night from a sentence to be hanged to life imprisonment, arrived at the Georgia prison farm shortly after 5 o'clock this morning in an automobile. The trip from Macon was made without incident.

Atlanta, Ga., June 21—Leo M. Frank is now in Milledgeville, at the Georgia prison farm where he will serve out a life sentence, after being commuted from the death penalty, to which he had been four times sentenced for the death of 16 year old Mary Phagan.

The action of the Governor came as a complete surprise to many in the capital of the state and was not generally known until this morning. Governor Slaton reached his decision Sunday morning and except for a few of his most confidential friends to whom he confided his decision, was kept a secret until early to day. Feeling all over Georgia was at such a high tension that it was deemed advisable to have the prisoner safely landed at the state penal institution before giving out the news.

The arrangements for removing Frank from the Fulton county jail were made with the utmost secrecy. Not even the newspaper men who were keeping a vigil around the jail knew when or how the prisoner left. The Sheriff with his deputies guarding the condemned man left the jail shortly after ten o'clock last night, and proceeded to the terminal station where tickets were secured, and the party boarded the train which pulled out two minutes after midnight.

Two policemen and several of the railroad station employees recognized Frank and the news then began to spread. But before the general public in Atlanta knew of the action of the governor or the removal of the prisoner, Frank was well on his way to the state prison, and the sheriff and his deputies had returned to their homes.

From Atlanta to Macon there were no developments, the trip was a quiet one and few people on the train knew that the end of one of Georgia's greatest cases had come in commutation.

Frank had little to say in regard to his case.

SAYS SLATON'S ACT IS UNPRECEDENTED

Atlanta, Ga. June 21 Solicitor General Dorsey, who prosecuted Frank, issued a statement tonight in which he declared that "the action of Governor Slaton nullifying the judgments of the state and Federal courts and overriding the recommendations of the state board of pardons was unprecedented." He added that no defendant in his recollection had had the benefit of more appeals to both the state and Federal courts.

"I cannot find in the record of the Frank case, or in the governor's lengthy statement of attempted justification, one reason why the governor should interfere with the judgments of the courts in this case," said Dorsey.

A novelty in neckwear for women and children is the Tipperary tie; 15 in. long with adjustable slip-knot, so it can be worn in any way that pleases you. Every single subscriber at 50 cents can have one of these ties for a premium.—Home and Farm.

This paper is not in the habit of boosting the other fellow's "ad" but it seems to us the above offer is a good one. In the first place the Home and Farm is a worthy home paper and every farmer should read one—and then the tie is a valuable addition in these times of low tariff democratic administration.

The Republicans left in the treasury of the United States one hundred and sixty-six millions of dollars. In about two years we have spent all of it but fourteen millions, and we have the "war tax," the corporation tax, and the income tax that the Republicans didn't have. By the time we are thru with this administration we will have spent the rest of it, and will have issued two nundred million dollars in bonds like Mr. Cleveland did. That is all because we abolished the tariff.—Collinsville Courier.

The "Great Commoner" (and he is gettiug commoner and commoner all the time) said away back in 1896: "Open the mints and we will open the mills" McKinley said, "Open the mills and we will open the mints." Who was right? McKinley had passed a protective tariff bill, and this country never saw such prosperous times since the signing of the Declaration of Independence. What good could it possibly do for Underwood and Wilson to tinker with the tariff? Whom did it benefit?—Collinsville Courier.

The farmers of Chilton county rank among the best in the state. It used to be that the best of farmers were unable to have ripe watermelons by the glorious Fourth. Now the farmers have peaches, melons and most any kind of fruit in June. Cotton blooms are numerous in this section, and have been for several days. Our farmers are progressive. It is true they raise cotton, but they are otherwise thrifty. As the old saying goes, "they live at home and board at the same place." As a result Chilton county is fast coming to the front.

Political Clash Certain.

The remarkable step of Mr. Bryan, in retiring from the cabinet with a criticism of an unpublished note dealing with a crisis in foreign affairs, has shocked the country. There is grave concern among democrats as to the effect of this step upon the party. People who uphold the President's policy will not remain mute. They will defend it against Mr. Bryan's assaults. Judging from his first gun, they will have little difficulty in defeneing it. Politicians may say that they are with both the President and the former secretary. They cannot maintain this position of neutrality long. They cannot follow men going in opposite directions, even if one of them claims they will thereby reach the same destination. Mr. Bryan modestly admits he has received many telegrams of congratulations. Who is sending them is not known. Doubtless many men who have accepted the designation Bryanites with pride are of the number.

Notwithstanding the friendly character of the letters of the president and former secretary, there is unquestionably some bitterness. If Mr. Bryan is human he must have felt keenly his treatment in connection with the preparation of the last two notes. No secretary of state was ever paid such scant courtesy before. He was treated as a figurehead, the president and Mr. Lansing alone being recognized as capable of handling the situation. The president, if he is human, must, on the other hand, resent the resignation at such a time, and the subsequent statement, on which he has refused to comment. Mr. Bryan has launched a propaganda, opposing the president's foreign course. The controversy will engender heat as it progresses. The president's friends will rally to his defense and Mr. Bryan will gather around him the extreme pacificists and the German partisans. He may also hold the allegiance of many of his personal followers in the west and South. Pride of opinion has long characterized the former secretary. He was included in the cabinet party to prevent the criticisms he has always indulged in as a free lance. He hints that he disagrees with the pnesident on a few other matters besides those mentioned in his statement. The malority of the Democratic party will side with the president, but Mr. Bryan will have a strong personal following. No other man in the party could do the president equal harm.—St. Louis Globe-Democaat.

Prosperity Note.

There is a spirit of optimism and a note of prosperity from one end of the country to the other. Confidence has been restored; capital is again seeking investment; trade has been resumed; the busy hum of machinery and the music of the saw and the hammer are to be heard everywhere; smoke is again issuing from the furnace stacks; the little cottages so long vacant are again opened; the front gates are again on their hinges; the weeds have been cut from the front yards, and the children are again to be seen on the front door step, and the smile of the father as he reaches his home, indicates that he has gone to work again. The outlook is brighter all along the line.—Montgomery Times.

It is always commendable to be optimistic and see the bright side, but we imagine the million laborers out of work in this country would rather see these things than to hear talk of them. They are "from Missouri."

Oh, they say everything is o.k., times are getting good and prosperity is in sight. Well, if we mistake not this kind of taffy has been handed out from time to time since the present administration has been in power—and yet such times have never been realized as now exists. More people are out of employment—money is harder to get, soup house are still in vouge and laborers are paid less for their work and provisions are higher than ever before in this country. With these real conditions staring us in the face where is the prosperity we hear so much of. People who are rich do not feel the strain. The high salaried official who draws his per diem—panic or no panic—war or no war does not feel the pangs of the ordeal which has the poor laborer in its grip. The half starved working man—(though willing to work) who can't get a job, cannot realize the prosperity which is spoken of so frequently. He sees only poverty and devastation. He longs for the time to come when he can do an honest day's work and thereby receive compensation enough to feed his family.

Offset Boll Weevil With Some Other Crops Now

(By Mrs. G. H. Mathis)

Alabama's great woman farmer, Mrs. G. H. Mathis, State President of the Diversified Farming Association, has just completed a tour of certain of the Central Alabama Counties which are over-run with the boll weevil. In view of the number of requests she has received for suggestions as to steps to offset the evil results of the boll weevil, she has written the following letter to the farmers of Alabama:

"Fellow Farmers:

I regret to find that the boll weevil is devastating the cotton crop in Central Alabama. Among the things that can be done at this time to offset the evil effects of this loss is to plant other crops that will yield some return during the fall and winter. It is not too late to plant hay. Sorghum and pea vines make a good and nutritious hay. Popcorn and pea or giant soy bean vines make a fine forage crop for stock or hogs to harvest in the field, and will feed a number of head until near Christmas.

Cow peas should be planted on the land from which grain has been harvested to insure fertility and produce a hay crop. All corn that will mature within 100 days can be planted now and up to the middle of July.

The late fall growing Irish potatoes can be planted from now until the middle of August. The Peach Blow potato is probably the best of the fall varieties. Lookout Mountain is also another good late potato. All this class of potatoes are salable in the winter and keep perfectly. There is a demand for the small potatoes in the northern cities in January at quite a good price. The fall grown potatoes can be kept without housing. They should be dug by the first of November and sorted; that is, the large ones and the small ones should be separated as they are to be sold in different markets, the large ones in nearby markets and the small ones in Northern cities.

KEEPING POTATOES

Dig trenches about 18 inches deep and pile the potatoes down in the trenches. Put a little straw over the top of the potatoes and then throw the dirt over them. That should make a top covering five or six inches deep, which is quite sufficient in this climate to preserve the potatoes. In an exceedingly cold spell it is sometimes worth while to throw pine straw or some other litter over the trenches. The winter rains do not hurt the potatoes, and they are ready for the market at any time. There is a good market for the small potatoes in January and a large demand for the large potatoes as seed potatoes in June and July. The potatoes that are kept for seed should be taken from the trench in April and May and allowed to dry out in the shade so that they will sprout for planting time.

FOR FALL GARDENS

If at any place in the garden there are tall weeds that shade the ground during July and early August broadcast mustard seed among the weeds and make small hills and plant squash. The weeds will serve as a protection against the beating sun and can be cut down in early September, leaving the vegetables to grow. Collards and winter cabbage seed should be sown now in a shaded place, and the plants drawn off and set out in September.

Enemy of the Snake

Snakes in South Africa fear the secretary bird, and will even crawl away from his shadow. This bird devours snakes and can easily kill a reptile twice its size.

The famous Liberty bell of Philadelphia, which will be exhibited at the San Francisco fair, and will begin its trip across the continent the latter part of this month, is 162 years old. When the Declaration of Independence was signed by 56 patriotic Americans, July 4, 1776, the tidings were proclaimed by the Liberty bell, which was then 23 years old. It was cast in Philadelphia in 1753 and has remained in that city ever since, except for three trips away from home. The bell was taken to Allentown, Pa., in 1777, to prevent its falling into the hands of the British. It figured in the centennary celebration of New Orleans and was a feature of the World's Columbian exposition in Chicago in 1893. For more than 50 years the Liberty bell was rung in celebration of Independence Day. It finally cracked under the strain and all efforts to restore its tone proved a failure. It was taken down from the statehouse tower, later placed on the wooden timbers that originally supported it and made a sort of shrine for patriotic Americans to visit while in Philadelphia. It was reported recently that the crack in the bell was spreading and a support was made to relieve it of all unncessary strain. The bell weighs 2080 pounds.—Age-Herald.

Mysteries of Rheumatism Practically Solved

S. S. S. is a Regular Wizard in Driving Out Rheumatism.

Rheumatism is often the effect of some other blood affliction that has left its impress in the joints, muscles and mucous coverings of the body. It works into the tissue cells, those tiny, little bodies in which nutrition goes on. And it is here that a most remarkable medicine known as S. S. S. does its most active and most effective work.

Its action is marvelous. Bed-ridden rheumatics get on their feet as if by magic. That cold, clammy sensation that made you hug a red hot stove is gone in a twinkling. That excruciating pain that made a feather lay as heavy as a ton of coal on the skin is gone. You get up and dance with glee.

Your rheumatism is gone—absolutely! It is an actual logical fact, that Swift's Sure Specific flushes your blood, gives your entire blood circulation a fine thorough bath. It just naturally and in a twinkling irrigates every atom in your body. It rushes into every cell, every bone, muscle, ligament, tendon, mucous surface and every nerve to them with freedom, with health, with a found springiness.

And best of all, S. S. S. though a powerful searching, overwhelming enemy of pain and the causes of rheumatism is as pure as the dew on a peach blossom, as powerful as the heroic works of nature, as searching as the peremptory demands of the most exact science.

Ask for and insist upon getting S. S. S., the world's cure for rheumatism.

For private, personal advice on stubborn chronic rheumatism write at once to the Swift Specific Co., 203 Swift Building, Atlanta, Ga. Their medical department is famous on all blood diseases, and is equipped to make personal blood tests approved by the highest medical authorities. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today. The away goes rheumatism for all time.

SOUTH SHOULD BE GREATEST CORN PRODUCER

Record of Production by Boys' Corn Clubs Gives Highest Percentage to Dixie.

Washington, June 16.—Commenting on the record of Boys' Corn Clubs throughout the United States for the season of 1914 just published by the United States department of agriculture, President Harrison of the Southern Railway Company said:

"As in each former year since the inauguration of the Boys' Corn Clubs the championship has gone to the South, having been won by Carl Graves, at Soso, Mississippi, with the production of 202 bushels of corn on a single acre at the remarkable low cost of 14.5 cents per bushel The highest record made by any boy outside of the South was by a Pennsylvania boy, who made 148 bushels at a cost of 26.7 cents per bushel. This record was exceeded by ten of the first and second prize-winning boys in the South. The average yield per acre made by the winners of the first and second prizes in the State of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Kentucky and Tennessee was 159.26 bushels, as compared with an average of 104.22 by the prize winners in the Northern, Central and Western States. Taken into consideration with the records of previous years, these figures show that, with the adoption of proper cultural methods, the South can be made the greatest corn-producing section of the United States."

Henry Ford in the Factory

Somewhere between eight and nine o'clock each morning a Ford coupelet dashes briskly into the factory-garage of the Ford Motor Company. From it descends a tall, slender man who chats a minute with the men about him and then disappears through the doors into the administration building. That is Henry Ford. He has driven in from his farm at Dearborn, fifteen miles from the Ford factory. For an hour or so Mr. Ford is closeted with some of his executives. Then he emerges from his office and promptly disappears in the factory somewhere.

The popular magazines, in fiction and character sketches, have given us a picture of the great executive in his office. One thinks of the president as pushing buttons, receiving reports from department heads, giving directions and reprimands in, short, gruff, staccto sentences. But Henry Ford doesn't go in much for that sort of thing. He's a new kind of president and chief executive. Instead of listening to reports, he goes out and gets the information first hand. That's the reason he disappears into the forest of belts and machines.

Sewing Circle With Much Whispering

Before the stork arrives there is much to talk about. The comfort of the expectant mother is the chief topic. And there is sure to be someone who has used or knows of that splendid external help, "Mother's Friend." It is applied to the abdominal muscles, gently rubbed in and has a most pronounced effect as a lubricant. It soothes the network of nerves, enables the muscles to expand naturally, relieves strain on the ligaments and thus sets at ease any undue strain on the organs involved. And it does this with perfect safety. Expectant mothers thus go through the ordeal with comparative ease and comfort. Knowing mothers who have used "Mother's Friend" speak in glowing terms of the absence of morning sickness, absence of strain on the ligaments and a freedom from many other distresses.

One of the most important symptoms to be relieved by "Mother's Friend" is the imagination that so often disturbs repose. Pains, even though natural, may so distort the mind that undue apprehension will sometimes follow. The gentle, soothing influence of "Mother's Friend" gives the mind substantial aid to become conscious of strength and there is a real, physical sensibility of muscular vigor as evidenced by freedom from undue strain.

You can get "Mother's Friend" at any drug store or they will gladly get it for you. Write today to Bradfield Regulator Co., 701 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a highly instructive book of great value to all expectant mothers. It contains a valuable expectancy chart, rules as diet and is brimful of suggestions that all women will appreciate.

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the torture of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system.

To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and upbuild your strength.

Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

UGH! CALOMEL MAKES YOU DEATHLY SICK

Stop Using Dangerous Drugs Before it Salivates You! It's Horrible.

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and Take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate, so let them eat anything afterwards.

We call attention to the advertisement of the new Palace meat market on the corner, in this issue. This new firm has screened, renovated and polished up this stand and are ready to feed the public good fresh steak.

The writing school here is progressing nicely. New pupils coming in every day. The people of Clanton should certainly take advantage of this splendid opportunity to learn to improve their penmanship. Mr. Brown takes good interests in training his pupils, not only to write, but how to live right in this life.

TO THRIFTY HOUSEWIVES

With the summer approaching there will be many things you will need for wear and also for the house and the table.

Your husband is the maker, but it is for you to be the saver. He does the accumulating, but the thrifty housewife is just as important in her line of work. If she is careful of her household expenditures the bank account is constantly being increased and the day of eventual affluence is nearer at hand. The thrifty housewife makes the home.

But how are you to practice economy without denying yourself or your household of those things that are necessary to a comfortable existence in life.

It is a very simple and easy matter.

Avoid waste and buy economically. In other words, buy goods of quality, but buy them where you get what you want at a price below the other fellow.

It is useless for us to tell you we have the goods, for you know that. It is equally useless for us to tell you that we make the price, because everybody knows that, too.

Your best method of practicing economy, then, is to trade with us, for this is essentially a store of quality and economy. For the best evidence of the truthfulness of this statement try it yourself, or just take an hour or so and size up the people who pass in and out of our doors. They are thrifty people, and have learned from experience where it is best to trade.

TO FARMERS:

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company maintains an Agricultural Department composed of men who are expert in soil treatment, plant industry, poultry and dairying, cattle and live stock, fruit and berry; also men who are expert in mineral lands.

The service of these experts is free, and subject to the wishes of the people living in the territory traversed by the L. & N.

We would be very glad to have any one interested in agricultural and mineral products avail himself of this service, as we are convinced it would be of benefit to that individual.

In providing this service the Louisville & Nashville seeks to assist in the maximum development of the territory. These experts can give valuable information on soil conservation, on what kinds of crop to plant in a particular soil, and on crop rotation.

If the scientific principles outlined are carefully adhered to, the farmers of the territory will enjoy increased crops, and consequently increased wealth, which means more traffic and increased business for the Louisville & Nashville Railroad.

This Department is but another evidence of the constructive policy of co-operation adopted by the L. & N. for the benefit, not only of itself, but of the people it serves.

A letter addressed to the Agricultural Department, L. & N. R. R. Co., at Louisville, Ky., will receive prompt response.

NEW METHODS IN WHALING

Old-Fashioned Harpoon Has Been Discarded for the Most Modern of Deadly Weapons.

In early days the wooden sailing ships engaged in the whaling industry in southern seas pursued only right whales and sperm whales, or cachalots. The so-called "finners," such as the blue whale, the largest animal in the world; the finner whale; the small fish whale; and the humpback, were all too active, and sank too quickly when killed. But their turn has now come, for the modern whale gun is a finely fashioned cannon, the harpoon carries a shell, and the body of the whale is kept afloat by inflating it with air through pipes from the engine room of the whaler. The rendering is now done in a factory on shore, or in a special large vessel moored in the harbor. Besides the whalebone, which no longer pays well or at all, and the oil, which is graded into qualities as it comes from the blubber, the fat of the tongue and kidneys, the flesh and bones and the refuse, there remain the dried flesh and bones, which are now also put to commercial use. The absolutely fresh flesh is used to make whale-meat meal, a nutritious and wholesome foodstuff that is largely fed to cattle. From the remaining flesh and about a third of the bones whale guano is made, and from the bones alone bone meal. The largest whaling business in the world is now conducted in the Falkland islands and their dependencies. The season begins in November, and lasts until the end of April, and the average production of oil is nearly half a million barrels; of guano, 8,375 tons. The industry gives employment to about 3,500 men.—Youth's Companion.

FIRST OF LIFE'S LESSONS

Finding and Filling One's Place Perhaps the Most Essential of All That We Learn.

To find our niche and fill it is, perhaps, the most essential of all life's lessons. It sums up in a word not only our duty to ourselves but to others as well and embraces much more than at first glance seems possible. It is a lesson that is assigned to us from the beginning, sometimes long before our immature minds can grasp its full meaning, but it is one that lies ready at hand for our assimilation the moment we show evidence of our ability to take it in. Of course there are many persons who shrink from undertaking life's responsibilities, who defer until the last the acceptance of certain duties which must evidently come to them and who, sometimes, enter upon these duties unprepared for their proper discharge. It is so easy to drift from day to day unhampered by the knowledge that there is work for us to do; so long as we know that there is someone else upon whom we can depend for our well-being, someone who shoulders all necessary responsibilities, someone who indulges our whims and fancies and protects us as far as possible from the necessity of assuming our natural debts, we are well content to let the days pass unmarked by any attempt on our part to discover for ourselves the part we must play in this world.

Famous Bridge Builder.

Gustav Lindenthal, who is building the Hell Gate bridge at New York, the greatest structure of the kind in the world, which will have a length of three and one-half miles, is an Austrian by birth. He received his technical education at Brunn and Vienna, and before coming to this country in 1874 he had had considerable practical experience in railroad building. His first work in the United States was as an assistant engineer on the force constructing the Centennial exhibition buildings. He became a citizen and took up railroad building. Some of the greatest bridges which he has built span the Alleghany and Monongahela rivers, though he has also spanned the Mississippi and other streams. Though famed as a bridge builder he prefers to be known as a man who has had more to do with laying out railroad routes.

How Labor Cost Comes In.

Labor plays a larger part in the conditions faced by the dress goods selling agents than perhaps they are aware. Some years back the mills had no difficulty in selling cotton worsteds in large quantities to the cutters-up. With increasing labor costs, however, the garment manufacturers find that it does not pay them to put what is high-priced workmanship into low-quality goods. The results obtained, no matter how production is speeded up, are not satisfactory. The demand has therefore shifted toward better fabrics that give a larger return in the manufactured state. This goes a long way toward explaining the shifting of values upward and why it is no longer possible to sell the amount of cheap goods that was disposed of in past years with little difficulty.

Queen Wilhemina's Beauty.

Queen Wilhelmina of Holland is sometimes referred to as the queen with the complexion in Europe, but few people know that she has a special recipe for keeping the skin in perfect condition. Some time ago she adopted the plan from the Dutch Indies of taking lemon baths. Five or six lemons are squeezed into the bath, and various scents then added, including eau de cologne, of which she is said to use a pint a day. The bath is highly invigorating.

"Hair of the Dog."

When a man is debilitated from the effects of the previous night's debauch he is frequently counseled to take "a hair of the dog that bit him," the meaning being that he should take a little of the same kind of liquor that had upset him. The saying is a remnant of an old superstitious belief that the burnt hair of a dog was an antidote against the ill effects of intoxication.

AFRICAN KINGS GIVE TO MISSIONS

New Ruler of Well-known Lawless Tribe Greets Christian Bishop.

Thousand Teachers Wanted in China—Increased Baptist Equipment.

Bishop Tugwell of western equatorial Africa recently spent three days at Benin city, in the Niger delta, as the guest of the commissioner. On the Sunday the church was crowded the commissioner and the other resident Europeans, and also the newly crowned king of Benin, with many of his chiefs, being present. The collection was devoted to the Prince of Wales national relief fund, to which the bishops believes the chiefs are giving a sum of 200 pounds sterling. On his way thence to Onitsha, wherever he halted, the bishop was met by deputations from outlying districts, bringing tokens of good will and begging that their need of teachers might not be forgotten. Benin, it will be remembered, was occupied by the British expedition in 1897, the wanton cruelties and lawlessness of the king and people having rendered this interposition necessary.

A Thousand Chinese Teachers Wanted.

To show what an opportunity there is for educated Christian Chinese, Professor Paul Monroe of Columbia university teachers' college said, on returning from his visit to China, that in one province the Chinese commissioner of education expressed his willingness to employ a thousand Christian Chinese as teachers if he could find them.

Increased Baptist Equipment.

Southern Baptists are celebrating the Judson centennial by raising $1,250,000 for foreign missions. This money is not to be kept for endowment but is to be spent entirely upon equipment, $200,000 of it is to be used for general equipment, such as church buildings, hospitals, and missionaries' homes; $250,000 for publication houses for the circulation of Bibles and Christian literature; $500,000 for schools of all grades, from the kindergarten to the college and theological seminary. The $1,250,000 was apportioned to different states, and the campaign began with enthusiasm. The sum of $800,000 has been secured in cash and pledges by Christmas. The whole amount will be raised beyond doubt. This is an achievement worth while, especially in a year in which the chief crop of the south has failed of a market.—Watchman-Examiner.

Facts That Count.

Despite the war in Europe, one of the great Bible societies reports that it publishes the gospel, translated into a new language, once every six weeks.

During the past ten years the membership of the Southern Presbyterian church in foreign mission fields has increased from 8,743 to 29,000, a gain of 240 per cent.

The whole number of Protestant missionaries supported by North American churches is nearly 10,000; in 1901 there were only 5,489. The native Christian workers now number 50,000. The total number of members of churches connected with American missions is 1,429,000, an increase of nearly 200 per cent since 1901; last year 159,000 converts were added, three times the number added in 1891.

In Cuba there are 149 organized Protestant churches, with a membership of 10,975. There are 290 established missions with 170 ordained missionary workers. The average gain in church membership in the last six years is 100 per cent. The total average expenditure of all Protestant societies is $221,427 a year.

Great Britain has 10,050 missionaries in the foreign field and contributes $10,000,000 a year for their support. Germany has 1,200 missionaries and contributes about $150,000 a year; Holland, 130 missionaries and contributes $216,000 a year. Switzerland has 450 missionaries and contributes $600,000 a year. Scandinavia has 700 missionaries and the amount contributed is not known. All the continental societies combined maintain about 2,500 missionaries and spend about $4,000,000 for their support.

During the present year the China inland mission will complete its fiftieth year of work. Its total staff of missionaries and native workers is now about 2,500 persons, and during the past ten years there has been an increase of six native workers for each new missionary.

According to latest statistics Japan has almost 7,000,000 pupils in her elementary schools. In the secondary schools nearly 200,000 students are enrolled. In addition to these, various technical schools are maintained, including agricultural, commercial, industrial and nautical institutions. These send out yearly about 90,000 graduates. Institutions of higher learning for both men and women are supplemented by effective mission schools. There are also four imperial universities.

The work in China was begun by Morrison 107 years ago. There are now about 4,500 missionaries in China and about half a million Protestant church members.

Central Turkey college, at Aintab, is the oldest of the American colleges in the interior of Turkey. It was established in 1876 and is under the care of the Congregationalists. About sixty of its alumni are classified as ministers and a large number as teachers. Its graduates are pastors in Turkey of evangelical congregations numbering 18,000 and preach to an average of 8,000 people each Sabbath.

In India there is a Christian population of 3,873,203, an increase of more than 32 per cent since 1901.

The work in Korea was begun thirty years ago. There are now about 500 missionaries in that country and 280,000 Christians.

The Japan Methodist church was organized as an independent body eight years ago, and now has 145 ordained ministers and 14,000 members.

The British and Foreign Bible society reports 9,000,000 volumes of the Scriptures issued last year. These were issued in 400 languages.

The following statistics of mission hospitals of the Southern Methodist church for last year are given: Patients treated in China, 34,480; in Korea, 30,399; in Africa (eight months), 920.

The annual report of the Bible Institute Colportage association of Chicago, founded by D. L. Moody, showed that during the past year this society had published 150,000 copies of the Gospel of John and issued 3,183,920 pages of Gospel tracts and leaflets for the believer (177,000 copies of tracts against "Russellism" are included in this number). "The Way of God," one of Mr. Moody's most used books, was translated and published in Italian, making five books of the great evangelist's now available in six foreign tongues. Already more than 6,239,000 copies (English and foreign) of the Moody Colportage Library books have been published.

The Sunday school teachers in Wonsan have been organized by Rev. C. T. Collyer into a Sunday school teachers' union. This is the first teachers' union in Korea, and will be watched with great interest by the Sunday school workers in other parts of the country. Sunday school teachers' institutes have been held in the Wonsan, Pyengyang and Kwangju districts of Korea. So great has been the interest in these district institutes that the workers are planning several larger institutes for the coming summer in larger centers of population.

The first service held in the crypt of the new cathedral in San Francisco, at which 1,500 were present, was a missionary service, held on February 7. "From Greenland's Icy Mountains" was sung in Japanese, and "Jesus Shall Reign" in Chinese.

A WONDERFUL HEALING INFLUENCE KIDNEY TROUBLES.

A year and a half ago I was taken with a severe attack of Kidney trouble that pained me to such an extent that morphine had to be given me. Was attended by a doctor who pronounced it as Stone in the Bladder and prescribed Lithia Water. I took Lithia Water and Tablets for some time and received no relief from them. I stopped taking medicines for some time, later having some Swamp-Root in the house I decided to try it and felt much relieved. While taking the second bottle commenced to pass Gravel in urine until I had passed in all at least a half dozen or more since I have not suffered the slightest since—and in all have taken one bottle and a half and feel very grateful to Swamp Root.

Yours very truly,
H. W. SPINKS,
Camp Hill, Ala.

Personally appeared before me this 16th day of August, 1909, H. W. Spinks, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

HARRIS ISSUES STATEMENT TO GEORGIANS.

Atlanta, Ga., June 28.—Governor Hrrris late today issued a statement to the people of Georgia, asking that there "be an immediate cessation of all efforts at violence or riotous demonstration" because of the Frank case. He asserted that he continued the martial law zone around former Governor's home because of representations of Adjutant General J. Van Holt Nash and Sheriff Mangum of Fulton county, and added that the action of former Governor Slaton in the Frank case now "is past history."

BOOTH CONFESSES TO LIQUOR FRAUDS

Fort Smith, Ark., June 27.--David A. Gates, deputy internal revenue collector, announced tonight that Knox Booth, former internal revenue agent for Tennessee and Alabama, had laid bare the details of the alleged "moonshine" whiskey frauds which federal officials assert cheated the government of many thousands of dollars in taxes.

Gates in his announcement declared that Booth admitted receiving nearly $12,000 as bribes from the distillers.

Gates was one of the chief workers for the government in the investigations of the alleged frauds which led to the indictment by the federal grand jury here last week of Booth, John L. Gasper and Guy L. Hartman of Kansas City and a number of other former government employes and distillers. The indictments grew out of the alleged illegal manufacture of whiskey by the Rush Distilling company of Fort Smith and of Kansas City of which Casper is president. One indictment charges Casper and Hartman with bribing Booth and another charges the former agent with accepting the bribe. Details of the alleged confession were not made public tonight but, according to Gaites, it contains details of a plan whereby Gates was to be killed in order to put an end to the investigation.

The deputy agent said Booth alleged Gates was to be decoyed to Atlanta, Ga., and slain in the internal revenue office there during a quarrel. The men involved, Gates said, were to support each other's story of self-defense and by having the killing take place on a government reservation the case was kept in the federal court. Gates said the confession alleged the plan was abandoned because Booth refused to take part.

TENNESSEE LOCKER LAW HELD UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Memphis, Tenn.—Tennessee's new locker club law prohibiting storage of liquors for individual use in social and fraternal clubs was held unconstitutional in a decision handed down here today by Judge Jesse Edrington in the criminal court. The law became effective June 1 last. The ruling was made in a test case brought by a local fraternal organization.

The contentions were that the act was unjust and discriminatory; that the ception of the bill did not meet the embodied requirements of the state constitution, and that it was in violation of the fourteenth amendment of Federal constitution. The state supreme court is expected to pass upon the case at its September term.

THEO LACY HEARD BY A LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE

But the Story of His Embezzlement Still Remains Shrouded In Mystery.

Montgomery, June 26.—Theo Lacy appeared before the legislative investigating committee this morning, but testified in executive session, and as far as the public is concerned his story is still untold. Much disappointment was shown by a large crowd that gathered to hear his testimony, when it was announced he would be heard in executive session. At the end of the conference the committee would utter no word of what had transpired.

"We are satisfied," said Chairman Merritt.

Other members of the committee expressed satisfaction.

Lacy entered the committee room shortly after 10 o'clock. He came from Wetumpka in the custody of a deputy warden. He was permitted to visit his home in the city before appearing before the committee.

When Lacy had finished his testimony the reporters besieged the committee for information. "I have nothing to say at all," said chairman Merritt.

BRYAN IS OFFERED JOB BY WESTERN COLLEGE.

William Jennings Bryan has been offered the chair of political economy by a mid western university, according to reports.

The position pays $8000 a year and Bryan would be required to live in the university city and devote a reasonable part of his time to his college duties.

It is probably the University of Indiana in question.

The Democratic party has been in power in Alabama so long that perhaps a good renovating would be of some benefit to the common people.

Young W. J. Bryan is quoted as saying that his father will be a candidate for President next year. We suspect the son, like the father, has found that he talked too much.—Advertiser.

With the htgh cost of living, plenty of money, and good business the laboring people can live and prosper; but when business is cut out, and the cost of living is still higher, the poor man is in a dickens of a fix. He can't survive long at that.

By chance the democratic party got in power again, and it is thoroughly demonstrated that their policy will not do for this country. The very thing it should have avoided it did first—cut business off.

The democratic party wanted low tariff so the high cost of living might be reduced. Well where a fellow has to pay about three times as much for living expenses as he used to, where does the reduction in high cost of living come in?

It is part of the duty of a country agriculturist to assist the farmers in planning their farms so they may become more productive and attractive. And the farmers should take advantage of the chance thus afforded.—Labor Advocate.

We have frequently quoted the Washington Post, an independent democratic newspaper, in favor of a protective tariff. Now the Morning Herald, rock-rooted democratic Washington city paper, says that "if the party in power does not revise the tariff upward, the party of protection will do it."—Marion, (Ia.) Register.

DeWITT'S CARBOLIZED WITCH HAZEL SALVE For Piles, Burns, Sores.

The Cost of Living.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics has just issued a formidable document entitled "Retail prices," in which are presented voluminous statistics of the relative cost of living in the years between 1907 and 1915, coming down to the 1st of January of this year. Compiled by a department of the government in which an error is something akin to treason, the accuracy of the figures may be relied upon.

It will be recalled that the "high cost of living" was the mostpotent influence in the Democratic campaign of 1912. The "iniquitous tariff was responsible for high prices. There was not any doubt about it. It was proven time and again, by line upon line, figure upon figure. The troubled and discontented electorate was shown with the utmost elaborateness of detail and convincingness of logic that the tariff was due to the "fiendish machinations of a selfish and heartless plutocracy," that "ever clutched at the vitals of a downtrodden people." It was only necessary to destroy the tariff, or to tie it down, and the cost of living would be immediately and automatically reduced, everybody would be prosperous and everybody would be happy. In the inelegant but eloquent language of the street, it listened good and they put it over, with some outside help.

As Uncle Joe Cannon delights to say, "The proof of the pudding is the eating of it." Everyone knows that prices have not declined since the tariff was reduced. Everyone knows that it costs at least as much to buy a beefsteak, or a sack of flour or a suit of clothes as it did in 1912, but this document, "Retail Prices," issued under auspices of a democratic administration shows that the cost of living is really higher now than it was then. Nor can it be argued that the war is the cause, for proof is presented that prices in general were higher at the beginning of the war than they were before the present administration went into office. The average prices of fifteen articles of food, representing the necessities of life, are compared by fixing the average price of all for 1913 at 100. Upon this basis the average price of these articles for 1912 was 97.4, and in 1914 was 102. The average for July 1914, before the war began was 102.3.

These figures are not to be denied, nor are the conclusions to be drawn from them. They prove again the fact that the tariff has relatively no influence whatever upon prices to the consumer. The Payne-Aldrich tariff did not cause high prices. The Underwood tariff has not lowered them. We get no joy from this. On the contrary, we sorrow that 'tis so. But it is a lesson that must be learned, and it is not to be taught by silence.---The St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

It is shameful to have to see the United States bureau of education officially proclaiming that the only four states so backward as to be without compulsory attendance laws are all in the south—Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi. The new South Carolina law adopted last winter we fear is too weak io deserve much praise, but it at least registers a definite growth in educational sentiment there. The new Texas law requires all children between the ages of eight and fourteen years to attend school—sixty days of the first year, eighty days of the second year, and one hundred days thereafter in every school year.—The Progressive Farmer.

We want to appeal to our subscribers who are in arrears. We are very much in need of funds to carry on the business of the paper. The tough times and increase in prices has hit us hard. We have bills to meet and must pay them if we carry on our business. Just a dollar from this one or that one will help us out. We want you to think over the matter and if you are in arrears on your subscription we would thank you to kindly drop in, or send it to us. Perhaps you think—oh, well, he can get along without mine but every "little bit helps" and if its little or big send or bring it along and help us to get up a good clean newsy paper, get it to you on time and pay our bills. We trust everyone will not forget us along this line.

He Dic Not.

Jeff de Angelis met a New York newspaper man "Do you remember," asked the newspaper man, "one time while you were playing in Kansas City, you offered $10 for the best original verse for your 'Women' song?" "I do,' replied the comedian. "I won that ten" According to the laws of fiction, Mr. de Angelis should have said: "I've been looking for you for years. Here's $1,000 as a retainer. I want you to write me a comic opera."

But he didn't What he did say was: "Well, that's so long ago I guess we can be good friends, nevertheless."

A WORD OF EXPLANATION.

Editor Union-Banner:—Please allow us a few words of explanation through your paper.

It is the opinion of many that the Unity-Chilton Baptist High School and the two associations have turned their contributions from the Boards of the Alabama Baptist Convention. This is not true. It was understood that the education commission had dropped all secondary school wnrk. This proved to be a mistake, but not till a few from the Association met in Thorsby and submitted a proposition to the churches for their adoption or relection. As the matter cleared up some—not many—of the churches adopted the resolution. The trustees have taken no action at all. The contributions of the churches are taking their regular channells and will continue to do so. We will help our school all we can without interference with the convention schedule, and trust the education commission to see the opportunity and need of a great Baptist high school in this section and help us as soon as they can. A great people; a great opportunity, brethren. "Come over into Macedonia and help us."

FROM A PRIZE WINNER.

Jemison, June 28, 1915.

Editor Union-Banner:—Allow me space to say a few words in regard to the Auburn scholarship awarded me by our canning club, and given by the Union State Bank.

I left home on June 21, going to Auburn, and returning on the 28th.

Upon arriving at Auburn I was met by Prof. L. N. Duncan, with a party of about 50 tomato club girls.

The party, under direction of Mr. Duncan and Miss Reese, were entertained for a week. Many places of interest were visited, and some valuable lessons were taught the girls regarding canning club work.

We received the very finest treatment and care from Mr. Duncan and Miss Reese and Miss Tappan.

The trip is a prize indeed. It is a week of great value, and our girls ought to increase their interest in the club work and strive to get the prize trip next year.

We should be proud of the interest our leaders are taking. They have been and will continue to a wonderful inspiration to the club girls.

I want to thank our county agent for her assistance and suggestions.

Now girls, let us continue our work with interest, and make our county the banner for the state.

Feared for Grandma.

Billy is fond of attending the picture shows with his grandma and he considers himself her chief protector. One evening a large black bear was performing all sorts of antics in the picture, which Billy was enjoying immensely until suddenly the bear turned towards the audience. Billy slipped down from his seat, and, taking hold of his grandma's hand, said: "Tum an, danma, let's do home. I don't like the looks of dat bear."—Exchange.

Fern Was Peeved.

According to an eminent botanist, plants are so sensitive that they resent neglect and are susceptible to kind treatment, showing their gratitude in charming ways. We are therefore the more ready to believe a story told us a day or two ago by a lover of nature. He was watering a fern on a cold morning. He forgot to temper the water. The fern, incensed by the shock, leaped from the pot and bit him savagely in the leg.—Philip Hale, in Boston Herald.

FOUGHT HIS OWN BATTLES

Such Progress as Man Has Made He Has Laboriously Carved Out for Himself.

It has become a bromidian common-place to say that man can do everything he has to, supply each need he feels and meet every emergency that arises with some expedient or Yankee trick. And there is some warrant for such boastfulness, for everything that man enjoys or employs he has made for himself out of such raw material as he found to hand. All that he knows he has learned for himself. No one ever gave him any information of the slightest value which contributed to his material welfare or the comfort of his life. The lower animals furnished him certain hints. Some of them burrowed to escape the cold, climbed trees to elude their enemies, lined their abodes with moss and floss for warmth and laid up food against the season of snow. But all that man is and has he made himself. All that he does he found the way of doing. He was an orphan child, ignorant of every branch of useful knowledge, set adrift in a trying environment to perish or provide for himself as best he could. If anybody deserves an iron cross or other honorary decoration, it is man—resolute, resourceful, self-reliant homo sapiens—for he is self-made and has done a very creditable job of it, considering that he had to battle with his environment for everything worth while.

BLIND FARMER GIVES TO MISSIONS

Wants Spiritual Vision to Those Who Have It Not—World Wide News.

Rev. E. F. Goodson, Henderson, Ky., sends a check for one hundred dollars to the Methodist Board of Missions, with this interesting note:

"At a quarterly meeting which I recently held, after I had emphasized the importance of the mission cause, I was approached by a blind man, a farmer, who said he wanted to give something as a special for foreign missions. I told him of our work in Africa, and it appealed to him. As he is deprived of physical sight, he wants to give spiritual vision to those who have it not. He handed me one hundred dollars as a special for Africa, which I inclose."

Mass Movements Toward Christianity

The Indian mass movements toward Christianity continue, and all Indian missions are put to it to find teachers for the numbers who are turning to them. In one district 2,000 people registered as applicants for baptism, but no one was available to go to teach them. In some districts many more men than women have been baptized, and women workers are urgently needed to train and help the households of these new converts. They must be gathered into churches also, and taught to make progress in the new way; and this is quite as difficult as well as quite as important as their conversion in the first place.

(The Ho brothers of Hupeh. The one seated is "old Ho," a Christian for about twenty years, an evangelist for about fifteen years. On his left is evangelist Ho of Kucheng.)

Christian Education in Orient.

In China about one-third of the government schools and colleges have recently been closed, and many are attended by reduced numbers. In Kwangsi, the province about west of Canton, the government has withdrawn financial support of schools and advises teachers to depend on scholars' fees.

Although the government has withdrawn many students from Japan, this does not seem to be due to lack of money, as it has recently devoted $12,000,000 to sending other students abroad.

The government is increasingly eager for missionary co-operation in the management of schools, and both in Shansi and Fukien provinces the American board is in close touch with government educational boards.

World Wide News.

Eighteen hundred Bible study classes are carried on regularly in Korea, and the portions of Scriptures sold in that land during 1914 amounted to a million copies.

In the Japanese building at the Panama exposition there is to be a Sunday school booth, which will specially advertise the 1916 World's Sunday School Convention in Tokyo.

The first Christian service with prayer and singing ever held in the Imperial University at Tokyo, Japan, took place December 5th last. Rev. Mr. Ebina, the pastor of the large Kumi-ai church, spoke on "Elements in Modern Christianity" to an audience of 260 men.

In 1913 the entire annual budget of about $500,000 for Moravian missions, 17 per cent came from Great Britain and 12 per cent from the continent of Europe, while 47 per cent came from mission fields in the way of contributions from native Christians, government grants, returns from industrial and commercial missionary enterprises, school fees, etc.

Baptist Gifts for Missions.

The handsome sum of $2,600 was given on missionary day in the Sunday school in the First Baptist church of Dallas, Texas, of which Rev. George Truett is the pastor. This sum represented is the offering to Home and Foreign Missions from 1,500 givers.

The plan now in operation by the Southern Baptists to observe every year what is known as "Missionary Day in the Sunday School" has proved to be a most effective and efficient plan for increasing the interest as Cast Water Pipes Burst.

Cast water pipes are less liable to burst than those from round pipes, as experience has shown that repeated freezings and thawings cause a round pipe to stretch at the weak places, which burst. When a pipe that starts life as an oval is frozen a number of times it will not crack, because each time it gets a little rounder, and not until the strain can no longer be relieved in that way does it form bulges and burst.

MAY MEAN END OF ALL WAR

Development of Destructive Airship Sure to Have Powerful Effect on Humanity.

The difficulty of properly arming and protecting aircraft lies in the fact that we cannot yet obtain sufficiently powerful engines — even though, in the course of a few years, the engines have increased in horse power from about fifty to two hundred, says Claude Grahame-White in the Youth's Companion. But when we look ahead, and estimate what may be possible with a power plant, not of hundreds of horse power, but of thousands, then we can imagine a perfected war machine, of the future—a huge armored craft, that carries a crew of hundreds of men, and that is equipped with formidable guns and aerial torpedo and bomb-dropping tubes. Such a vessel will be able to reef its wing surface when traveling at high speed, and will rush through the air as a speed of several hundred miles an hour.

But even against such metal-built monsters of the air, flying at their amazing speeds, man will pit his ingenuity. It is clear that he cannot fight them from the earth; he must fight them high in their own element. So in the future, if wars continue, we may have fearful struggles of the air—not small and isolated combats, such as this campaign has shown us, but battles desperately waged, with death and destruction raining from the clouds. There are those, however, who argue that such a form of war, when pushed to its ruthless limit, will prove so ghastly that humanity will revolt, and that the science that revolutionizes war will also end it.

CHANGES WROUGHT BY WAR

"Tommy Atkins" of Today Is a Different Being From His Prototype of a Few Years Ago.

The old pouter-pigeon type of British soldier, with his ramrod deportment and feet at impossible angles, is now as obsolete as his red coat. This change is evident, not only in the training of the new army, but in the royal cadet schools at Sandhurst and Woolwich. Alertness and agility, mental and physical, are now aimed for instead of physical rigidity and mechanical precision as in the old times.

Swedish exercises have taken the place of conventional calisthenics. About the only piece of apparatus left in the Sandhurst gymnasium is the padded horse. Parallel bars, rings, heavy dumb-bells and pulley exercises have been sent away. Now the cadets are taught what is known in their slang as monkey tricks, such as walking on top of high and narrow stone walls and jumping safely to the ground, skipping the rope and playing various kinds of games.

One reason why the pouter chest has gone out of style is its menace to health. An overdeveloped chest is held to be dangerous, as it invites pneumonia and other troubles. Men on the march are allowed to unbutton their coats and make themselves comfortable, but smoking at such times is discouraged by the medical authorities. The deportment of the soldier on parade has also been made normal and natural.

Sanity and Insanity.

Dr. Stephen Smith, now ninety-two years old, has been one of the foremost public-spirited physicians of New York. He has a theory of the insane, set forth in an interview the other day, which merits attention. Cornell, when governor of New York, made Doctor Smith commissioner in lunacy, telling him that many people believed persons were kept in asylums by their enemies when they were not really insane, and charging Doctor Smith to find out what there was to it. The painstaking physician accordingly talked privately with 15,000 lunatics, coming to the conclusion then, and holding it ever since, that 90 per cent of them might as well be out of asylums and sanatoriums as in them, if somebody would only take suitable care of them. He cured many merely by interesting them in congenial work. He also noticed that when he left the asylums and began to converse with people outside they told him stories very much akin to those that he had just heard from the presumed lunatics.—Boston Herald.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of wonderful success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

SOME OTHER MAN'S PARCEL

Commuter Made Profitable Exchange, but Probably Man Who Got the Cat Was Peeved.

A man once lived in Montclair, N. J., whose wife had a pet cat. On a wintry day the cat died. So wintry was the day that the cat could not be buried, for the ground was frozen hard.

To get rid of the body the man determined to bring it with him when he went to New York to business. So he wrapped it up neatly in brown paper, and, on getting into his train, put it gently on the hatrack, with the firm intention of forgetting all about it. When he reached the terminus he walked rapidly out of the train, but was barely on the platform when a kindly old gentleman overtook him.

"Your parcel, I think, sir," said he pleasantly, and the man from Montclair thanked him most politely.

All day long the parcel containing the dead cat lay in his office. In the evening he took it home, placing it again in the hatrack and again carefully forgetting it. But again a fellow passenger warned him of his carelessness. Finally he reached home in a not very pleasant frame of mind, and flung the irksome parcel on the kitchen table.

Later on the wife entered the kitchen. The parcel aroused her curiosity, for her husband had said nothing about his failure to bury the cat. She opened it, and discovered three tenderloin steaks!

Solves Secret of Ages.

A New York man advertised the other day for red-haired girls, and a woman writer asked him why he preferred girls with red hair. "Surely they are not prettier," she ventured to remark, "and the ages have not proved them better or brighter. In fact, they are noted for their tempers." "Well, it's this way," explained the employer. "There are so many brunettes and blondes, and when you have a red-haired girl in your office you feel as though you had a girl who is just a little different from the common run. Something exclusive." But are they different?" asked the woman. "No," said the man. "But you always feel they are going to be." So the secret of the ages is solved.

Swatting the Fly in Korea.

The Japanese administration in Korea has been making strenuous endeavors to stamp out the housefly and its attendant ills, according to an official report received here. The American slogan of "Swat the Fly" was not considered sufficiently forcible to stimulate the oriental imagination, so the administration hit upon the idea of buying flies from the populace, using the slogan, "Sell the Fly." The official report, which is headlined "Purchase of Flies from Natives by Government Officials," does not state the price paid, or the result of the cru-

He Got the Apples.

"Once upon a time," began the teacher, "two little brothers started to Sunday school on Sunday morning. Their way led past a fine orchard, where the trees were bending down with ripe, luscious apples. One of the brothers proposed going into the orchard and getting some fruit, but the other refused and sped away, leaving his companion greedily devouring the apples.

"Now, it happened that the owner of the orchard saw them, and the next day rewarded the good boy who refused to steal his apples by giving him a shilling. He got a prize for his honesty, and what do you suppose the other boy got for his dishonesty?"

"He got the apples!" yelled every member of the class.

Audacity of Woman Spies.

A climax to the audacity of spies is said to have been reached in the case of a woman pretending to be English and giving her name as Miss Booth, who, in connection with another woman calling herself Baroness de Rosen, organized a charitable work at the Gare du Nord, in Paris, which they called "For the Wounded and for the Refugees." The former, suspected of illicit communication with the Germans, passed before a court-martial and was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, while the latter, against whom no tangible proof could be produced, was invited to leave French territory within 48 hours.

Lost Art.

They had been sitting around the table at the club all evening as usual talking about the war—always the war. There fell a little silence at last and then Jones spoke. "Is there any person present," said he, "who can tell me what it was we used to talk about before the war?"

British Colonial Taxes.

England's colonies do not pay direct taxes. That principle was established in the American war for independence. Just now the colonies are making voluntary grants and are establishing the principle that they can only be petitioned for free gifts.

Momentous Future In Woman's Mind

The expectant mother revolves in her mind all we understand by destiny. And it is of the utmost importance that her physical comfort be our first thought. There is a most splendid remedy for this purpose, known as "Mother's Friend." It is applied over the muscles of the stomach, gently rubbed in, and at once penetrates to relieve all strain on nerves, cords, ligaments and all parts involved. It makes the muscles so pliant that they expand naturally. And at the same time they are invigorated by the absence of harassing pains so apt to distress the mind. Whatever will add to the comfort of the expectant mother is a great and helpful influence since a calm and peaceful period must have a wonderfully beneficial impress upon the coming child. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" of any druggist and you will realize why so many women declare it to be the most helpful remedy they know of. Write today to Bradfield Regulator Co., 702 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a splendid book of great interest and value to every expectant mother.

Among the letters of interest in this book one says, in part, "Seven years ago I suffered from Wednesday to Saturday and had to have instruments. This time I was sick only three hours. I want to tell all that I can not praise 'Mother's Friend' high enough for the good it did me. As I had an easy time and the baby was perfect. I will always speak a good word for it."

Uses Bat to Best Burglar.

A baseball bat was used by John Kearney of West Philadelphia, to subdue a burglar who attacked him in the cellar of his home. After pursuing the intruder until he howled for mercy Kearney turned him over to the police.

Kearney awakened before daylight and smelled gas. After careful daylight examination of the rooms of the first floor, he made his way to the cellar.

At the bottom of the stairs a man jumped on Kearney's shoulders and a struggle followed. Jars of raspberry jam, tomatoes, pickles, and other preserves were smashed during the combat. At last one of Kearney's hands closed on a baseball bat as the two men rolled about the floor.

Wrenching himself loose, he swung the bat against the burglar's head and repeated the operation until the man cried "enough."

Better Kind of Dishpan.

At last a man has invented a better kind of dishpan, says the Philadelphia Ledger. How very long we have had either a high, round pan or a low, flat one, neither of which was the shape or size of the sink. But we have now a vast improvement—namely, a rectangular dishpan made of very heavy enameled ware. It is much more like the shape of the sink, and, in addition, has the peculiar feature of a little plug at the bottom with a piece of wire netting so that the plug need only be drawn out when the dishwater needs to be changed. In this way, the water is strained and food particles prevented from going down the sink.

NOT ENOUGH CHILDREN

ever receive the proper balance of food to sufficiently nourish both body and brain during the growing period when nature's demands are greater than in mature life. This is shown in so many pale faces, lean bodies, frequent colds, and lack of ambition.

For all such children we say with unmistakable earnestness: They need Scott's Emulsion, and need it now. It possesses in concentrated form the very food elements to enrich their blood. It changes weakness to strength; it makes them sturdy and strong. No alcohol.

TO THRIFTY HOUSEWIVES

With the summer approaching there will be many things you will need for your [illegible] for the house and the table.

Your husband is the maker, but it is for you to be the saver. He does the accumulating, but the thrifty housewife is just as important in her line of work. If she is careful of her household expenditures the bank account is constantly being increased and the day of eventual affluence is nearer at hand. The thrifty housewife makes the home.

But how are you to practice economy without denying yourself or your household of those things that are necessary to a comfortable existence in life.

It is a very simple and easy matter.

Avoid waste and buy economically. In other words, buy goods of quality, but buy them where you get what you want at a price below the other fellow.

It is useless for us to tell you we have the goods, for you know that. It is equally useless for us to tell you that we make the price, because everybody knows that, too.

Your best method of practicing economy, then, is to trade with us, for this is essentially a store of quality and economy. For the best evidence of the truthfulness of this statement try it yourself, or just take an hour or two and size up the people who pass in and out of our doors. They are thrifty people, and have learned from experience where it is best to trade.

To Manufacturers:

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company is anxious to have progressive manufacturers locate along its lines. As an inducement it offers to co-operate in securing desirable factory sites, at reasonable prices, and agrees to supply unexcelled railroad facilities in both its freight and passenger departments.

The L. & N. is willing to co-operate in this work in the knowledge that a successful manufacturing enterprise is a valuable asset to the territory in which it is located. It supplies employment to the people of the section, turns raw material into a finished product, brings more money to the territory, creates taxable values, home owners, and freight and passenger traffic.

There is no territory in America better adapted to general manufacturing enterprises than is the territory served by the lines of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad. The section is possessed of vast natural resources, the full value of which cannot be estimated. The L. & N. hopes to see these resources developed, and the section made prosperous. To this end we supply the people the best possible freight and passenger service, and solicit business with the distinct understanding that the service rendered cannot be excelled.

Those interested in securing factory sites will receive prompt service and cordial co-operation if they will communicate with the Industrial Department at Louisville, Ky.

GEORGIA NEGRO WOMAN JOLTS ANTI-RACE SUICIDE

Weston, Ga., June 28.--This town has a record-breaker for this section in the way of anti-race suicide. Elizie Leverett, colored, aged 42 years, widow, gave birth Saturday night to two boys and two girls, weighing a total of 13 pounds.

Dr. G. G. Lunsford, of Weston Ga., after an examination, pronounced them normal babies in every respect. Mother and babies doing well.

RAPID PROGRESS OF SURGERY

Operations That Would Have Been Remarkable Years Ago Now a Matter of Course.

War will lose half its terrors if surgery continues to make the rapid progress of the past few years, for arms and legs will be replaced by new ones when necessary, remarks London Answers.

A millionaire lost an ear in an accident, and offered $5,000 to anyone who would supply the missing article. A man agreed; the patients were placed side by side for 11 days, which completed the grafting process.

In another case a whole finger is said to have been transferred from one woman to another, the hands being bound together for 22 days. The fee was $500, but the new finger was somewhat shorter than the original member.

America is the home of remarkable surgical operations, and it was at St. John's hospital, New York, that a man, whose face had been badly injured in machinery, was supplied with a new nose and mouth, both quite serviceable. The operation was a lengthy one; grafted muscles and skin formed the mouth, and by careful and skillful operations the little finger replaced the nose.

British surgeons can be quite as clever when necessity arises. A man was badly wounded in South Africa, and lost most of his ribs, which were replaced by a steel jacket which allowed him to do light work. Then a London hospital took him in hand and provided him with a set of silver ribs.

A small boy had what amounted to a hole in his skull, caused by a fall when very young. The London surgeons replaced this by a piece of his shin bone, and the operation proved successful.

Wounds from bullets and knives in hearts have been sewn up; a weak aorta was strengthened by a silver spring being placed in it at the weak point; a pig's eyelid replaced one which had been removed; a broken back has been set; and the story goes that a blind man was made to see by transplanting the cornea.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

Genuine Merit Required to win the People's Confidence.

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are so extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fill the promise of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medical preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommeeded by those who have been benefited by it, to those who are in need of it.

A brominent druggist says, "Take for example Dr. Kilmers Swamp Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of our customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousonds who have used the prepartion, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root is due to the fact that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder diseases, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by parcels post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghawton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention the Clanton Weekly Union-Banner.

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND MAKES YOU SICK

Acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver and you loose a day's work.

There's no reason why a person should take sinkening, salivating calomel when 50 cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can't salivote.

Children and grown folfs can take Dodson's Liver Tone because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated to-morrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more billiousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.
